FUNERAL OF THE LATE JOHN HEAD

Took Place To-Day to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The remains of the late John Head, who met his death near Medicine Hat last Saturday arrived in the city last night accompanied by Mr. John McNeill, who was a fellow employe of the late Mr. Head.

According to Mr. McNeill, his friend was returning from a political meeting at Medicine Hat, with three other men. One of his companions was killed, a second sustained a broken leg and the other escaped uninjured. Mr. Head was conscious for four hours after the accident, and did not complain of much pain. The immediate cause of his death was internal hemorrhage. The four men were on the C.P.R. line and as they went around a bend, it was so dark they did not see an engine backing into them.

At the inquest, the C.P.R. was exonerated from blame as the men had not been authorized to take the hand car out.

The funeral took place at four o'clock this afternoon from the residence of Mr. Arthur Head, Bethune st. to Little Lake cemetery.

Rev. Canon Davidson officiated.

RUN OFF NEAR CAMPBELLFORD

Six Cars Filled With Grain Left the Track

At about 3.30 o'clock this morning six cars of the "manifest" G.T.R. freight train, loaded with grain, which left here at two o'clock this morning, left the track. There was no one hurt, and the extent of the damage to the cars and contents is not known here yet.

The run-off occurred about three miles east of Campbellford. Trainmaster Dan McMillan went through here on the auxiliary. Roadmaster Mitchell brought a gang of men from Lindsay and secured other local help and went down to tranship the grain, if necessary.

A special passenger train was sent from Lindsay to the wreck to meet the Belleville train and transfer the passengers. Another special was despatched to Lakefield.

ROMANCE OF A YOUNG WIDOW

Is Looking for a Suitable Position to Support Herself and Child

Mr. G. N. Howson, the immigration officer on Water street, had an interesting caller this week, in the person of a young widow, who with her three year old child, are recent arrivals from the mother land. She is just thirty-one years of age, and her appearance and language indicate more than the ordinary amount of refinement and education than is commonly found in the general immigrant class.

She is desirous of obtaining a comfortable and suitable position in some family where her child would also be acceptable.

The young widow has had a rather interesting and romantic history, which, if all the particulars were available, would read more like a story than a mere narrative of her life.

When a young girl in London, England, she formed an acquaintance with a Spanish young man who was a representative of a Spanish trading firm whose headquarters were in London. The girl's acquaintance with the young Spanish gentleman ripened into a love affair and the couple were married. A couple of years later the bride and groom left, on a trip to South America and the southern tropics, where the husband contracted a malarial disease, to which he succumbed. Previous to their voyage the little girl was born.

The parents of her husband were not reconciled to her, for some reason or other, but they would like to have the child, to which the mother naturally objects, hence her determination to come to Canada in the hope of obtaining suitable employment to support herself and child.

PRESBYTERIANS TO START A HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS

Three of Most Prominent Men of Presbyterianism in Peterborough To-morrow—A Vigorous Movement for Expansion.

To-morrow, the 24th, will see a stirring of the Presbyterians of the city, when they flock to their three churches to listen to three of the most prominent men of Presbyterianism, Rev. Dr. McKay, Rev. Dr. Grand and Rev. Fred W. Anderson.

Rev. Dr. R. P. McKay holds the highest honor of the Presbyterian Church, as he is the Moderator of the General Assembly. Anyone who watched him last June controlling the General Assembly, will testify as to the dignified manner in which he guided that body of men. For many years he has been associated with the Foreign Board of the church, and in that connection visited the mission fields of the church in India, Formosa and China. But he visits Peterborough and the Presbyterian churches to-morrow as Moderator of the General Assembly.

REV. DR. GRANT.

Rev. Dr. Grant is a man for the newspapers. He supplied them with plenty of copy when he cleaned up the Yukon not of gold, but of dirt. He is the kind of man men like to meet because he has done things in his own fearless way, and some people who run joints of various kinds have reason to remember Grant. Incidentally he is Superintendent of Home Missions, one of the biggest jobs in the church to which he belongs, and he is always on it. He, too, comes to Peterborough with a message from the Assembly.

DR. F. W. ANDERSON.

Rev. F. W. Anderson has some advantages over the other two visitors at least in length. He is younger, but that does not prevent him from being a leader. It helps. He was asked to give up a large church to mix among men and help the men of the church to see that the work of the church is a man's job. He, too, has a message for the Presbyterians of the city, and they will likely respond when they hear it.

WHY ARE THEY COMING?

Why are they coming? Because the people need them and their message. Church members are not all doing their duty. At least the Assembly thinks so, and it ought to know. Presbyterianism in Peterborough will likely set an inspiring example to the whole country as a result of the visit of these men, for they have decided to demonstrate their response in a very practical way. The Sessions of the churches and Boards of Managers have joined together and have planned a thorough visitation of every Presbyterian family in Peterborough during next week. The church officers will, by this means, have an opportunity of talking over the church work with the church members, and much good will result. The people will learn what the church is endeavoring to do and will increase their givings to enable the church to do its work.

HARD WORK NECESSARY.

This means hard work, consecration and personal sacrifice on the part of the officers, but they have heartily given themselves to this work, and it will be sure to repay. They may get a few hard knocks at some homes, but these will be few and far between. Some people who spend forty-nine fiftieths of their earnings on themselves may not be willing to increase their one-fiftieth that they give to Christian work, but these will be few. The church officers will not mind one or two of these. They will run across more who do not see further than their own doors and who therefore, have no sympathy for the poor Chinese. Such people are fewer than they used to be, but there are too many yet. Someone makes the appalling statement that, as far as missions are concerned, by far the larger per cent of church members are giving nothing regularly, either prayer, money or service. Presbyterians of Peterborough will not allow that to be true of them. But the men who visit may come across such. In spite of difficulties and objections the officers of the three churches are going into the every member canvass with enthusiasm. They realize it is the very best known method for securing spiritual and financial results, and any failure to utilize such a canvass would be a failure to do for the local churches what has invariably brought the best results elsewhere.

Churches elsewhere have had wonderful results from such a house to house visitation. The following tells an interesting story inspiring to everyone:

WHO DID IT?

The large church.
The small church.
The church with a mortgage.
The city church.
The country church.
The church with a building enterprise.
The downtown church.
The mission church.
The church whose situation and problems are just as peculiar and just as difficult as yours.

WHAT DID THEY DO?

Increased gifts to all benevolences.
Raised the pastor's salary.
Paid off the mortgage.
Added new members to the church.
Re-established faith.
Re-kindled evangelistic zeal, and experienced a great spiritual awakening in all the activities of the church through the introduction of spiritual, businesslike methods in the finances of the church, and a consequent development of higher ideals of Christian stewardship and service.

Here are reports of what has been accomplished in places where the work has been done.

"Twice as much by weekly as by monthly offerings. Ladies' offering doubled; increase for current expenses $5,000.00 for church improvements."

"Givings for church benevolences, $7.91 per member; church work characterized by deep interest, prayer meeting attendance being exceptionally large."

"Offerings in two years increased from $1,646.00 to $2,268.00. We are convinced of the real benefit of the weekly offering."

"Missionary offerings increased from $1,100.00 to $2,200.00, and since plan was inaugurated we have paid the church mortgage, paid for manse, pipe organ and church repairs; minister's salary increased $250.00. No debt. Membership of church increased by about 100, with seven classes in mission study."

"Gifts to missions 1908, $375.00; 1910 $600.00. Finished the year with a balance for the first time in years. $2,500.00 raised for church improvements. General canvas for all objects at one time. Excellent thing."

"All funds increased; minister's salary raised twice, leaving surpluses which were unknown before; average per member for missions, $5.47 instead of $3.63. Men available for work in the Sabbath school and prayer meeting when needed as never before."

"Missionary offerings doubled; deep spiritual interest; and all departments in a healthy and growing condition."

"It has had a good effect upon the spiritual life of the congregation."

ABOUT THE EFFECT OF A CANVAS

The pastor of a church of 235 members writes:

"The main thing in the way of our taking up the movement was the fact that we had a large debt, also the fact that the contributions were not meeting the current expenses. The congregation had been giving to foreign missions $30 a year. Under the new financial system we subscribed this year $550 through every member canvass. Last year the church received $500 from the Home Board. This year it makes no request for aid and has in sight about $600 for missions."

Another writes:

"After having conducted an every member canvass, increasing the collections for foreign missions from $1300 to $3000, we also made an attempt to raise $6000 for some needed improvements which we have been several years waiting to get courage to ask for. We adopted in part the every member canvas plan and raised $6500 with remarkable ease."

A church in Nebraska raised its foreign missionary gifts from $450 to $2000 by the every member canvass and at the same time built an addition to the church and added $500 to the pastor's salary.

Another writes:

"It made local support easier. At any rate, in the face of a record year for missions, we raised $46,000 toward building our new church. I feel confident, from my own experience, that a congregation is helped and not hindered, in its local work, by generous giving to missions."

One Baptist church in Canada by the every member canvass increased its missionary contributions from $99 to $648, and another church in Toronto with a membership of 227 made an increase from $244 to $1690. Both of these churches were engaged in building canvasses, and in neither of them was there a member with an income of as much as $1200.

The question is, "What are the Presbyterian churches of Peterboro going to do?"

What do you think of this testimony?

"Our canvass was an almost perfect one, one committee alone failing to do its part. The chairman gave practically one whole week's time to this work, and does not begrudge it. I am sure. Our missionary will be increased from $294.00 to about $1,500.00. To this church it has meant not an awakening but a new birth."

What will the Presbyterians of Peterboro do?

Although the response has been fairly generous, the Directors feel sure that this cause should appeal to all classes of citizens, as this building will be to care for the aged poor of the city for all time. If the directors are able to complete the building free of debt, it is hoped, that the work will be self supporting and that it will not be necessary to make any further appeal to the public.

The collectors will begin their work again next Monday, but if there be any who are not called upon and are willing to give, even though they may only be able to afford a small sum, their subscriptions may be paid into the Bank of Montreal and they will be acknowledged in due course. The lists will be published at the end of each week and we hope they will be large—THE DIRECTORS.

Peerless Peninsular

A DURABLE CAST-IRON RANGE WITH MODERN CONVENIENCES

You don't want to use a range as a step-ladder not as the ordinary thing but you do want a strong, well-built range. This picture is given here to show that the oven door—a weak spot in most ranges—is a firm, strong piece of construction in the Peninsular and it is typical of the whole make-up of this durable range.

Some people prefer a cast-iron range but want one or two features usually found only in steel ranges.

It has the perfectly-fitting doors and parts, the firm, substantial body and the cosey, homelike appearance, peculiar to cast-iron ranges.

At the same time it has an oven made partly of iron and partly of steel—an oven that will heat quickly and evenly all over.

It has a large oven, two inches deeper than any other range of the same size—just large enough to cook four pies at once.

It has a drop oven door, which is not usual on a cast-iron range.

It may be had with a hot water reservoir and a steel warming closet with drop door.

Grates Easy to Remove

Low Closet for Pots and Pans

The Part You Cannot See

These are all things that you can see—very important things, but not more so than the things you cannot see—the interior construction, which decides whether or not your pies will burn, whether your oven will be perfectly tight so as to keep out dust and smoke, whether it will wear.

Fifty years of building stoves—honest stoves—are behind every range that bears the name "Peninsular." That name says the materials are good—the flue arrangement is good—the oven is built to heat evenly—the range will wear.

There is a Peninsular range to suit every purse and to please every taste in range architecture.

"The Cost"

illustrates some of the more popular lines and explains why Peninsular ranges cost less in the long run than others. Don't buy a range before reading this book. It's free.

HAVELOCK WENT WILD

Mr. Sexsmith's Re-Election Popular in Railroad Town.

Special to The Review

Havelock, Sept. 23—The election here between Sexsmith and Kerr was sharply contested. Sexsmith's majority over Kerr in Havelock was 158. The Conservatives met in Joe Knox's vacant store, and the Liberals in the Baptist church to receive the returns. In the Conservative rooms, as the returns came in that Sexsmith was elected by a majority of over 500 and that several cabinet ministers were defeated the crowd went wild with enthusiasm. Mr. Sexsmith was seated in a conveyance and many stalwart hands seized the ropes and drew him around the principal streets of the village attended by a torch light procession. He was then taken to the hall where the procession was met by the Havelock Brass Band. Mr. Sexsmith thanked the electors for their very hearty support they had given him.

THE REJOICINGS WERE CONTINUED

A large number of enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Burnham, the new member for West Peterborough, were much in evidence last night. A procession was formed, and headed by a detachment of the 57th band, they marched about the streets, serenading and having a big time generally.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

COUNTRY LIFE IS PREFERABLE

Youthful Debaters at St. Peter's School Show Good Form.

Presentation to Retiring Principal Mr. W. O'Brien.

Yesterday afternoon an interesting debate took place in St. Peter's school the subject of which was, "Resolved, that country life is preferable to city life." Masters Joseph Clancy and Charles McCusker upheld the affirmative, while Masters Jack Duignan and Jack O'Brien defended the negative side of the question. Leo McCabe ably performed the duties of chairman. The youthful contestants on the affirmative showed up country life to great advantage, and its good effect on character, morals, health, etc., while their opponents brought out many arguments in favor of urban life, and pointed out the advantages of living near from cities. The good delivery of the four boyish speakers was especially noteworthy, that of Joseph Clancy being remarkably pleasing, clear and free from the faintest trace of nervousness. After a few minutes of suspense the judge gave the palm of victory to the defenders of the affirmative.

All the boys of St. Peter's then repaired to their hall, where Mr. O'Brien the retiring principal, was given a most agreeable surprise by being presented with a handsome suit case and an appreciative address.

Rode In Wheelbarrow.

Toronto, Sept. 23. 'Twas a gaily-decorated chariot that drew up near the St. Lawrence market southwest at the corner of King and Jarvis streets yesterday morning, precisely at eleven. The chariot bore a striking likeness to a wheelbarrow, yet spokes and woodwork were gay with red, white and blue tissue paper, and on its floor stood an armchair likewise decorated and guarded by two flaunting Union-Jacks.

The charioteer, Mr. James Hopper of King street east, appeared presently in the midst of the crowd of grinning, cheering people and took the wheelbarrow handles while a stout, merry-looking man, apparently ready to enjoy the time of his life, mounted the chair. The stout man was Mr. McKinnie of the McKinnie House. The thinner man was the wheeler, but he didn't turn a hair as he lifted something like 200 pounds of avoirdupois.

The two men had had a wager of $35 a side on the election, and included was the provision that the loser should wheel his opponent two blocks up Jarvis street and back to the McKinnie Hotel. Bystanders testify that Mr. Hopper came valiantly up to the scratch.

After Long Service.

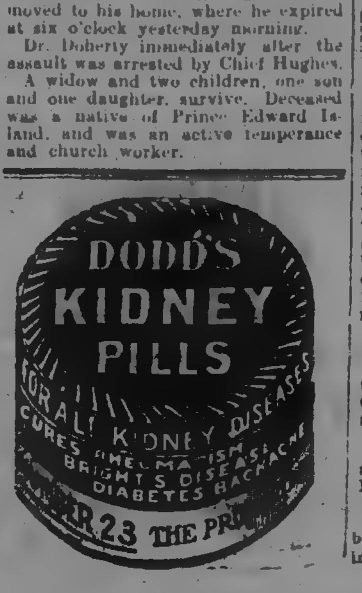
Fatal Election Dispute.

Campbellton, N.B., Sept. 23.—Campbellton is yesterday mourning for one of her most respected citizens, D. J. Bruce, who died at an early hour yesterday morning as a result of a blow struck him by Dr. W. W. Doherty.

The townspeople are shocked by the sudden termination of one of the most sober and quiet elections ever held in Restigouche. It appears that Mr Bruce and Dr. Doherty were in a somewhat heated argument about political matters, Mr. Bruce being a Conservative while Dr. Doherty is a Liberal, when a very personal question respecting Dr. Doherty was touched upon. Thereupon he is said to have stabbed at Mr. Bruce with an umbrella. The weapon pierced the unfortunate man's eye and it is supposed that it injured the brain. The injured man was rushed to Hotel Dieu Hospital, where everything possible was done and he was then removed to his home, where he expired at six o'clock yesterday morning.

Dr. Doherty immediately after the assault was arrested by Chief Hughes.

A widow and two children, one son and one daughter, survive. Deceased was a native of Prince Edward Island, and was an active temperance and church worker.



DROWNED IN THE WEST

A Leaky Boat Responsible for the Death of W. Thompson

Mr. R. E. Young, superintendent of the Railway Lands branch of the Department of the Interior, has received word from Athabasca Landing, Alberta, of the drowning at Fort McMurray of William Thompson, a member of Frank P. Clean's exploring party. Thompson, who was only 20 years of age, was crossing the Athabasca River in a leaky boat, along with Crawford Gigot, another member of the party. The boat began to sink, and its occupants plunged into the water in an attempt to swim to the shore. Both Thompson and Gigot were poor swimmers. Thompson finally became exhausted and sank. Gigot was finally rescued by men who had witnessed the plight of the two men from the shore, and put out in a boat.

TONS OF MEAT

Bread, Pies, Butter, Coffee, Tea, Milk and Ice Cream Galore

There were four permanent restaurants, and 35 other lunch and refreshment booths on the Toronto Exhibition grounds. These supplied about 40,000 meals, at an average price of 33c., making the food bill paid by hungry sightseers some $13,200 a day. For the two weeks of the Fair, the public paid over $150,000.

Bread, 98,000 loaves.
Pies, 80,000
Butter, 20,000 lbs.
Coffee, 70,000 gals.
Tea, 60,000 gals.
Milk, 65,000 gals.

Of course, this does not include the countless sandwiches, rolls and other light refreshments eaten simply because they're offered for sale. Nor the thousands of bananas, peaches, pears and other fruits which were piled high on the stands, and disappeared as snow banks before a hot sun. To estimate these would need the ability of a Finance Minister at least. Then the ice cream cones, "You eat them as you walk along," said the man with the cast-iron lungs, and nearly everyone took his advice. With an attendance of 80,000 on one day, over 100,000 cones were handed over the counters of the different stands. At that rate nearly a million cones of ice cream found their way down the thirsty throats of Toronto's citizens during the two weeks.

COW LEADS THE WORLD

Remarkable Milk Production of a Cow in Eastern Canada

A two-year-old Ayrshire heifer, Milkmaid 7th, owned by McRae & Sons, East Royalty, P.E.I., has, in a test qualified with a milk production for the year of 11,696 lbs., having an average percentage of fat of over 4.4. This is said to be the world's record, the distinction having been formerly held by "Hazel of Sandhill," owned by Carr & Son, Almonte, N.Y. This animal in one year gave 11,078 lbs. of milk, thus the McRaes' heifer has a lead of 618 lbs.

The heifer Milkmaid 7th is remarkable for her persistency as a milker more than for any great flow of milk in any one day. Her largest record for a month was in September, 1910, when she gave 1,090 lbs. On the last day of her test (Aug. 7th) she gave 20 lbs. At the beginning of her test (Aug.3, 1910), she was two years, 295 days old. The Canadian record has been held by "Speck of Springbank," owned by A. S. Turner & Son, of Ryckman's Corners, Ont. She commenced her test on September 3, 1909, and was then two years, 319 days old; she gave in the year 10,253½ lbs. milk, with an average per cent. of fat of 4.30.

HUMOROUS CONFUSION

A humorous feature occurred at a recent banquet of the International Veterinary Association in Toronto in the response to the toasts to the King and to the President of the United States, which, according to the programme, were to have been followed by the singing of the National Anthem of each country. It happened, unfortunately, that there were not enough Canadians present to carry "God Save the King" to a success, and the American visitors for the most part remained silent during the attempt that was made. Then when the gathering stood to burst forth in "The Star Spangled Banner," the orchestra, evidently of a strictly Canadian make-up, did not render the musical number expected, and chaos followed the second endeavor to do glory to country by song.

A "PEACE" BRIDGE

A "national committee on the celebration of 100 years of peace among English-speaking peoples" has been formed, with Andrew Carnegie as its executive chairman. Foremost among the propaganda of this powerful organization is the building of a monumental structure across Niagara River—one that will serve as an educator to all ages of the fact that English-speaking peoples are of the same blood, and that therefore, that hundred years of peace since the war of 1812 should be but the beginning of many centuries of amity.

IMPORT BEER

WHO PAYS THE DUTY? You or our foreign competitor

You pay. About that there is no room for doubt.

And it's more than likely you believe in the necessity of the tariff.

But—of what earthly good is it if you pay the duty?

The foreigner laughs at duties imposed by our government as long as you are willing to cash up. Take beer, for instance.

"Salvador"

The Famous National Drink

is the purest and best beer brewed on this continent.

The formula and entire process of brewing "Salvador" is a secret and absolutely controlled, on this side of the Atlantic, by Reinhardts' of Toronto.

But—when you order an American beer in Canada there's 34% extra to pay—the duty—plus extra freight charges.

Is it rational to pay that duty—when you can get a better beer at the normal price? "Salvador" beer is rich in flavor, sparkling and charged with invigorating properties.

LUNG TROUBLE

Mrs. Biny Brown, of Tenecape, N.S., Was Cured by Catarrhozone of Lung Trouble and Catarrh, After Hundreds of Other Remedies Failed

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family, if Colds, Catarrh, and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown "five minutes every hour and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health and I am convinced that no cough, cold, or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler, the local symptoms, such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets which are taken after each meal purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

The Penalty of Overwork is Kidney Trouble—Here's Your Remedy

It has been man's lot since the creation to toil. The modern tendency is to overwork, to turn night into day and thus tear down faster than nature can rebuild. An unnatural strain is thrown upon the vital organs and more especially upon the kidneys, which have the work of filtering the blood free of waste and poison.

The present day rush is too great. If it is to continue nature must be assisted with a good kidney tonic. When the kidneys begin to fail in their work, Booth's Kidney Pills are needed. They quickly dispersed the poisonous matter collected in the system.

Pain in the back is only a timely warning of trouble in the kidneys. An inflammation has set in and a disordered condition of the urine soon becomes apparent.

Too much or too little urine, with constant desire to void the secretions, any noticeable deviation from the normal color; the appearance of a sandy sediment, proves a disordered condition of the kidneys that needs quick attention.

If your work seems hard for you; if you a lame, weak or aching back; if you are tired and listless and seem to be running down without apparent cause, begin at one with Booth's Kidney Pills, the great kidney remedy that has cured so many of your neighbors. It has given thousands of working men and women strong, sound backs for their daily work.

Chas. Reid, of Main street, Markdale, Ont., says—"My back had been sore and tender; a heavy dull pain had settled in the small of my back and in the region of the kidneys. My limbs would puff up with dropsical swellings and leave me in a miserable and run down condition. The urine was highly colored and odorous and contained a quantity of brick dust sediment. Nothing had relieved my condition in any way and I had begun to think nothing would. I read of Booth's Kidney Pills, and procured a box and commenced their use. I had not finished the first box when the urine cleared and the dropsical swellings had gone down. I found more relief in Booth's Kidney Pills, than in all else I had used and I am stronger and better in every way and can thank only Booth's Kidney Pills for it."

A FREE BOX

will be sent to all sufferers wishing to try this wonderful remedy. They are guaranteed to do all that is claimed for them or refund your money. TABULATING MACHINE

Unique Device for Compiling the Census Returns

The Dominion Government in tabulating the census statistics which were taken in June last will use a machine which was used only once before, and that by the United States after its last census. Chas. W. Spicer is the inventor of the tabulator, and when it was shown that the machine satisfactorily handled the statistics of the last American census the Canadian Government bought outright from the patentee the use of the patent in Canada. The Government then decided to have three of the machines built, and with this end in view Dr. Blue and Mr. O'Halloran inspected a number of shops in different cities in Canada and called for tenders. Joseph P. Cleat, of 243 Macdonell Avenue, Toronto, was awarded the contract. Mr. Cleat immediately set to work, and by the aid of a few suggestions at different times from the patentee, his mechanical engineer, Mr. R. A. Scragg, has carried the work through. The statistics to be tabulated are first entered on census cards by means of perforations, and the tabulator then collects all this information from the cards as they go through the machine at the rate of two hundred per minute. The census cards are seven inches long by three inches wide, and are fed into the machine by an automatic feeder. When the machine is adjusted for the required information the cards are fed over a cylinder, and through the openings a magnetic contact is made which operates a series of chutes of the same thickness as the cards and stops the series so that the card enters the proper chute. When the card is in its proper chute a series of fingers on an endless chain carries it from the chutes along two wires, which are about seven inches apart, to the proper compartment. When the card drops from the ends of the wires into the compartment the count is made by an electrical device. There are fourteen different compartments, and by running the cards through fourteen times all this information may be tabulated. By making other adjustments the information indicated by forty-two perforations may be tabulated. The making of the chutes requires the most accurate workmanship, and it is for this reason that the price is as high as $2,000. Mr. Cleat has made the machines throughout with the exception of the motors. These machines will be used in the statistical work of the Department of Agriculture after the census work is completed.

BURIED AT SUNSET

Band Played Sacred Music as Mrs. Mafino was Placed in Grave

One of the strangest funerals ever held in Toronto was when, without a minister, Mrs. William Mafino, an Italian woman, was buried in Mount Hope as the sun was setting. In making funeral arrangements with Mr. W. A. Miles, undertaker, on account of some old superstition of sunny Italy, Mr. Mafino requested that no minister should be in attendance, but that a band should furnish sacred music and that his wife should be buried as the sun was sinking. At a cost of $20 a band was secured, and as the Dead March in Saul was being rendered, the funeral procession wended its way along the streets. At Mount Hope strains of a sacred Italian melody broke the stillness of the approaching night as the casket was lowered.

CANADIAN CHEESE

British Merchants and Public Like Its Quality

Canadian cheese is commanding attention by its excellence in the British markets, according to Mr. G. G. Publow, of Kingston, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, who has returned from a visit to the old country. He saw cheese in London from other countries, and found that the best Canadian product is meeting with a very favorable reception in the English market. The merchants are extremely pleased with its high quality. From present appearances Mr. Publow thinks that English cheese is likely to be short this year, so that good prices will be received for the fall make of Canadian cheese.

CANADIAN PHYSICIAN MADE IT

Wonderful New Substance Formed By Combining Fruit Juices

It takes Canada to do the really big things that are being done. For thousands of years, people have known that fruit was good for them without knowing exactly why. A Canadian physician experimented until he found out.

Fruit juice is about nine-tenths water and one-tenth solid matter. And this solid matter is eight-ninths sweet and one-ninth bitter. It is the bitter principle that is the curative part of fruit. To get the full benefit of fruit, one must eat great quantities of fresh fruit. By the discovery of this Canadian physician, the bitter or curing part of fruit juice is so combined that it is made to grow or increase many times. In other words, a stronger fruit juice is created. This is made into tablets which are known all over Canada under the name of "Fruit-a-tives". "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that cures Constipation. JAMES PROUDFOOT Esq. of Vankleek Hill, Ont. says "If it were not for 'Fruit-a-tives' I am satisfied I could not live".

MR. PROUDFOOT

Chronic Constipation means Paralysis of the Bowels. There are two layers of muscles in the bowels which during constipation become thin and weak and cannot act. In severe cases, people go three and even ten days without the bowels moving. N. JOUBERT Esq. of Grande Ligne, Que. says "I heartily recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to all who suffer with Constipation".

MR. JOUBERT

Bile, a liquid secreted by the liver, is the purgative of the body. Two pints of bile should be poured into the bowels every day. In severe constipation only about half a pint is secreted. With the muscles of the bowels weak and little bile, it is impossible for the bowels to move regularly. A. G. WILLISTON Esq. of Hardwicks, N. B. says "I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and now I am well from Chronic Constipation from which I suffered for many years".

MR. WILLISTON

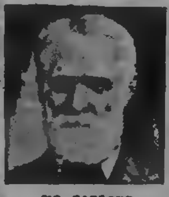
To cure Constipation, the liver must be stimulated to pour out more bile and the weak muscles strengthened.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fox of Newburgh, Ont., say "Our daughter was cured of Appendicitis by 'Fruit-a-tives' after doctors said only an operation could save her life."

MISS FOX

"Fruit-a-tives" is not merely a relieving agent but actually cures Constipation. It tones up the nerves and bowel muscles and increases the flow of bile.

WM. PARSONS Esq. of Otterville, Ont. says "I am eighty years of age and find 'Fruit-a-tives' do me more good than any other remedy".



MR. PARSONS

Remember — chronic Constipation cannot be cured in a day, but "Fruit-a-tives" will quickly relieve the trouble and certainly cure you if taken a reasonable time.

Senator JOHN COSTIGAN of Ottawa, says "I have been a dreadful sufferer from Constipation for over thirty years. After taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for a few months, I feel I am well from this horrible complaint".

SENATOR COSTIGAN

"Fruit-a-tives" will cure you. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

IN MEMORIAM

Joseph Harris, sr., died in the 77th year of his age.

By his grandchild, Vera Harris.

Dearest grandpa, thou hast left us,
In a world of toil and care;
To thy home beyond the river,
There will be no sorrow there.

From our childhood thou hast loved us,
In our sickness cheered our minds;
Now thy thoughts of us are ended,
And thy loved ones are left behind.

Seventy-seven years you've numbered
On the footstool of your King;
On His bosom now you slumber,
And may angels round you sing.

Yes, dear grandpa, thou art waiting,
Watching on the other shore,
Till in Heaven I hope to meet thee;
Parting there will be none more.

IN MEMORIAM.

Of Carrie Clarkson, the beloved wife of [illegible] Clarkson, who departed this life in the 27th year of her age.

By Vera Harris.

Oh how lonely thou hast left me,
Here thy smiles I'll see no more;
But my Heavenly Father loves me,
Though my heart is very sore.

Of my Heavenly Father's rod,
Very heavy seems the stroke;
Carrie, while I think of thee
Oh my heart is almost broke.

I must leave thee, Carrie, dearest,
In our Father's loving hands,
Till the mystery He revealest
In the bright and sunny land

Shall I meet my loved companion,
Where no surging billows roll;
Shall we live in yon bright mansion!
Can I reach the Heavenly goal!

Jesus, He'll support and guide me,
I will take Him at His word;
Till in Heaven my soul shall greet thee,
There forever with the Lord.

You are waiting for me, Carrie,
Reaching out your hand to meet;
I'm resolved to meet you, dearest,
Where the many mansions be.

Passengers Stranded.

Queenstown, Sept. 23.—Two hundred passengers, some of whom came on the White Star steamer Cedric from New York Thursday night, and others on the same company's steamer Arabic from Boston yesterday, are stranded here, unable to reach their destination because of the general strike on the Irish railways, called by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, Thursday night.

The city is practically isolated from the land side. The railway officials stated that no trains would arrive at or leave Queenstown to-day, and that they did not know when they would be able to resume operations. Not even the mails can be despatched.

Sentenced to Death.

Stolypin a week ago last Thursday night, during a gala performance at the opera, and the Premier succumbed to the wound last Monday night.

ANNUAL HARVEST FESTIVAL AT ST. LUKE'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Symonds of Montreal, Delivered a Vigorous and Thoughtful Sermon—Beautiful Choral Service and Appropriate Decorations—Reception Afterwards

A large and representative attendance of the members and adherents of St. Luke's Anglican church, East City, were present last evening at the annual service of thanksgiving and praise which was celebrated in a most delightful manner, the pleasure and success of which was decidedly augmented by the presence of Rev. Dr. Symonds of Christ Church cathedral, Montreal, who preached the festival sermon. It was a source of extreme pleasure indeed to the congregation to again listen to the voice of Dr. Symonds who during his term of rectorship in Peterboro years ago, was one of the city's most popular divines. He still possesses that magnetic pulpit personality, and vigor of speech which were two of the greatest factors of his popularity when in Peterborough. His words last evening overflowed with earnest and vigorous appeals to the congregation to grow in the grace and knowledge of the Saviour of mankind and the Giver of all good things.

APPROPRIATE DECORATIONS

The church presented an attractive appearance, decorated in an artistic manner, in which the predominating elements were all the harvest products of garden and field. The arrangement of these in the chancel was very effective. At the rear of the church interior were two scythes and sheafs of grain, symbolizing the reaper and the harvest.

Rev. Dr. Symonds spoke from two passages of scripture, the first one being Genesis I, 28, which read as follows: "And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth and subdue it and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the fowl of the air and over every moving thing that moveth upon the face of the earth. The second text was 2nd Peter, 3rd and 18, "But grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

"The words of the first text would appear to many people," he said, "as entirely materialistic. In it, man is charged to do certain things."

"We often hear appeals against materialism, and it is quite possible these appeals have a good basis. For instance, it is quite possible for us to think too much about making money. But what God intended was that we look after the transformation and improvement of both the nature of the earth and our human natures.

WE CAN IMPROVE NATURE

"We often hear the saying, that we cannot improve upon nature. The man who says this is saying what might be regarded as an impious thing. Man was put upon this earth that he might transform its appearance and make it better. Look at the virgin forests and prairies of Canada for example before the hand of man had touched them. Imagine you had a birdseye view of its vast extent before it was broken. Would it not present a gloomy and almost lonesome sight. As you looked would you not remark how vast are its possibilities. But man comes along, he cultivates it, looks after it, transforms it, and see how wonderful is the improvement.

"There is a nature inside of all of us," he said, "and it is surely an imperfect nature. We are in the habit of saying that man has a lower nature and a higher nature. And right here comes the very central point of my discourse, which is the fact that we can improve upon our natures. To do this is the very essence of religion and of regeneration.

Let us look for a moment at our lower natures, and see some of the things we take a wrong view of. The first is the fact that in nearly every case we are looking after number one. It is this that is the very root of selfishness. Do not a large majority of us even when coming to church and in church think that the first person singular is about the only one to be interested in. It is very evident then what is necessary. It is the growing in knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. Let us grow in grace, so that we can build a higher and more worthy platform of Christianity. Never let us forget the needy, and the outcasts. Another thing to be careful of is the gratification of our individual lower nature tastes. This is a subject that must be spoken of plainly, even if it is a delicate one. People are apt to look lightly on certain sins, saying that they are according to nature, and are therefore to be excused. So that certain people, who at one time would be shocked at some things, soon learn to look with less horror on them, on account of little by words that drop from the lips of so called professing Christians. You might as well excuse the thief as excuse these certain sins of our lower natures. While your lower nature is not bad, yet you are to put in this world simply to exercise it. The lower nature gives us our natural powers, but they are powers that can be put to low uses. Thank God that tens of thousands of men and women are rising above the desires of their lower natures to things infinite, and are thereby growing in the grace and knowledge of the Lord and Saviour.

Rev. Dr. Symonds concluded his sermon with a strong appeal for people to exercise their better natures and to have a more uplifting outlook on the things of this life. He held the rapt attention of the large congregation throughout, who are to be congratulated on having secured such an eminent preacher for the occasion and on the thoroughly successful ceremony in connection with their annual service of praise and thanksgiving.

After the festival, an informal reception was tendered to Dr. Symonds in the Sunday school room, where his old friends had opportunity of greeting him and renewing old acquaintances. Many availed themselves of the opportunity. The ladies served refreshments and the evening was brought to an enjoyable conclusion.

Preached in Havelock

Rev. E. L. Sawers, M.A., of St. Luke's church, Peterborough, was in town on Wednesday night, when he preached the sermon at St. John's harvest thanksgiving services. The church was appropriately and beautifully decorated with fruit, flowers, autumn leaves etc.—Havelock Standard.

The shower included silver, china, delf, graniteware, linen, etc., and will be much appreciated in the new home. To add to the amusement each gift was accompanied by an original rhyme, which suited the occasion so well at times as to cause a great deal of merriment. AFFAIRS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Patrons of Havelock Creamery Hold Stormy Meeting

A meeting of the patrons of the Havelock creamery was held in the Council chamber on Monday night, when a statement of the past season's balance was presented. The statement presented by Mr. Tedford, proprietor of the creamery, was extremely dissatisfying to the patrons who waxed quite wrathy at times, and who appointed two of their number, Messrs. J. Kenaguer and J. O'Connor, of Keymung to investigate the condition of affairs and report to the patrons at a meeting to be held in the near future. The patrons claim that there is cash due them for August cream, that the July and August output was lumped as one month and that there is nothing due them.—Havelock Standard.

AFTERMATH OF THE ELECTIONS

It is reported that as a result of the elections several people allowed their feelings lose rein so freely that they came to blows over the matter. A temporary platform had been erected, and from this Mr. Borden spoke. Acting Mayor Stackland welcomed Mr. Borden on behalf of the town of Truro.

Mr. Borden, on rising, was greeted with enthusiastic cheers, the band playing the Maple Leaf Forever. He congratulated the good old County of Colchester on rolling up the old-time majority for Stanfield which this county used to roll up for A. W. McClellan in the old days. In Mr. Stanfield he had always found a true and loyal supporter and Colchester was indeed worthily represented.

Mr. Borden paid a tribute to the great army of Liberals who, on the great issue of September 21, had joined hands with the Conservative party and voted for Canada. In 1878 Canada had entrusted to Sir John Macdonald the reins of power and ever since both parties had supported the national policy, but last January the Government had made a complete reversal of their position. While the Opposition allowed the Government all necessary supply, they had insisted that the question of reciprocity should be placed squarely before the people instead of being ratified by a mere Parliamentary majority. They had been called obstructionists, but the people of Canada had endorsed their stand and converted a majority for the Liberals of about 45 into a Conservative majority of about 50.

He assured the people that the Conservatives would resume the Government in no spirit of exaltation, but with a feeling of responsibility and an earnest endeavor to promote the progress of this strong nation.

In thirty years people would look back on the election of 1911 as a national epoch. The Conservative party would endeavor to build up Canada as mistress of her own destiny and to work out this destiny as an autonomous nation within the British Empire.

Mr. Borden boarded the train after shaking hands with many friends, and amid the waving of handkerchiefs and hats and lusty cheering, was given a "God speed" on his journey to the capital city of the Dominion.

Borden at Capital.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—R. L. Borden, Premier-elect, arived in Ottawa at 11.45 yesterday from Halifax. It was a quiet and undemonstrative homecoming. On the platform when he alighted from the train were Mrs. Borden, Geo. H. Perley, M.P., John Thompson, K.C., son of the late Sir John Thompson, W. H. Rowley, and a few other personal friends. In addition, a number of electors who happened to be on the platform, came up and greeted the new Prime Minister elect and shook hands with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Borden drove straight to their home on Wurtemberg street, where Mr. Borden remained all day. He will be at his office on Monday. In the meantime, he is saying nothing, and on the Cabinet subject will have nothing to say until circumstances make an announcement possible.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier spent his first out-of-office Sunday quietly, going to church in the morning with Lady Laurier. Sir Wilfrid's intimation that he will lead the Liberal opposition for a time, is not taken to mean that he will do more than hold down the post of Opposition leader till a successor has been discovered and formally accepted by a party caucus.

It is announced that two seats in New Brunswick now claimed by the Liberals, may yet be counted in the Conservative column. They are St. John City and Carleton held by Hon. Wm. Pugsley and F. B. Carvell. In these ridings recounts are demanded. In Saskatchewan, Qu'Appelle, and in Alberta, MacLeod, have gone over to the Liberal list, and in Manitoba the last reports show 8 to 2, with Dauphin and Provencher Liberal.

BACK TO JOURNALISM FOR HIM

Brockville, Sept. 24.—"I have not really made up my mind what my plans are, but in all probability I will return to journalistic work on the Brockville Recorder," said Hon. George P. Graham to your representative last night. It is a well-known fact that since the Minister of Railways and Canals has been a member of the Dominion House he has not had any financial interest in The Recorder, the control of that paper being in the hands of his late son, Perry M. Graham, up till the time of his death, when it passed into the ownership of his brother, Mr. William Graham, barrister, of Ottawa. It is not at all unlikely that the Minister of Railways will repurchase this controlling interest and come back to his old love. In response to a telegram from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Mr Graham is leaving on Monday morning for Ottawa to assist the Prime Minister in winding up the business of the government. In a very large department like that of Railways and Canals there has been a great accumulation of work which must be cleared off the slate so that the public interests may not suffer. Naturally the new Ministers will take some time to get conversant with details as the present Ministers understand them. It is quite likely that as soon as Mr. Graham is relieved from the cares of office he and Mrs. Graham will take a much needed rest, which they have not had since Mr. Graham became Brockville's representative in the Legislature thirteen years ago. He entered the House of Commons in September, 1907.

ROYAL BANK OF CANADA TAKES IN COLONIAL BANK OF LONDON

Big Canadian Financial Institution Takes Over Anothrr Competitor for West Indian Trade.

London, Eng., Sept. 25. The Colonial Bank, a strong financial institution, with head office in London, and with fifteen branches in the West Indies, where its operations chiefly are carried on, has been absorbed by the Royal Bank of Canada.

The negotiations were put through by C. E. Neill, assistant general manager of the Royal, who is now in London in connection with this matter.

The Royal Bank has a number of branches in the West India Islands, the list including Trinidad, Cuba, Jamaica and Porto Rico. In the British Islands the Royal has been coming into competition with the Colonial. This amalgamation will remove much competition and will give the Royal a stronger hold on the business in the West Indies.

The last absorption by the Royal was a year ago, when that bank took over the Union Bank of Halifax, thus securing firmer hold on business in the Maritime Provinces, and particularly in Nova Scotia.

Toronto, Sept. 25. When called up in regard to the matter, Weston F. Brock, the local manager, declared that he had not yet heard of it. The matter would be put through by the head office in Montreal.

The Royal Bank is one of the strongest financial concerns in Canada. It has an authorized capital of $10,000,000, with a paid-up capital of $6,200,000. It has a reserved fund of $7,000,000, and its undivided profits amounted to $243,230. Deposits up till April of this year amounted to over $72,000,000. The bank has immediate assets of over $27,000,000.

The Royal has 150 branches in Canada, one in London, Eng., one in New York, and numerous branches in Cuba, Porto Rico, Bahamas, Barbados and Jamaica.

H. S. Holt is the president, and Edwin L. Pease is vice-president and general manager.

The Colonial Bank, with head office in London, Eng., was established under royal charter in 1836. It has a subscribed capital of $10,000,000 with a paid-up capital of $3,000,000.

Will Increase Capital.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—The absorption of the Colonial Bank of England by the Royal Bank of Canada, will necessitate an increase of capital of the Royal Bank from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, which will make it the bank with the largest capitalization in Canada. The Bank of Montreal has a capital of $15,000,000.

Marries at Ninety-One.

London, Sept. 25.—Lord Strathcona, despite his age—he is 91—made a Duffey sprint to catch the special steamship train at the Euston Station Saturday. He arrived at the station just as the train was starting, but assisted by a couple of friends, he raced and was pushed into a carriage before the train got up speed.

Bill Miner's Pal Is Dead.

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 25.—Lewis Colquhoun, bandit, who figured in the public eye in 1905 in holding up a westbound express on the Canadian Pacific Railway near Ducks, B.C., died yesterday in New Westminster Penitentiary Hospital.

Colquhoun was a pal of Bill Miner and Shorty Dust in this hold up. The trio were captured later by mounted police after a hard fight in the foot hills near Kamloops. Miner and Dust were sentenced to life imprisonment, and Colquhoun was given 25 years.

A few months ago Colquhoun's health became impaired and tuberculosis hastened his end. He was 34 years of age and unmarried. He was a school teacher and later bookkeeper before he went wrong.

His brother is in the city and is taking the remains east for burial.

Firemen Killed.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 25.—An avalanche of bricks from upper walls of a burning six-storey building in the wholesale district, occupied by David Baird & Son, crashed through three floors of an adjoining building last night, killing three firemen and injuring several other men. The dead are: Lieut. Virgil Ferguson, salvage corps; Fireman Richard Hardman, salvage corps; Fireman Richard Deal, salvage corps.

The injured are Jacob Steegel and Arthur Mantanus, employes of the Kentucky Wallpaper Co. The two clerks were dug out immediately, but it was more than an hour before rescuers got to the bodies of the firemen. The Baird loss is $300,000, while adjoining stores suffered damages also.

BOGROFF HANGED

Assassin of Premier Stolypin Executed at Noon

Special to the Review.

KIEFF, RUSSIA, SEPT 25.—BOGROFF, WHO ASSASSINATED PREMIER STOLYPIN WAS HANGED AT NOON TO-DAY.

R. B. Bennett Goes to England.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—R. B. Bennett of Calgary will not, it is believed, occupy a place on the Ottawa stage for any length of time, but will go across the ocean and enter British politics as so many other Canadians have done. This might provide a seat for C. A. Magrath of Lethbridge, who was defeated in Medicine Hat, but for whose return to Ottawa provision is almost sure to be made.

LORD STRATHCONA HAS NOT YET RESIGNED; COMING TO CANADA

Laurier's Announcement of His Resignation Rather Premature—Connaught to Figure in It.

Toronto, Sept. 25.—The story recently published that Lord Strathcona is coming to Canada in order to resign the position of High Commissioner for Canada is not absolutely correct.

During the Imperial Conference in London, Sir Wilfrid made a rather premature announcement of the resignation of Lord Strathcona. It is said that the High Commissioner resented this, and notified Sir Wilfrid that he would not resign until he had returned to Canada and taken an official part in the reception to be given the Duke of Connaught, the King's uncle, on his arrival in Canada. It is understood that after this event has taken place Lord Strathcona will place his resignation in the hands of the Canadian Government.

Passed Derelict.

Halifax, Sept. 25.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries at Halifax received a Marconi message via Cape Sable Saturday, sent by the steamer Reina Maria Christiana. The steamer reports that in latitude 16 north, longitude 68.33 west, she passed a smack, half-submerged, with three foresails stretched. The name of the boat was Stephen G. Hart of New London, Conn. She was flying the American flag. The message says nothing regarding life on the derelict and it is presumed that the crew had abandoned her.

Angry Children Leave Home.

London, Sept. 25.—Angered because her mother spanked her six-year-old brother, Grace, the ten-year-old daughter of J. Simpson, of 124 Mamelon street, left home Saturday at noon in company with her brother Johnny, and has not been heard of since. The two children took with them a suitcase, a satchel and two quilts.

PROMINENT BUSINESS MEN FINANCE GREAT RELIGIOUS CRUSADE

JOHN L. ALEXANDER. J. PIERPONT MORGAN. FRED B. SMITH.

LEADERS IN MOVEMENT TO EVANGELIZE A CONTINENT

Financed by business men of national prominence whose combined wealth runs into the hundreds of millions and who will conduct it as they would a private business affair, the United States and Canada are on the eve of a common sense religious crusade such as is not recorded in the previous history of the human race since the Reformation, and which, its promoters proclaim, will be further reaching in its effect than the crusades of history.

The plan, originating in New York, includes a visit to more than ninety cities by Evangelistic workers who will reach the people in every walk of life. Among the prominent men in New York who are associated with the work and who have given generous financial aid to it are the following:—Cleveland H. Dodge, J. Pierpont Morgan, James H. Post, Frederick Billings, James G. Cannon, R. Fulton Cutting, Dr. D. H. McAlpin, Alfred E. Marling, Charles A. Peabody, L. H. Severance, William Sloane, Robert Brewster, James B. Coombs, Frank A. Ferris and James D. Husted.

Boiler Explodes; One Killed.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—A terrible accident happened Saturday in the Township of Gloucester, on the Montreal road, six miles below Ottawa, where a machine was at work on a farm cutting corn for a silo. The boiler exploded, instantly killing one of the men on the machine, named Euclid Lepage. He was struck by flying fragments of the boiler and also scalded by the escaping steam. The engineer, who was standing at the end of the machine, had a miraculous escape, being unhurt. A horse, one of a team tethered 15 or 20 feet away, was also killed instantly by being struck on the head by a piece of the boiler.

Light Sentence.

Brockville, Sept. 25. F. J. Arnot and Ethel May Baker, the Ogdensburg couple arrested in Ottawa last month on charges of bigamy preferred against each by Mrs. Emma Arnot of Carthage, N.Y., were brought out before his honor Judge Reynolds yesterday for sentence. Arnot was given two months in the county jail and the woman was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The couple were married here on July 4. Letters bearing testimony to the previous good character of the couple weighed with the judge.

Fell From Window.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Charles W. Allen, a wealthy Kenosha, Wis., manufacturer and a brother of Nathan Allen, was killed here Friday night when he fell from a fourth storey window at the rear of a downtown hotel. Allen's body was found in a small courtyard. The police declared that Allen's death was accidental, but Dr. Gill, house physician at the hotel, said he believed Allen jumped from the window.

WAS ROBBED AND BEATEN

Elderly Man Found in His Home by Neighbors.

Orillia, Sept 25.—John Waldron, an elderly man, who lived alone near Washago, was found by neighbors at his home, he having been terribly beaten. The house had been robbed and a man named McCauley is suspected. Waldron may die.

THIRTEEN DEAD, THREE DYING AND FIVE HURT IN COLLISION

Train Struck Hay Rack on Which Were a Party of Merry Makers—Dust and Fog Are Responsible.

Neenah, Wis., Sept. 25.—Thirteen persons are dead, three others are dying and five are seriously hurt as a result of a fast train on the Chicago and Western Railroad yesterday crashing into a hayrack on which a party of merrymakers were returning from a picnic.

Dust and fog, and a big signboard near the side of the track contributed to the cause of the engineer being unable to see the party. Nothing on the train suffered, except from a severe jar.

The collision occurred at 3.40 a.m., at the Commercial street crossing here. Train No. 121 northbound whirled through the wagonload of singing and happy unfortunates, who were returning from the Peter Hanson farm, where they had gone to attend the celebration of a wedding anniversary.

Of the dead ten are men and three women. All but two of the dead and injured were residents of Kenosha, Wis.

Armless, legless and headless bodies covered the right of way as the train, nine coaches in length, was brought to a stop eight hundred feet from the scene of the crash. Several of the bodies were so badly mutilated that identification was possible only by fragments of clothing. Six bodies were discovered on the engine pilot and two other bodies were hurled through a flagman's shanty with such force as to overturn the structure. One of these was a Miss Finn, who was projected through one of the side walls of the house and was breathing when rescued. She died a few hours later. Another of the victims was thrown high over a barn fifty feet from the tracks.

Among the occupants of the hayrack who escaped were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brizinski and child of two years. They were seated in the front half of the rack, the mother holding the child in her lap. About half way back in the wagon sat Mary Schwartzbauer. The latter was hurled about fifty feet and rendered unconscious. When found by rescuers the Brizinski child was in her arms, having escaped unscathed. The parents of the child were only slightly injured.

Peter Hanson, driver and owner of the horses, attached to the ill-fated rig, managed to hang to the reins, and was the only person aboard who was not temporarily stunned by the collision. He declares he did not observe the on-rushing train until his team had reached the track. He whipped up the horses, but managed to get the wagon only half way across.

The train is said to have been nearly a half hour late and was running approximately 60 miles an hour.

Trains Collide.

Pittsburg, Sept. 25.—The Pennsylvania 18-hour flyer between Chicago and New York, was in collision 30 minutes after leaving this city early yesterday morning, killing one trainman, injuring four others and one passenger.

The train had left this city at 12.50, and after passing the Pitcairn freight yards, where there are cross-over tracks entering the yards, the train was held up by the tower-man, near Larimer, 20 miles east of here. While the train was at a standstill a train of 30 empty freight cars was let in on the same track and crashed into the flyer, head-on.

It is thought that the tower-man, anxious at the delay to the flyer, in his hurry threw the wrong levers of the interlocking switch system.

Several freight cars were derailed, blocking the four tracks for several hours. None of the passenger cars left the track. The flyer was provided with a new locomotive and proceeded east three hours late. It was after six o'clock before all tracks were cleared and six other trains that had been delayed were able to proceed.

S. E. Campbell, fireman of the flyer, was caught between the tender and the cab of his engine and crushed so that he died before he could be moved from the scene.

Two Engine Men Killed.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 25.—Two enginemen were killed and several passengers slightly injured when Southern Railway passenger train No. 11 struck a switch engine on the Peachtree Creek bridge on the outskirts of Atlanta Friday night. The switch engine was knocked off the bridge to the Seaboard Air line tracks, blocking traffic on both lines several hours.

The dead: J. A. Farris, engineer, crushed under engine; N. M. Robinson, fireman, caught under engine and scalded.

Daring Burglary In London.

London, Sept. 25.—Residents of West London, in the vicinity of Oxford street and Wharncliffe road, are panic-stricken as the result of a daring burglary on Saturday night, when two ruffians entered the home of Joseph Nixon, 151 Oxford street, and, after threatening to kill Mrs. Boug, the daughter of the house, ransacked everything in the place and made their escape with $2.20, all the money in the house.

While Miss Nixon was asleep in her room, about three o'clock Saturday morning, she was awakened by the noise made by the burglars. She was just going to get out of bed and alarm her father when a man entered the room, lighted a match and told her to keep quite or he would kill her.

So far there is no clue to the identity of the robbers, but it was learned that there were two men involved. They rode bicycles.

LAURIER TO LEAD

Will Stay Until a Successor Has Been Appointed.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—An informal announcement was made by Sir Wilfrid last evening to the effect that he would lead the opposition at the coming session of Parliament and until a successor could be agreed upon.

"I'll stay with the boys," said Sir Wilfrid in an interview. "It would be deserting to leave them now. I won't discuss the result of the elections. The people have expressed their will, and, of course, I bow to it. I have asked my colleagues to be here on Monday and Tuesday, and we shall expedite business as much as possible, and shall get out at once."

Sir Wilfrid was entirely himself again immaculately dressed as ever, and showing no trace of the campaign he has just finished, with no sign of the reaction that his friends feared.

It is understood that Hon. S. N. Parent has resigned as chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission.

FIVE-YEAR SENTENCES.

Two Montreal Men Get Terms In Penitentiary.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—The fall term of the criminal assizes of the court of King's Bench close on Saturday and sentences were pronounced by Mr. Justice Treholme.

Harry Lusher, the young man who had been guilty of attempted patricide, was sentenced to five years in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.

The evidence showed that Lusher returned home late one night and that he shot his father and seriously injured him after an unusually bitter argument over the late hours which the son was keeping and his general misconduct.

A five-year sentence was also meted out to Joseph Proletti, an Italian, found guilty of wounding with intent to grievious bodily harm, and Nicolas Patrie, a Syrian, found guilty of a similar offence, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, the judge taking into account the fact that he struck his opponent in the heat of a quarrel.

Sentence was deferred in the strange case of Joseph Vaillancourt, found guilty of attempting to murder Napoleon Coulombes in his room on St. Christopher street, a delay being granted until Wednesday in order that the guilty man might be examined as to his sanity.

Another Race Riot.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 25.—A race riot between whites and blacks broke out in this city shortly before midnight on Saturday. Three riots occurred in less than two hours, knives and revolvers being used. Most of the participants in the fights were under the influence of liquor. Of three sent to hospitals up to one o'clock in the morning, Joe Cartina, a Porto Rican, was stabbed, probably fatally.

When a patrol wagon loaded with officers arrived in the district a crowd of men unhitched the horses, leaving the wagon stranded. Several hundred people filled the street and blocked the efforts of the police. Patrolman McNally was severely beaten up in making an arrest.

The riot was the result of a feud of several weeks between rival gangs of blacks and whites. The police got the situation under control by 1.30 a.m., and dispersed the crowd.

Connaught's Escort.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—An effort will be made to organize a mounted band in connection with the 5th Princess Louise Dragoon Guards. This corps will have much to do in connection with the ceremonial events, while the Duke of Connaught is here and therefore a band would be a very desirable addition.

The British War Office has decided that the Duke of Connaught as Governor-General will receive the same sized mounted escort as any other Governor-General, namely, 37 of all ranks, under the command of a captain. As a member of the royal family in official capacity is entitled to an escort of 87 men, it was thought that the Duke of Connaught would receive one that size, while Governor-General.

TERRIBLE DISASTER ON THE FRENCH BATTLESHIP LIBERTE

Heavy Loss of Life From Three Explosions—Ship Went to the Bottom.

Special to the Review.

Toulon, France, Sept. 25.—Between three and four hundred officers and sailors met their death this morning, when a series of three explosions on the battleship "Liberte," one of the finest of France's war vessels, sent the big ship to the bottom in the harbor here. Nearly two hundred men were on shore leave and upwards of one hundred of these saved themselves by leaping overboard and swimming ashore. A panic was quickly stayed by the issuing of sharp orders, and the men who had not already escaped took up their positions and went down with the battleship in the final explosion. The trouble is believed to have been caused by a small fire, which started from short circuited wires. Captain Jaures was not on board at the time. Twenty other men were killed on the warship Democratie, which was anchored near the Liberte, by the third and last explosion.

Brothers Fight Duel.

Arkansas City, Ark., Sept. 25.—In a lonely spot near Lead Hill, two brothers fought to death Saturday. Reuben Cantrell, aged 35, was slain, and Thomas Cantrell, aged 55, is dying. The former was shot and the latter received a dozen knife wounds.

Leaving the body of his brother where it had fallen, the wounded man walked four miles to his home, where he declared Reuben had attacked him with a knife while he was at work. The fight was the outgrowth of a family feud.

Killed In Powder Explosion.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—One man is dead and two others are in a critical condition as the result of an explosion in one of the powder mills at Beloeil Saturday, William St. George, Casimir Williams and Maurice Menard were brought to the city Saturday night and taken to the General Hospital, where the first-named died a few hours after reaching there. Two other men, Alphonse Duquette and Arsene Williams, were also brought to the hospital.

Publish My Letter, The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

THE MISSION MOVEMENT

The efforts of the three Presbyterian churches of Peterborough to further the Laymen's Missionary movement by a house-to-house canvass is indeed a worthy one. The Presbyterian church has undertaken to raise a great fund for missionary purposes, and to co-operate with the other great churches of Canada in spreading the gospel into heathen lands. The effort to raise this fund of a million dollars spreads from coast to coast, wherever Presbyterianism reaches. That it will be successful there should be no doubt, because the Presbyterian people as a class are well-to-do, and prosperous and should respond to this special appeal.

Of all the methods of raising missionary funds, the special personal appeal is the quickest and most productive. The average person will spend two or three dollars on a theatrical entertainment for an evening, and think nothing of it, while a gift of two or three dollars to a missionary cause is regarded as somewhat of a sacrifice. It is the difference in personal perspective that causes this. It is really, at bottom, a little exhibition of selfishness, for the money given to missions does not produce results before one's eye, and please one's taste, or gratify one's appetite. The good which that contribution may do, may be great and lasting, a spreading and ever spreading influence on the world, but because it is accomplished in another land; because it works under the surface, because it brings nothing gratifying in a worldly way — some people count that contribution as money lost.

The personal canvass will impress on people the fact that they are not performing their moral duty to the world in merely giving to their own church, important though that may be. We need to be evangelizers in more ways than one; we need to each do a little mite towards spreading the gospel throughout the world; and though we may have to stay at home and labor along worldly paths, that should not prevent us from enjoying the great happiness and satisfaction of doing at least something towards the spreading of the gospel.

SIFTON'S WORK

The Ottawa Free Press, Liberal, has the idea that Honorable Clifford Sifton was responsible for much of the organization work that enabled the Conservatives to wipe out eight cabinet ministers. This perhaps is the best method of escape from what to the Liberals must be a galling situation—giving credit to one of their own former ministers. At the same time, during the campaign the people of the country were treated to great exhibits of contempt for Sifton et al from the Free Press and other Liberal newspapers. Now they turn around, and say that Clifford Sifton did the work of defeating them. The Free Press says:

The defeat of eight Cabinet Ministers in the general election on Thursday is placed to the credit of Hon. Clifford Sifton, who had a very great deal to do with the organization all over the country that was so extraordinarily successful.

It was Mr. Sifton's idea that the members of the Cabinet must be bottled up in their own constituencies so that they would be unable to travel around the country very much explaining the reciprocity agreement from the Liberal standpoint.

With this end in view, popular local men like Fisher in Brent, Webster in Brockville, Foster in Kings, and McCurdy in Queen's and Shelburne were induced to take the Conservative nomination. The organization in these constituencies was then taken hold of from headquarters. Experienced men were sent in to help. Large sums of money were supplied from coffers well filled by the manufacturers and others opposed to reciprocity.

The Ministers were soon made to understand that they were up against a real live opposition in their home ridings. They could not afford to leave them for longer than an odd day now and then. The Macedonian cry went out to them from Liberal candidates in other constituencies, but they were unable to respond. The brunt of the general fight was left to Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself, and it was a physical impossibility for him to speak oftener than he did.

The Conservatives put up a good war game. They had able and keen business men like George H. Perley at the head of their organization, and they had unlimited funds.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The British born will probably receive considerable attention after this at election time.

Well, at least Sir Wilfrid's method of reforming the senate—by appointing Liberals to it—will be stopped.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will probably continue to lead the Liberal party. His white plume is still flying, but the frost was severe.

Toronto thinks of getting back to the tube question, after the election excitement is over. Isn't this somewhat of a hollow subject?

President Taft says, respecting the reciprocity agreement, that when you get hit between the eyes, the best thing to do is to sit still. The trouble is that most people in that situation cannot do anything else.

W.J. Paul rolled up in Lennox-Addington the biggest majority a Conservative candidate has ever received there. The effect of reciprocity was about the same in every part of Ontario.

The elections have come and gone—and we all are here, going along much the same. Three meals a day, and enough to wear is the lot of most of us, and it isn't likely that the change of government will provide automobiles even for the most deserving.

Henri Bourassa says that he is prepared to give the new government, a fair trial, reserving full independence. All right, Henri. No one from this side of the line will shed the salt tears at being unable to clasp you immediately to his bosom.

And by the way, at this late date it may be remembered by a few of the old inhabitants that Mr. Cowan, editor of "Farm and Dairy," actively stumped East Peterborough in the interest of Mr. Kerr. Result—Mr. Sexsmith's majority was increased from 300 to nearly 600.

It is very likely that there will be for nothing. And this of course. Pan-campaign in the United States for a lowering of the tariff, especially on food materials. Canada is likely to get the benefit of large concessions for nothing. And this of course, Canada will not refuse.

It is predicted that Hon. Clifford Sifton will succeed Lord Strathcona. That would seem to be quite possible. As a matter of fact, "Cliff. Sif." is the man ideally suited for the position, with a knowledge of the West and of Canada generally that few living Canadians have. He has the money, and perhaps the ambition to serve Canada in this way.

Now we know what turned the election in West Peterborough! It was the poems written by John Bell, and read by him during the campaign to men around town. Mr. Bell's poems were sent to Toronto, to Winnipeg and other places, and wherever they went, the Conservative victory was simply appalling. There must have been something in the influence of these poems, all right.

The Kingston Standard was a Conservative paper which strongly advocated reciprocity. It was the great and only, when it came to being quoted as an INDEPENDENT Conservative paper, with ideas of its own. But the people of Canada emphatically rejected reciprocity, and endorsed the stand of the Conservative party. It would seem to be quite in order for the Standard to explain, like some of the Liberal newspapers, that the people of Canada are knaves and fools and asses. That is the common habit of the pro-reciprocity papers.

There are some reciprocity newspapers which say in any event, the elections showed that Canada was determined to do nothing that would imperil the British connection, and that the stand Canada took, while perhaps not showing economic insight, was a great testimony of her solidity of British sentiment. This is true. But the prospect of American competition, and the fear of having the tariff lowered by still further efforts from American sources for concessions, had a big effect. Many Liberals were strongly opposed to reciprocity on economic grounds. It is the general opinion that fear of American business invasion had quite as much to do with the landslide as the waving of the flag business.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW BALLOT BOX

The Latest Invention Prevents All Crooked Work

"The people will laugh at the simplicity of the thing," said Joseph B. Walkem, K.C., of Kingston, when asked for a detailed description of his new ballot box, which the Dominion Government has decided to adopt. "I think that the cover I have designed will do away with the trickery of stuffing." The cover of the old type of box was divided into two parts, one part, used as a lid, opening on hinges, the other part fixed and containing a hole through which the ballot was dropped in. The Walkem box has a lid which covers the whole top, locking on the side instead of the top. The ballots will be deposited through a round hole in the cover. Mr. Walkem has also suggested to the Government that a stamp to mark the ballot should be given to the voter by the returning officer. He would have a rubber stamp containing a cross, which the voter would impress on the ballot opposite the name of the candidate for whom he wishes to vote. Marking the ballot by means of a stamp would, Mr. Walkem claims, prevent any other marks of recognition being placed upon it. Any other mark on the ballot, except the stamp cross, would destroy the ballot.

PASTEUR'S REMEDY FOR DOGS

The Pasteur method of treatment for dogs afflicted with rabies was strongly recommended by Dr. T. A. Kingsley in an address at the annual meeting of the American Veterinary Medical Association. The treatment is comparatively new, being introduced less than two years ago, but experiments on horses and dogs have been very successful, he said. The treatment for horses consists of 21 doses, which is double the quantity given the human being. Dogs are given 21 doses, but each dose is only half strength.

Dumplings

When boiling little suet dumplings, put a plate at the bottom of the saucepan. When first thrown in they stick, and sometimes stick to the saucepan and burn. When they swell with boiling they become lighter and float.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 22.—The market responded in a small way to the strong American cable yesterday and the firmness of American and Canadian offerings values were ¼d to ⅜d higher. Following the opening there was free realising in the way of profit-taking and values declined ⅛d to ⅜d, with the undertone easy. There was a very small inquiry for cargoes arrived, which were 3d to 6d lower and large houses here were free sellers on the advance. Argentine outlook is highly favorable, better reports from Russia and Roumania and a belief in a large yield in Canada, together with a more settled political outlook. At closing the market was easy, ¼d to ⅜d higher than yesterday.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Altho the wheat market to-day touched the highest point of the season, the scare over the rejection of reciprocity was apparently at an end. THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour

"George," he said conciliatingly, "you don't understand the thing at all. You think you do, but you have got only a peek in. I can't tell you details. It's none of your business. Our company is going to use every one all right. Now, you travel on. I'll see to it that you never lack for a job while we operate in this country. You're a Great Trust Co. man. Of course, you know how to be loyal."

The whole problem that had been revolving in George's mind for three days was laid before him, now, for instant solution. The bribe was offered without disguise — the threat was behind it. On the one hand, he had a hold on the company — he had stumbled upon their secret by the senile bungling of old Wiggin. On the other hand, was a girl who had given him no right to feel interest in her.

"I'm hired by the Great Trust Co.," he admitted. "I know that. My place is in the woods—I know that, too. But this man Wiggin is ready to sell out the interests of his employer — and that employer is an orphaned girl. If he'll resign as trustee of that estate, and let a man have the job who will take care of her property, I'l go into the woods and keep this thing to myself."

"What kind of a lord-high gull do you think you are, anyway?" demanded the company agent. "Who gave you license to butt in on other folks' business?"

"Any man has got a right to butt in, when he sees the helpless and innocent being done out of their own."

"Are you going to quit being a fool? Are you going to slander your own employers any more?" The agent got up and shook his fists at George. He had been furious ever since Wiggin had told him the story. He had restrained himself as much as possible in the interests of diplomacy. But he saw that this young hot-head was not amenable to diplomacy.

"I'm going to see that Corran's daughter has a square deal."

Harry realized that he had made his choice. Fury impelled him. His temper had been strained for many days. He thirsted for combat. Up in that land of man to man, the primitive passions got hold of him. The thought of slinking away into the woods, in his own interest, made him hate himself because he had entertained it for one moment. He was thinking less of Clare Corran at that moment than he was of his own resentment.

"Take your job and go to the devil with it!" he raged. "I can find honest people to work for!"

"You're discharged," said the stranger. "I was going to make you an offer, but I won't let you blackmail us. You open your head about this matter, and I'll have you in jail for trying to blackmail. You're up against the biggest proposition in this country, just now, youngster. You don't know what it is; but you'll find out quick, if you don't get out of this section as fast as that train will carry you."

"You leave it to me — I'll see that he goes," declared Wiggin venomously.

"I'm not taking any orders from any one, just now," announced George. "I'm my own man." He dragegd out his wallet, and threw a packet of bills at the agent. "There's your company money. Now, get out of my room, the two of you, or I'll throw you out."

They departed.

He stood for a moment in the middle of the room. Then, he threw his arms above his head with a gesture of relief.

"I'm a fool," he said aloud; "but, thank God, I can look at myself in the glass without being ashamed of the man I see there."

VIII.

With his mind made up, Harry George was no longer a laggard. He did not underestimate the power of the Great Trust agent, or of Jepson Wiggin. He determined to go to Clare Corran, manfashion, warn her of Wiggin's contemplated treachery, and then leave the section, seeking employment where he could preserve his self-respect. It was important that he should reach the girl before harm happened to himself, or Wiggin could prejudice her.

He armed himself with the revolver that he had salvaged from his wrecked trunk, hiding it, and followed the men down the stairs. They were talking with the landlord, and did not see him.

Harry hurried straight to the Corran house. It was on the slope of the valley set in a circle of old black growth trees of virgin spruce. From the porch of the tavern, he had seen portions of the house through the trees. But when he approached, he saw what a peculiar structure it was. One section was of logs. It was here that Cornelius Corran had dwelt, eating from his tin dishes on rough tables with his men, living the life of a woodsman. Harry had been told of his tastes in that respect.

Attached to the rude log walls was a wing that consisted of a cottage, dainty and graceful. The great log house was plain and gloomy, with its deep-set, little panes of glass and its rough walls; the cottage was fresh, vine-embowered, and picturesque. George knew that Clare Corran dwelt there; it had been her father's whim to lodge her thus.

The girl, herself, was on the porch, and rose to meet him.

He did not sit in the chair she proffered. Standing and looking straight into her eyes, he told his story.

"I realise how it must sound, coming from me, a stranger," he said, at the close. "I can only remind you that I am disinterested. I am not an employee of the Great Trust Co., even. I am leaving for Montreal by the first train that will take me there."

She had listened intently. A flush had come into her pale cheeks. Her eyes narrowed as he talked. Her nostrils dilated from time to time.

"Why do you leave your employment with the company in this quick fashion?" she demanded. "Has it anything to do with what you tell me?"

"Pardon me," he replied. "But my reasons for leaving are strictly personal. I prefer not to discuss that part of the affair."

"Once more, you correct my manners," she cried hotly. "I'm obliged to you, sir."

"I did not mean to be impolite, Miss Corran. But why I left the Great Trust Co. has really nothing to do with the matter."

"It hasn't, hey?" They turned. Jepson Wiggin had hurried up, the soft carpet of tree-fluff hiding the sound of his feet. "He's been discharged, Miss Clare. The company wouldn't have him. He's a meddler, and a liar. He just lied this minute to you. He said his leaving didn't have anything to do with your business. He said it, didn't he? I don't know what business he was tellin' you about, but he lied, whatever he said. It was because he was caught buttin' into your business that he was fired."

She waited coldly.

"Now, Mr. Evans is here, and is going to arrest him for blackmail," Wiggin went on. "That's a part of the blackmail, what he's been tellin' you."

"Have you overheard what he has been telling me?" she asked.

"No, but I know what he was sayin'. He was accusin' me."

"Be careful that a guilty conscience does not betray you, Mr. Wiggin," she warned. "You appear to know more about this matter than an innocent man is entitled to know." She turned to Harry. "So you have lost your position because you interested yourself in my behalf?"

He protested again that it was a business that concerned him alone. "I can only assure you that I've told the truth," he added. "Now that Mr. Wiggin is present, I accuse him to his face, in your presence, of proposing to me to sell you out. You are warned, Miss Corran. That's all I can do." He bowed, and stepped down off the porch.

"Will you wait one moment, Mr. George?" she pleaded. She disregarded the presence of Wiggin, who was tramping about, cursing under his breath. "I propose to take action in this matter. I can do nothing——" she paused and called him back to her. She said in tones too low for Wiggin to hear: "I can do nothing to put this man out of his position under the will, unless I have you as a witness for me. And I have no man of business to consult with. Can you not arrange your affairs so that you can stay here a few days? You see that you will be leaving me in sore trouble unless you stay."

"I warn you to have nothing more to do with that liar, Miss Clare," called Wiggin. "I'm the trustee of your estate. I propose to see you protected."

She went to the edge of the piazza, her chin up, disdain in her features.

"Mr. Wiggin," she said, "my father trusted you — trusted you too much. This news that Mr. George has brought is not new to me — it does not surprise me much, for I have read you for a long time. Remember that I am a woman, and a woman can see where a man is blind. I give you fair warning that I'm going to put you out of your trust. Will you resign? It will be better for you."

"Of course, I won't resign. I don't propose to leave Cornelius Corran's estate to be picked up by the first crook that comes along."

"Then, you're going to fight me, and you'll wish you hadn't tried it," she declared, with spirit. "I own what Cornelius Corran left. I am mistress here. I give you a chance to save yourself from disgrace. I ask you, once more — will you resign quietly?"

"I'll not get out in any such way. I'm going to obey your father's wishes. What's the reason you're disobeying them all of a sudden?"

Rev. Father Morrisey

Father Morrisey's "No. 11" Cures Stomach Troubles.

When your stomach is working right you never know it is there. But when it feels as heavy as lead—when you have Heartburn, Belching of Wind, Sourness, a gnawing hunger, with distress after eating—when you feel irritable and depressed — then you may know that the digestive fluids in the stomach are not sufficient to digest what you eat.

Father Morriscy's "No. 11" Tablets supply these fluids in concentrated form. Each tablet, dissolved in the stomach, will digest 1¾ pounds of food, which is more than an average meal.

Read what Father Morriscy's treatment did for Mr. Gosline, of Salmon Lake. He writes Nov. 30, 1908:

"I was troubled with indigestion, so severe that I really thought I had cancer of the stomach. I took much doctors' remedies, till I was forced to seek another resource, and this was the Rev. Father Morriscy. His treatments worked miracles, until I have been entirely cured, so that now I do not look to the quality of the diet but to the quantity."

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Fell to His Death.

Brockville, Sept. 25.—Charles Kerr, a tailor, about 40 years of age, unmarried, lost his life some time during the night from falling from his bedroom in the third storey of the Albion Hotel to the pavement below, a distance of over thirty feet.

At four o'clock yesterday morning two policemen found the body lying face downwards in a pool of blood from wounds on the head and face sufficient to cause instant death. He evidently fell head first, as the skull was crushed in by the impact with the pavement.

Kerr had been a patient at the hospital for ten days, under treatment for excessive drinking.

THE IDEAL WIFE

Some Qualifications Which Go to Make the Perfect Woman

Coming to the present era of wonderful woman, we find a modern, ancient (superannuated) philosopher defining the qualifications of an ideal wife. He specifies, amongst other delightful attributes, these:—

Great good-nature and a prudent generosity.

A good face and figure, but not greatly beautiful; a moderate height, a good complexion, rather brown.

Young by all means; old by no means.

A more than tolerably good voice, and a little ear for music; a capability of singing (in company), but no peculiar and intimate acquaintance with crochets and quavers.

Not always in the drawing-room, but sometimes in the kitchen; yet more skilled in the theory than in the practice of cooking.

Not entirely devoted to bridge, but a little given to chess.

Fond of lawn tennis, but ignorant of hockey and golf.

HANDSOME BLACK GOWN

Black satin is holding its own in the world of fashion, and one cannot go astray in including a gown of this material in one's wardrobe.

A new and fascinating model, illustrated above, is made from black satin, the over-dress opening down the back as shown and finished with revers, which are covered with cream lace run with steel beads. Similar treatment is accorded the revers on the bodice, front and back, and the openings are filled in with cream lace. The set-in sleeves are made from point de Venise lace, matching the deep band on bottom of straight, narrow skirt.

SOME HANDY HINTS

To make jellies and blancmanges set quickly, place the moulds containing them in a bowl of water in which two teaspoonfuls each of salt and common washing soda have been dissolved.

To keep the hands cool when making pastry, wash them in water as hot as is bearable, and then rinse in a strong solution of brine.

Sandwiches may be freshened by wrapping them in a clean cloth, sprinkled with hot water, and keeping them in a cool cellar till wanted.

Dough-Nuts

Mix three cupfuls of flour, two cupfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, a few drops of essence of lemon. Beat up three eggs, and make all into a stiff dough, using a little milk if required. Make into balls the size of a walnut, fry them a nice brown in plenty of smoking hot fat, then drain them on paper. Have ready another saucepan, in which you have boiled one pound of castor sugar and half a cupful of water. Dip the dough-nuts into the mixture, and put into a cool place to dry.

A Good Investment

It is a wise plan, when buying vests for children, to get "ladies' size." There is very little difference in the cost, but they will last almost double the time. Children's vests are usually disposed of, not because they are worn out, but because they have shrunk so much. By getting the longer ones at first this difficulty is overcome, and you will find it true economy.

Save the Washing

If a blouse needs washing before a skirt, as is often the case with the one-piece morning-gowns, try this plan. Cut the skirt from the waist at the belt-line, and put a piece of embroidered beading on each part. Run them together with a wash-ribbon or tape. Each part may then be washed separately; and it gives the further advantage of being able to wear the blouse and skirt separately.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING

About seventy-five or eighty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rollins, Madoc township, assembled on the evening of September 12th to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their marriage. Their beautiful home was artistically decorated with cut flowers, potted plants and evergreens.

Mrs. Rollins, looking particularly well in a gown of pale pink silk colienne, received her guests in the drawing-room. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Annie Vankleek, of Armstrong, S.C.

About eight o'clock the guests repaired to the dining-room, where pretty waitresses served an elaborate dinner. The bride's table in the centre of the room was prettily decorated with crimson ribbons. The centre piece was a beautifully ornamented bride's cake. The many gifts of tinware were not only a source of amusement that night but will be very useful in the future.

Among the guests were the Rev James Rollins, brother of Mr. S. Rollins, and Mrs. Rollins, of Peterborough.—Madoc Review.

"THE FRENCH MAID"

A Musical Comedy That is Sure to Make a Hit With its Peterboro Audience

One of the early big attractions to visit this city this season will be a big musical comedy, "The French Maid," and an American adaptation of the French farce "Gabrille."

This big company of singers, dancers and comedians, which will be here on Wednesday, Sept. 27th, at the Grand, carries a big sixty foot car, special scenery, costumes and effects. It is said that the famous "Jardin De Paris" roof scene is one of the greatest of modern stage craft.

The chorus is composed of young and pretty girls. Every musical number of the twenty-two song hits in "The French Maid" was rehearsed under the able direction of Professor Dunis, considered one of the best teachers of singing in the United States. All the dancing numbers have been arranged and produced under the direction of Florence Leslie, a lady considered, on the Pacific coast and in England, as one of the best ballet instructors of the present day theatricals.

INSPIRING DISCOURSES IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES

Inauguration of Progressive Movement by Rev. Dr. McKay, Rev. Dr. Grant and Rev. F. W. Anderson.

The Presbyterian churches of the city took a step forward yesterday. The goal is not merely the contribution of their share of the $1,000,000, to carry on the 1912 work of the Presbyterian church of Canada. The life of each church will be broadened, the ministers will be encouraged and the congregations will be rewarded with greater spiritual blessings.

To inaugurate the movement among Peterboro Presbyterians, three big men occupied the pulpits yesterday. The visitors were Rev. Dr. McKay, moderator of the General Assembly, Rev. Dr. Grant, Superintendent of Home Missions and Rev. F. W. Anderson, secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

They had messages of vital importance and large congregations heard them in the three churches.

The discourse of Rev. Dr. McKay at St Andrew's church at the morning service, explained the situation in a simple manner. Christ, he said was always in the midst of the church, always looking to results. He knew all about us. He was with us in the church, the prayer meeting in the Sunday school. He was everywhere.

WHAT DOES HE SEE?

Referring to the Centenary of the American Board, which met in Boston and which meetings he attended, the preacher showed too advancement had been made during the past one hundred years. At the time of its inception, 109 foreign missionaries represented the Church. To-day there were 19,000, and something like 30,000 ordained native preachers. Christ, in the midst of the church saw all this and he was certainly well pleased. What about Bible Societies? There were none then. To-day there were 80.

In all this great work, the Presbyterian church has to do its share. What was it doing? The preacher explained that the church had 12 missions, throughout the world, with the exception of Africa.

But what about our own country? To-day we were told that we were adding at the rate of 1000 every day and now was the time to do the work. Jesus Christ knew all about the magnitude of the work, and he also knew our ability. The $1,000,000 provided for all the work of 1912. All the schemes of the church came under the movement. The work of the Church was to be done in a business way. Every member had the opportunity to take part, and if all responded, Jesus Christ would be well pleased. It would mean the opening of the door for richer spiritual blessings. It would mean that the world would be better. We would look at life, as God looks at it.

In conclusion, Rev. Dr. McKay pleaded for more prayer. The whole movement would be a failure if not backed up with prayer.

REV. MR. GRANT AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

The pulpit of St. Paul's yesterday morning was ably filled by Rev. Dr. Grant, the home mission secretary of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, and famous for his missionary labors in the Yukon district. He preached a powerful and appealing message from the words contained in St. John, 13th chapter, 16th verse, which read: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, the servant is not greater than his lord, neither he that is sent, greater than he that sent him."

"In this generation," commenced Dr. Grant, "it is imperative that the light of the gospel be brought to all the nations of the world. Unless we go and evangelize the millions of the heathen of the present day, they will never be evangelized. This is one of the greatest problems that is confronting the religious and national life of to-day. It is the biggest issue that is facing us. In my judgment there is no other factor that will go more to solve this mighty problem than the carrying of the gospel to these hundreds and thousands of unenlightened ones. Right in the centres of heathendom there are many converted souls, who are living a splendid life of sacrifice and example, in trying to lead those around them who are living in darkness, into the light and life of the gospel.

"As a means of accomplishing the work referred to, it is absolutely necessary that sufficient financial aid be forthcoming. The answer to the question, has the Presbyterian Church in Canada the money, is most decidedly yes. It has ten times more than is required. If those people who have the money, measured up to their opportunities in giving, there would be a rapid spreading of the good news to all parts of the world. There are many who are not giving as much as their substance warrants."

At this juncture Dr. Grant pleaded for a more definite and systematic plan of giving towards the support and spreading of the Word of God, in the foreign and home mission fields.

"I am here," he added, "as your representative in the home mission work to co-ordinate the work of the church and to show you what is expected of the church. While I am by no means making little of the work of your local place of worship, yet I say that the man who lives for the support of the local church alone, and does not hear the call of the Master for aid in outside places, is living a life that might be termed dead. So that I wish to emphasize the fact, that the extension of the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ is the most important function of any church."

Speaking briefly on the growing possibilities of the great western part of the Dominion, and its crying need of missionary aid, the speaker stated that in that part of Canada we had resources that would supply 60,000,000 of people. "If Christianity does not pioneer this awful responsibility of providing for the spiritual sustenance of these people when they come, there will be a terrible mistake. And again, the Canada of to-day must realize that the great storm centres of sin and vice are in our large cities. There are vast opportunities there for the promulgation of the home mission efforts. If we cannot measure up to the big fight to-day, one thing sure is that we cannot do it to-morrow. One million dollars is wanted for this big fight in the year 1912, to unite the work of the church; and the Presbyterian church must give it. And this money is not to be given by one class alone; the appeal is to the rich, the middle class and the poor, and some will give with the same willingness as did the widow when she tendered her mite. There are some men who say it is extravagant. Everybody will have an opportunity to give, even the poorest out of the love of their hearts, and then when at last the money is collected the responsibility for its proper expenditure will rest upon those at the head of the movement."

"And a man might well tremble when this responsibility is upon him; this saying as to how the money of the giving of God's children shall be spent."

Dr. Grant told of his experiences in the Yukon. He was called one cold winter night to attend a man on the trail who had suffered excruciating pain with two frozen feet. Mortification had set in, tending to blood poisoning. The speaker arrived on the scene and immediately saw that an operation was necessary if an existence was to be saved. No doctor was near, and it devolved upon Dr. Grant to perform the operation.

"As I came out of that man's tent at two o'clock in the morning," said Dr. Grant, "there came a feeling of rebellion over my heart. I said mentally, there is no necessity for me to perform this work of drudgery. But later there came to my mind the blessed words of the Saviour in the text, and a wave of penitence swept over me. I called myself a craven and a coward, and henceforth resolved that I would cheerfully and thankfully accept the duties that were thrust upon me."

The speaker concluded his appeal with a vigorous request for more money and for willing workers for the task of spreading the gospel at home and abroad.

His sermon, or rather appeal, was made very interesting by several telling and vivid stories illustrating the message and the lessons which he endeavored to impress upon his hearers.

Miss Mary G. Chalmers, the new soprano soloist, contributed the solo in the anthem. Her voice is remarkably sweet and possesses a natural, sympathetic quality that cannot fail to make an impression. St. Paul's people are to be congratulated on having such a talented soloist in the choir.

REV. MR. ANDERSON AT KNOX CHURCH.

Rev. F. W. Anderson delivered a strong address at Knox church yesterday morning to a large congregation. He is a forceful speaker and his discourse was followed closely throughout.

TWOFOLD FUNCTION.

(1) "God be merciful unto us and bless us; and cause His face to shine upon us, Selah. (2) That thy way may be known upon earth; thy saving health among all nations."

"It was the prayer of the Godly Israelite," said Rev. Mr. Anderson. "Someone has said that there was a twofold function of the church of God, working and witnessing. The attitude of the people whom the psalmist leads to worship in Jehovah is the worshipful and waiting attitude.

"The church of God shall not only be a place of worshipping, but also a place for receiving training. We may be trained there and sent out to help evangelize the world.

"The church in the Old Testament times was missionary. Therefore the New Testament church could not be otherwise but missionary. Jesus Christ in His life teachings, examples and in the great sacrifice for the whole world continuously declared his missionary purpose in life.

"In these modern days since Christ has opened all countries to us, we were only reviving the true missionary element of the church. We to-day found ourselves no longer in the awakening period, but in the great age of advancement.

EDUCATION MOVEMENT.

"The missionary education movement was of more recent development. It was to educate the church in promoting the missionary work of God and more especially by the young people of the church.

"The Laymen's missionary movement was another. The laywomen have been working for years, but the men were just beginning to wake up. The business men were to be organized in order to show a responsiveness to the appeal of the present day.

"We must go into places where there is not religion and evangelize or we are not living up to our creed," said the preacher.

"The Presbyterian church of Canada has the responsibility of the Christianizing of fourteen millions of the heathen people of the world. There are only a few missionaries scattered throughout India, China, Corea, Trinidad, New Hebrides and British Guiana, where the Canadian church's responsibilities are. This is the problem that faces us:—What can we do more than we are doing for the furtherance of the Gospel and the extension of the Kingdom?

"There were hundreds in our cities who had no personal connection with the church. They had to be reached and the point pressed home.

"To work together we must realize a principle of stewardship of all we possess. Our time, talent, ability, material wealth, anything that can be given must be regarded as only in our keeping as stewards."

"Everything must be recognized as in stewardship in this city this week if the expectations of the committee are to be realized. If you cannot give money give your time and sympathy," urged Rev. Mr. Anderson.

"Those who are in the mission field at the front of the fight, are there in our stead. We do not know of the troubles, difficulties and hardships that they encounter, but we can help them by prayer and by regarding our possessions as in stewardship. A great deal can be wrought by prayer."

"It is a great thing to be identified with God," concluded the speaker.

OTTAWA CITIZEN ON LOCAL FAIR

Ottawa Newspaper made Splendid Reference to Exhibition.

Under a heading of "High class Industrial Exhibition held at Peterboro City," the Evening Citizen of Ottawa has the following to say—

"Peterboro held its ninth industrial and agricultural exhibition the last three days of last week and met with unprecedented sucess. The exhibition association has a very competent vigorous and active board of directors and through good organization and putting together, and fair dealing they organized a show this year that was a credit to Central Canada. A very generous premium list of $3,500 brought out a high standard of exhibitors particularly in horses. Sheep and cattle were very good though not up to the standard of last year. The horticultural exhibit was an excellent one and the department devoted to ladies' fancy work was one of the best competitors in the fair. The tables were covered three and four deep with splendid examples of careful and artistic needlework and these exhibits would have made a much better show had there been sufficient space to properly hang and spread them.

SPACIOUS GROUNDS.

The first thing that strikes the visitor to the Peterboro industrial exhibition is the wide extent and suitable nature of the grounds. The exhibition owned by the association, consists of thirty acres, situated right on the edge of the city and reached easily by electric car. It is level and well watered land, which unfortunately is not drained and one of the best sites for the purpose in Eastern Canada. It has four large judging ring a half mile track and hundreds of feet of exhibition sheds. Yet with all these and some forty or so tents and marquees there still seemed to be plenty of room to spare

LARGER MAIN BUILDING NEEDED

A larger main building seems to be one of the chief needs of the association and judging by the opinions of leading men the erection of a modern hall and also the purchase of the grounds are not matters beyond the powers of a public-spirited, prosperous community.

ATTRACTIONS

Some first class races, good clean sideshows and a miniature railway recently run at Aylmer, Que., formed some of the side attractions of the fair. There were also many evidences of thoughtfulness on the part of the management, particularly a tent for the accomodation of ladies, and care in keeping the grounds clean at the end of each day.—Ottawa Citizen Sept. 19th.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. Andrew Robertson, of Toronto, has been renewing acquaintances in the city.

Mr. W. O'Brien, late principal of St. Peter's school, went to Toronto this morning.

Mr. Harold Dunsford, of Superior, Wisconsin, arrived in the city at noon on a visit to his mother.

Mrs. E. J. Pearce and daughter Florence, Walton street, have left on an extended visit to Winnipeg, Edmonton and other western points.

Miss Helen Denne, George street, left on Saturday morning for Chicago, where she will enter the Presbyterian Hospital as nurse-in-training. Her many friends will wish her every success.

The marriage announcement is made of Miss Minnie Cronyn Sippi, youngest daughter of the late C. A. Sippi, of London, Ont., to Mr. Herbert H. Edmison, of Winnipeg, son of Mr. Geo. Edmison, K.C., of Peterborough, Ont. The marriage will take place about the middle of October.

STRONG PLEA FOR THE OLD MAID

Boston Clergyman Comes Out in Their Defence

Boston, Sept. 22.—When does a girl become an old maid? This question, raised by the action of the Cambridge Y.W.C.A. in limiting to thirty-five years or under those who may live at the new Cambridge home, has aroused the women of Boston and Cambridge. The most of them insist that a girl is a girl as long as she feels that she is a girl. Here is an answer to the question written for the American by a man—the Rev. A. E. George:

What are the old maids of Boston to do?

No one objects to the line drawn at thirty-five by the Y.W.C.A. This is done for self-preservation and for the progress of the work in the different enterprises of that institution.

But the matter of hardship of the solitary woman who also is poor, is heart-rending.

You say that the poor old bachelor has just as hard a time as the poor old maid. Hardly, the old man can go out, loaf around his neighborhood and meet Tom, Dick and Harry, who are forever putting something into the hands of the old man. He has a miserable home, it may be. Everyone in the neighborhood knows it and the old man has many dimes or nickels slipped into his hands because of sympathy with his poor and forlorn condition.

Somehow or other, the old man gets more sympathy than the old maid. Even the women show this. Study the solitary old man in any special neighborhood and you will find out how true this is. He gets more help because he is around more than the old maid.

He runs into constant contact with men who may feel "pretty good" or otherwise, but generally give him something. He is more in the "open."

The old maid oftentimes has to live in one small room. She does not go out much. She cannot go around the neighborhood like the old man, because she is a woman, and it is her disadvantage often to be a woman, when she is old and alone, with all her relatives dead.

She has to live in that small room, often cook her frugal meal on an oil stove, and was living as best she may to save expense. Her days are long, when she cannot go out to see some friend. She has not the opportunity that comes to the old man of hanging around the corner. She has a few friends who go to see her, and a few she calls on. These are usually as poor as she.

LOCAL BIRDS SUCCESSFUL

Heavy Prize Winners at the Lindsay Exhition

To capture thirty-eight prizes out of an exhibit of thirty-nine birds, was the splendid measure of success secured by Messrs. Joseph Kelly and Geo. Buller, the well-known local bird fanciers with their fowl exhibit at the Lindsay fair last week. These birds have won many prizes in the past, and at the Lindsay fair came in for all kinds of favorable criticism from the poultry judges.

One of the Orpingtons was said to have been the best bird one of the judges had ever seen. The exhibited birds were all raised in Peterborough and were shown at the Peterboro Exhibition, where they captured the largest share of the prize tickets. The same exhibit made a fine showing at the Napanee Fair last year, and at the winter showing in 1910 in Peterborough.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

The membership campaign was launched on Sept. 12 for 600 new members, and it is urged that you join in this campaign.

The classes are especially interesting this year, and a large enrollment is expected.

There will be a short musical program. All are cordially invited.

RALLIES IN THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Bright Services for Young People and Their Parents

Yesterday afternoon George street church Sunday school held its regular rally day service, which was largely attended by scholars, parents and visitors. The feature of the session was a splendid address by Judge Huycke, who, taking the 23rd Psalm for his subject, drew from it very appropriate and interesting lessons suitable for children and older people alike. His talk was eminently practical, and many of the points illustrated could be applied to every day life.

The musical part of the afternoon was not neglected. The Sunday school orchestra supplied a fine program of numbers and the George street male quartet gave a selection. Miss Hazel Ryan, contributed a solo also in a very acceptable manner. Miss Ryan is a guest of Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Renwick. The rally was held in the church.

At the conclusion of Judge Huycke's address, D. W. Dumble in a very neat speech moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was ably seconded by T. W. Robinson.

OTHER SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Bright and interesting rally services were held in other Sunday schools where visiting speakers gave addresses. Rev. W. C. Riddiford was at Knox Sunday school, Mr. H. M. Gilchrist spoke at Park street Baptist and Mr. Percy Might and the pastor, Rev. Mr Cragge, gave addresses at Mark street. At St. Paul's, Mr. A. Mowat gave the special address, his subject being Christ's invitation, "Come Unto Me." The roll call showed an attendance of 345. The rally day services were also conducted at St. Andrew's.

Accident Narrowly Averted On George Street Crossing

An elderly lady from the country who came into the city this morning, to do some shopping, narrowly escaped being run down by an auto driven at considerable speed. She had started to cross the road on George street, from Matthews' store to Richard Hall's, although the traffic was brisk at that point. An auto driven speedily was coming down the street, and although it looked as if she saw it she nevertheless, continued her way across. The driver of the machine blew the horn to warn her, but seeing she would not stop, he applied the brakes and halted the auto not two feet from her. Passers by thought that she would assuredly be struck.

BAPTISTS PUT ST. JAMES' AWAY

Park St. Eleven Show Good Form in Church League

Good exhibitions of football are being put up this fall, and the game between Park Street and St. James was by no means the least of these. Park Street beat their old foes, St. James', after a well contested game, by the score of 3 to 1.

St. James kicked off at 3.25, and Park Street took the sphere to the St. James goal, G. Miller missing by inches. The "Jimmies" came back but Dawson cleared well, and after a scrimmage in front of St. James goal, Toocey scored No. 1 for Park St. This seemed to put life into the Park Street aggregation, and following a pretty piece of combination, G. Miller scored No. 2 for the Baptists with a fine shot. This reverse seemed to wake the "Jimmies" out of their slumber, and they came away in good shape, only to find Donnell and Henshaw, a couple of stalwarts, who played a great game. St. James', though holding the small end of the stick, were putting up good football, and came away again, forcing a corner, which was of no avail. Park Street took the upper hand one more, but Captain Braun and his able partner, were sound, and set his forward line to work, and a pretty rush resulted in E. Miller just missing the mark.

The whistle blew, and the rest was welcomed. Park Street 2, St. James' 0.

SECOND HALF

Park Street started the ball again, but were sent back, Simmonite, who was playing his usual game, for St. James', being conspicuous in this move, but "Billy" Dawson was there as usual, and cleared what looked like a sure goal. Braun handled in the penalty area, "Bennie" Smith taking the kick, but, (as he is in love,) missed it, greatly to his disadvantage. St. James' goalkeeper, Evans, the C.G.E. relic, was playing a great game and all credit is due him in his new position, and had it not been for him the "Jimmies" would have suffered a crushing defeat. St. James' pressed and were sent back once more, and "Teddy" Allan, securing the sphere, beat Evans with a beauty, for the third point. At this stage of the game, great excitement prevailed, a pail being brought on the field, and a couple of the boys, not knowing the contents to be water, made a grab for it. The "Jimmies" took this opportunity, and determined to show their metal, came away nicely and were rewarded with one of the goals they had intended to get, leaving the final score 3 to 1.

Park Streeet, the novice team of last season's schedule, promises to take a prominent part for the trophy this Fall, and with "Jack" Williams, who has been promoted to the Park Street aggregation from the C.G.E. ranks, Dawson, Allan and Miller, on the job, they will give All Saints a good run for premier honors.

Manager "Casey" is to be congratulated on his work, and will no doubt be offered a bigger salary for his services before next season opens.

ALL SAINTS vs. KNOX

As Knox could not put a team on the field Saturday afternoon, there was no game with All Saints' as scheduled.

If the Presbyterians cannot get a team together the league will likely award the game to the Saints.

When Park street and All Saints', the present league leaders, meet on the Baptists' grounds next Saturday afternoon there is likely to be something doing. Both teams have three C.G.E. men on their lines, and it will be a struggle all the way through. Each one claims to be superior to the other, and it will be an interesting encounter.

SPORT TALK

Rumors are now being circulated among the baseball men that Hughie Jennings, the manager of the Detroit Tigers, may tender his resignation to President Navin at the end of the season. It has been known for some time that there has been friction among the members of the Tigers, and several players are more than anxious to get away from the club. It is said that Jennings is tired of the situation and may quit the game after the 1911 campaign and devote his time to law in Scranton, Pa.

The arrangements for Ty Cobb's debut behind the footlights have been completed and the contract signed. Vaughan Glaser, a personal friend of Cobb, will produce the play, which will be the "College Widow," revamped into a baseball drama, so that Ty can come to bat with the bases loaded and make a clean-up.

Another big baseball deal is likely to be consummated in the course of a day or two. George Mullin, the veteran pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, has tired of life in the Michigan city and asked Hughie Jennings to trade or release him. Jim Vaughan has not been satisfied with his berth in New York, and will probably go to Detroit in exchange for Mullin. Jennings will demand two pitchers for big George, and Jack Quinn may be thrown in.

TWENTY ONE OUT TO PRACTICE

West Ends Boosting Rugby Game —Workouts This Week

The West End C.A. rugby team had a rattling good practice on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park, twenty-one men being in uniform. Judging from material at hand one of the best rugby teams in years will represent Peterborough.

Among those out was Thompson, an Old Country college rugby player of great promise. He will no doubt develop into a back, as he has speed, is a fair punt and excellent drop kicker and has the weight.

Another man was Langley, from down Pittsburg way. He has played in America with the Union College which is affiliated with Yale and he certainly looks the goods.

The enthusiasm displayed by the players out is very encouraging to the officers of West End A.C. and augurs well for a successful season. Through the kindness of Col. Clegg and the officers of the 57th regiment, permission has been granted to use Central Park in front of the Armouries and as the place is central and well lighted it will certainly be popular with the players.

The club has been very fortunate in getting Dr McPherson to coach the team and also take charge. If the weather permits he expects every man to be out to-night also Wednesday and Thursday, and at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon.

Bill Grant, of the senior Argos., of Toronto, is also available and his services will no doubt help the team considerably.

LOCAL TENNIS PLAYERS IN FORM

Messrs. W. Landry, W. L. C. Richardson, H. D. Burnett and S. R. Hall went to Norwood Saturday and played four members of the Norwood tennis club, winning in every event. The results were:

Richardson defeated Nicoll 6—1, 6—3.

Burnett defeated T. E. Finley 6—2, 6—3.

Doubles—Landry and Hall defeated Sutton and Nicoll 6—1, 6—4.

Richardson and Burnett defeated Finley and Finley 6—1, 9—7.

Owners of Montreal Theatres Ask That Tax be Deferred

According to a petition presented to the Board of Control, Montreal, on behalf of some twenty proprietors of moving picture shows, the motion picture business is not nearly so profitable a one as it is thought to be. The petition requests that the collection of the $500 license fee prescribed by law be deferred, as the business is slack and the proprietors have been put to great expense in making their premises conform to the civic by-laws. The petition was rejected, and the proprietors must pay or go out of the business.

NOTES FROM THE AIR

Snap-Shots About the Most Dangerous of All Sports

People go in for flying for a variety of reasons; but probably Lieut. F. Hetherington, of the 18th Hussars, who has just taken his certificate, is the first to fly for the sake of health.

Two of the competitors in the great flying race in Europe used a new motor called the Isaacson. Discussing its merits the other day at Brooklands one of the aviators remarked: "There is one thing about the Isaacson. Your aeroplane doesn't fly with its tail down; the nose is too heavy."

The futility of Mr. Churchill's Aeronautics Bill was exemplified recently by the flight of an aeroplane at a great height over the West End of London. Nobody—least of all the authorities—has the faintest notion who the culprit was. How is one ever to learn the identity of the airman who, starting from one of the aerodromes, circles London at a great height? Unless he is actually seen to make a landing it will be impossible to track him down, until the police are able to give chase in a biplane of their own. And that is not yet.

Lieut. H. E. Watkins, who is accompanying Mr. Douglas Lawson to the South Pole in the capacity of aeroplane pilot, is practising on a specially constructed monoplane. The machine, with the exception of the chassis and skids, is built entirely of steel to withstand the rough treatment to which it will be put, and has been found extraordinarily steady in a gusty wind. The monoplane will be used for crossing crevasses and for mapping out the surrounding country, which, from a height of a few hundred feet, will be seen over a very large area.

Ballooning and flying are extraordinarily exhilarating—the former suitable for quite feeble invalids, and aviation rather for the robust man suffering from a lack of tone. Ask any flyer who has had to leave off flying—and in England there are a couple of dozen who having learned to fly cannot afford to run their own machine—and they will tell you that the effect of the deprivation is most depressing.—London Opinion.

BURIAL OF PENISA MAID

Remains of a Most Promising Mare Buried at Grand Rapids

A pathetic scene was enacted at Comstock Park, Grand Rapids, when Penisa Maid, most beauteous and most promising of trotting mares, was buried deep in the infield of the track oval. Trainers and ordinarily unemotional stable swipes sobbed unaffectedly, and track dignitaries turned away and choked in their throats as $25,000 worth of horseflesh was consigned to earth. The death of Penisa Maid, whose record stood at 2.04¾, occurred in her stall at the park. An autopsy by Dr. Robertson Muir established the fact that compound fracture of the pelvis bone had ruptured a blood vessel, resulting in hemorrhages, which caused death. Gruesome souvenirs of the sad occasion were eagerly grabbed off by the small group of sincere mourners at the graveside. Presiding Judge Keating secured one of the mare's well-worn shoes and A. G. Asdikan, of the New York Telegraph, took one of the fleetest hoofs which ever stepped on the track. The head, said by track officials to be the most beautiful which adorned any animal travelling the Grand Circuit, will be preserved and mounted by Harry A. Moormann, of the Kent Scientific Museum, for her owner, R. J. Mackenzie, the millionaire turfman, of Winnipeg. How and when the mare suffered the injury which caused her death has not been kenzie will recover insurance amounting to about one-third of her value, it was stated.—Herald, Grand Rapids.

A SLOW COMMITTEE

At a council meeting a member protested vigorously against the lethargy shown in commencing works which, he declared, were sorely needed. A "scene" ensued, and the chairman tried to pour oil on the troubled waters.

"Mr. Jones must remember," said he, "that Rome wasn't built in a day."

"I know it wasn't," retorted the protesting member; "and if this committee had had the work to do it wouldn't be built yet."

Some Peculiar Coincidences in the Cricket Field

Many curious cases may be quoted to show that the god coincidence reigns over the cricket-field. For instance, when Charlie Bannerman, in a test match at Melbourne in 1877, scored 165 runs, a collection was made for him amongst the vast crowd. Coins of every size and value were contributed. The result showed a total of £165, or one sovereign per run, neither a halfpenny more nor less!

In 1900 a remarkable feat was accomplished at Lord's. The Players were set the stupendous task of getting 501 runs in the last innings of the match, yet they won by two wickets. One of the opposing side—R. E. Foster—was making his first appearance in a Gents v. Players match, and he scored a century in each innings. Four years later, in precisely the same match, the Gentlemen were set the task, which no one dreamt they would accomplish, of scoring 11 in the last innings, yet they won by two wickets. And a member of the opposite side—King, of Leicestershire—was making his first appearance in such a match, and he scored a century in each innings.

Mention of Leicestershire recalls a curious coincidence in which that county was concerned. In 1900 Tunnicliffe created a record by bein the first cricketer, other than a wicket-keeper, to bring off seven catches in one match. It was against Leicestershire. In 1901 Lilley brought off the best feat of his wicket-keeping career by making seven catches. It was against Leicestershire. In 1902 Humphries achieved the same feat against Leicestershire.

It is not a little remarkable that, when Yorkshire were at the zenith of their power, the only county that could lower their colors was one of the lowliest—namely, Somersetshire. Indeed, throughout three seasons the latter was absolutely the only county to achieve that considerable feat. There was also a period when the cider county was similarly a thorn in the side of Surrey. But Yorkshire have achieved something of a reputation for dismissing teams for small scores. In 1878 they got Sussex out for 24; ten years later they got Notts out for 24; and only a few years ago they got Worcestershire out for 24. There must be some fascination in the figure for Yorkshiremen, however, for on at least three occasions in first-class cricket Rhodes has taken seven wickets for exactly 24 runs! He has also taken six for 24 and nine for 24.

But if you were casually to remark to a Huddersfield man that it seemed a remarkable coincidence for his town to turn out the three famous cricketers, Rhodes, Hirst, and Haigh, who created the wonderful record of securing over 1,000 runs and 100 wickets each in the same season, he would probably reply: "It's no coincidence. We trained 'em!"

In 1888, when Australian teams with the homely names of Mooroobark and Mullindillingong played a match, the latter were dismissed without scoring one run in the first innings; they were dismissed without scoring in the second; and, not to be outdone, Mooroobark were also dismissed without notching a single run in their second venture. A coincidence that mean's a duck's egg for thirty-three batsmen one after the other is obviously too much of a good thing.—Answers.

CONFERENCE OF THE METHODISTS TO BE HELD AT TORONTO NEXT MONTH

THE FOURTH ECUMENICAL METHODIST CONFERENCE

by W. G. Cook

(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

The Ecumenical Conference to be held in Toronto in October, is expected to be the most successful and the greatest Ecumenical that the Methodist Church in Canada has ever had. No stone is being left unturned to achieve this result, and the able and hard-working Executive Committee have been planning, organizing, and arranging matters for months ahead. Every detail for the comfort and entertainment of the visitors has been carefully thought out, and comprehensive and most interesting programme of topics for discussion has been drawn up, and a time of helpful, inspiring prayer, suggestion and social intercourse is looked forward to.

REV. Dr. A. CARMAN, D.D.,
General Superintendent

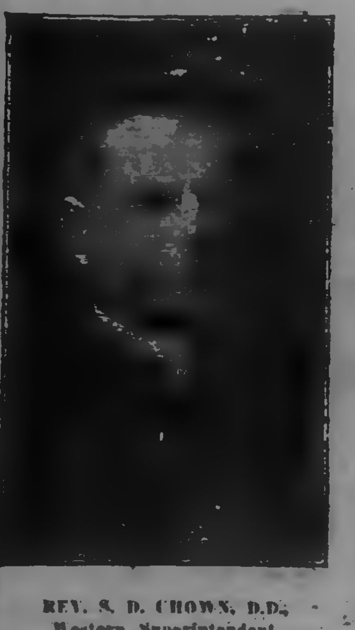
History of Methodism in Canada.

Methodism in Canada took its origin both from England and the United States. Among the early settlers brought out by Lieut Governor Franklin to Nova Scotia in 1770, were many Methodists, notably the famous William Black, preacher and evangelist. In 1784 he went to the United States and on his appeal, the Baltimore Conference sent a number of ministers to the Maritime Provinces In 1778 Methodists from New York State came to the Eastern Townships and to Upper Canada, where they did much towards laying the foundations of religious life and worship. The first Methodist ministers in Quebec were connected with the British regiments. About the middle of the 19th century Methodist missionary work was begun in the North-West, soon after the first early settlers had made their homes in that .Secretary of Temperance Reform great country, and before the Trans Continental Railway was built. After the war of 1812 Canadian Methodism began to be associated with that of the British Wesleyans, this causing much dissension among those who wished to adhere to the American connection. After much disagreement and discussion the two parties compromised by allowing the American Connection to be maintained in Upper Canada, while in Lower Canada the British missionaries were to be free to carry on their work. This state of affairs did not last long. In 1828 when the American Conference relinquished its jurisdiction over the Canadian Conference, the latter organized under the name of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, and later, in 1833, an union was brought about between that body and the British Conference in Lower Canada, resulting in the "Wesleyan Methodist Church in North America". In spite of this union, the Methodist Episcopal Church survived in a new form and its work spread rapidly through the provinces.



REV. S. D. CHOWN, D.D.,
Western Superintendent

REV. S. T. BARTLETT,
General Secretary Epworth League.

Later on three different branches of British Methodism were brought into Canada. These were, the "Methodist New Connection", the "Primitive Methodist" body, and the "Bible Christians."

The need for general union was much felt and discussed, but it was not until 1883 that this union was consummated. In that year which marked a new epoch for Canadian Methodism, a Conference was held in Belleville, Ontario, at which it was decided that all the five different branches of the Church should unite, with the result that from that year to the present day, there has been one great, general Methodist Church of Canada.

Church Union.

There has been a great tendency of late years, among the Protestant denominations, towards a greater union. With the growth of the modern spirit of toleration and the consequent passing-away of [illegible] the old controversies and prejudices, there has come an increasing spirit of good will, and a desire to co-operate in religious work. This has led to discussions concerning Church Union, especially among the three chief Protestant churches of Canada, the Presbyterian, Methodist, and Anglican. But in spite of the influential voices of a few, the general desire of the Anglican Church is to remain separate, and therefore, during the last few years, the desire for union between the Methodist, Congregational, and Presbyterian Churches has been expressed, and negotiations have been in progress for some time with that end in view, and it is confidently hoped that the Union may be consummated before very long.

Methodist Educational Institutions.

Methodist colleges are federated with the University of Toronto, and with McGill University in Montreal, and there is besides, in Sackville, N.B., a very well-known Methodist University, Mount Allison, and Theological College. The Methodists have come to the front as leaders in benevolent enterprises, and in Christian liberality, and contribute perhaps the most effective share to the religious element in Canadian life.

Prominent Canadian Methodists.

Methodism is essentially an appeal to personal religious experience and its fundamental doctrines are based on the belief that Christianity is both a doctrine and a life. There are many noble and distinguished men in the Canadian Methodist Church. Such names as Dr Evans, the Rev. E. Pobson, the Rev. Arthur Browning, occur to those who know the West and know what pioneer work they did; and other well-known names are those of the Rev. W. S. Griffin, the Rev. William Briggs, Vice-Chairman of the Executive for the Conference, the Rev. N. Burwash, S. T. D. Chancellor of Victoria University Toronto, the Rev. W. B. Creighton the editor of the "Christian Guardian", the Rev A. Williams a most charming personality and a delightful preacher, and the Rev. Dr Carman, D.D Chairman of the Reception Committee of the approaching Conference, the grand old man of Methodism, born in 1833 in Iroquois Ontario. Dr. Carman has held many distinguished positions in the Church, and was in 1883 elected as joint General-Superintendent of the then re-organised Methodist Church He has always been a leading figure in the Conferences of the Church, and takes an immense interest in everything connected with it. His work has been of enormous value to Canadian Methodism, and his character and example are an unfailing inspiration.

Former Conferences of the Church.

The Canadian Methodists have held many important councils since the Organization Conference in Belleville in 1883. Toronto in 1886 and in 1898 had the honour of the meeting. London in 1894, Montreal twice had exceptional gatherings, Winnipeg in 1902, and Victoria B.C. in August 1910, did the Honours of the West.

REV. J. W. GRAHAM,

The Coming Ecumenical in Toronto.

The coming gathering, which is the fourth Ecumenical Methodist Conference, is fully expected to be the greatest and most fruitful Ecumenical ever held. Everything that can be done as regards organization and entertainment and disposition of time, is being done by the able and efficient officers of the various committees. The Conference will be held in Toronto and will begin on October 4th and include October 17th, covering fourteen days. The first session each day will begin at ten o'clock, the second at two-thirty, and the third when held at seven-thirty.

Devotional Exercises will form the opening portion of each session, business matters following devotions at the morning services. The delegation proper consists of three hundred of the North American brethren, and two hundred from Europe and the East. Of course in most cases wives and sisters and daughters will accompany the delegates, and an enormous number of visitors is expected from all parts of Canada. The Local Committee of Toronto headed by the Rev. William Briggs and with the Rev. J. J. Redditt as Secretary, are sparing no pains or time, to make this meeting the most stirring and splendid conference in the annals of the Methodist Church. The programme is largely practical and Twentieth Century, as a glance at a few of the Topics on the long list of those to come up for discussion, will show.

These are but the fringe of the topics to be dealt with in an earnest and scholarly way by the various delegates.

The Value of the Conference.

The value of a Conference such as the Ecumenical in Toronto, can hardly be estimated. It strengthens and deepens and broadens general interest in questions of vital moment, and gives new inspiration and impetus to workers who may be tired and disheartened by monotonous or unthankful and uncongenial labour. It is an opportunity for the minister whose path has lain in quiet home ways, to meet and converse with the men of light and learning in the Church, and an occasion for the eminent leaders of Methodism to meet each other, and to renew in many cases pleasant friendships dating from college days. It supplies a social freshening-up, as well as a mental and spiritual stimulus to the [illegible] effects of which will be of permanent benefit when the Conference itself has become a matter of history.

Statistics of Methodism

A few statistics will be of interest to show the general growth of the church in the Dominion. According to the census of 1891 Canadian Methodists were divided as follows: Ontario, 654,933; Quebec, 39,544; Prince Edward Island, 13,569; Nova Scotia, 54,195; New Brunswick, 35,504; Manitoba, 28,437; British Columbia, 14,298; North-West Territories 7,980, a total of 847,587.

Ten years later when the last Dominion census was taken, the figures were Ontario, 666,388; Quebec, 42,015; Prince Edward Island, 13,402; Nova Scotia, 57,490; New Brunswick, 35,973; Manitoba, 29,936; British Columbia, 25,047; North-West Territories, 22,151; Yukon and other Territories, 4,475, a total of 919,886.

It will thus be seen that in the decade there was an increase of upwards of 72,000. The above figures show, as is the case with several other Christian denominations, that the Maritime provinces lost some of their members to the gain of the newer western communities. The totals embrace all who designate themselves as Methodists but the figures do not indic[illegible] well as the Church's own statis[illegible] how the body has grown in numerical and financial proportions. In the twenty three years from the time of the union of the different sections of the church up to the last conference held in Montreal the membership had increased by 147,914, from 169,803 to 317,717. The increases for different periods were:—

From 1886 to 1890 36,399.
From 1890 to 1894 27,085.
From 1894 to 1898 19,584.
From 1902 to 1906 25,822.

In 1792 Rev. William Losee had been able to report a membership of 165. In 1824 when the first Canada Conference was organized there were reported to be 36 ministers, 6,094 white members and 56 Indian members. In 1833 there were 81 ministers, 15,126 white and 913 Indian members. With various additions to the body and natural growth down through the years the numerical strength in 1883 became 1,643 ministers and 196,836 members.

REV. A. K. CREWS,
Editor School Publications

By 1906 the number of ministers and probationers had grown to 2109 and membership to 317,717. In 1906 the church had 3616 church buildings and 1322 parsonages.

The financial standing of the Church is shown by the fact that the churches are valued at $14,874,000, parsonages $2,520,000, colleges $2,543,000, schools $214,000 and book and publishing houses $130,000. These, with other properties, constitute a total of $21,224,000, an increase in the quadrennium of close to $5,000,000. The total debt is about $2,400,000 and insurance carried amounts to close to $10,000,000. The general board of missions has an income of about $1,500,000 and expends about $1,390,000.

THE SAND-EATERS

If Man Would Eat a Little Sand He Would Suffer No Ills.

Every creature, from a canary to an elephant, devours a certain amount of sand with its food. Man is the only exception to this rule, and, according to a well-known doctor, it is because of this exception he suffers countless ills.

If we ate small quantities of fine sand with every meal, says this doctor, we would never be troubled with indigestion. You may see every day how necessary it is to birds. They cannot live without it. Wild animals are the same. If they are confined in cages in which they cannot find any kind of gritty substance they lose their appetite, and soon become ill and miserable. All animals prefer to eat their food on the ground for this reason.

Put a plate of meat down for a dog, and you will at once see that he will take it from the plate and lay it on the ground, unless prevented. Its instincts tell it that a small quantity of gritty substance is beneficial. Fastidious man requires everything to be free from the slightest particle of grit, and until we recognize that it is necessary to perfect health we shall suffer from indigestion and other ills. The writer has for years insisted upon a small quantity of sand — silver sand — being mixed with the salt before it is placed on the table, and has recommended the idea to a number of friends. In every case it has been successful.

HOW TO ACT IN A RAILROAD WRECK.

What should one do when a train runs off the track? Fall on the floor and grasp the frame of the seat? Few would be apt to act thus, and yet it is the proper and safe mode of procedure, we are told by a correspondent Above all things, says our mentor, don't stand up and scream! Most passengers leap to their feet and do not hold on to anything; consequently they are tossed about like peas in a bag, with what results may be imagined. The writer begins by narrating an experience of his own [illegible] a train left the rails. He says:

'When the tumult began a passenger stood up and shouted at the top of his voice: "What's the matter?" repeating the unanswered query several times. I knew what was the matter, but had no leisure to explain, and just dropped upon the floor and grasped the frame of my seat and held on, taking the jolts as rigidly as possible. Hat-racks, hand baggage, seat cushions, splintered head lining, and miscellaneous articles began to fly about, and I found the seat frame afforded some protection from the missiles that damaged some exposed limbs.

'The tumult could not have lasted half a minute, but it seemed a long time till the end came by the car turning over with a terrific jolt. At that instant, the man who had shouted so vociferously "What's the matter?" was shot through the window like a huge torpedo. Most of the people who had been on the upper at the Army athletic meeting: and the dure, we are told by a correspondent. car turned over, I was on the lower side, and settled softly upon the head lining when the car came to rest.

'I had been in a similar accident once before and knew, not only what to do, but kept my attention upon what the other passengers were doing. Most of them stood up or sat without holding fast to the seats, so that they were thrown about by the plunging and jolting of the car. Then a mass of human beings seemed to drop from the higher to the lower level when the car went over. Many of them were badly bruised through being pitched about, pains that might have been avoided had they dropped upon the floor and clung to the seat frames.

'It is difficult instructing persons how to do in case of the derailment of a train they are riding in, but sound advice is to drop upon the floor, preferably in the aisle, or cling to the seat frame. The impulse to stand up and howl should be restrained. In a former derailment accident that I experienced a woman on the seat opposite to me stood up and proceeded to scream. I shouted to her to sit down on the floor, but she paid no attention, and when the car fell over on its side she was projected upon me like a pile-driver weight. She was nearly as big as a cow, and the impact of her body almost finished my career.'

Great Lawyers Who Never Wore Silk.

Some of the most eminent forensic and judicial luminaries have never been numbered among his Majesty's counsel learned in the law.' Brougham and Denman, and O'Connell at the Irish bar, were never King's Counsel. Brougham and Denman were refused silk gowns by Lord Eldon owing to the implacable hostility of George IV. O'Connell, although the head of the Irish bar, was refused a silk gown after the carrying of the Catholic emancipation act, which was in large measure the result of his exertions. Subsequently they all obtained patents of precedence. O'Connell's patent giving him precedence immediately after the Irish law officers of the Crown. They were, strange to say, Queen's Council. Brougham and Denman were Attorney-General and Solicitor-General to Queen Caroline, and O'Connell was the Irish Attorney-General. On the death of the Queen they resumed their stuff gowns and practised at the Outer Bar. The 'Law Reports' of the time noticed this fall in rank of Brougham and Denman, who, they record, 'appeared in less distinguished robes.'

A Pretty Custom.

Princess August Wilhelm, wife of the Kaiser's fourth son, has set herself the task of reviving one of Germany's oldest customs, that according to which newly wedded couples immediately after the marriage ceremony plant a couple of oak saplings side by side in a park or by a roadside of their native town.

The town of Mulchausen, in Thuringia, is the first to respond to the Princess's appeal. A municipal official appears at the church door after every wedding and invites the bride and bridegroom to drive with him in a carriage to a new road near the town and there plant oak saplings.

The tree planting idea was started by a former elector of Brandenburg with the object of repairing the ravages caused by the Thirty Years' War. The elector forbade young persons to marry until they had planted a number of fruit trees.

The Harborless

Ah! there be souls none understand;
Like clouds, they cannot touch the land,
Drive as they may, by field or town;
Then we look wise at this and frown.
And we cry, "Fool!" and cry, "Take hold
Of earth and fashion gods of gold!"

Unanchored ships, they blow and blow
Sail to and fro, and then go down
In unknown seas that none shall know,
Without one ripple of renown.
Poor, drifting dreamers sailing by,
They seem to only live to die.

Call these not fools! the test of worth
Is not the hold you have on earth.
Lo! there be gentlest souls sea-blown
Now it may be the reason is
They touch on fairer shores than this.

FUNERAL OF LATE JOHN McINTEE

Remains of Railway Accident Victim Interred To-day

The remains of the late John Joseph McIntee, who was killed in the vicinity of South Porcupine last Wednesday night, arrived on the 11:26 C.P.R. train yesterday, accompanied by his brother, Mr. Terence McIntee, of Elk Lake.

A member of the family told the Review to-day that the unfortunate man was a miner and had his camp at Golden City. He attended a political meeting in South Porcupine on Wednesday evening last, and, missing the return boat, he started to walk home along the track. An engine came along with a box car and he was struck. He died almost instantly. There was twenty-two dollars and his watch found on the body.

Eight weeks ago last Saturday the late Mr. McIntee returned to Golden City after visiting at his home here. His brother Terence accompanied him, but at the time of the accident the brother was working at Elk Lake, seven miles distant.

The body was not mangled. Apparently he had been hit on the side of the head only.

A widowed mother, Mrs. John McIntee, 611 Reid street, survives, besides three brothers, Thomas, Peterborough; Terence, Elk Lake, and Maurice, Cobourg, and four sisters, Mrs. Larone, city; Mrs. Shaffer, Toronto, and Miss Mary, at home.

The funeral took place at nine o'clock this morning from the family residence, 611 Reid street, to St. Peter's cathedral and St. Peter's cemetery.

CHOIR EXPRESSED THEIR BEST WISHES

After choral evensong last night, when the musical portion of the service was splendidly rendered by the choir, Mr. R.J. Devey on behalf of the choir, tendered their very best wishes for the welfare of the Rev. C. Carpenter and Mr. George who are leaving the parish. Both are Englishmen, good men and true, and the words of appreciation spoken by the choirmaster were heartily endorsed by the Rev. Canon Davidson. St. John's choir has experienced several losses during the last few months. In the tenor line alone, Mr. Will Coleman, Mr. R. Sutcliffe, Mr. Willis and now Mr. George, leave a pretty large gap in a voluntary choir. The soprano and bass work have also suffered, but the recruiting forces, hard at work, never forgetting the faithful adherence of the bulk of the choristers as shown last night, ensure a continuance of the effective and reverent rendition of the grand liturgical services of St. John's.

TO MAKE THEIR HOME AT TORONTO

Mr. and Mrs. W. Galbraith Leave This Week

Mr. and Mrs. William Galbraith, 520 Charlotte street, expect to leave Peterborough to-morrow or Wednesday and take up residence in Toronto. They purpose making that city their future home.

During their residence in Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith have won a host of friends and while their absence will be noticeably felt, yet they will take with them heartiest wishes for an enjoyable and prosperous sojourn in Toronto.

The growing business and widening of the real estate operations, in which Mr Galbraith with others is associated in the Independent Real Estate Company, is the main reason that has necessitated Mr Galbraith's moving to Toronto. The local end of the business, however, will be handled in the same business-like manner as before. The prosperity of the business of the company necessitates Mr. Galbraith's presence in Toronto where it can have his personal supervision and attention.

His class of young ladies at Charlotte street Sunday school, of whom he has been the efficient and helpful instructor for the past seven years, remembered him on Sunday afternoon by presenting him with a handsome gold watch fob as evidencing in a slight manner their extreme regard for his energetic services to them. Mr. Galbraith was greatly touched by the evidence of their feelings but thanked the young ladies appropriately and sincerely.

Mr. and Mrs Galbraith intend making the trip to Toronto by auto.

DELEGATES FOR S. S. CONVENTION

A meeting of the Sunday school executive was held on Saturday, when plans were discussed for the sending of delegates to attend a big Provincial Sunday school convention to be held in Brockville, Ont., from October 23rd to Oct. 26th The delegates were not named, but a committee was appointed to interview the different Sunday schools of the city with the object of having delegates from each make an effort to attend this big convention.

A Sunday school rally will be held in the city soon to hear the reports and to ascertain what plans have been formed to send these delegates.

HARVEST HOME SERVICES AT PARK ST. CHURCH

Large Congregations Were Present Program for This Evening

The Harvest Home services at the Park street Baptist church yesterday were a great success both as to numbers and eloquent sermons preached by the pastor, Rev. W. C. Riddiford. In the morning the subject was "Six steps to a successful harvest." The steps were composed of six passages of Scripture, which the preacher assured his audience, would lead to an eternal harvest of joy.

The steps were:—Come to Christ, Pray Ye, Bring Ye, Tarry Ye, Go Ye, and lastly Christ would say at His coming to all those who had toiled faithfully in His harvest field, "Come ye, blessed of My Father."

Even a cup of cold water given in the name of Christ will have its harvest of joy.

At the evening service Mr. Riddiford referred briefly to the great material harvest of wheat, but said that the Canadian churches must wake up to the fact that there is a great spiritual harvest that awaits our reaping.

The church is most beautifully decorated, and the Harvest Home tea will be served to-night from 6 to 8.15 after which a program will be rendered and addresses will be given by Rev. J. R. Bonner, Rev. J. R. Webb and J. H. Burnham, M. P.-elect.

The choir, which, under the leadership of Mr. Harold Foster, sang so acceptably at the services yesterday will render several selections to-night.

POLICE COURT

Defendant Was Given Some Good Advice by the Magistrate

The expression "Here comes that beastly speed boss," accompanied by the throwing of a piece of potato in the direction of the object of the uncomplimentary remark, were the reasons for a police court case this morning. The case was dismissed.

The terrible crime appears to have arisen out of a little ill-feeling between Jas. Parkins, of the C.G.E. and some apprentices under him, one of whom is a well known local youth.

Parkin's evidence was that on the night of Sept. 18th, about 9.45 he was walking on Perry street, towards Park. He noticed in the lamplight on the sidewalk about ten yards from the corner of Perry street, two of them, he recognized, as employees under him at the C.G.E. Works. As he passed he said he heard the remark, "Here comes that beastly speed boss," at the same time he noticed an arm go up and what he thought was a stone whizzed past his head and struck a tree beside him with a thud. He recognized the thrower as the young man in court.

The defendant admitted in the witness box that he had thrown a piece of potato at Parkins in a careless fashion, but that he entertained no ill will towards him.

His Worship seized the opportunity to impart some good and useful advice to the youth, advising him to submit to his superiors even if it was perhaps rather difficult at times and assuring him if he did so he would eventually come to realize and enjoy the fruits of having yielded to superior judgment.

VAG DISCHARGED.

"Walter Glass, you are charged with vagrancy; a big strapping, healthy looking fellow like you sleeping in barns and going without employment."

"Have you got a home," he was asked

"Yes sir, in Trenton. I just came up here to get a job with a lumbering crowd, and I got drunk."

"Well, you may go, but don't go sleeping in barns any more. It is the likes of you who cause these frequent fires in barns."

BLACKLIST CASE.

A black-lister failed to appear this morning when his name was called. The man who was charged with supplying him the liquor was present, but the case had to be enlarged until Sept. 28th.

THEATRICAL

A sparkling musical comedy, abounding with some real funny situations, was dished out at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening, in the presentation of the "Beauty Spot," featuring Frank Deshon in the role of the leading comedian. In the ranks of low comedians Deshon is undoubtedly a star, and his actions and breezy humor were responsible for all the laughs in the performance. The chorus was remarkably well trained and good looking. The company also possesses a splendid male quartet, whose singing was heard to excellent advantage. The musical numbers were of a catchy strain, especially two as sung by Deshon, namely, "Foolish Questions" and She Sells Sea Shells." Goldie Jacobs as "Nadine," the general's daughter, pleased all by her sweet little voice and quaint diminutiveness. The play is one that should take well at any place.

A Waverley Electric Brougham, will be unloaded here to-morrow for Miss Bravender of Lakefield. The car is something distinctly new for this vicinity, and Mr. C.M. Bennett, formerly of Peterboro, and now of Whaley, Warren & Bennett, Toronto, who are Ontario agents for the Waverley Co., is in the city to-day, in connection with the shipment. The car is driven by electricity.

MONARCHS OF THE AIR

Will Man Ever Emulate the Frigate Bird or Albatross?

Early in the morning the great vulture of North Africa leaves his eyrie in the mountains and soars away in the sky, rising to such a height that the human eye, straining against the sun-bathed sky, fails to perceive him.

All day long, hour after hour, he swings or rovers, never dropping, unless his keen eyes perceive carrion beneath, and not until sunset does he wing his way back, apparently as fresh as when he started.

This vulture has been watched by the hour through powerful telescopes and never once seen to give so much as a single flap with his wings.

Man has been studying bird-flight for generations past. He has done his best to imitate it, he has gone deep into its problems, and has put forward all kinds of ingenious theories. And at the end of it all, even now that he himself is beginning to master the air by means of a rigid screw-driven plane, he has to confess that the problem of soaring flight is well-nigh insoluble.

Floating All Day

For a very long time the common explanation of soaring flight was that soaring birds, like the vulture, took advantage of air currents. It is a fact that some birds, like the albatross need a breeze to enable them to sail through the air; but there are others, such as the frigate, or man-of-war bird which can rise in the calm and float all day without a motion of their broad pinions.

The wings of the frigate bird have an expanse of ten to twelve feet, and it can fly at any pace up to a hundred miles an hour, and can remain for a week on the wing without once perching.

The albatross of the Southern Hemisphere has been known to follow a sailing ship for a fortnight at a time apparently never resting. Its wing expanse is greater even than that of the condor, one bird that was shot off the Cape of Good Hope, measuring seventeen and a half feet from wing tip to wing-tip.

From these figures it might be gathered that the larger the wing expanse of any particular bird the greater its power of flight.

Yet here, to use an Americanism, we strike another snag. The powers of flight in various birds are not by any means proportionate to the bearing surface of their wings.

The Magnificent Stork

The stork, for instance, can fly magnificently. On its annual migration it covers two or three thousand miles and will cross the Mediterranean with the greatest ease. Now, the stork weighs eight times as much as a pigeon, yet in proportion to its weight has only half as much wing surface.

But a bird of prey must be able to do much more than support its own weight in the air. It has to lift its kill from the ground and carry it perhaps many miles up into the mountains.

What such a bird is capable of may be realized when it is said that an eagle weighing about eight pounds has been seen to pick up and carry off a young pig weighing more than double as much as itself. And there are many cases on record of eagles carrying off children weighing, with their clothes over a stone.

If man could build an aeroplane to match the eagle, that aeroplane would only weigh, engine and all, about eighty pounds, and its pilot could carry it on his back. It would have to be able to rise with only a few feet run, to sail with safety in any gale and to remain afloat for at least ten hours at a stretch.—Answers.

NOTED SWIMMER DEAD

Edward Beauchamp Was a Veteran Member of Montreal Club

Mr. Edward Beauchamp, a retired lumber merchant and one of the best known swimmers of Montreal, is dead. For many years he had been a member of the Montreal Swimming Club, and he was a daily visitor to the swimming baths at St. Helen's Island, where he often took a high dive from the springboard of the tower, much to the interest of the other members of the club. Mr. Beauchamp was one who took pleasure in telling stories of old Montreal, at a time when the boys of the city used to swim from the beach on the river front which antedated the site of the present big steamship wharves. He often spoke also of the times when the Imperial troops were stationed there, and his anecdotes of the happenings of barrack life were full of interest.

THE QUEBEC BYE-ELECTIONS ADD TO BORDEN'S MAJORITY

Two Conservative Wins—Hon. M. Lemieux Defeated in Gaspe—Leaders Meet at Ottawa.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—The two deferred elections in Quebec those in Gaspe and Chicoutimi-Saguenay, took place yesterday and resulted in the return of two members who may be added to the majority against the Government.

In Gaspe the latest returns indicate the defeat of Hon. R. Lemieux, Minister of Marine, by Dr. C. P. Gauthier, who is leading by 558. Mr. Lemieux will, however, be a member of the new House, as he was elected last Thursday in Rouville.

In Chicoutimi-Saguenay there were four candidates in the field, the victor being J. Girard, the late member, who was first elected as a Conservative, but who supported the Government in the late Parliament. Mr. Girard's majority so far as heard from is given as 1,200.

Russell's Majority.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The majority of Hon. Chas. Murphy in Russell County is 1,008. There is talk of his election being protested by J. W. Vincent, Conservative candidate, on the ground of irregularities. The majority of Honore Achin in Labelle is 98.

Neely Is Safe.

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—Latest bulletin from Humboldt gives Neely, Liberal, 4,000, with twenty polls still to hear from.

Leaders Meet.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Mr. R. L. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier met for the first time since the election last night at a dinner tendered the Governor-General by the Rideau Club. Both leaders supported the toast to His Excellency.

The possibility of the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the spending departments is being discussed in Ottawa. The Conservative opposition moved repeatedly for such a commission and it was refused. Another suggested move by the incoming Government is the rearrangement of portfolios with the Departments of Commerce and Labor amalgamated, and the census added.

Praises Laurier's Decision.

London, Sept. 26.—The Pall Mall Gazette says the cancellation of Laurier's ultimatum, reciprocity or retirement, was doubtless prompted by his chivalrous regard for the plight in which his followers would otherwise find themselves. With a leader like Laurier, Canadian Liberalism will be far from being an ineffective critical force.

The Westminster Gazette says: "For our part we never saw in reciprocity any danger to the Empire, because that would mean the Empire depended on a tariff wall which is the keeping of the United States."

The Sheffield Independent says with the Conservatives in power "there will be such a tightening of the grip around Canada's throat as will prevent her from breathing. Laurier's policy brought prosperity; his rival's will inevitably cause a revulsion, ultimately meaning the free exchange of natural products."

Foretells Severe Winter.

Middle Haddon, Conn., Sept. 26.—Horace Johnson, Connecticut's aged weather forecaster, who achieved some prominence by foretelling the blizzard of 1888, now foretells a long and severe winter this year. He says: "There will be a snowfall as early as October 18, and ice will form on the streams by November 12." He also forecasts a drought for 1912.

Duel to Death in Circus Crowd.

Madill, Okla., Sept. 26.—Tom Rorie, liveryman, and L. L. Reed, carpenter, dead, and two men wounded, is the result of a shooting affray in a crowded circus tent here. Rorie had objected to Reed's show of authority as a special officer for the day.

ROGERS FOR THE CABINET

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—Hon. Robert Rogers has been invited to enter the new Borden cabinet to be formed within the next week or two. He left here for Ottawa to-day to meet Mr. Borden, and it is believed that he will get the portfolio of Minister of Interior, as successor to Hon. Frank Oliver. Mr. Rogers has been considered as a cabinet possibility for some time, having desired to get into the larger sphere of Dominion politics. He is a whirlwind organiser, a strong man politically wherever he goes, and the Borden administration will be greatly strengthened by his presence.

SIR JAMES WHITNEY LAYS THE GUELPH PRISON CORNER STONE

SIR JAMES WHITNEY.

Guelph, Sept. 26.—Sir James Whitney's speech at the laying of the corner-stone of the administration building at the new provincial prison near Guelph yesterday was brief. He made no reference whatever to the political situation, though it was the great topic of discussion all day among the party which gathered for the ceremony.

Sir James was handed a silver trowel by Hon. W. J. Hanna to "well and truly lay the stone." The stone was inscribed: "This corner-stone was laid by the Hon. Sir James Pliny Whitney, Prime Minister of Ontario, the 25th September, 1911." The box placed in the stone contained coins of the realm, the current newspapers of Toronto and Guelph, and a Canadian Almanac, which latter, as Dr. Gilmour blithely remarked: "contained the names of those who were members of Parliament."

Sir James pointed out that, while the idea being worked out by the Government at this institution was not a new one, it was with a desire to ameliorate the conditions of those who had come within the criminal law because of small infractions.

"As regards these men, the infliction upon them of that just and necessary punishment which our law, and the law of all civilized nations requires, and which is required by God's law, shall be inflicted with due regard for their future welfare and happiness," said Sir James, who then pointed out that it was the aim of the Government to see to it that these people who had been the victims of misfortune, should, when they regained their liberty, carry as slight a handicap as possible. Ordinary considerations of common sense and elementary fair play required that their lot should not be made any harder than necessary for them to redeem themselves.

The Prime Minister then called on Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, and father of the new provincial prison scheme, to review the history of the movement, and to give the gathering some idea of the progress that had been made.

Luncheon was served in the new Trades Building, at the conclusion of which further inspection of the big estate was made.

Oxford Graft Enquiry.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The Court of Appeal has reserved judgment in an application by J. C. Makins, K.C., for an order quashing the conviction of John Youngs by Mr. Justice Britton on March 28th last. The charge against Mr. Youngs was that in May 1908, he promised to pay Robert E. Butler, a candidate for the Legislature, $1,000 to induce Mr. Butler to use his influence to procure the appointment of Youngs to the office of goalkeeper in the common jail of the County of Oxford.

Mr. Makins argued that the gift of the office was not in the power of Mr Butler, and that his recommendation was not sufficient to bring the offer under the statutes. Mr. Makins also declared that the purchase must be absolute, and as a matter of fact Mr. Youngs never got the office.

HE WOULD HAVE A DRUNKARD'S FARM INSTEAD OF A FINE OF $2

Rev. Mr. Spence Condemns Present System of Handling Drunks.

Hamilton, Sept. 26.—No more "dollar and cost or thirty days" sentences for drunkards was the slogan flung out by Rev. B. H. Spence of Toronto in his address on the "Drunkards" yesterday afternoon to the delegates to the Canadian Conference of Charities and Correction in session here.

Rev. Mr. Spence took the ground that drunkards could be reformed, and it was worth while for society to reform them "but the present method of dealing with this class of unfortunates," declared the speaker, "is a relic of barbarism." "The drunkard is treated with contempt by the individual, and this attitude is reflected in his treatment by the law."

Instead of being fined $1 and cost or 30 days a drunk should be given an indeterminate sentence on a detention farm, where the proceeds of his labor would go toward the support of his family. The speaker emphasized the importance of giving scientific instructions in the public schools concerning alcohol. Paris, France, has used Government money to advertise the ill-effects of alcohol. He hoped to see Toronto and Hamilton do likewise.

Fine Jail Record.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 26.—Pavel Macca was sentenced to three months in the county jail for contempt of court. That was two years ago. At the expiration of the sentence he received another three months' sentence, and then his case apparently was forgotten. He was found yesterday occupying a cell in the county jail, still serving his sentence, apparently not knowing why he was there and making no effort to get out. Macca was sentenced for contempt when he said he was unable to pay his divorced wife $1,200 alimony.

A writ of habeas corpus was filed in the Superior Court during the afternoon asking for his release.

GERMANY IS ON THE JOB

Italy is Aroused and May Force Action

Berlin, Sept. 26.—Although Germany has not offered formal plans it is known that she is exerting her best efforts at Rome and Constantinople to bring about a peaceful settlement of the controversy between Turkey and Italy over Tripoli. Germany regards hostilities between those two countries as a menace to European peace, since it would probably be followed by an outburst of the Balkans, into which Austro-Hungary and the other powers might be drawn.

Germany advocates as a solution of the question Turkish recognition of Italy's special interests and her abandonment of opposition to the economic development of Tripoli by Italy and also of the recognition by the latter country of Turkish sovereignty.

Germany's position is a delicate one as she is bound by an alliance to Italy and by friendship to Turkey.

Italy Is Aroused.

Chiasso Sept. 26.—According to the latest advices received here the whole of Italy, with the exception of a section of the Socialists, now demands the speedy occupation of Tripoli. The Socialists argue that Italy is not sufficiently prepared to stand the heavy expenses to enter colonial competition.

In the meantime the Italian Government is taking the present opportunity to experiment in the partial mobilization of the troops. The entire fleet is now ready for war, including the smallest and the oldest ships. The coast fortifications have been strengthened to meet any attack. Sixty steamers have been chartered for the transport of 35,000 soldiers, war material, aeroplanes and dirigibles and Red Cross workers.

The contingent of soldiers kept in service after their time had expired, with the reserve called up, bring the standing army to 80,000 above normal. The troops intended for Tripoli are chiefly in the Naples, Sicily and Tarante Barracks.

King Victor Emmanuel has expressed a chance to review the troops before they leave for Tripoli, but definite decision has not yet been reached.

VICTORY ENJOYED

Conservatives Still Celebrating in Some Ridings

Prescott, Ont., Sept. 25.—Within sight of the United States City of Ogdensburg, which their grandsires captured in 1812, and under the shadow of old Fort Wellington and the historic Windmill, the descendants of U. E. Loyalist ancestors celebrated to-night the rejection of the Taft-Laurier reciprocity pact and tendered an ovation to Dr. J. D. Reid, Grenville's reelected member of the House of Commons. The veterans of 1866 were head and front of the demonstration and first in the parade. The whole town was en fete, with profuse decorations of bunting and flags. Following the parade a platform meeting was held in Victoria Opera House, which was filled to the doors, both auditorium and gallery. Dr. Reid received a tremendous ovation that shook the building. Coming in sequence to a vote last Thursday, which gave him double his former majority, and the largest in the history of the riding, the demonstration emphasized the grip which Dr. Reid has upon the affections of his own people of Grenville.

BROCKVILLE CELEBRATES.

Brockville, Sept. 25.—A splendid demonstration was held here to-night to commemorate not only the election of John Webster over Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, but also the return to power of the Conservative party at Ottawa. The event had been carefully planned since the landslide of Thursday last and there was nothing lacking in the way of enthusiasm and jubilation. Excursions from the riding of South Lanark, the rural parts of the Brockville and adjoining constituency of South Leeds, arrived, each bringing a band, which, with the two Brockville organizations, furnished the music.

GEO TAYLOR UNBEATABLE.

Brockville, Ont., Sept. 25.—Mr. Geo. Taylor, the former chief Conservative whip, is unbeatable in the riding of South Leeds, adjoining Brockville. His victory on Thursday made his eighth successive election to the Canadian House of Commons, and by the largest majority in the history of the constituency. Mr. Taylor's majority was 1,040.

Mr Taylor is 71 years of age, but is as active mentally and physically as most men a score of years younger. A grand celebration to commemorate his victory, also the Conservative sweep throughout the country, was held in the town of Gananoque.

B. & O. Telegraphers' Demands.

Baltimore, Sept. 26.—Following a recent conference between a committee of telegraphers and officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, at which demands made by the operators in matters of increases in pay, shorter hours of employment and adjustments of working conditions, the company claimed could not be met.

The men, it was learned here yesterday, are voting to empower the committee to further take final action in pursuing negotiations with the officials. Several conferences have been held in the matter of wage adjustments, and the course now being taken by the employes, it is said, is with a view to authorizing their representatives to reach an agreement with the railroad. It is understood that the demands, which include a request for fifteen days' vacation annually with pay, if conceded, would increase the expense of the company 35 per cent.

Twelve Years a Leper.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 26.—After having suffered from leprosy for twelve years during which time he walked the streets worked and had unlimited opportunities to transmit the disease, Ludwig C. Dryegrov, a tailor, is dead at his home here. The nature of the malady was discovered yesterday after Coroner Gilbert Seashore viewed the body, suspected leprosy, and sent the body to Dr. H. B. Robertson of the University of Minnesota, who performed the autopsy.

STORY OF THE GREAT NAVAL CATASTROPHE; 300 ARE DEAD

French Battleship Liberte Goes to Bottom With Terrific Explosion—Other Battleships Damaged.

Toulon, France, Sept. 26.—The battleship Liberte was torn apart and totally destroyed by an explosion of her magazine yesterday. Three hundred officers and men were killed. The battleship Republique was badly damaged and the battleships Democratie and Verite also suffered severely from the masses of twisted iron and armor-plate that were hurled upon their decks.

This is the greatest disaster that has ever fallen upon the French navy, and in magnitude is almost without precedent in the annals of the world's fighting ships.

Late last night the naval authorities declared that the number of victims is greater than at first supposed. The official estimate is now given as between 350 and 400 dead or missing.

At 5.35 the first explosion occurred. It was followed by three others at one-minute intervals. Then came the final explosion, the terrific reverbration of which shattered the windows of the whole city and was heard for a radius of many miles. The Liberte was rent asunder. Her bows were thrown high in the air and then the vessel slowly settled down, and in nineteen minutes nothing was visible but the top works.

Those still on deck were hurled skyward amid a shower of iron and steel. The boats of the rescuers were sunk and serious damage was done to the Republique, which lay at anchor close by. Two of her decks were stove in, and one of the Liberte's armor-plates were hurled against her port side and demolished the cabin of an absent ensign. For a few minutes' after the final explosion an intense black cloud of smoke hovered over the harbor. When it shifted, a horrible spectacle met the eyes of the people of Toulon, who, awakened by the first explosions, had hurried to the shore. The twisted upper works of the battleship were protruding from a mass of formless wreckage, among which struggled the seamen from the rescuing boats that had been sunk by the flying debris or sucked down in the maelstrom.

The explosion, which wiped out one of France's newest and most powerful battleships, occurred at 5.53 o'clock in the morning. It was preceded by and was the result of an outbreak of fire. The flames spread rapidly in spite of all efforts to master them, and reached the magazines before there was time to flood them. The magazines exploded with tremendous violence, sowing death and destruction in every direction.

The fire was first discovered at four a.m., and the bugles immediately sounded the alarm. The crew rushed to quarters and fought desperately the spreading flames, but it was soon evident that the fire had obtained a firm hold. Signals of distress, were flashed to the other ships, and these despatched steam pinnaces and launches at full speed to assist in the work of extinguishing the flames and rescuing the men. But their services were of little avail.

The position of the fire made it impossible to flood the magazines at this time; nevertheless, efforts to do so were made, and finally the commanding officer, realizing that the ship was doomed, ordered the buglar to sound the "Sauve qui peut" (Let him save himself who can), and shouted to the men to jump for their lives.

Earthquake In Alaska.

Seattle, Wn., Sept. 26.—A strong earthquake shock was felt in the Prince William Sound country of Alaska Thursday night, but its extent cannot be learned because the earthquake severed the cable connecting Sitka and Valdez, 100 miles south of the latter place.

A steamer arriving here a few days ago reported a severe earthquake at Yakutat early in the month. Three Aleutian volcanoes are in moderate eruption, sending out only smoke.

Babies Thrive In Fireless Oven.

Willows, Cal., Sept. 26.—A fireless oven or cooker, used as an incubator, has come to the rescue of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pieper in sustaining life in their twin children, born a day or two ago. Curled in separate compartments of this kitchen appliance, the boy, who weighed only two pounds, and the girl who weighed three, are sleeping their way to health when not receiving food through a medicine dropper.

TO DESTROY FRENCH NAVY

Loss of the Liberte Makes French Authorities Suspicious

Special to the Review.

Toulon, France, Sept. 26.—Suspicion is growing that the destruction of the battleship Liberte was the result of a plot to destroy the entire French navy. Fire was discovered last night in the hold of the battleship Patrie, near her magazines and it required a desperate battle to extinguish it. There have been many mysterious fires at the Naval Arsenal and accidents to ships in drydock. Secret service authorities are investigating.

TRACEY FACES TRIAL FOR RUNNING AMUCK WITH AUTO

Plea of Not Guilty is Entered by the Defendant—Injured People Appear in Court.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—Alexander S. Tracey, the Port Huron man, who drove an automobile into a crowd of people at the corner of Roncesvalles and Queen street on Labor Day, appeared before Judge Winchester in the sessions court yesterday, on a charge of criminal negligence, occasioning bodily harm.

A plea of not guilty was entered.

Many of the injured persons appeared as witnesses against Tracey. The most important witness, however, was that of Policeman C. Grant, whose duty it is to follow speeding autoists and other power vehicles on the street.

His attention was first directed to the automobile near the corner of Tecumseh and King streets. At that time the auto was going at about 22 miles an hour. He and Policeman Anderson followed on their motor cycles along King street, up Dufferin and along Queen street.

"As far as I could judge," he declared, "the auto was running at about 26 miles an hour when it ran into the people at the corner of Roncesvalles and Queen street. There were two people in the auto, of whom the prisoner is one."

W. Broadbent, a motorman on a Queen car at the corner, testified to having seen the car coming, about 300 yards away, and thought it would stop. He told of helping to lift the auto off a number of the injured people.

As there were still a number of witnesses to hear at the hour of adjournment, the case will be continued to-day.

Died In Hospital.

Toronto, Sept. 26—Thomas Williams, 74 Vanauley street, who was found by P. C. Grant, 258, at the corner of Kingston road and Main street, East Toronto, with his throat cut with glass and tin, died yesterday in St. Michael's Hospital.

Williams was taken to the hospital early Saturday morning by the police and everything was done to help him, but he passed away yesterday. His body was taken to the morgue and the chief coroner notified, but an inquest is unlikely.

Woman Clerks Made Him Rich.

Saco, Me., Sept. 26.—Benjamin F. Hamilton, the first merchant in this country to employ girls as saleswomen in a store, is dead here, at the age of 93 years.

Hamilton's store in 1855 was one of the largest dry goods houses in the east. He created a tremendous sensation in that year by employing comely young women as clerks, and the women of Saco showed their disapproval by boycotting the store.

The idea eventually "took," however, and Hamilton opened similar stores in Biddeford and Portland, where the novelty of women clerks made both enterprises tremendous successes.

New Station at London.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—London is to have a new C.P.R. station, the erection of which will be started at once. The new building will cost about $10,000, and it will be a modern structure in every respect. The main building will be 65 feet long and a storey and a half high, and in addition there will be additions at either end, giving the building a total length of 121 feet.

An Ideal Remedy for Coughs, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Weak Chest.

After having made a special study of the treatment of the throat and lungs for twenty years, Prof. D. Jackson states that in his opinion no preparation for general family use is so efficient, so healing, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone.

"Catarrhozone is free from opium.

"Stops coughing instantly.

"Prevents bronchial irritations.

"Relieves clogged nostrils.

"Prevents La Grippe.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, SEPT. 26, 1911.

THE AMERICAN IMPRESSION

There is an unmistakable undercurrent to be detected in the comment of that section of the American press which, from the beginning of the campaign for reciprocity, has forcefully, rather than tactfully, urged on Canada the advisability of accepting an agreement. We find references, for instance, to the "brutal" way in which the offer was rejected. There is, we admit, a certain such force in the verdict which the people of Canada have given; it was primal in its intensity, universal in its expression and convincing in its unanimity, but we fail to see where anyone can rightly take exception to it in any of these particulars. Time after time we have been assured by the reciprocity press across the border that the agreement was simply a business proposition—nothing more and certainly nothing less. Wherein, then, would they have had our answer to it, since it called for a frank and sincere expression of opinion, differently worded? The people of Canada have expressed very forcefully their desire to continue to work out their destiny on the lines which they were forced to adopt by the very country which is now taking exception to their decision on the grounds that it is lacking in courtesy; but when have our neighbours in the United States put their fiscal relationship on any other basis than that of self-interest? Does the rudeness of which we are accused consist in the size of the majority which the anti-reciprocity party will have in the next parliament, in the defeat of the two Ministers who negotiated the agreement, or in the fact that the sentiment of which the majority is the tangible expression, is found to exist in all sections of the Dominion? Should we have temporized with the question—have said "Not to-day, but possibly to-morrow"? In the light of Thursday's returns, would this have been regarded as less "brutal" by that section of the American press which seems to have taken umbrage with the way Canada did answer it?

Twenty years ago, the United States made reciprocity a closed issue. Last year they tried to re-open it, and this week the question was fairly placed before and fairly answered by the voters of Canada. It may be "brutal" to realise the possibilities which lie before us and to voice our intention of turning them to our national advantage, but there is, at least, no deception in such a course. If the reciprocity proposition, which came from Washington, was entitled to consideration as a sentimental expression of mutual affection and good-will, it was singularly ill-adapted for its purpose. As far as Canada is concerned, the rejection of the reciprocity agreement does not signalize any change in her desire to live in peace and friendship with her neighbor, and we cannot but see in the attempt of a certain influential section of the American press to read this meaning into it, a confirmation of our suspicions that, at least in the minds of many of its supporters, reciprocity meant far more than appeared on its surface.

THE SITUATION

The Manitoba Free Press in analysing the political situation sees nothing but opposition for the Liberals for a long period. Strongly Liberal itself, and a supporter of the reciprocity agreement, it says that Canada has gone strongly protectionist in the late election, and that as far as support of the protectionist element in Canada is concerned the Liberals have burned their bridges, and must wait until protectionism has died or is dying, before they could hope to regain power.

This remarkable view, held by one of the broadest and most forceful Liberal journals in Canada, and representing the western standpoint, is worthy of great consideration. As long as Ontario is solidly protectionist, Ontario can sway the whole Dominion in this matter. There seems to be nothing left for the Liberal opposition, but to take up the old fetish of free trade, and try its luck on the low tariff improvement.

The Manitoba Free Press says;

Ontario is politically the most powerful of the Canadian provinces and will remain so for a long time to come. If it is unanimous in any matter of public policy, or practically so, it can enforce its will upon Parliament. Ontario is strongly protectionist; and it is likely to remain so. Not with its consent will there be any modification in the tariff looking to a freer interchange of goods with the United States.

The elections are thus a complete triumph for protection. What then, is the future of the Liberals? The party has burned its bridges so far as support from protectionists is concerned. It will never be trusted again by them. There appears to be nothing left for it but to take the other road and follow it persistently. The Liberals will be forced, by circumstances if not by inclination, to take up their old position on the tariff. This undoubtedly will involve absence from power for a long period, unless something unexpected transpires to shake the power of the Borden ministry. This is a fact that might as well be faced.

THE NAVY ISSUE

The Ottawa Citizen thinks that one of the novelties in the election is the fact that there is no more a solid Quebec to consider, and that the Quebec vote is no longer the factor it has been since Confederation. The Citizen says:

"One of the novelties of the recent campaign is that the new government goes in without the support of what has been known since Confederation as the 'Quebec vote.' Premier Borden will have a clear majority of English-speaking Conservatives, irrespective of 'Solid Quebec.' This is a matter of relief to a great many staunch Conservatives, and also Liberals, who voted against reciprocity, but who did not view the possibility of an alliance with Mr. Bourassa in any comfortable spirit.

"Since Confederation a solid Quebec has dominated each party in succession, often much to their disadvantage, and to the disadvantage of progressive legislation."

While this is true, yet the Quebec proposition offers many great difficulties. The majority which Premier Borden will have of English-speaking Conservatives over Liberals and Nationalists combined, will be only five or six, or with the elections still to be held, eight or nine. That is too narrow a margin for safety, providing there is a possibility of Nationalists and Liberals uniting on a particular vote, such as a navy vote. If the Liberals were to vote against a Borden navy proposition following very much the lines already laid down and carried towards completion, it would be political stultification, but if they saw a chance of embarrassing the administration, they might do it. While Mr. Borden could, if necessary, on a particular vote, get along without Liberals and Nationalists, such a course would give rise to considerable trouble.

The easiest way out of such a difficulty would be a referendum to the people, if this could be managed, for Mr. Monk and Mr. Bourassa have expressed themselves as satisfied with even a prospect, and would abide by it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now that the election is over, the Hamilton Times will be able to devote its energies to furthering the anti-cigaret agitation; advocating pensions for old maids, and other useful work.

The congratulations of the Review are due to the Toronto News for the magnificent fight it put up in this campaign. The News was a source of great help and assistance at every stage, and its well-conducted efforts along both economic and patriotic lines had an immense influence.

The Review is in receipt of congratulations from Editor Jaffray, of the Galt Reporter, on its campaign here. Thanks, Brother Jaffray, and congratulations should also be extended to the Reporter. While perhaps the Reporter was not facing the task of defeating a Stratton machine, it did most effective work in the campaign, and its influence was far-reaching.

Hon George P. Graham proposes to go back to journalism. Many eminent men spring from journalism, and if occasionally, they return to their old love, they can find a worthy field for their labors. It is a long time since Hon. Mr. Graham was actively in newspaper harness. It would be somewhat of a novelty to see him driving the quill, or rather pounding the typewriter—to be modern—and watching the wheels of the presses go round.

There seems to be considerable doubt as to the date of the provincial elections, many prominent politicians being of the opinion that they will be called this autumn. But there is legislation on the books which the government desires to clean up, and another session is needful. November is a bad time for Ontario elections, because of the hardships in members getting around the rural constituencies. It is to be hoped the government does not spring it until next year.

The trouble over the naval question is likely to reach an acute basis before long. There are only six members from Quebec who are English speaking straight Conservatives. The other twenty may be classed as Nationalist, and are strongly opposed to any naval expenditure, just as British Canada is as strongly for such a contribution or expenditure. In fact, now that the Laurier government has committed the country to the naval policy, it will be hard to prevent things from going ahead, as per program. Mr. Borden has a majority of five or six over Liberals and Nationalists combined, but to put a measure through without consulting the Quebec representatives would not be good politics. There are just a few thorns in the bed of roses after all.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Hogs.

W. J. Johnston, for Gunns, reports selects, fed and watered, at $7.10, and $6.75 f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Sept. 23 were 1850 cattle, 2000 sheep and lambs, 2800 hogs and 300 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning for sale amounted to 1100 cattle, 1400 sheep and lambs, 1400 hogs and 150 calves.

Altho the supply of cattle was fairly large, and the weather was unfavorable, a stronger feeling prevailed in the market, and prices since Wednesday show an advance of 15c to 25c per 100 pounds. A feature of the trade was the demand from exporters, and sales of Manitoba domestic cows, weighing 1200 to 1300 lbs., were made at 5c to 5¼c per lb. The increase in offerings is attributed to the supplies coming forward from Manitoba, there being fully 800 head on the market from that source. At the advance in prices butchers were not disposed to operate freely, and in consequence the demand throught was rather slow.

Sales of full loads of Manitoba domestic steers were made at 5¾c per lb., and choice in a jobbing way at 6c; good at 5½c to 5¾c, fairly good at 5c to 5¼c; fair at 4½c to 4¾c, and common at 4c to 4¼c per lb. Choice Manitoba cows brought 5c to 5¼c, and the lower grades from that down to 4c per lb. A few very choice heavy bulls sold at 5c to 5¼c, and packers paid 2½c to 3c per lb. for canning purposes.

An easy feeling continues to prevail in the market for hogs, and prices to-day scored a further decline of 15c to 25c per 100 lbs., which is due principally to the liberal supplies coming forward. At this reduction drovers stated that they lost money in some cases, and especially so on stock which had long runs, as the shrinkage was heavy. The demand from packers was fairly good, and sales of selected lots were made at $7 to $7.10 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

Owing to increased receipts of lambs, an easier feeling developed in the market, and prices ruled ¼c lower than a week ago, and even at this reduction the demand was not very keen, and sellers in some cases found it difficult to find buyers at 5c to 5¼c per lb., as they were all pretty well supplied. Sheep steady, at 3¾c to 4c per pound. The demand for calves was fairly good at prices ranging at from $3 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 19,000 head; market fairly active and steady; choice lambs, $6.40 to $6.50; cull to fair, $4 to $6; yearlings, $4.50 to $5; sheep, $3 to $4.25.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour

She flushed. It was a tender spot he had touched on. Perhaps her conscience told her that a strange reason prompted her—an impulse she had never felt before. She advanced on the obstinate old man. There was fire in her eyes.

"Wiggin, I allow no man to dictate to me, now that my father is gone — no man to question my motives. I have good reasons for discharging you. My father could not read. I can. I have watched some of your dealings in the written word, and I know that you are dishonest. I have only been waiting for the right occasion to tell you so. I tell you, now."

"You wait till I get to the probate judge," cried Wiggin. "I'll have you taken care of, Miss Clare. You ain't responsible. You'd better let this thing drop. I know more law than you do. You're going to be sorry."

She turned her back on him, undismayed.

"Mr. George," she said, "you see I'm in sore trouble, just now. I have plenty of friends in this north country, but they do not understand business. I need your assistance. I'm not appealing to you as woman to man. I don't want any chivalry. I'm talking straight business. I want you to take charge of my affairs, for you are in a position to understand them better than any one else at this time. I want you to engage suitable lawyers, and manage my business until this is straightened out. It will not take long, I hope. And then you can go on about your own affairs."

"If that skunk stays in this section many hours more, he'll get his, with the pepper pot emptied on it," roared the old man truculently

Her proposition had taken George's breath away. Wiggin's threat jumped him into acceptance. He was no coward. He would have seemed so, had he refused at that moment.

"I'll accept the position," he said bluntly.

"This gentleman is my new manager, Wiggin." Round spots on her cheeks were very red. "You'll have to deal with him from now on."

"I'd like to see him manage," stated the old man. "I've got the law behind me."

Harry allowed himself a bit of a boast—he was young and very angry. "I'll put some more law behind you, Wiggin. It will be the kind of law that will push hard."

Wiggin hurried away.

Harry remained for a time in consultation with his new employer. At the end, both of them realised that they needed legal advice to regulate their future acts. Once assured that he was right, the young man was certain that he would be a match for the schemers — such is the optimism of youth. And, looking at the girl, he felt that a man would be craven, indeed, who allowed the interests of such a one to suffer."

He proposed to her that he should start at once for the nearest city, in order to procure advice and set in motion the necessary legal action to protect her property. She gave him a copy of the will and such other papers as she possessed.

"It will not do for you to go by the company's railroad to the junction," she warned him. "The men are only tools, and I shall fear for your safety. You may take my horse — I'll trust you both to win out. Reach the railroad below the junction — I'll give you the maps of the trail. Then, they will not know where you are, or suspect why you have gone away."

He prepared to ride out of Corran-cache under cover of the darkness that evening. He ate his supper with her at the Corran house.

"Tell me, Mr. George," she said, "just why you decided so quickly to take charge of my affairs. It's an impertinent question, but I'd like to know."

He looked at her a moment. The eternal feminine shone in her eyes. But he, with the fatuousness of youth and in order to quiet the conscience that whispered the name of Mary Laroche to him, said: "I have a very dear girl waiting for me in the world outside. I have my way in life to make. And the thought of her gives me courage to befriend another who may need what poor assistance I can render. There are two strong reasons why I'm doing this, Miss Corran."

For one fleeting instant, her eyes clouded. No woman listens unmoved to a declaration that puts another woman above her. Even entire lack of personal interest in the man hardly serves to console. She recovered from her surprise instantly. She smiled at him.

"I am glad to hear that," she said. "I am relieved. Men have been fools enough to annoy me with their attentions. You and I can get along on a strictly business basis. I have nothing to worry about."

He went away, feeling that matters were exactly right between them, and yet her evident relief, when he had confessed, piqued him

IX

It was a bone-wearing trip. The black horse knew the way, and brought him safely to the railroad. The railroad took him to the city and the lawyer. The grave man of justice could not console his impetuosity. He could set the necessary legal machinery at work to dispossess the false Wiggin, he assured Harry, and, no doubt, in the end would save the girl's interests. But this could not be done in a moment.

In the meantime, Clare Corran needed an able and fearless manager on her properties, for law had a rather unsteady grip on the outposts of the north country, so the lawyer explained. He told Harry how he could proceed so that he could protect himself and justify his acts in the final settlement, and ordered him back, advising him to fight the foe with their own weapons until the law could arrive, traveling slow but sure. Months might elapse before right could supplant might, the lawyer said; and offered some information as to the ability of the Great Trust Co. to trig legal wheels — provided the Great Trust continued to be interested in the affairs of Clare Corran.

It was a rather dubious outlook that Harry faced.

He thought that the voice of Mary Laroche might cojsole him and send him back, heartened for his task. After discouraging waits, he secured telephonic communications with Toronto, amazing "central" in the little northern city by his persistency in seeking some one in far-off Ontario. Her father answered. Mary was away with the young folks at a picnic. Oh, yes, she was well. She would be sorry that she was not at home. He hung up the telephone receiver, feeling rather cross and jealous.

He went back to Corran-cache with the discouraged thought that he was very much alone in the world. He also felt very inefficient. Somehow, some of the zest of the matter seemed to have departed. Clare Corran had very frankly warned him that he was only a hired man. Of course, he did not expect or desire to be anything else. But the knowledge that he was abandoing his profession for a time in order to carry out a fight — a mere single-handed tussle against odds — was a depressing thought.

When, at last, he was back and had reported to her what be had been able to accomplish, she studied him with some curiosity. He seemed to have lost his zeal in her behalf.

"I'm afraid I've got you into trouble," she confessed. "I have had my men out since you left here. They have watched and listened. It seems to have been left to Blinn Wiggin and some rogues that he has collected to get you out of the way. He has personal spite, and, of course, he is being paid well. I have no right to ask you to engage in this affair. It's dangerous. At the most, I can only lose some of my property. You may lose your life."

He said nothing, and she went on: "I think you'd better give up the position, Mr. George."

"You have some one else in mind, I suppose — some one better fitted to do the work?"

"I assure you I have not." The color came into her cheeks.

"Then, it is plain to you that I'm not the man for the place — that I haven't the ability to protect your interests?"

"I think nothing of the kind. I've been much impressed by your courage — and I understand you must know the management of timberlands. I believe in you and your honesty and ability thoroughly, Mr. George. But this is not an ordinary job that I'm asking you to do. You are threatened. You will probably meet violence. I feel that I have no right to hold you."

He stood up before her, straight and full of determination. He had felt reproach in her tone. He realized that he had brought a discouraging question, and, when the tardes were demeaner before her. "I am not afraid of them," he said. "So long as you have confidence in me, I'll go on and do the best I can. I ask your pardon for my appearance, just now. I fear I was — it's a boyish confession — just a bit homesick."

"I understand," she smiled. "But it will all be made up to you when I tell her what a good, brave knight is hers."

He bowed. He did not reply. Then he took up his task.

If violence were meditated, it did not appear.

Harry made his home at the hotel. Quietly, as the days passed, he attached men to him, following her suggestions as to who were loyal.

He did not see Blinn Wiggin in his usual haunts. The landlord informed him that the young man seemed to be dodging the old Indian who still roamed about the village, standing like a statue for long hours, gaunt, haggard, and waiting.

"It's some hitch about the White Lily, I reckon," stated the landlord. "If he's fooled her like he has some of the rest of the girls on this border, he's up against a tough old customer in that Injun out there, even if he is over a hundred."

The brisk stranger had gone from Corran-cache. Only Jepson Wiggin was left. The old man trailed Harry as much as he dared, casting malevolent gaze on him. Gradually, George got insight into the affairs of the Corran estate. He met the stumpage buyers, dickered with them in full understanding of the forestry question, and, when the trades were completed, went with them to Wiggin and compelled the old man to ratify the trades. Wiggin was not ready to declare open war. He was plainly obeying secret orders.

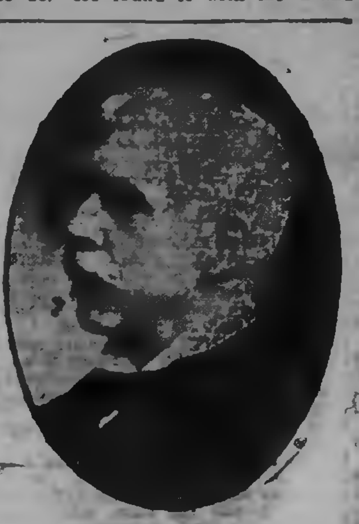
WILLIAM WHYTE LEAVES RAILWAY

The Well-Known C.P.R. Vice-President Retires From Active Service

Sir William Whyte, who has retired from active service with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company after a long and honorable career, was born of humble parents at Charleston, Fifeshire, Scotland, on September 15, 1842. Quite early in life he was at work in the offices of the North British Railway Company, and the age of nineteen saw him a station agent on the West of Fife Railway. Life on a Scottish railway, however, did not offer scope enough for his ambitions, and at twenty years of age he was in Canada looking round for something to do. He found it with the Grand Trunk Railway, with which company in twenty years' service, he gained valuable experience that has stood him in good stead ever since.



SIR WILLIAM WHYTE

Sir William Whyte started his career in this country as a brakeman, and worked faithfully for eight months at that job before he was premoted to be freight clerk at Cobourg. This position he held for two years, and then in 1865 he was appointed first freight clerk in Toronto and then a foreman of the freight department. This place he held for a year, and then he served for another year as yardmaster in the same city. Two years as a conductor followed, and then for six months he was night station master at Toronto. Next he was promoted successively to the positions of station master at Stratford, and freight and passenger agent at London, afterwards returning to Toronto as freight agent, and later as divisional superintendent.

Then, twenty years after he came to Canada, he took a big step up by getting the post of General Superintendent of the Credit Valley Railway. That was in April, 1883. It was but a few months after this appointment that the Credit Valley Railway was absorbed by the new giant that had appeared on the horizon, the Canadian Pacific Railway, and with its absorption Mr. Whyte received a new appointment—that of General Superintendent of the Eastern and Ontario division of the Canadian Pacific, with headquarters in Montreal. By this appointment he was placed in charge of the line from Montreal to Toronto, the Credit Valley, Grey and Bruce, and other branches, and the main line from Montreal west to Port Arthur.

The building of the C.P.R. on the prairies gave him scope for the exercise of his administrative abilities, and in October, 1886, be became General Superintendent of the Western division Before the end of that year the tall, white-haired figure of this genial railwayman had become familiar throughout the West, and familiar it has been ever since. Up and down the line he travelled, hob-nobbing with the farmers, and over-seeing every development in the rapidly-extending ramifications of the great transportation company he represents. It was uphill work in those days getting the farmers to homestead the land which the company was opening up for development, and Bill Whyte, as he was then called, did his share of it.

"If we can only get the women into the country," Mr. Whyte used to say, "there will be no trouble about getting the men."

It was one of the peculiarities of the women in the West those days that they hated to go far from a settlement containing a doctor, so Mr. Whyte might be seen catering to these domestic prejudices by getting the company to subsidize doctors to live in certain places. Then the women would complain that they couldn't do any shopping, or that the shop-keepers they did have charged extortionate prices. What did William Whyte do? He had cars turned into travelling stores and sent them regularly up and down the line. Where he considered a storekeeper was trying to bleed the people, there his travelling store would stop and sell goods at reasonable prices. But when the storekeepers of a place were doing the fair thing, then the C.P.R. store would pass it by, stopping only at out-of-the-way places where there were no stores. In these, and hundreds of other ways, the Canadian Pacific fathered the West, and big, genial William Whyte was the man it used for the purpose.

He was appointed general manager of the Western lines in 1897, became assistant to the president in 1901, and second vice-president in 1904.

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

That English Effect

The rolling lapel, with its soft, yielding and natural effects, is one of the outcomes of our wholesale migration to see the Coronation festivities.

It is "that English effect," and it is illustrated in the Semi-ready style book this season. The truly English garment is characterized by the natural shoulders, the softness of the coat front and lapels, the precise roundness of coat corners, and the absolute absence of even the suggestion of a "dip." The vest is high cut and the trousers are "slim."

PRESBYTERIANS' METHOD OF RAISING MONEY TO DO WORK

A Conference in Every Home on the Business of the Church—A Chat With Every Wage Earner

Almost half a hundred men gathered in St. Andrew's church last evening to talk over the work upon which they start out to-day and this evening—the work of raising Peterborough's share of the Million Dollar Missionary Budget and of placing the current revenue on a basis commensurate with the needs of the local churches. Among that half hundred men were some of Peterborough's safest and most progressive and successful business and professional men. They could underwrite a large amount of the money required. It is safe to say that by the time this is in print they will have arranged for their fair share. They are not on the job to roll their responsibility on others. They will do the fair thing themselves, and in addition give their time until the work is done. No one will be asked for large sums to be paid annually, but for such amounts as their finances will warrant each week for current revenue and missions. The card to be used in St. Paul's and St. Andrew's churches specifies as follows:

There are no pew rents. Sittings are allocated on application. Contributions are received each Sabbath through envelopes, both for the maintenance of Gospel Ordinances among ourselves and the extension of the kingdom of God in the world.

Kindly indicate below what you will give weekly by placing X opposite the amount, and envelopes will be furnished you. Give liberally, cheerfully, systematically.

Also kindly indicate the number of sittings you require.

One half of the card provides a column in which the amount contributed per week is indicated by marking X. Opposite the sum which is printed on the card, ranging from 5c per week to $5.00 per week. The first column denotes the amounts for the "maintenance of gospel ordinances in our church, Peterborough." The second column specifies the amounts for the "Extension of the Kingdom of God throughout the World (Missions.") Follows the names and address of the contributor.

The weekly amounts range from 5c to $5.00. This latter amount will enable the contributor to support a home missionary for a year, as the average cost to the mission funds of a home missionary, in excess of what the people in the mission field contribute, is $250.00. There are a number of people in Peterborough who have been giving this amount.

Knox church, on account of the special claim of their building fund, have arranged a card to meet this special need as follows:

"Knox Church Offerings."

As my share of the church's obligations I agree to give—

1st. For current expenses $——— weekly

2nd. For mission work at home and abroad $———weekly.

3rd. For the Building Fund on or before December 1st, 1911.

Address———

This is neither a rich man's work alone nor a poor man's work alone. Every man needs this work of helping for the enlargement of his own life, for the broadening of his own horizon, and the measure is "every man according to his own ability." Let no man, dowered richly with this world's goods and adding rapidly to his store, be satisfied with a share that would be large for the wage earner, but would be no expression of his own capacity for service. Let no man decline to give according to his ability because he cannot give as much as he would like. The standard, "Each man according to his ability" is a common sense standard, it is a just standard, it is a scriptural standard, it is a standard that will abide. We will all be facing it after our door of opportunity for service has been closed.

When we all get on a job that is as big as ourselves we will all come into a sense of the worth of the other fellow and into a new self-respect that has both strength and healing in it. It is by such movements as this that the gulf between rich and poor can be spanned by the bridge of a new comradeship.

CONSERVATION OF WATERS TO RECEIVE PROMPT ACTION

Mr. J. H. Burnham and Mr. J. H. McClellan made a visit to the old Roger Dam, yesterday to make preparations for the building of a new Weir dam, so that the water which now has to be used at the Quaker Oats Co. dam, to flush the logs through, may be saved.

A few years ago, the eastern portion of the old Rogers dam was washed away, the consequence being that the basin above the dam is almost dry. When the logs came down to be washed through it means a serious waste of water.

This will now be provided for, and the water will be saved. This waste of water, has meant the frequent shutting down of several of our large industries, which means a big loss to them. Every effort will be made to correct this state of affairs which has been allowed to exist much too long. The conservation of the water by a series of dams, chutes, and other expedients will be proceeded with, with renewed vigor, and what ought to have been done years ago, it is confidently hoped will now be done properly.

Ald Bradburn and Ald. Edgar have been interesting themselves especially to securing a dam for the city, possibly No. 4. We are on the eve in Peterboro, of developments in connection with the river, which it is to be hoped will do away with the intense dissatisfaction.

Mr. Burnham and Mr. McClellan will shortly take a tour through the whole conservation system, with a view of becoming thoroughly acquainted with conditions and with the end in view of prosecuting the conservation of the water in a number of lakes, not heretofor attended to, with all despatch.

DISORDERLY IN RAILWAY COACH

Michael Scott Arrested by C.P.R. Detective Was Remanded

Samuel Detcher, a lumber jack, has been in the city about one week and during that period he has been intoxicated. He was run in last night, and at police court this morning promised to go back to the woods. He was allowed to breathe fresh air once again.

William Kelly, who follows the same occupation, was present on a similar charge. He pleaded guilty, but was discharged.

James Tierney, however, was not so lucky. The latter has been drunk for some time and his system is pretty well saturated with liquor. Chief Thompson asked for a week's remand in his case and he will appear again next Monday.

A man named Michael Scott, was arrested last night on the complaint of the C.P.R. charged with creating a disturbance in a passenger train near Avonmore last night. He refused to show his ticket to the conductor when requested and filled the coach with impolite language.

Detective Brodie had him arrested when he came to Peterborough. He was remanded also until next Monday when Detective Brodie will be in the city at the hearing.

REV. G. W. HENDERSON WAS AT LINDSAY

Thank-offering services were held in the Queen-st. Methodist church Sunday, Rev. Geo. W. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist church, Peteboro, preaching at both services. His discourses were learned, impressive and interesting and were highly appreciated by the two large congregations. A large collection was realized. Excellent music was rendered by the choir—Lindsay Warder.

GOSPEL HALL

Last night's address was a splendid appeal to the unsaved, the subject being "Justification." The subjects for the week are: to-night "Peace With God," Wednesday, "The Love of God," Thursday, "For Whom Did Jesus die," Friday, "Reconciliation." Try and hear all of these.

GOOD PROGRAM AT PARK ST. CHURCH

Supper, Music and Addresses Made an Enjoyable Evening

The Harvest Home supper at the Park Street church last night and the splendid program, were enjoyed by a large number of Baptists and their friends. The sumptuous spread provided by the ladies of the church in the banquet hall was served from 6.15 to 8 p.m., and in the menu there was nothing lacking to make the supper a popular one.

After all had done justice to the meal, a program of choice selections was rendered in the auditorium of the church, which was appropriately decorated for the occasion with flowers, ferns and fruits, along with an address from Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. and a message from Rev. J. R. Bonner, pastor of Gilmour Memorial church.

THE PROGRAM

Rev W. C. Riddiford ably dispensed with the duties of chairman. He called the program as follows—

Anthem—The choir.
Prayer—Rev. J. R. Bonner.
Chairman's remarks — Rev. W.C. Riddiford.
Recitation—Miss Ethel Hill.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Walter Chambers.
Address—Rev J. R. Bonner.
Vocal Solo Miss Ada Lee.
Address Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.
Male Quartet.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Walter Chambers.
Vocal Solo—Mr. J. Miller.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Asa Huycke.
Selection—The choir.

Rev. J. R. Bonner, pastor of Gilmour Memorial Church, congratulated the Park Street Baptists on the success of their Harvest Home. In speaking of the harvest, he mentioned the wonderful designs in nature and said in conclusion, "As our Heavenly Father has designs in nature, let us have a design in life."

Mr. Burnham, the next speaker, received a hearty welcome and an attentive hearing. During his remarks he said that the great question of the day was the forward movement in a Christian way, and we could see on all sides, men who were wealthy, and they regarded their wealth as valuable, as a means of doing good. No longer did they take pride in their wealth.

When the lengthy program was at last brought to a close, the baskets of fruit, which were used in the decorations at the front of the church were sold.

PASTOR ADDRESSED WILLING WORKERS

Rev. J. R. Webb Told of Work Among French Canadians

The Willing Workers Society of Murray street Baptist church, held regular Monday evening meeting last night, at which Rev. J. R. Webb, the pastor of the church, spoke most interestingly and vividly on the work of the Baptist missions in Quebec, among the French population of the province. In his address Mr. Webb, who is thoroughly competent to speak authoritatively on the subject, told plainly of the complete sway exerted in the province by the church.

"When two-fifths of the population of our country is under such teaching as that," said Mr. Webb, "when their priests are saturated with such beliefs, is it not our bounden duty to give the full gospel to the Province of Quebec. In that province there are many who have been led to the same gospel we adore. The work has been going on since 1832. One of the leading clerics of Montreal to-day, a leading scholar, namely, A. L. Terrien, was once a Roman Catholic, but came out from their sway into the Protestant religion." Mr. Webb closed his brief talk with an urgent plea for increased aid for the Baptist missions in Quebec.

Fine, intelligent papers were read afterwards on the same work by Miss Montgomery, Mr. Batley, Miss Rathbone and Master Saunders.

COMING EVENTS

In a theatrical season which bids fair to be rich in good things, one of the most notable bookings with us will be Henry Seton Merriman's book-play "With Edged Tools," adapted from the famous novel of the same name, which is completing a run in London and the English provinces of 1079 performances. The entirely original Company, including Mr. Hamilton Deane, Miss Marie Leonard, and Mr. Campbell Goldsmid, together with the beautiful production, will be brought over complete. The company lands on Canadian soil, opening in Montreal, whence goes to Toronto, and via one or two favoured cities to Chicago for a run.

Henry Seton Merriman is a favorite British author, having been responsible for eminent works like "The Sowers," "Barlasch of the Guard," "The Velvet Glove" and "With Edged Tools" which latter work we are told is unequalled by any modern work in the proportion of its sale.

The enterprise that can jump from Britain to Canada to present a play with every detail complete, deserves recognition. The company expect to appear in Peterborough about October 14th.

CHAMBERLAIN ST. HOUSE WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Firemen Had Early Morning Call and Succeeded in Saving Adjoining House.

The home of Edward Webb, Chamberlain street, was burned to the ground at an early hour this morning and only the good work of the firemen, saved the home of Mr. Jack Taylor, next door. Mr. Jack Mervin owned the house which he valued at $800. The loss was partially covered with insurance. Owing to the fact that Mr. Webb was not at home the value of the furniture could not be estimated.

At 3.30 o'clock this morning, a man working in the transformer department of the C.G.E. saw the blaze and he promptly ran out to inform the neighbors. When the Taylor family arose, according to the story of Mrs. Taylor, who talked of the fire to a Review reporter to-day, they saw the blaze through their windows and one of them went into Mr. Howarth's, 560 Chamberlain street, and telephoned for the firemen. The others got the lawn hose, and began playing it on the side of their house to protect it from the blaze.

When the firemen arrived they could do nothing to save Mr. Webb's house, which was a rough cast one, but they started in to hold the fire in check. Mr. Taylor's house, a fine brick one, was only a few feet away and the brick on it was badly scorched and several panes of glass broken.

Mr. Webb, who is an elderly man, lived in the house alone. For a time this morning the neighbors were almost frantic as they thought the old gentleman was burned to death. However their fears were unfounded as he left last night for Mr. Laing's farm, in North Monaghan, where he is doing some work. He was sent for this morning as soon as his whereabouts could be learned.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

The cause of the fire is unknown. Some neighbors offered the theory of rats and matches, which appeared probable.

GETTING DOWN TO FINALS IN TENNIS COMPETITIONS

Players Should Get Busy and Play Remaining Games.

The tennis season is drawing to a close. In the city tournament there are four players left in Class A. of the singles and three in the consolation. In the doubles the Y.M.C.A. firsts are leading with the Golf Club in second place. If the "Y" wins another game they cannot be beaten for the championship. The management had intended having the finals played next Saturday, but there are too many games to be played and the issue will not be decided until next week.

Class A., city singles—Messrs. Landry, Roberts, Meyers and Devey.

Y.M.C.A. TOURNAMENT.

Class A—S. R. Hall plays the winner of W. A. Landry and S. R. Butler.

Consolation Class A—H. Meyers vs. W. L. C. Richardson.

Class B—P. Goforth, winner.

Tennis has been very popular in the city this season. There is some good material which only needed developing. The finals should be interesting but it looks like "Bill" Landry for the championship again. He will possibly get the "Y" championship this season also as "Sandy" Hall has been suffering from a sprained ankle and cannot keep up the pace.

Everyone who has yet to play is asked to make arrangements to do so as soon as possible so that the finals may be settled.

Footballers Now Have Something to Fight for

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has kindly offered a handsome trophy to the Church Football League, which will be emblematic of the championship of the League. JOHNSON-WELLS FIGHT UNCERTAIN

Promoters are up Against Some Discouraging Developments

London, Sept. 25.—It is persistently reported in inner sporting circles that the Jack Johnson-Bombardier Wells fight, scheduled to take place here on October 2nd, will be declared off by the promoters. The general opposition to the battle which has been joined in by the church workers who are opposed to the battle on conscientious grounds, and the sporting experts who do not desire to see an Englishman butchered to make an holiday for an American black, has discouraged the promoters. They are also displeased over the fact that King George has telegraphed the Bishop of London, who is leading the crusade against the scrap, that his protest will receive the most careful consideration.

If the fight is finally declared off, as now seems certain, it is likely an attempt will be made to pull it off in Paris.

NEW C.P.R. TERMINALS

Big Expenditures at Western Junction, Near Montreal

The Canadian Pacific Railway has started on another huge undertaking in connection with its Montreal transportation facilities. Out near Western Junction the company is building a new terminal headquarters, which consists of a large 24-stall engine-house, a machine shop, a turntable, a coaling plant, a stores building, a rooming and lodging house capable of accommodating one hundred men, and a car-shunting and storage yard of two thousand cars' capacity. Eventually the new terminal will have a capacity of four thousand cars. When completed the new yards will provide one of the most complete terminals in Canada. At the point where it is proposed to erect the terminal the main line to Ottawa is joined by the tracks from New York across the Lachine bridge, which the company is at present engaged in double-tracking.

FAMOUS FLIERS AND THEIR FAME

Grahame-White, Bleriot, Farman, Loraine, Paulhan, Latham and Vedrines

Few will cavil at the honor claimed for Mr. Grahame-White of being Britain's champion aviator, who, although he failed to carry off the first Daily Mail $50,000 prize last year, proved himself to be the cleverest aviator we possess. What he doesn't know about the science of aviation is scarcely worth knowing. The prizes he has secured are legion, and he has met with success on the other side of the Atlantic. It is ten years ago since Mr. Grahame-White commenced flying, and like so many others who have taken up aviation, he graduated in the schools of cycling and motoring. As a boy he had a passion for mechanics. When he was thirteen he and his brother were the joint possessors of a small motor-car, which he was for ever taking to pieces and examining. When he left school he entered upon motoring as a business, and paid much attention to motor-boats as well as cars.

M. Farman

M. Farman tells an extraordinary story of his début in aviation. He and his brother went in for motor-racing and won several important races at Pau and Nice. Then a strange accident happened on the Auvergne course in 1905, which, to quote M. Farman's own words, "instead of proving fatal turned my thoughts in the direction of flying through the air. At the time I was driving my car at a terrific speed and was about to take a rather swift turn when the car skidded outward, and as it plunged into a deep ravine I and my machinist remained very happily hanging in the branches of a tree. That was truly my début in aviation, even if that method of imitating the birds was as rough as it was unexpected." It was during these motor races, however, that M. Farman conceived the idea of providing the car in some way with supporting planes, and thus making it leave the ground when travelling at a terrific speed. "But I always adherred," he says, "to the thought that in such a case this tentative heavier than air flight would end swiftly with a shock, so terribly rash did the proposal seem to me then."

M. Blériot

The name of Blériot figured largely in the entries for the recent $50,000 race, although the famous aviator of that name was not one of the competitors. Many of the latter, however, used the Blériot monoplane invented by the man who possesses the distinction of holding Certificate No. 1 of the French Aero Club. He was, of course, the first man to fly from France to England, and foresees the time when aerial motors will be recognized as a popular form of passenger traffic. A remarkable fact about M. Blériot is that he has met with over fifty accidents while engaged in flying, but so far has escaped any serious injury.

M. Vedrines

It is not so many months ago that M. Vedrines, who proved such a formidable rival to M. Beaumont and won second place in the recent $50,000 contest, was quite unknown and acted as a mechanic to Mr. Robert Loraine. An enthusiastic student of the art of aviation and a master of mechanics, he entered for the Paris-Madrid race for France and won it. He also figured prominently in the Circuit of Europe, and early in July won two prizes of $1,000 each in this country. Experts have a great opinion of Vedrine's skill and resource.

M. Paulhan

What the birds of the air think of their new companions, the aviators, may be gathered from an incident which occurred while M. Paulhan was making one of his successful flights. He was flying at about 200 feet up when a whole army corps of very black crows came circling round the biplane. They were tremendously interested and excited over it, and they hung about him like a black cloud as he drove along full tilt with that shattering engine of his. Suddenly Paulhan steered up among them, and they fled to the four winds, screaming with indignation and fright. After that he had the near atmosphere all to himself.

Hubert Latham

Few people are aware of the fact that Mr. Hubert Latham, who at the Rheims meeting in 1909 created a record by flying for two hours thirteen minutes, has hunted the rhinoceros and elephant in Africa, conducted a scientific mission in Abyssinia, and brought back a number of, till then, unknown insects belonging to the species which is held responsible for the propagation of sleeping sickness. On one occasion M. Fallières took the opportunity, when congratulating Mr. Latham after a remarkable flight, to make a speech in which he enlarged upon the virtues of democracy and the advantages which it offered to the humblest mechanic to rise to positions of dignity and emolument. Then, needing to be prompted, he turned to Mr. Latham and whispered, "By the way, what was your trade before you took to aviating?" "I was a gentleman of private means, Mr. President," was the unexpected answer.

Robert Loraine

The story of the career of Mr. Robert Loraine, one of the most prominent aviators in Great Britain, is romantic to a degree. Mr. Loraine, as the son of that fine old actor, Henry Loraine, has not only earned fame and popularity behind the footlights and achieved some remarkable flying feats, but he has also served his country as a soldier. He joined, as a trooper, the Welsh Imperial Yeomanry, and first acted as one of a squadron of mounted infantry. After that he exchanged into a machine-gun section.

AFTER THIRTY-FIVE YEARS

Changes an Old-Timer Has Noticed in Ball Games

Tom Wilson, of Banff, who had not seen a ball game for twenty-five years, saw one at Edmonton the other day. "Of course," said Mr. Wilson, "the game, as a game, has not changed. That will always be the game, three out all out, and out on a fly, and that sort of thing. But in the improved article, the old game has immensely gone ahead. This big mitt that Matt used would be the joke of the day if he had come out with that on when I was a kid. All we had was a skin-tight glove that only made the ball sting all the more. It was sure a great game, and when you got a foul tip on the nose you felt it. There was [illegible]

CLYDESDALE NEWS

Special Correspondence

Clydesdale, Sept. 26.—The threshing mill is in the neighborhood at present. Farmers report rather a poor yield.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of Warsaw, attended service in the Presbyterian church on Sunday and dispensed communion.

Miss Nell McCaskie, Belleville, who has been visiting relatives here, returned to her home last week.

The picnic held at St. Mary's church Tuesday proved a success. In spite of the threatening appearance of the weather in the morning, which may have detained some from being present, a large crowd assembled and spent a very enjoyable afternoon. After partaking of a splendid fowl dinner served by the ladies the sports, which created much excitement, began. The following is a list of those to whom prizes were awarded;

High jump—Rev. Mr. Soules.
Old man's race—Mr. E. Huffman.
Fat man's race—John Dooley and Fred Bulfied, tied.
Boy's race—Leslie Martin.
Girl's race—Agnes Dooley.

A splendid variety of fruit was displayed in the canteen. The dancing platform was also appreciated by the young people.

Many of our men are wearing the smile that won't come off. Why? Elections are over. We sympathize with the defeated candidates, but feel safe in saying the important question, reciprocity, played an active part in the work.

FROM A SOUTH WINDOW

IN CANADA

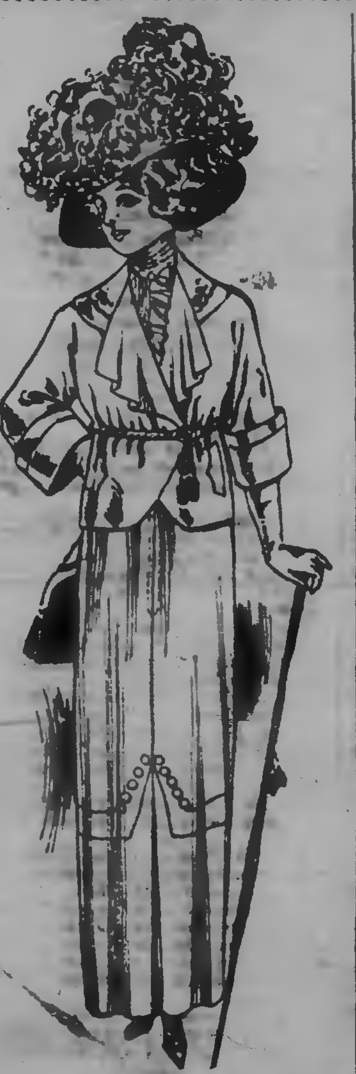
"Love, Laughter and Life"

CHEERFULNESS IN THE HOME

Husbands and wives should all remember that cheerfulness in the home makes for health and happiness, says Home Companion. All lovers should also bear this in mind. There is nothing that "kills" home life quicker than surly faces and soured tempers and discontent.

Everyone should try and appear cheerful at meals. All doctors agree that food taken with laughter and bright conversation does far more good than sitting down in a grumpy frame of mind and going through the meal in silence.

The spirit of beaming good fellowship in a home is always a delight to see. It warms one's heart to observe every member of the family is talkative and pleasant. Then doing little odd bits of kindness for one another, even if it entails a sacrifice, greatly adds to home happiness. There is nothing more depressing than to hear murmurings of complaint and dissent when brother or sister, wife or husband, ask one another to do something for them. Let the home beam with cheerfulness and good-fellowship—then that household will be a happy one.



A FASHIONABLE COMBINATION

Striped skirts and plain coats are a fad of the moment, and it remains to be seen whether the combination will hold good during the fall season. Some of them are mighty attractive, and the above cut shows a charming suit of this type. The skirt is light and dark striped mohair, smartly put together, and trimmed with a bias fold of the material and covered buttons. The quaint little coat of dark blue taffeta has revers and cuffs of the striped material, and a heavy dark blue cord and tassels confine the fullness at the popular high waist line.

A FEW HINTS

Before grating lemons, it is well to wash them in a basin of lukewarm water; for, on examination, it will be found that the outside of a lemon is anything but clean.

A dry sponge is the best thing with which to remove fluff from woollen clothing.

Soap mixed with whiting will stop a gas or water leakage in a pipe until it can be properly attended to.

To prevent mint in sauce from turning brown, well sprinkle the mint with vinegar before chopping. It will then keep a bright green for three or four days.

TO WASH PRINT

To wash a blouse or dress of print the water must not be too hot, and into it must neither soda nor any washing powder be put. Make a lather as for flannels, and use as little soap as possible, and it should only remain in the water long enough to bring out the dirt. Rinse in cold water, slightly salted, to which a little vinegar has been added. The former fixes the colors, and the latter brightens them. Next wring tightly and dry quickly, but not in the sun, or the colors will fade, and if dried slowly they will run. Wearers of print should not let it get too dirty before washing, or the color may be sacrificed to cleanliness. This has been well tried and tested.

Cherry Jelly

This is a nice way to cook cherries. Stew two pounds of the cooking sort till tender, then rub them through a sieve to get rid of the stones. Sweeten to taste, add the juice of a lemon, and stir in gradually one ounce of gelatine powder. When all is dissolved, pour into a wet mould, and leave till set. Serve with custard.

There are 582 telephones in Nelson and 12,028 in Vancouver.

HAPPY MOTHERHOOD

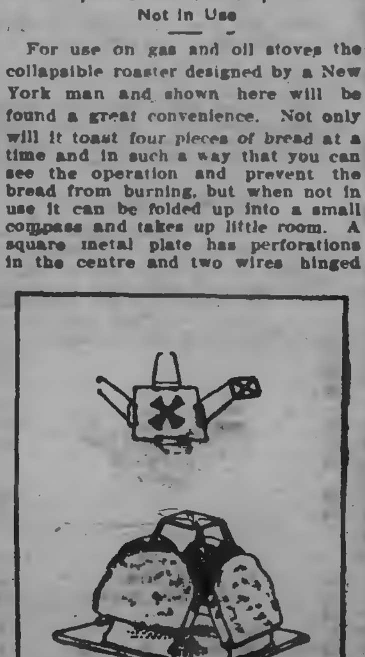
The Husband May Relieve the Wife of Much Wear and Tear

Sometimes it comes about that the mother is not content. It may be that her life is too strenuous. As a young girl, she had some natural longings for the beautiful and the artistic, she had thought of a home possessing refinement, taste, and a few of those comforts that tend to lift life above a purely animal existence. Yet she has been compelled by her partner or perhaps she has been unconsciously educated to join in the quest of material wealth until all the finer feelings and noble resolves have been subdued, and now she drudges from year's end to year's end, with no higher thought than that of keeping up with the work, so that the acres may be free of debt, or the herd of cattle and bushel of grain increased. It is said that of those who are found in the asylums for the insane the wives of farmers form an unduly high percentage. The monotonous wear and tear, the absence of social and aesthetic joys, has brought about a mental condition that has in time produced insanity. It is for men in this land, in their mad rush for gain, to see to it that into the lives of their wives there shall enter that variety, and especially that touch of the aesthetic and the social, which are the only sure preventive of ennui, lonesomeness and ceaseless brooding.

COLLAPSIBLE ROASTER

Folds Up Into Small, Flat Space When Not In Use

For use on gas and oil stoves the collapsible roaster designed by a New York man and shown here will be found a great convenience. Not only will it toast four pieces of bread at a time and in such a way that you can see the operation and prevent the bread from burning, but when not in use it can be folded up into a small compass and takes up little room. A square metal plate has perforations in the centre and two wires hinged along each side. These wires are bent at right angles and are hinged at the bottom, and can be turned up and joined in the centre, where they are held in position by another small tin plate.



HOME HINTS

1. If once a week you furniture-polish your furniture there will not be nearly so much dusting to do.

2. Have linoleum on the floor and rugs instead of a carpet to sweep every morning.

3. Clean your windows with a paraffin rag, and then polish with whiting. They will not get dirty so soon.

4. Have rows of hooks along your kitchen shelves and dresser, and have a place for everything.

5. When washing up use quite boiling water with a good sized bit of soda and a mop so that you can clean the plates, etc., without wetting your hands. Washing up only takes a few minutes then. Drain plates and saucers and cups on a rack, and if you haven't one, get one, as they save a lot of time.

6. Clear up as you cook. Don't leave an accumulation for the evening.

Of likely hearts which beat as one,
Which join together in sweet sympathy
To work each other's joy."

Mrs. James Dewart of Dummer Passed Away Suddenly

Special Correspondence

Warsaw, Sept. 26—A very sudden death occurred on Thursday noon, in the person of Mrs. James Dewart of Dummer. She was around as usual attending to her work when she was suddenly stricken down with heart failure, and only lived a couple of hours. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband and three children, Celestia Charlotte and Wallace, all at home, and two brothers and one sister Mrs. Fairnia Payne of Dummer, Uriah Payne of Warsaw, and William of Peterboro. The late Mrs. Dewart was in her fifty fourth year and was a Methodist in religion. COSTLY NAVAL AIRSHIP LOST

Was Wrecked After Taken From Shed – Cost $400,000

London, Sept. 26.—The first naval airship built for the British Government by Vickers Sons & Maxim, at a cost of something like $400,000, was wrecked at Barrow-in-Furness. It was drawn out of its shed at 7 o'clock and thirty minutes later was a tangled wreck. The new dirigible left its shed for the first time on May 22nd, and when floated was found too heavy to fly. It was sent back to the shed four days later and after much work was done upon it the airship was taken over by the Admiralty on September 22nd. It is now an absolute wreck and has never been flown.

It is difficult to say exactly what happened. There were officials on the spot, but no information can be gained either from the Vickers concern or the Admiralty. Apparently the centre of the huge framework, which was 512 feet long, was weak, and the pressure of a light nine-mile breeze made it part as it left the shed stern first. It listed to leeward and began to wriggle like a great snake. Cracking, tearing sounds followed, and before the captain's orders could be carried out the airship broke in half.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. A. DAVIES

Was Stricken With Paralysis and Died Last Week

Widespread regret is expressed at the passing of Mrs. Alfred Davies whose death occurred suddenly last night, and sincere sympathy of the citizens generally will go out to her daughter, Mrs. George E. Sherry, on her bereavement.

The late Mrs. Davies attended St. John's Church, on Sunday morning as was her custom, and that evening was stricken with paralysis, which with complications caused her death and she passed away surrounded by loving friends. Only last Wednesday her daughter, Miss Helen Davies, was married, and left the city with her husband, for Deloraine, Man. Her father, the late Prof. Davies, passed away in July 1903, and shortly after she had gone on a trip to England.

Mrs. Sherry has been communicated with at Chicago.

The late Mrs. Davies had been a resident of Peterboro for the last twelve years, having come here from Norwood. Previous to her residence there the family came from England. Her death occurred at her apartments in the Grand Central Block. For her kind and sweet disposition, she was beloved by all her numerous friends and acquaintances.

The funeral arrangements are not yet announced.

OBITUARY

The Late Hubert Armstrong

The death of little two-year-old James Hubert Armstrong, the child of Mr John Armstrong, of lot 18 concession 14, Cavan, to which brief reference was made in last night's issue, is one that is particularly sad. It was only three weeks ago that the little fellow's mother passed away, so that twice within one month the been plunged into grief.

The little boy was seized with convulsions last week, and his father drove him to the Nicholls hospital. He did not recover, however, but passed away about 3.40 Sunday morning. The sorrowing survivors will have the deepest sympathy of the community in their double bereavement.

Besides his father there are left four brothers and two sisters, namely, William John, Thomas Henry, George Albert and Lorne, and the sisters are Margaret Ann and Evelyn, all residing at home.

Mrs Elizabeth Westlake

At the good old age of 90 years, Mrs. Elizabeth Westlake, relict of the late George Westlake, who predeceased her seven years, passed away this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Tindle, [illegible], Smith township.

The late Mrs. Westlake was born in Cornwall, England, and came to Canada with her husband fifty-six years ago. She has resided in Smith township for thirty-nine years.

The funeral will take place at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon, from the residence of Mr. Thomas Tindle, lot 2, concession 3, Smith, to Little Lake cemetery.

Lillian Gladys Derry

Lillian Gladys Derry, aged 9 years and eleven months, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Derry, 469 McDonnel street, passed away at an early hour this morning from malignant scarlet fever. She had only been ill since Friday last and on Saturday a doctor was called. Since Sunday, she had been unconscious and her death was not altogether unexpected.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two sisters, Misses Flossie and Ruby Derry, and two brothers Masters Willie and Cecil.

The funeral took place at two o'clock this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

Parents Bereaved

Gavin Kennedy, the five months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Kennedy, 546 Park Street, passed away this morning.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES ARE AMALGAMATED

St. Andrew's Young People's Association is the New Name

An enthusiastic meeting of the young people of St. Andrew's church was held last evening, when plans on a large and promising scale were formulated for the coming season's work. In future the young people's societies will be known as the St. Andrew's Young People's Association, which takes in the Young Men's Guild, the Young Ladies' Mission Band and the Y.P.S.C.E. The two first societies, however, will have their regular meetings as formerly.

President—Mr. Rutherford.

1st Vice-President—Miss Maggie Gillespie.

Rec.-Secretary—Miss Helen Harper

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Jennie Richardson.

Convenor of the Social Committee—Miss Margaret Rae.

Convenor of Program Committee—John Sharpe.

Pianist—Miss Lizzie Shearer; assistant, Miss Girvin.

The program of meetings for the coming season was mapped out. The main reason of the amalgamation of the societies into one is to promote as much as possible the sociability of the society, and to endeavor to bring new members into the church. During the winter sleigh drives, and various other forms of social functions will be given for that purpose. Once a month there will be a district meeting of the society, when prominent men from outside places will be secured to address the society.

HORSES IN SUMMER

What They Would Say Could They Speak to Their Owners

If a horse could talk he would have many things to say in summer.

He would tell his driver that he feels the heat on a very warm day quite as much as if he could read a thermometer.

He would say,—"Give me a little water many times a day, when the heat is intense, but not much at a time if I am warm; if you want me to keep well don't water me for two hours after I have eaten."

He would say,—"When the sun is hot and I am working let me breathe once in a while in the shade of some house or tree; if you have to leave me on the street leave me in the shade if possible. Anything upon my head, between my ears, to keep off the sun, is bad for me if the air cannot circulate freely underneath it."

When he falls, he would ask that you quickly loosen his harness, and help him to rise without blows.

Watch for the appearance of gall-spots, and try to heal them before they grow worse.

He would tell of the luxury of a fly net when at work and of a fly blanket when standing still in fly season, and of the boon to him of screens in the stable to keep out the insects that bite and sting.

He would plead for as cool and comfortable a stable as possible in which to rest at night after a day's work under the hot sun.

He would suggest that living through a warm night in a stall neither properly cleaned nor bedded is suffering for him and poor economy for the owner.

He would say that turning the hose on him is altogether too risky a thing to do unless you are looking for a sick horse. Spraying the legs and feet when he is not too warm on a hot day he would find agreeable.

He would say,—"Please sponge out my eyes and nose and dock when I come in tired and dusty at night, and also sponge me with clean cool water under the collar and saddle of the harness."—Our Dumb Animals.

THE BEST SHOTS OF THE EMPIRE

In view of Private Clifford's capture of the King's Prize at Bisley a few words about some of the more famous marksmen who have won the $1,250 and the premier prize of shooting in past years at Bisley will be of interest:

Lieutenant W. T. Davies, of the 6th Welsh Regiment, is one of the two or three men who have won the medal twice. His last occasion was in 1903, and his former one in 1893. Moreover, in 1897 he ran the actual winner very close; and in 1903, besides winning the $1,250 and the gold medal, he tied for the silver one with three other shooters. He is a Llanelly man, and, owing to his striking success, may almost be regarded as the finest marksman who has taken part in the great contest, or at any rate, the most consistent one.

Lance-Corporal Ommundsen's name is one well known at Bisley, where he has taken prize after prize for years. He is of Scandinavian descent, as his name implies, and he was the hero in 1901 of one of the most sensational finishes in the records of shooting. Everybody was already congratulating Sergeant-Major Burr, of the Hants Regiment, on being the winner, for it seemed as if he must carry off the prize. But he was so upset with their congratulations and the excitement of the moment that he missed the target altogether with his last shot, and thus finished equal with Ommundsen. In firing off the tie Ommundsen easily beat his rival, scoring two bulls to the latter's two magpies; and so he came out a most sensational winner of the blue ribbon of marksmanship.

We have also Private George Gray, who astounded everybody in 1908 by bearing away the premier honors of the classic struggle, though less than twenty-one years of age at the time! George Gray belongs to the 5th Scottish Rifles, had only been shooting for three years ere he won the $1,250, and is in business with his father at Glasgow. When asked how he came to be such a first-class shot, the Caledonian George Gray replied, naively, "By practising with a miniature rifle in my father's back garden at Helensburgh!"

Lieutenant Addison, who is a South Australian, was another noted winner. For his father won the Queen's Prize in Australia in 1884; the son followed up this by taking the King's Prize at Adelaide in 1902, and again in 1904. This double feat was very clever, when one remembers how finely Australian troopers shoot as a rule. But the lieutenant's supreme performance was when he came off first at Bisley in 1907, amid the plaudits of the Antipodes, who had waited eagerly to learn how her best representative would succeed against the Mother Country's picked marksmen. Addison, then thirty-two years old, fully justified their confidence.

Rennie, of Glasgow, bears a name well known to most good shots. Curiously enough, when asked how he came to be such a marksman as to be able to beat all comers at Bisley for the $1,250, he put it down to a coal strike! This strike was in 1894, and it threw him out of employment for the time being.

"Having nothing to do, owing to the strike, I simply lived on the range, in order to pass the time usefully," Mr. Rennie said "I was always practising shooting, and this undoubtedly made me so proficient that in my great year of success at Bisley I won no less than $1,800 in hard cash, besides several medals."

Sergeant Reid is another frequent attendant at camp, and a shot whom all intending winners of the chief prize have to watch closely. He carried off the chief event in 1889, and is in the General Post Office. He lives at Ealing, and he can boast of what few noted marksmen can—viz., that he has during his career as a shooter carried off no fewer than 600 valuable prizes as mementoes (very useful and solid ones, too!) of his success. The sergeant has other claims to special fame in the competition, for he was the last winner under the old regime, when the shooting took place on Wimbledon Common. Moreover, he had made the record score up to that time with the Martini-Henry.

Major Thompson has a unique boast. He can claim that his name has appeared six times in the last hundred for the great prize, and of these four were in consecutive years. It is questionable if any other marksman but Thompson has ever done this. As a striking example of his consistent shooting, we may mention that in 1895 he was eighth, in 1896 he was first, and in 1897 he was second, only beaten on the post by Ward, a Devonian who made a most remarkable succession of bull's-eyes right at the last minute.

The major's fatal position, he avers, is second; for he tells how, in the year he won the $1,250 and the gold medal, he was second for the silver medal, second for the bronze medal, second for the Barlow Cup, and second for the Volunteers' best aggregate! As if this were not enough, the major has also on three separate occasions been second for the Caledonian Shield and the Championship of Scotland. So no wonder he regards "No. 2" as his fateful number on these occasions.—Tit-Bits.

LEADER BORDEN ACCLAIMED BY MONSTER OTTAWA CROWD

One Hundred Joyous Conservatives Drag Through the Streets a Carriage Containing Messrs. Borden, Perley, Fripp and Chabot — Union Jack Flies Everywhere—Hon. Mr. Pugsley Will Probably Retire.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Ottawa gave R. L. Borden a joyous welcome last night. The Premier-elect was the central figure in a demonstration which for size and enthusiasm was parallelled only by the Liberal rejoicings in 1896, when Laurier was returned to power.

The chief event was a monster procession which escorted Mr. Borden from his house through the main streets of the city and back to his home again.

Several thousand people took part in the parade, while the streets were thronged with cheering crowds, who heartily acclaimed the Conservative leader as he passed in his carriage, drawn by 100 men.

There was no doubt about the wholeheartedness of the tribute paid to Mr. Borden. The procession took 40 minutes to pass a given point, and there was a roar of cheering all along the route. It was a great night for Ottawa Conservatives.

In the carriage with Mr. Borden was George H. Perley, whose tireless work as chief opposition whip did so much to carry the party to victory, and the two elected Conservative members for Ottawa, Messrs. Fripp and Chabot. The parade reached Mr. Borden's house on Wurtemburg street at eight o'clock, and Mr. Borden and his confreres were placed in a carriage, and dragged through the three miles of packed humanity.

The Union Jack was everywhere in Ottawa last night, and the city was brimming over with British sentiment. Some of the banners carried in the parade caught the eye of the crowd, particularly one which proclaimed that "Reciprocity is dead." "We kept Canada in the Empire" was another favorite motto, while the length of life of the Conservative administration was slightly exaggerated in the slogan "Borden forever."

Mr. Borden was obviously pleased and touched by the magnificent welcome. He was kept bowing continuously, and when the crowd had vented their enthusiasm and escorted him home again, it was a tired but happy Premier-elect who, in a few brief words, thanked his fellow-citizens for the honor accorded him. There were no formal speeches.

Hon. William Pugsley, it is stated, will resign his seat in St. John City and go out of federal politics. Mrs. Pugsley made what practically amounted to a statement of his intentions in conversation yesterday. He does not want to sit in opposition with Conservatives in control of his old department, especially when there are prospects of lucrative law work in St. John.

Anti-Vice Literature "Hot."

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The 1,000 copies of the report of the Chicago vice commission, now being held by the postal authorities as unmailable, are the property of John D. Rockefeller, jr., according to members of the commission. The reports were bought by Mr. Rockefeller and ordered mailed to college and reform workers in all sections of the country as the first step in a plan to establish permanent vice commissions in all the important population centres of the country.

The anti-vice movement is said to be the result of interest aroused when Mr. Rockefeller was appointed foreman of a grand jury in New York, which investigated the white slave traffic there.

MORAL REFORMERS TO FIGHT BETTING RIGHT TO A FINISH

Miller Race-Track Bill to be Taken up and Amended—New Government to be Consulted—Obscene Literature.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—"The executive of the council in the light of these facts and considerations is of opinion that the time has arrived when this matter must again be faced and the battle fought to a finish, it being impossible to rest until this debasing business of exploiting vice is made in law what it is in fact, a criminal business, quite regardless of whether it is practiced by those in the highest social circles or in the lowest strata of society."

In these words, following a long preamble setting forth the results of the recent legislation at Ottawa designed to restrict race-track betting, the legislation committee of the Moral and Social Reform Committee urged that renewed efforts be made.

The matter of race-track gambling was referred to a committee which was authorised to obtain legislation which will make race-track wagers illegal.

Commenting on the race-track situation the report says:

"Two racing seasons have passed and several things have transpired.

"1. Race tracks have increased in number.

"2. Several tracks have introduced the pari-mutual machines, either along with or as a substitute for bookmakers.

"All the information we have been able to gather as to how this innovation is working out leads us to believe that it has not resulted in the lessening of the evils of race-track gambling and betting, but rather increasing them. Many people who were afraid of matching their wits against the bookmaker have no objections to putting up their money against each other through the medium of the pari-mutual machine.

By this system the racing association becomes the keeper of a common betting house within the definition of the criminal code itself. The reports from Australia also bear testimony to the same fact that the pari-mutual machines encourage and extend the vice of gambling

"3. The courts have interpreted the law as not prohibiting the publication and circulation of information that may be used in bookmaking.

"4. At least one race track, namely, the Minoru of Vancouver, B.C., has had three immediate successive seven-day racing meets with full gambling and betting accompaniments, the second and third being held under the auspices nominally other than those of the association owning the track.

"Comparatively little progress has been made during the past year in the securing of legislation bearing upon morals," read the report of the legislation committee, which was largely adopted. "The blocking of Parliamentary progress, resulting from the struggle over reciprocity, prevented the introduction of a number of important amendments to the criminal code, particularly bearing on social vice, to which the Minister of Justice and the Prime Minister had consented for Government action."

The recommendations of the committee favored: Legislation against race track betting; protection of morals of men in all employments; probation or indeterminate sentences in certain cases of infractions of the law; complete suppression of immoral resorts; refusal of bail in cases of social crime; power to search for obscene literature given to constables; make the possession of obscene literature a crime; ameliaration of conditions in lodging-houses of low standards.

RUSSEL TELLS STORY OF OF PINKERTON CONSPIRACY

Action for $200,000 Damages in Heard in Montreal Court.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—The continuation of the examination for discovery in the case of Mr. David Russell against the Pinkerton Detective Agency and the Montreal manager, Mr. McNamara, in which Mr. Russell is claiming $200,000 for alleged conspiracy against him, which opened tamely enough on Monday, continued yesterday and brought forth some remarkable testimony.

Mr. Russell occupied the stand almost all day. The well-known financier outlined the story of alleged plots against him, the object of which were to secure his incarceration in an institution for the insane. As told by Mr. Russell, there were two distinct plots against him, the centre of the action shifting between Montreal, New York and Pittsburg. The first, he declared, was a version of the "badger" [illegible]me, in which he claimed that a man [illegible] Patterson from Pittsburg had [illegible]t a woman to Montreal and [illegible] to get him tangled up with her. [illegible] failing, he said a further attempt [illegible]as made to have him declared in[illegible] and confined in an American asylum.

MOTORIST IS GUILTY MAN

Alex Tracey Recommended to Mercy by Jury

Toronto, Sept. 28.—After an hour's deliberation the jury in the general sessions yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against Alexander S. Tracey, who ran his motor-car into a crowd of people at the corner of Roncesvalles avenue and Queen street on the evening of Labor Day.

W. A. Henderson for the defence reviewed the testimony of his client while in the witness box the previous afternoon, and pointed out how he had sworn that the car was brought almost to a standstill before reaching the corner, and that the brakes had suddenly failed to work. The car sprang ahead, throwing the people to both sides of the road.

Acting Crown Attorney Monahan in addressing the jury reminded the jurors that Tracey's first words after alighting from his car were, "Have I injured anyone?" "Now, that is exactly what a man under the influence of liquor would say, and if he ran his car at the rate of speed the witnesses state he did, he is guilty of criminal negligence."

The jury in presenting its verdict asked for mercy on behalf of the prisoner.

Tracey will appear at the close of the sessions for sentence.

Sir James Whitney Had Nothing Definite to Say

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Whatever its political significance may be, there was an unusual activity yesterday up at the Parliament Buildings. All afternoon the Premier's office was a busy place. A Cabinet meeting was held in the morning, with nearly every Minister in attendance. At noon one or two of the Ministers left the city, grip in hand and wearing a very business-like expression. Sir James Whitney had numerous callers during the afternoon and there was every evidence that business of importance was being discussed.

Andrew Broder, M.P. for Dundas, was in calling on the Premier, and so was J. S. Carstairs, the Conservative organizers for Ontario.

When asked about the report that he might be the new Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Cabinet Mr. Broder said: "I have no particular ambitions, personally. But I do want to see Mr. Borden with a good, strong honest Government."

J. S. Carstairs was in good spirits. He hadn't heard anything about provincial elections. "But we couldn't have too much of a good thing," he jokingly remarked.

Sir James Whitney had no positive information to impart concerning the political plan of action in Ontario at this time.

"With regard to the question of these nine bye-elections, or whatever may develop with reference to them," said the Premier, "there is nothing to say beyond the fact that these questions will be taken up and dealt with by the Cabinet in the ordinary routine way."

It is stated that the provincial lists are being printed, which would seem to indicate that an appeal to the country is not many months distant.

Turkey Receives Ultimatum and Must Act Quickly

Special to The Review

Constantinople, Sept. 27—The ultimatum of the Italian government has been delivered to Turkey. It demands that the latter agree to Italy's occupation of Tripoli and unless Turkey replies before to-morrow, the province will be occupied without further discussion

Malta, Sept. 27—Two Italian warships and four torpedo boats passed here to-day and were headed for Tripoli.

Seized Box of Fish.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—The vigilance of the officers of the local branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was rewarded yesterday morning when a box seized at the offices of a local express company, was found to contain between twenty-five and thirty pounds of undersized brook trout, which had been consigned from her son at St. Faustine, near St. Agathe, to Mrs. J. Sissons, 28 McGill College avenue, of this city.

Mr. Innes said yesterday morning, regarding the seizure, that while the present was open season for fishing of all kinds, it was against the fish and game laws to catch or kill anything in the shape of brook trout which was less than six inches in length. The fish in the seized box averaged four and a half inches each, and altogether there must have been a couple of hundred.

Transatlantic Route.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—The Allan Line directors are planning the inauguration of a fast service from this port to Liverpool, and hope to have it in operation early in 1913.

Tenders have been invited for the construction of two new liners, in which speed is to be the chief consideration. The ships will be somewhat larger than the big turbine vessels, the Victorian and the Virginian, which are 520 feet in length. They will have a minimum speed of 18 knots per hour, and will have large first and second-class passenger accommodation.

Speaking of the new ships, an official told the press that speed would be the first consideration in their construction, their passenger accommodation, and lastly cargo capacity.

Cheap Cable Letters.

London, Sept. 27.—New features are proposed in connection with the recent Atlantic cable agreement, namely, a daily cable letter and a week-end cable letter, which can be sent at a very low rate and enable the public to save the six to eight days occupied in the transmission of mails.

TURKISH AMBASSADOR ON THE AGGRESSION OF ITALIANS

Zea Bey Pasha Says That Turkey Will Resist to the Utmost Italy's Demands for Territory.

Bellport, L.I., Sept. 27.—Zia Bey Pasha, the Turkish ambassador to the United States, told a representative of the Canadian Press last night that he had as yet received no instructions from the Porte to invoke the good offices of the American Government in the way of restraining Italy from hostile action in Tripoli.

A despatch from Constantinople on Sept. 25, said that all Turkish representatives abroad had been requested to act in this direction. But should such instructions be received, the ambassador said he would not be surprised, for it would be entirely in accord with the treaty of Paris of 1856, to which the United States had subscribed, and by which the powers undertook to guarantee the integrity of the Ottoman Empire.

The guarantee of integrity contained in the treaty of Paris, which concluded the Crimean war between Russia and Turkey, was reiterated in the treaty signed at Berlin in 1876.

Zia Bey Pasha believes that the Tripoli dispute will be settled without recourse to war. He is entirely familiar with every phase of that question, and during his long and varied diplomatic service at St. Petersburg, Berlin and Paris, has had an opportunity to follow at close diplomatic range its various aspects and developments. He is moreover, an authority on international law, and is now engaged in translating an important treatise on that subject from French into the Turkish language.

"Remember," said the ambassador, "that Tripoli is a province of Turkey. According to some despatches, Italy would try to take that province and make it an Italian protectorate. When France took Tunis, Italy, which had declared itself uninterested in Tunis, received from France the recognition that Italy had predominant rights in Tripoli in other words that she had in Tripoli a special interest on account of her nearness and special financial connections."

"You might draw a parallel between this and the United States and Canada. The United States is on the border of Canada and she has special economic interests in that country but it would be ridiculous to say because of those conditions the United States has the right to take Canada merely because some other country says she has a sphere of influence there.

"Tripoli is a province of Turkey," said the ambassador, "and Turkey means to guard it. The new Turkey, the young Turkey of union and progress has built up a strong and loyal army. Our fleet cannot perhaps compare with the fleet of Italy, but our army is mighty. Like every country, we have some political dissension at home. In the case of Turkey the Government of union and progress is opposed by a small minority party of extreme radicalism. That is the internal question. It will be regulated. But when it comes to aggression from abroad, Turkey stands united to a man to defend her rights."

The correspondent explained that the sentiment in Germany was reported as fearing a general European conflict in case of hostilities between Turkey and Italy, and as fearing particularly the long-anticipated conflict in the Balkan States.

"In the event of war," said the ambassador, "Turkey's military strength is such that she will be able to take care of the Balkans and at the same time defend her rights in Tripoli against Italy. But Turkey does not want war. She is happy to be on friendly terms with all nations, including Germany and the United States. In my opinion, as I have said before, war will not come with Italy. Turkey stands for fair play and for compromise when compromise means honorable peace. Such a compromise, it is conceivable, might follow the lines of recognizing Italy's particular interests in Tripoli. I am, however, merely expressing my personal opinion."

Zia Bey Pasha has a summer cottage at Bellport. Advices relative to the Tripoli controversy come to him here direct from Constantinople.

Italian Squadron Ready.

Chiasso, Switzerland, Sept. 27.—The Italian naval squadron, which is now at Augusta, near Syracuse, Sicily, under Admiral Aubrey, is under orders to be in readiness to sail at a moment's notice for Tripoli. Fresh reserves have been called out for service, if necessary, against Turkey. These belligerent measures are causing great alarm among the extensive Italian colonies in the Ottoman Empire. They fear Mussalman fanaticism, which would expose them to massacre.

Although the situation is considered very grave, the hope is still entertained that a conflict will be avoided, as notwithstanding official denials, negotiations are now going on with a view to inducing Turkey to agree to some form of Italian protectorate over Tripoli, which would preserve the sovereignty of Turkey. This proposal includes also a considerable payment to the Sultan.

JOHN D. IS CELEBRATING

Got His First Job 56 Years Ago and Kept It

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—John D. Rockefeller yesterday issued his first statement to the public in many years. It came in the shape of a message expressing his thankfulness for a long and successful business career, following the gaining of his first job 56 years ago.

Incidentally it revealed the fact that the Oil King held only one "job" in all his career.

Here is how the statement read:

"The flag is flying over Forest Hill to-day in memory of 56 years ago when I secured by first and only situation, in the forwarding and commission house of Hewitt and Tuttle, on the river. I am very grateful for this memory."

The statement was made by Mr. Rockefeller to his brother-in-law, Geo. Rudd. The latter telephoned it to the papers.

World May Never Know.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Naval officers who have contended that the battleship Maine was destroyed by an internal explosion, and that there was no external cause for the accident, argued yesterday that there was overwhelming proof of the soundness of their theory in the terrible disaster in Toulon Harbor on Monday.

The Liberte's bow was thrown upward and finally backward upon the midship section of the hull. This was caused by the tremendous downward force of the explosion amidships, which acting on the solid water as fulcrum, tiled the bow over backward after it had been severed from the rest of the hull. To some of the experts this seemed to indicate that the condition of the wreck of the Liberte is almost precisely like that of the wreck of the Maine in Havana Harbor.

Naval constructors expressed a fear that the real cause of the explosion never would be known.

All Signs Point to Murder in the Wiarton Tragedy.

Wiarton, Sept. 27.—"We believe that James McCartney came to his death on the 23rd day of September from wounds inflicted on the head by some person unknown."

The last time that the late James McCartney, who lived on the 10th line, Albemarle, was seen alive was Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, when he started off to find some yearlings. He wandered in the direction of the back of his lot which joins that of Wesley Thompson. The yearlings returned home towards evening, but he did not.

The sons then began to search for him, but were not successful. On Sunday the whole neighborhood was aroused, and about twenty-five men searched for him all day without success, but on Monday morning at 11 o'clock Harry Boyle discovered his body at the back end of his lot in a depression of the ground surrounded by trees, about three-quarters of a mile from his home. Foul play was suspected, and evidence was given throwing suspicion upon a man in that neighborhood.

Jennie McCartney swore that she had heard this neighbor declare that if he ever met the deceased in the bush he would "mow him down like a thistle," and, further, that he had said he would take the life of the deceased if it took him twenty years to do it.

The sons of the deceased had never heard of any threats against his life.

Everything, however, indicated murder. There were a number of small cuts in the forehead, and upon the right side of the head a cut about two inches in length, and the head was badly bruised and swollen. There was no evidence that this had been done by falling on rocks.

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure With "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago, and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

THE NEW PRISON METHODS

The humanitarianism displayed in the arrangements for the new Central prison at Guelph are a lasting monument to Hon. W. J. Hanna, who has had this work in charge. Mr. Hanna is a man of exceptional breadth and power, not only along political lines, but also in the handling of the details of departmental work, such as this.

If there is any tendency which shows itself prominently in life to-day, it is the tendency to regard the criminal, not so much as a criminal to be stowed away forever in a dark dungeon, but as one who lacked the training or the opportunity which will make him a man. The criminal of to-day is a product more to be pitied than blamed in many cases, and it is the belief of Mr. Hanna as well as other criminologists that more can be done toward reformation by kindly, generous, uplifting treatment than by the handing out of mere punishment, amid associations that only intensify the evil.

The Whitney government may yet be known in history as the government which advanced the cause of humanity by the reclaiming of those who had fallen away from the path of righteousness and which instituted a movement that shall spread wherever the laws of society shall reach.

THE AMERICAN MISTAKE

It is only to be expected that the American newspapers shall feel somewhat sore and give vent to vigorous expression at the rejection by Canada of reciprocity. It was the mistake of the Laurier government in going ahead with the arrangement before finding out whether Canada wanted it or not, that has lead to the unpleasant contretemps. But now that the fight is over, Canadians should go along in their usual way, and need not pay much attention to the vaporings of the yellow journals.

The Buffalo Enquirer has a very interesting article on the rejection of reciprocity, and it threatens various things to Canada. It might not be out of the way to point out that reciprocity must have been a good deal more than a mere business arrangement, if the United States newspapers say that its rejection has hastened the day of annexation. But Canadians should read such statements as are reproduced below, with equanimity. This one is published, not because of any desire to continue the fight—for Canadians have nothing but the friendliest feelings toward the Americans as Americans—but merely to indicate some of the sentiments across the border. It cannot be asserted too emphatically that Canada did not reject reciprocity to offend the United States, but merely because it did not look like an advantageous deal from the Canadian standpoint.

The Enquirer says:

"AS IT WAS WRITTEN IN '76 SO LET IT BE WRITTEN TO-DAY, "WHEN IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS IT BECOMES NECESSARY," THE UNITED STATES WILL ANNEX CANADA! The cry of "Canada for the Canadians" is bound to be superseded by the greater one, "America for the Americans" and although the people of the United States have not even dreamed of annexing the Dominion of Canada, that bogie has swept the Liberal government, headed by that patriot of patriots, that man among men, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, from power, after a period of fifteen years of the greatest progress and development Canada has ever known.

The Conservative party, headed by Robert L. Borden, has won an overwhelming victory at the polls, yesterday's general elections being won for the Conservatives by an opposition majority of about 50 over the Liberals. In the neighboring province of Ontario, where reciprocity might be expected to have many friends and advocates by reason of the advantages to accrue from better reciprocal trade relations with this country, the Liberals lose no less than twenty-two parliamentary seats. Laurier lost similarly in his own province of Quebec and in other provinces.

Sir Wilfrid will retire to private life, although elected in two constituencies. Seven of his ministers were defeated. Laurier and his government sought and obtained a trade agreement with the United States. The American Congress, after a bitter and prolonged struggle, ratified the agreement, with opposition in the eleventh parliament. Premier Laurier with the courage of his convictions appealed to the people of Canada for endorsement. It has been disapproved, largely due to the cry of annexation, the anti-American opposition of the Tory jingoes.

Canada, by this decision, has voted to raise a Chinese wall around its dominion to particularly exclude American trade and traders.

It may be a "spite wall." So be it. Let the American Congress immediately repeal the reciprocity law and adopt such measures as may be necessary to protect its trade and its trade interests,—in Canada as well as everywhere.

Perhaps if that country goes too far in the way of grants of "favored nation" laws to England or any other foreign country, to the injury or detriment of the United States, it may become necessary to seriously consider the question of annexation or compulsory reciprocity, for the Monroe Doctrine still flourishes unsullied and undimmed. Let the lines be closely drawn. And any further encroachments of a foreign power to curb, retard hinder or obstruct the progress of the United States, must be repelled, firmly and peacefully—forcibly if necessary.

In the defeat of the great statesman and progressive, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada has dealt a blow to its best, safest, wisest friend.

IF "ANNEXATION" IS TO BE AN ISSUE IN CANADA IT MAY REST IN PEACE,—FOR LET IT BE REMEMBERED THAT, WHEN THE UNITED STATES REALLY WANTS CANADA IT KNOWS WHERE TO GET IT AND HOW. LET THAT SUFFICE TO CHECK THE JINGOES ACROSS THE BORDER.

THE PAVING QUESTION

The decision of the Board of Works last night to start at the work of permanent street paving will be hailed by the citizens generally with delight. There has been too much delay about this question of permanent paving, and the sooner that Peterborough wakes up to the necessity of it, the better off the city will be.

It should not be very hard to decide about what form the paving should take. The standard paving is sheet asphalt, and while block paving in asphalt may be good, it develops as a rule, unevenness, and is somewhat rocky. The straight asphalt pavement, properly crowned for draining purposes, offers the best and the soundest pavement known yet, in the opinion of most civic experts, and all your brick, vitrified brick, granolithic blocks, Australian teak blocks, creosoted blocks, and other varieties of fancy pavement, cannot and do not meet the needs of the case, the same as the straight sheet asphalt.

It is to be hoped that as soon as the matter passes the city council, there will be little delay in making a start at the paving, because the lack of it has been a drawback to Peterborough for a long time.

THE LIBERAL MOVE

That was a significant statement made by the Manitoba Free Press, in which it foreshadowed the remaining in opposition of the Liberal party until the country could be brought to believe that low tariff and free trade was the proper caper for Canada. The Conservative party was, and is the protectionist party of Canada, and the parties will re-align themselves along the old lines. And not until Ontario loses her nominating power in the affairs of the Dominion will the free traders have any show. But because the Conservative party is the party of protection, that does not mean in the least that it must necessarily be a party of high protection. A moderate tariff is much better, and that is what we believe that Mr. Borden favors. He has publicly given utterance to his ideas on this subject, and we believe that the people of Canada will be with him. The cant of the Toronto Globe about obstruction of trade was never heard while the Liberal government maintained for fifteen years the duties on natural products. Until the reciprocity pact was introduced the Globe forgot all about its old principles. It will have plenty of chance to go back to them for good now, and until it can convince a majority of the people of Canada that its ideas are good for this country, it and its friends can do missionary work in the good cause.

A bottle of prevention is better than a deranged stomach.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It will not be long before October will be here and then we shall begin to count the days before Christmas.

It isn't much wonder that Turkey is getting into trouble, now that Thanksgiving day is approaching.

All this talk about Leader Borden's ministers reminds one of Sir John Macdonald's old joke about his first ministry—he said that he had joined the cabinet-makers' union.

On the whole, the Liberal newspapers of the country take the defeat of reciprocity very well, without undue bitterness. The voice of the people is so emphatic that they may consider it best to hide their grief.

You cannot always tell what a man will be like as a member of parliament from his actions in private life, nor what sort of a premier a leader of an opposition will make. The possession of power and standing make a great difference, and bring out the real worth of a man.

Senator Cloran was sued for the value of a dress given to his wife, as an appreciation of his services in getting a government contract for a firm. Watch for some interesting news about various contracts coming out, now that there is a chance to probe the scandals.

That fear of the effect of American competition was bearing generally on the people of Canada is shown by the rebound of Canadian stocks into buoyancy, now that Canada is sailing on a clear course. They have increased anywhere from two points to six points, while the American stocks have received a still further set-back.

Champ Clark says that he believes reciprocity would help a union of Canada and the United States, and that he intends to say it as much as he pleases. And he says that nine tenths of the American people think the same way. Champ Clark evidently is no mealy-mouthed hypocrite, and he is no joker, either.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour

It was a waiting game. The big folks understood that George was forewarned as to what their campaign might be in regard to claimants and forged documents. Wiggin, in his folly and haste, had exposed that part of the plot.

In his daily conferences with Clare Corran, Harry was careful to keep on the plane of the employed. Once in a while, by a little flash of imperiousness, the girl emphasized the position she had assumed toward him.

Harry was not happy during those weeks. He could not analyze just what his emotions were. It was a kind of general dissatisfaction with everything. The scouts that he sent into the woods brought back disquieting rumors of officious strangers who were running lines and blazing trees. The line of attack, if attack it was, was all very vague. He chafed because he did not know where to pitch in and try conclusions. He realized that he was particularly unhappy after reading each letter that came from Mary Laroche in reply to his own.

The letters were not as frequent as they were at first. They were affectionate, after her own ingenuous fashion, but they did not express that lonely longing that he felt ought to mark the letters of a sweetheart deprived of the presence of one dear to her. When he chided, she replied that he was hardhearted if he expected or desired her to be unhappy all through the days of youth because they were not together. She argued that love ought to be happy and hopeful — and said that she did not write to tell him how lonely and unhappy she really was, for fear that she would make him discontented.

He decided that his isolation in the woods was making pretty much of a fool of him.

One afternoon, he was at the Corran house, going over with Clare some papers that she had received from the lawyer in the city. The legal aspect of the case was looking better. Already some of the powers of Jepson Wiggin had been taken away. Further action was in preparation.

Suddenly, a man arrived, beating the horse he rode. He was Romeo Bragg, one of the staunchest adherents of Clare Corran, and hired by Harry to patrol the properties of a far township that Corran's estate owned.

"Theyr'e at it," gasped Bragg excitedly. "I've rid a day and a night to tell you. They're in on old Number Leven, whalin' down black growth at the rate of a hundred dollars a minute — with one of them steam log haulers yanking out the stuff over the line"

"Who's doing it?" demanded Harry.

"The only folks I know of that's got money to buy steam ingines to haul off stolen logs is the Great Trust Co.," said Bragg. "I didn't take any census of the crowd, and I don't know as that was needed. It's enough, ain't it, that they're stealin' Miss Clare's good timber?"

George knew what the lot was—the maps of the Corran explorers testified to its richness. The rape of it in that fashion was bold enough to be almost desperate. But law had not yet put its heavy and protecting hand on the Corran properties. Quibbles and disputes might, in the end, relieve the thieves of responsibility. It had been done — it could be done again. And Harry guessed that this attempt was perhaps a test case prefacing more thievery. His advices had warned him that this plan might be adopted. He was dealing with men who were both sharp and determined.

He did not hesitate. For such an emergency he had slowly assembled his little army of the faithful. He leaped off the porch. He was on his way to mobilize that army.

"You are going?" she asked, starting after him, her hands outstretched.

"I propose to save your property," he declared. "If they get away with what they're after, now, we may as well give up the fight for the rest. Possession is more than nine points, the way the game is played up here, Miss Corran. I've been studying the matter, and I know. They shan't have it!"

"Let them take it," she cried passionately. "It's all steal and cheat and struggle and fight for a little more money. I don't want money that's gained that way. Let them take it! I order you to stay here!"

"I'll have to disobey that order," he said. "I've taken the position of your manager. I'll be pointed out as a coward and a shirk if I let them rob you. I can't hold up my head again. It's a matter of honor, Miss Corran. I must go."

She saw that words were useless. She hurried to him, and clasped his hand.

"Then, go, with my godspeed," she cried. "Go, and win!"

The Corran spirit — the spirit of Queen Clare, of the Great Toban — spoke, then. He raised her hand and kissed it. Uncontrollable impulse prompted him.

"I can't help winning, carrying that word from you," he said, gazing into her sparkling eyes

Harry had no doubt as to the seal and loyalty of his rough-and-ready troops. He strode with them afoot, and found that keeping up with their woodsman's lope taxed his strength. He did not have to urge them forward. They were on a mission for "Queen Clare."

Each man carried his provisions. They ate beside running brooks. At night they leaned against trees and slept.

It was late in the afternoon when they arrived in the neighborhood of the operation on Number Eleven. Harry had been pondering on methods as he trudged through the woods. He determined to speak softly at the outset, and so he left his men behind him in a ravine, and went alone to the camp of the trespassers.

They were making a wholesale slaughter of the tract. Harry's forester sensibilities were pained by evidence of the rough-hacking. The mere system of operating would have convinced an expert that these men realized that they were not dealing with their own property.

Without difficulty, he found the man in charge — a short-necked, pig-eyed, thorough specimen of obstinate bull strength.

The thieves had picked their tool well.

He broke in on the young man's first speech of protest.

"Go settle that with headquarters. I'm set here to get this timber cut. I ain't paid for nothin' else."

"But you know you're operating on land that belongs to the Corran estate."

"Don't know nothin' about it. It ain't my work to locate operations. I'm hired to fell timber and get it out."

"Who hired you?"

"That's private business between me and them that pay me my money. I aint' supposed to tell my business to every stranger that comes along."

"I'll be no stranger to you in mighty short order, my man," declared George, his temper rising. "I'm Miss Corran's agent and manager of her lands, and I order you to stop cutting here."

"Then you and Jep. Wiggins have got it settled who's really manager, have you?" sneered the men. "You may have it settled to suit you, but that don't convince me. I tell you to go to headquarters!"

Morin Murder Case.

North Bay, Sept. 27.—John McDougall is on trial before Judge Sutherland and a jury, charged with the murder of Lament Morin on April 4 last in Phelps Township.

Morin was shot by McDougall in the bush while taking out telegraph poles. Morin's son, Fabian, and another witness swore to witnessing what they believed to be a deliberate shooting, as it followed loud and unfriendly talking between the two men.

McDougall gave himself up to the authorities after the shooting, and made the statement he was shooting at Morin's dog, which was about to attack him at Morin's suggestion. Instead of hitting the dog at the first shot, Morin received the charge and fell. The second barrel of the shotgun was then fired, killing the dog. The case is still in progress.

CHILDREN'S MEALS

When the Very Best and Most Nourishing Food Is Required

Some good advice in regard to children's meals is given by the London Daily Mail. If there is ever a time, says that paper, when the human machine needs the very best and most nourishing food it is between the ages of five and fifteen. During these years, when the body growth is most rapid, the child's strength must be kept up to the mark, and as varied as possible a menu of foods readily converted into suitable building materials must be provided.

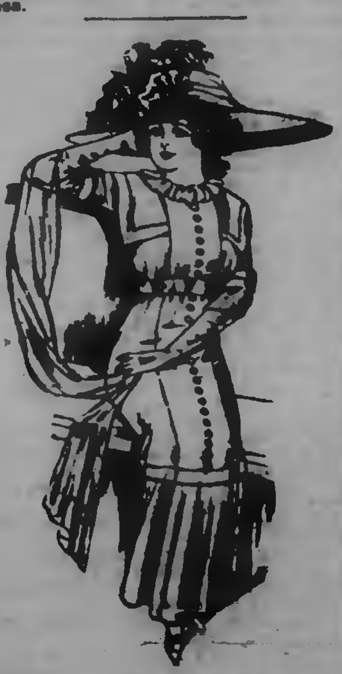
Too many parents cling to the theory that a child's likes and dislikes in the matter of food are of no importance whatsoever; that the child must eat what is placed before it, whether it likes it or not. This is a very poor system, because it often results in the child taking a dislike to foods which, if a little tact had been used, it might have been led to eat with some pleasure and appetite. Another point is that food that one dislikes never does as much good as it would if it had appealed to the appetite.

If, then, a child has a dislike for, say milk, or boiled eggs and essential nourishing foods of that sort, do not force them upon him, but have them served in such a variety of ways that he will not recognise them. If he refuses to drink milk by the glassful, turn it into junket or into very milky milk puddings.

To encourage the correct development of the brain and body, care should be exercised over the selection of the food, and too long an interval of time should not be allowed to elapse between the meals. A child at a very early age looks for regularity in his meals, and whenever the time comes round the healthy child is ready and expectant for it. If left too long that delightful sensation of being hungry will have passed away and left a dull ache instead. The child will either not want to eat at all or else eat very quickly, and perhaps have a bad attack of indigestion in consequence.

A child should not be brought up on a large amount of meat; a little in the middle of the day is quite enough, and then it should be not too well done. Cold meat is not easily digested by young children. There should always be vegetables. A milky pudding with stewed fruit, or any pudding made with milk and eggs, for dessert. The last meal should be nourishing, but a very light one. Milk, if he will drink it, either hot or cold, is the ideal supper, but if he cannot digest it try a cup of raw meat juice diluted with boiling water. Then he can have bread and butter, and a lightly boiled egg, or toast and milk, or a milky pudding.

It is well to encourage in children a liking for fruit; let them have it whenever they want it—that is to say, at every meal. All kinds of ripe fruit as it comes into season should be given to them, as well as stewed fruit, but in the case of raw fruit the skin should always be removed. Never allow children to eat between meals; let these meals be regular and wholesome, and do not give them too many candies. A few directly after their midday meal, however, are quite harmless.



SERGE AND SILK

For mid-summer wear at shore or summer resorts this frock will appeal to the young girl; the design is simple, but wonderfully good looking. The material is white serge and the broad front panel is trimmed with white Irish crochet buttons. Silk in some delicate shade, pale blue, pink or Nile green is used for the deep hem, broad collar and cuffs, and each are trimmed with bands of faggoting in same color. Sides and back of the narrow belt which confines the slight fulness of short-waisted bodice are also of the colored silk, and the neck finish is a frill of plaited white chiffon.

To Stone Raisins

Stoning raisins in the ordinary way is by no means a pleasant task, but they can be done in the following way without any trouble. Put the raisins in a basin, and pour boiling water over them. Let them stand for a few minutes, drain the water off, and you will find that the stones will squeeze out quite easily without taking away from the flavor.

REPAIRING SCREW HOLES

For repairing screw holes where the wood has worn away or become rotten, a sound job can be made by cutting an ordinary cork into small pieces and plugging up the hole, then screwing the screw into it.

The city of Vancouver mailed last week 3,500 tax notices. The postage cost $350.

LIVER LAZINESS

Those Who Lack Energy and are Unsuccessful Should Read This Closely.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night and in the morning feel so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should soon be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicine and mixtures Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged up system. My spirits rose, I felt much better, the sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased, appetite, good color, and ambition to work returned and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well-known grocery dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys, and liver, and you'll enjoy long life and robust good health. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, in yellow boxes, 25c. per box, from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Don't use what is called "A" or soft white sugar, or brown; use granulated white sugar for all preserves and jellies.

Don't make spiced fruit too sweet; four pounds of light brown sugar to seven pounds of fruit is a good proportion.

Don't use cold sugar for jellies, measure the strained fruit juice; to each pint allow one pound of the best granulated sugar. Put it on a platter in the oven to heat and add it to the boiling liquid.

Don't put hot preserves in cold glasses or jars and not expect accidents; have the glasses or jars in scalding water, rinse well, then fill as quickly as possible.

Don't allow preserves to stand about after they are cold; put melted paraffin on, cover with lids, wash off every trace of stickiness, and put in a cool dark place for future use.

YOU ARE SICK

YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERY ADOPTS BUDGET OF ASSEMBLY

Peterboro' Churches Share is $8,500 — Presbytery Session at Campbellford.

The Peterborough Presbytery met in Campbellford yesterday at 10 a.m., Rev. H. J. Keith, Moderator, in the chair, and transacted a large amount of business. The most important matter on the docket was the budget of the General Assembly for missionary and the other funds of the whole church. This was the first order of business, after luncheon, which was served in the lecture room by the ladies of the Campbellford church who also entertained the Presbytery at dinner in the evening.

Dr. McKay and Rev. T. W. Anderson were present and addressed the court, placing before the Presbytery the needs of the work and the enormous growth in recent years. They explained the new system by which appeals for separate funds would cease and the total amount required would be divided among the congregations, so that each would have a definite amount to raise.

After the addresses the Presbytery took up the allotment to each congregation within the bounds. St. Paul's, Peterborough, is asked to raise $5,000, St. Andrew's $2,000, and Knox, in view of the heavy demands of their building fund, $550. The Peterborough delegates accepted these amounts as fair and within the region of possibility. This would make it possible for St. Paul's church to have their own foreign missionary and six home missionaries without interfering with their proportion to augmentation and the small schemes. And St. Andrew's could have three home missionaries and make a proportionate contribution to all the other schemes.

The canvassers for the city of Peterborough were busy at work last night, and the returns to hand are encouraging. There is a substantial increase in the giving both to the local church and to the budget. The men engaged in the work, some of whom went out with considerable anxiety regarding their reception, are finding the work pleasant and meeting with both sympathy and success.

At the meeting of the Presbytery yesterday facts were presented to show the superiority of the duplex envelope as a method of raising money for missionary and congregational purposes over every other system. It was pointed out that even the two envelope method, white and blue, was a failure. One congregation was cited where the giving for missions three years ago was only $190. After a careful canvass and the adoption of the duplex envelopes, the gifts were increased to $1,200. In the Orillia Presbyterian church the duplex envelope system was introduced at the beginning of 1909. Previously a change from the monthly to the separate weekly missionary envelope had increased the receipts from $760 to $1,800. Under the duplex system, the local revenue was increased from about $5,000 to $5,700, and the missionary funds from $1,800 to $5,600. The total missionary givings for all purposes amounted to $7,875 during 1909.

LECTURE BY REV. G. W. HENDERSON

Under Auspices of Ladies Aid at St. James' Church

An attentive audience listened with delight to the lecture given by Rev. G. W. Henderson in St. James' church last evening on the subject, "Plodders and Loafers and Croakers." The lecture, in praise of work, was a most wholesome presentation of very practical truths, and delivered in Mr. Henderson's usual forceful manner.

With pointed humor, the speaker distinguished between the men and women who play a real part in life's affairs, from idlers, shirkers and excuse makers and talkers. Incidents most aptly chosen from actual life were related to illustrate distinctions made concerning Christian workers. The reverend gentleman made some very sane and helpful remarks. "God is pleased," he said, "with good work of every kind, and our daily tasks are not the least part of our service. The great worth of the consecrated service of our boys and girls, as well as their parents was most effectually illustrated. True workers are always at it and take no vacation from Christian service. Tactfulness and consecration of the sort that goes deep enough to obtain the use of our money and wealth was essential. Efficiency in Christ's service was obtained only through the power of the Holy Spirit. This was the supreme need of the church.

A vote of thanks, moved and seconded by A. R. Kidd and J. H. Moss was tendered the speaker at the conclusion of his address.

Solos were also given by Mrs. Middleton and Miss Leader.

Rev. I. Couch and Rev. J. R. Webb offered brief complimentary speeches. The lecture was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, and was a decided success.

WEDDING BELLS

BOUCHER—BELCHER

The handsome residence of Mr. J. E. Belcher, at 269 Edinburgh street was the scene this afternoon at three o'clock of a charming and fashionable wedding ceremony, when Miss May Georgina Belcher, daughter of J. E. and Mrs. Belcher, and grand-daughter of the late Lieut. General John MacDonald of H.M.S. Bengal army, was joined in holy wedlock to Mr. George Boucher, of Montreal, a son of Dr. Boucher of Peterboro.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in her travelling costume of dark broadcloth with hat to match. Her bridesmaid was Miss Flora McDonald Belcher, who was also most attractively gowned in mauve and wore a black picture hat.

Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's Anglican church officiated at the tying of the nuptial knot.

Mr and Mrs. Boucher left on the evening train for a trip to the coast and it is probable that on their return they will take up residence in Montreal.

Mention is due the numerous costly presents of silverware, cut glass, and other valuable gifts which have been showered upon the bride, which include some extremely rare and costly china. Gifts were received from London, England, and British Columbia.

RUSSELL—MERRILL.

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. James Merrill, Benson avenue, on Wednesday, September 27th, when their eldest daughter, Hazell Zinda Winnifred, and Geoffrey P. Russell, formerly of Guelph, Ont., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride was daintily attired in white satin voile, with satin and insertion trimmings, wearing the customary bridal veil and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses.

To the strains of the Lohengrin wedding chorus, played by her sister, Miss Myrtle Merrill, the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, and took their places under an arch of ferns, mountain ash berries and white asters.

The ceremony was performed by Rev I. Couch, after which the company adjourned to the dining room, where a dainty dejeuner was served.

The bride's "costume de voyage" was of navy blue serge and black picture hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell left on the 4.28 C.P.R. for Toronto, Hamilton, Guelph and other points, and on their return will reside in their new home on Benson avenue.

RICHARDSON—JAMIESON.

At 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, St. Andrew's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Miss Ivye Jamieson, eldest daughter of Mr. John Jamieson, Boswell avenue, and Mr. William A. Richardson, Cedar street, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. James Rollins. They were unattended.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of costly and beautiful presents among which was a "grandfather's clock," from the employes of the Canadian Canoe Co., where both of the contracting parties have been employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson left on the 4.28 C.P.R. train for the coast and on their return will reside in the city.

BURNHAM HAS MAJORITY OF 42

The total polling for Mr. Stratton was 2,902, and for Mr. Burnham 2,944, making the difference of 42 in Mr. Burnham's favor.

THE C.P.R. AND ITS WORK HERE

Making Ready for Erection of the New Freight Sheds

Just when operations for the new freight sheds of the C.P.R. on the river front will commence, is not definitely known, although the company has workmen employed in removing buildings and making preliminary arrangements, in connection with this work. The plans and specifications which are ready, provide for handsome offices for Mr. W. S. Dodd, the local freight agent and his staff. It is believed that the C.P.R. contemplates big improvements locally in connection with the Georgian Bay and Leabord lines, which will pass through Peterboro. The company is double tracking their route east of here. The matter of constructing a right of way or bridge across the present structure as arranged for by the City Council in the agreement with the company, has been laid over until the plans of the railway people become definite.

A report is to the effect that the despatching system put in operation at Havelock this summer, will be renewed to Peterboro.

ASPHALT BLOCK PAVEMENT ON HUNTER AND CHAMBERS STS.

The City is to get its first installment of street paving. The Board of works at a meeting last night, deciding to pave Hunter street between Park street and Belmont avenue and also Chambers street, the work to be done this fall if possible.

The streets will be paved with asphalt block, manufactured by the Ontario Asphalt Block Co., whose representative was present at the meeting. The block is 2-5 and 2 1-2 inches in thickness. Notice will be given of the intention of the council to proceed with the work and tenders will be called for.

There was a long discussion on the question of paving. Mayor Morrow was of the opinion that as all water, sewer and gas connections had been made on Hunter street, between the two streets named, it was advisable to pave it first. Ald Buller was not sure that the residents had expressed themselves as to the kind of pavement to be put down and thought that they should be consulted first. He favored the initial work being done on Chambers street, as the property owners had asked for the pavement. Another item Ald. Buller referred to was the question of how the work should be done. He favored local contracts.

The general opinion was, however, that the first paving should be done by somebody who understood the nature of the work and the company was recommended.

A sidewalk is to be constructed on the east side of Chambers street, but a curb may be constructed and provision made for the walk. With this procedure the pavement can be laid.

The Board had a communication from the manager of the Bell Telephone Company, which stated that an alarm system would be installed for the pumping station at a cost of $40 per annum, the same to be paid in advance.

It was decided that the offer be accepted and the chairman was given authority to sign the agreement.

Authority was given the chairman and engineer to procure a pile driver which is necessary in the construction of the pumping house sewer.

The chairman informed the meeting that nothing could be done in regard to the Downie street creek, because Mr. Blodget wouldn't have anything but a concrete wall and there was no money to do such work. The solicitor remarked that in any event the right of way agreement had not been signed. Permission was given E. N. McDonald at 381 Queen street to clap-board his dwelling. This is the only resource left to the owner, although it is a departure from the fire by-law forbidding same.

The north culvert at the meadows on Concession street, south, will be repaired, but its mate will remain in its present condition, pending a conference between the chairman and Engineer and C.P.R. officials. Ald. Anderson asked that attention be paid to another culvert on Concession street, but he was told that funds were lacking at present.

SOME CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES

In One Case the Boot Was on the Wrong Foot

The Legal committee decided at a meeting last night that the city solicitor write Jas. O'Connell, and ask him to remove his house off the city property on Smith street.

Mr. O'Connell asked, through his solicitor, A. E. Dixon, for $500 damages to his property, the same having been caused by the grade at the Smith street bridge. The city solicitor reported that Mr. O'Connell's property was, with the exception of a small portion, on that of the city, according to a plan produced.

CLAIM FOR $50.

The claim of John H. Briggs for $50 was left in the hands of the chairman and city solicitor for settlement. Mr. Briggs complained that he was knocked down and injured when a nozzle of a length of hose struck him. The firemen were practicing at the corner of Brock and Aylmer street at the time. The secretary read a report from Chief Howard, which included a signed statement from Fireman Kidd to the effect that the complainant refused to keep clear of the firemen when requested. The accident was really caused by the hose bursting.

James Akey's request for reimbursement, one of his buggies having been damaged when a city horse, attached to a dump cart ran away on Hunter street, was laid over, pending a report from the city engineer.

"Bill" Bailey's claim for damages for alleged false arrest by Detective Newhall came up again. Mr. Bailey asked for $500. The city solicitor reported that the city was not liable and Mr. W. A. B. won't get his $500.

There were present at the meeting the chairman, Ald. Graham, Mayor Morrow and Aldermen Anderson, Metheral, Bradburn and Edgar.

OBITUARY

David Little

Mr. David Little, aged 74 years, passed away last-night at the home of his nephew, Mr. S. J. Little, North Monaghan.

Born in England, he came to Canada twenty-five years ago after losing his wife. He settled at Cobourg and lived there until two months ago, when he went to live with his nephew.

He is survived by one brother, Henry, who resides in England.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.

Clarence E. Sherin

Many Peterborough citizens will be interested in the announcement of the death of Clarence E. Sherin, of New York, which occurred at St. Elizabeth's hospital, West 51st street, to which he had been removed from his home in Bound Brook, N.J., to undergo an operation for appendicitis. He passed away on Friday, Sept. 23rd.

He was born in the township of Emily, Peterborough county, was educated at Peterborough schools and lived here until about twenty years of age. His brother, Mr. J. W. Sherin, is still a resident in Emily township. Another brother, Mr. H. Sherin, is a real estate operator in Toronto. He was an uncle to Mr. H. P. Kennedy, of this city, Mrs. Dawson Kennedy being one of his sisters.

After leaving Peterborough he became business manager of the St. Paul Despatch, and further on owner and publisher of the St. Paul Daily News. Coming to New York he was special newspaper representative for three years, when he started the general advertising agency which bears his name, in New York. He was president of the C. E. Sherin Co., and a large stockholder in New York and Kentucky companies, and other business enterprises. He was eleventh of a family of eight boys and four girls, in which the first break occurred only two years ago. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. A. F. Hetherington, of Bound Brook, and Miss C. E. Sherin. The funeral services were held at Bound Brook Presbyterian church, Tuesday afternoon, with interment following.

Personally Mr. Sherin was widely esteemed for his companionable qualities, which made him friends far outside the immediate range of his business. He was a great lover of nature and nature's works, and to indulge his predeliction he bought an extensive property at Bound Brook, N.J., on the Raritan river, and made it a show place where practical farming, landscape gardening and kindred occupations engaged his leisure. There Mr. Sherin surrounded himself with cattle and horses and dogs and other living creatures, for which men of his temper have an honest love. One of his horses, "Interpreter," was a prize winning jumper at most of the horse shows in New Jersey. Mr. Sherin fished and hunted, and out of these diversions got all the pleasure full-blooded men usually do. No one had a keener sense of the joys of the sportsman. He was a member of the Beaverkill Trout Club, Beaverkill, Sullivan County, N.Y.; New York Club, New York Athletic Club, the Wachung Country Club and other social organizations, and a Mason (Palestine Commandery Knights Templars.)

MACKMEN WON DECIDING GAME FOR CHAMPIONSHIPS

Philadelphia, Sept. 26—The American League championship for 1911 was decided here to-day when Philadelphia defeated Detroit by a score of 11 to 5. team piloted by Connie Mack has won the pennant in this organization and it was the first time that Philadelphia (it was the fourth time that a local has won the title in successive seasons. By repeating this year, Philadelphia earned the right to defend the title of world's champions which it won last year in a series with the Chicago National League club. Only two teams fought it out for the leading honors in the American League this season Philadelphia and Detroit being the only teams that played strongly. The latter got a flying start last Spring, and on May 19 the Tigers had a lead of twelve games over the home team. From that date the local team gained ground, and it took the lead from Detroit for the first time on July 4. The next day New York defeated Philadelphia and the latter dropped to second place. Detroit kept in first place until Aug. 4, when Mack's team for the second time, jumped into first place. Since then Philadelphia has never been headed.

SPORT TALK

To get one's goat is the most widely used expression of the present day, perhaps. A great many persons who make use of it have not the slightest idea of its derivation, although they perfectly understand its meaning. It comes from the language of the race track. Certain highly nervous horses walk their stalls continually and in consequence go to the post all worn out. The great effort of a trainer is to cure a stall-walker if one is under his care. To do this some animal is generally put in the stall with the horse to furnish the thoroughbred a companion. The animal most frequently used for this purpose is a goat. Hence when the goat is taken away from the horse the latter suffers from all his old nervousness again. To get a man's goat, therefore, means to put him into a highly worried state of mind.

MURPHY'S BIG WINS

Keeps Up the Pace of Pulling in $2,500 a Week

The Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Grand Circuit pilot, Thomas W. Murphy, is so far ahead of the other drivers in the matter of purses won this season that there is little or no use in making a comparison. For six weeks "Murph" has not failed to win at least $2,500 a week, and he has run the figure up close to $10,000. He has won, all told, over $35,000 in six weeks of racing, which is about as much as any two of the others have gathered in.

At the opening meeting, Indianapolis, "Tommy" won $2,525; at Kalamazoo, $7,750; at Grand Rapids, $7,750; at Detroit, $4,450; at Cleveland, $2,250, and last week at Columbus he took $9,300. If he keeps on at this rate there will be little left for the other drivers.

At the close of the Grand Rapids meeting Murphy again showed what is proving to be a good bit of judgment in advising his patron, Henry Bowles, to buy Belvasia from Walter Cox for $12,500. The mare won the King George trotting stake, $5,000, at Fort Erie last week, and at Cleveland and Detroit she won about $1,500 at each meeting, making over $7,000 of her purchase money already won back for her new owner.

There are numerous instances where this wizard trainer has shown remarkable discernment in horse deals. It was Murphy who advised Edward Thompson, the Long Island horse fancier, to buy Native Belle when she was unbroken and untrained, and then he set about making her a world's champion; and again his hand was seen in the racing career of that great pacer George Gano, that swept the big line in the season of 1909, and crowned his season of success by selling the horse for $20,000 to M. W. Savage.

Last season Murphy won over $50,000 in stakes and purses, and this year he will surpass that figure, undoubtedly.

Up to the close of the Fort Erie meeting "Pop" Geers had won $25,500 in purses, being second to Murphy, and Walter Cox comes third in the list with $17,600. Lon McDonald is fourth with a little over $16,000 on the right side of the ledger.

During July the customs and inland revenue collected in Revelstoke amounted to $14,351.

CHINA'S CHIEF WEAKNESS

One of the most remarkable characteristics of the Chinese people is their absolute inability to combine in a successful manner for any purpose. As bankers, merchants, contractors, etc., they are a success from both a commercial and an ethical standpoint. No people are commercially more honest or have a more exalted idea of the sacredness of a contract — either written, verbal, or merely implied — than the Chinese merchant, banker, or contractor of any kind, unless contaminated by dealings with unreliable foreign hongs at the open ports. The non-official word of a Chinese is usually as good as his bond, and his bond is as good as the wealth of his family. In fifteen years of dealing with Chinese merchants and contractors of all sorts I have never found them maliciously doing work contrary to the specifications or attempting to break their contract even if it was a losing one for them. But when the business becomes a limited corporation and the executive is a board of directors, everything goes to pieces. This division of responsibility, together with the fact that most of the capital invested does not belong to the directors, destroys all sense of commercial rectitude and of personal responsibility. It is a notorious fact that hardly one single Chinese limited company has been a success from the standpoint of the shareholders. This includes the China Merchants Steam Navigation Company, Chinese mining companies, electric lighting plants, watre-works, Chinese cotton factories, etc., etc. The railways that are managed solely by the Chinese are soon allowed to run down, and no funds are set aside for repairs and improvements.

Since the Chinese took over the Peking-Hankow Railways from the Belgians in December, 1908, no regular repairs or replacements have been made. hTe profits have been squandered, and both roadbed and rolling stock are going to ruin. The company has just been making vain efforts to float a large foreign loan for the repair of this railway. If the people are unable to combine with success to manage the affairs of a small corporation, how much less could they combine to run the affairs of the country?

The present system of government is hopeless. The Central Government has but little hold on the provinces, and fears them. The taxes and revenues are practically farmed out, and but a small percentage of the amount taken from the people ever reaches the Central Government.

The whole effort is to get money at any cost, even if the source of revenue is eventually destroyed thereby. As an example, when the railway from Peking to Kalgan, one hundred and forty-five miles north from Peking, was opened, the amount of traffic and profits were large. What did the Chinese Government do but at once establish six or more likin (Chinese customs) stations on this line and collect customs duties on all traffic! Within a few months the cars were running empty and the goods were being transported in the good old-fashioned way — packed on mules and camels.

The people have no confidence in the officials or the Regent, and during the last two years this lack of confidence has broadened into utter contempt. The only thing that holds the "powers that be" in place is the lack of a leader for the people. As yet not one has appeared in China. The people have no confidence in any of the so-called revolutionary leaders, as not one of them has shown any ability beyond that of getting money from the people and spending it in safety abroad.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Schwenger, of Victoria, Defeated Baird, of Toronto

The match of the open National Lawn Tennis Championship at Ottawa between Baird, of Toronto, and Schwenger, of Victoria, B.C., resulted in a win for the latter after one of the most brilliant and hard-fought matches seen in the east. Baird was always playing an uphill game after the first few games, Schwenger leading in the first set 3—1 and then 5—2. Baird evened up the score to 5 all, and then the set see-sawed up to 11 all. Once Baird was within a point of the set, and twice Schwenger was in the same position before he won out by the score of 13 to —. The next two sets Schwenger also won by a score of 6—3, 6—4. Baird, never letting up, but playing a magnificent game, was beaten by a man who, on the day of the match, just had the edge on him. It was without question one of the most brilliant games of tennis played in Canada for years. In comparing them, Schwenger has the more effective second service. Both men's first service were about equal. Baird had the advantage on forehand ground strokes, his terrific line drives passing Schwenger again and again. Overhead both men were brilliant, Schwenger's back-hand overhead smash being one of his finest strokes. On the back han Schwenger seemed stronger, his placing being excellent, and he gets as much speed into this stroke as in his forehand.

THE POULTRY YARD

Eggs a Great National Asset for Farmers' Wives and Daughters

One of the most lucrative departments of farming in Canada to-day is the poultry yard. Because of the steady increase in the consumptive demands of Canadians, the export trade of the Dominion in eggs has dwindled from nearly twelve million dozen in 1902 to less than a hundred thousand dozen in the fiscal year ending March, 1911. There has been with this decrease in exports a corresponding increase in imports, especially from the United States. Our imports for consumption in 1902 were 772,572 dozen, and in 1911 the amount imported was 2,378,640 dozen. In spite of the protective duty of 3 cents per dozen Canada's demand for eggs is so great that she is importing about twenty-five times as many eggs as she is exporting. Why not preserve this great national asset for the wives and daughters of our farmers, and thus add to the domestic happiness of the land?

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

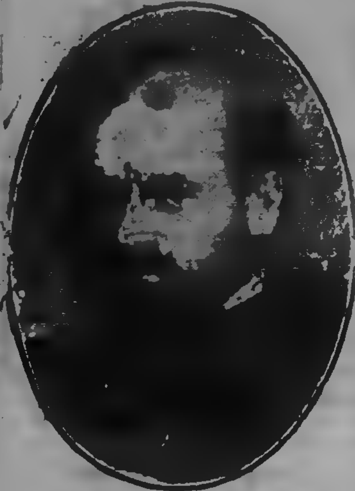
Canadian Citizenship.

By Dr. Andrew Macphail.

Copyright by Publisher's Press Limited.

Until the time of this generation the term "Canadian" was ill understood. It was variously used to describe an Indian, a Frenchman, or a kind of nondescript Yankee. To this day many of the older residents in Montreal refer to their French fellow subjects as "Canadians", a term to which the late Dr. Drummond gave currency under the form "Canadien," or "Canayen."

Writers who write without thinking and even writers who think while they write are in the habit of describing Canada as a nation and its inhabitants as citizens. Instead of reasoning by principles they are guided by their sentiments, and use the term citizen under an illusion that they know what it means. The time has come to abandon guesswork and resort to analysis, to put this word to the question, and compel it to yield up its meaning.



DR. ANDREW MACPHAIL.

The political status of British subjects who reside in the self-governing dominions beyond the seas is a new thing in the world. They are not colonists, because they are not amenable to Imperial control. They are not subjects of the King in the full sense, because subjects assume equally the obligation of defending the Crown and the institutions which emanate from it. They do not share in the privilege of deciding what the institutions shall be under which they are to live. To be taxed without being represented was bad enough. To be neither taxed nor represented is more contemptuous still. To share in the privileges of the Empire without sharing in the burden is freedom pushed to the extreme. It is a condition of lawlessness, the abnegation of self-respect, a forfeit of the respect of the world. Dwellers within the compass of the narrow seas have declared that, as for themselves, they will bear the burden of defending the whole Empire so long as they are able. Such help as we have given they accepted gladly. But national safety is too rich a prize to be staked upon the cast of [illegible] assemblies of [illegible] unwise to [illegible] the voluntary assistance of a parliament in which a minister was heard to declare that freight cars were of more concern to him than warships. Very well; the British taxpayer replies: if that is the way you feel, we must provide the warships which will ensure free passage for the contents of your freight cars to your markets.

SIR DONALD MANN.
His Railroads Have Done Much to Materialize Canadian Citizenship.

It is not sufficient assurance to those who occupy the citadel of the Empire to be told that we in Canada are doing something for defence: that, taking the estimates for militia and naval service, the cost of the new warships purchased and to be built, the outlay chargeable to the organization of the naval service, the items allotted for the erection and maintenance of armories and storehouses, the amount involved for the year 1911 is $22,250,000; whereas in 1880 it was only $690,078, and in 1890, $1,536,178.

Even if this equipment were ten times greater than it is, those who hold themselves responsible for protecting the heart of the Empire could not relax their vigilance, unless they were absolutely assured that their trust was not based upon debateable grounds. The high game of war is not played with the deliberation of the lawcourts, nor is it undertaken upon those abstract considerations which affect the decision of an academic debating society. Questions of right and wrong are notoriously difficult of appraisement, and a friend who will help you only when he thinks you are right may well be likened to a broken reed or a thread of flax, which has been touched by the fire. By the time he has arrived at a conclusion upon the ethics of the case all necessity for his services may have passed or his assistance be of no avail.

There is no hard and fast line between good wars and bad wars, and a European enemy might not wait whilst Conservatives and Liberals were debating the matter at Ottawa. The Prime Minister of Cape Colony by conniving at the invasion of the Transvaal might have involved the Empire in a world-wide conflict in which it would have been difficult to affirm that we were entirely in the right. Powers which contemplate war have a way of making an innocent neighbour appear to be a wanton aggressor.

The history of the colonies has been the record of a long struggle for autonomy. That autonomy has now been achieved, and we are brought face to face with the question, what are we going to do with it.

Freedom is not an end in itself. "When wild in woods the naked savage ran", North America enjoyed a condition of freedom, which was quite up to the ideal of the most enthusiastic autonomist. Freedom divorced from the sense of obligation always ends in disaster. The municipal government in the United States attests to the truth of that. Feudalism itself was the desperate remedy for unorganized freedom, and humanity has been paying the price for near two thousand years.

The greatest danger to a community is the absence of danger. A sense of security which is not founded upon reality is always the prelude to disaster. No community has ever existed for long, which relied upon any power outside of itself. Possibly we are living in a new era when the lamb may lie down with the lion in safety. If so, it has dawned within the past five years, and the Japanese said the last word to the Russians upon the subject of war. Any man now living, who was born prior to the year 1850, has seen more of war than any other individaul who ever lived. At the present moment the temple of Janus is open again, and the United States has more than a third of its army massed upon its southern border prepared for defence or attack.

REV. C. W. GORDON.

As we in Canada have progressed towards autonomy our sense of citizenship has weakened, and autonomy has ended in anomaly. Like the bat in the fable, we are neither bird nor beast. The world which hears us talk of our status does not know if we are in the Empire or out; or, if so, when. At one moment we talk of our heritage, and at another boast ourselves that we are as free to abstain from war, and accept the consequences—and that is the real test—as if we were citizens of Bolivia, Equador, or Peru. The situation is dangerous, because it can be solved not alone necessarily by ourselves but by any chance power which may choose to fire a shot.

I am not thinking at the moment of the effect produced upon the world or even upon the Empire by this anomaly in our citizenship. I am concerned most with its effect upon ourselves. Our situation in the world is comparable with that of a woman in society whose status is ill defined. She is subject to the advances of those who would marry her and of those who would lead her astray, and is not free to yield in either direction without violating the claims of others upon her fidelity. One who is safe in the bond of open marriage, and one who has security, even without authority, in the parental home can both pass by serenely when they are "spoken to" in a public place, but the part of the unwedded wife or married maid is hard to play, because ambiguity is fatal to self-respect and the cause of disrespect on the part of others. Such a woman is a nuisance in the world. She is not only the victim of offence, for which she is to be pitied, but she finds offence where none intended, for which she is to be blamed. A chance remark upon her beauty and desirability will cast her into a fit of weeping.

LORD MOUNT STEPHEN.
His Citizenship Spells Philanthropy.

This lack of definition in our citizenship is the cause of all our political evils. Sixty years ago it allowed a small gang of annexationists to slander us, and in our own time gang of protectionists to startle England with the base suggestion that, unless we were granted a preference, we should exercise the liberty of proving unfaithful.

But the most humiliating experience we have ever been compelled to endure was at the hands of our own household, and that, not many months back. The incident will bear setting forth in all its offensiveness. Late in January certain proposals for freer trade between Canada and the United States were placed concurrently before the House of Parliament in Ottawa and before the House of Representatives in Washington. These simple proposals, which Canada at least had sought for sixty years, excited the greatest apprehension in the minds of some of the effect which might be produced upon their citizenship and nationality. For a moment the feeling was as tense as if an invading army had already landed on the sea-coast.

SIR HENRY M. PELLATT
Canada's Soldier Citizen.

In all sincerity some good and loyal souls were in genuine alarm. But many others whose minds were filled with a passion for the loaves and fishes they had for so long enjoyed, and a fear lest their subsistence might be filched away proceeded to create a panic. It was only by dint of asking what they were afraid of that wiser heads allayed these cowardly fears. Did they anticipate the possibility that the United States would exercise force to compel them to enter the American Union? No. Did they imagine an invasion by American troops? No. Were the Americans offering them free trade as a burglar would cast a sop to a dog? No. As a guile to lead them captive? No, because that had been tried by the Elgin-Marcy Treaty in 1854. Well, as an offered bribe which might suddenly be withdrawn? No, because that means had also been adopted in 1866, when the Elgin-Marcy Treaty was denounced. And so their fears were calmed, and they went to sleep again. But [illegible] all very tiresome.

LORD STRATHCONA
Canada's Great Exponent of Citizenship.

These terrified Canadians [illegible] trusted not the Americans but themselves, and they disclosed to the world that they had no faith in their own citizenship. In England three general elections have been held since 1906, in which the relative merits of protection and free trade formed a large part of the issue; but no one supposed that Englishmen would lose their nationality whatever the result of an election might be. A nation which yields to anything less than overwhelming physical force deserves the fate which comes upon it; and that man would surely have been counted mad who suggested that the people of England would pass under the domination of a foreign power if they did, or did not, adopt certain trade arrangements.

And yet, in Canada there was an organized cry that we were "selling our birth-right for a mess of pottage", that we were about to become "hewers of wood and drawers of water", "satellites" of Washington, and "pensioners" for a short existence upon the mere whim of the United States. Nothing more degrading has been heard in this country since 1846, when the parliament of Canada passed an address, declaring that the abolition of the Corn Laws would "naturally and of necessity cause the inhabitants to doubt whether remaining a portion of the British Empire will be of that paramount advantage which they had hitherto found it to be." We have suffered many things at the hands of the protectionists these sixty years past; but this is the worst,—to cast upon us the stain of a merely mercenary loyalty.

The cause of these vagaries again lies in the nature of our citizenship: and public men are never weary of reiterating that freedom from obligation is the essence of it. This is a new thing in the world,—a citizenship which confers privileges and imposes no obligations beyond those which the whim of the moment may suggest. If this be freedom, then we have suffered the penalty in the ignomy which we have heaped upon ourselves by crying out to the world that there was danger lest we might turn traitors if we were allowed a freedom of trade.

What would we say of Mexico under similar circumstances? Let us suppose that a simple revision of tariffs between the two republics was being considered concurently; and that from the two principal cities, a roar of fear went up: that "eighteen" Mexican masters of finance issued a manifesto; that students from the Chihuahua University went in procession to hear professors proclaim their fears for the loyalty of their fellow citizens; that the Morelos Branch of the Daughters of the Republic solemnly declared that the sanctity of their homes was in danger; we should then say of the Mexicans exactly what the whole wrold is saying of us, namely, that a citizenship which was so distrustful of itself would be a feeble thing to rely upon in the hour of real need. In no other country in the world but Canada and China could the like be seen, a nationality declaring that its existence depended upon the limitation of trade with a neighbour.

The essence of citizenship lies in this, that all citizens share in the burden equally according to their price. Our next business is to assemble in one place and find out what that price is. When we pay it, and have a proportional voice in saying how it will be spent, then only shall we be able to say with truth, "civis Britannicus sum".

Up to the present moment the people of England have paid the piper, and they have quite properly exercised the privilege of calling the tune. It remains for them to decide if they will consent to share that privilege on equal terms, and risk the chance that the tune may be somewhat different under the new circumstances and possibly less to their liking. It is only by such concession that all subjects of the King can attain to full citizenship, since a citizenship which shifts with the meredian is no citizenship at all.

CANADA'S WEST: ITS PROGRESS SINCE FRASER.

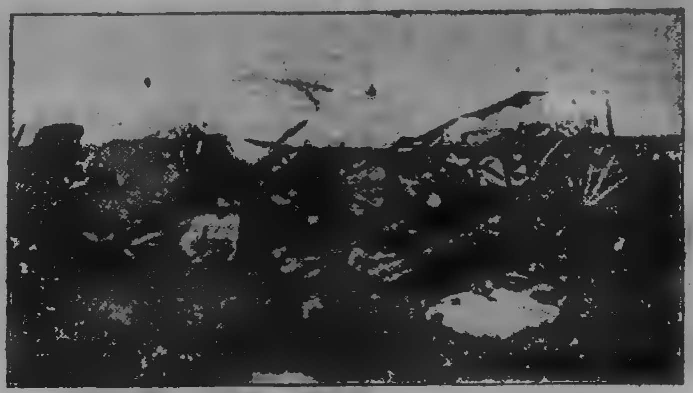
By W. D. McBRIDE.

Lord Selkirk and the Transition Period.

Lord Selkirk came to bring peace to Red River and brought a sword as seems to be fate of many amiable enthusiasts. Yet his dreams came true in the end, and his work lived after him. He failed of success not because his cause was weak, but for the reason that the forces arrayed against him were too strong to be overcome at that time. Yet he set other forces in motion which in the end proved irresistible. His project in brief was to bring out from Scotland destitute people who were being dispossessed of their homes and settle them upon the virgin prairies of the present Manitoba. The crofters on thousands of hills were being driven from their rude homes that had been theirs and their forefathers before them, to make way for sheep. The sufferings of these poor people, the kind who had made Scotland what she was, moved the compassion of Lord Selkirk, himself a rich peer of Scotland, born in 1771. This simple and creditable motive was the mainspring of his action which involved him in a stormy career. This was the starting point, but he could not see whither the road he had entered upon led.

His proposals at once stirred up the hostility of all the fur traders, not only of the Hudson Bay Company but more especially of the North West Fur Company of Motnreal. These men saw the ultimate consequences of his project clearly. Simon McGillvray of the Hudson's Bay Company wrote "Lord Selkirk must be driven to abandon it (his project of settlement) for its success would strike at the very existence of our trade."

Lord Selkirk at first sent out a number of settlers to Eastern Canada, and early in the century visited Montreal. Here he met the chiefs of the North West Company, and later became interested in the Hudson's Bay Company. It appea[illegible] stood at £[illegible] and he bought up about £40,00 obtaining control of an additional £20,000. Then his course was that of what American papers call a "bucaneer of finance". Having control of the Company he made a contract with it in furtherance of his pet scheme. This in short was that the Company should grant to him and his heirs and assigns forever in fee simple an area of 116,000 square miles of land. The consideration offered by Lord Selkirk was that he should furnish to the Company such labourers as were required for which they were to pay. Cooly and deliberately Lord Selkirk forced this deal through at the general court of the Company on the 11th of May 1811, being highly amused no doubt at the impotent rage of the Nor' Westers. However, the presence of Sir Alexander Mackenzie and such Nor' Westers on the Board enabled them to become cognizant of most of his plans in advance, and to plot to frustrate them. In the end they proved more than a match for Lord Selkirk even though he had control of the Company which was sovereign in all the West country. This grant of land included practically all modern Manitoba and in addition much that is now American territory the southern boundary being defined as "the heights of land which separate the waters running into the Hudson's Bay from those of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers". This includes a large part of the present Minnesota and Dakota. Had Lord Selkirk's scheme been carried to a more successful issue in the beginning of the last century this territory might have been effectively occupied and the boundary line might have been differently placed. Outside of the hostility of the Fur Traders the chief obstacle of its success was that it was a colony shut off from access to the world at that date. This was the prime cause of its partial failure. Colin Robertson, who knew the West well told Lord Selkirk at the beginning of last century "There will some day be a great empire", and Lord Selkirk gave it as his view that this land would yet have a population of thirty million people. Yet Lord Selkirk knew only a tithe of what is now known, and still there are those who cannot attain to his faith. Lord Selkirk set to work to carry his scheme into execution, and was fought step by step by the North West Company. These two companies had for years been bitter rivals, but Lord Selkirk brought on what was practically open warfare in all the country from Lake Superior to the Pacific. The West is preparing to celebrate the centenary of the Selkirk settlement by a World's Fair in the City of Winnipeg, and the history of the colony has as a result, been retold in many newspapers. A few points may be noted. On the 26th day of July 1811, three ships set sail from Stornoway with about 105 colonists aboard gathered from Ireland, the Orkneys and the Highlands of Scotland. They did not sail without opposition. Captain Mackenzie, whom Miles Macdonnell the commander of the expedition, considered a mean fellow, rowed out in a boat and endeavoured to induce colonists to come ashore. A sailor stopped his eloquence by dropping a nine pound shot through the bottom of his boat, and Captain Mackenzie swam ashore in such choler that he sent a challenge to fight a duel to Captain Roderick. Macdonnell wrote that this mean fellow was a relative of Sir Alphonse Mackenzie of the North West Company. The colonists reached Fort York on the 24th of September where they wintered amid much hardship and active discontent. It was not till August 1812 that they reached Red River, and were met by natives friendly to the North West Company who let them know plainly that they were unwelcome as interlopers. During the winter of 1812-1813 they hunted at Pembina which was strange occupation for colonists. In 1812 twenty more colonists were brought out, and two Presbyterians in the party were married at Fort York by Father Burke, a priest of the Church of Rome. In 1813 another party was landed at Churchill and [illegible] gun to guard the [illegible] his wife and child, [illegible] wed the party on to Fort York. [illegible] not to be wondered at that later this family removed to Ontario. Other parties were brought in later years.



SETTLERS MOVING BY WAGON INTO THE NORTH WEST

HON. A. L. SIFTON.
PREMIER OF ALBERTA.

The Colonists suffered great and needless hardships. Lord Selkirk's conception was a grand one, but the organization for its carrying out was a miserable fiasco. The settlers were given land free by Lord Selkirk but they lacked implements, houses and almost everything necessary for their welfare. If a little of the money that was expended by Lord Selkirk in fighting his rival had been expended in making the water route to Hudson's Bay or Lake Superior practicable success might have been attained despite the great obstacles. He attempted to assert feudal sovereignty over a vast area (which was practically in possession of rivals who were prepared to fight for what they considered their rights) without the necessary force. In this world, even in these days of peace advocates, national rights are only maintained by those who have the force to defend them. Then ensued a prolonged struggle between the two Companies in which the colonists were ground between the upper and the nether millstone. The struggle culminated in the massacre of Seven Oaks in which Governor Semple and many colonists fell before the Bois Brules, or hunter half breeds who were the tools of the Nor' Westers. The colonists were driven out of their homes which were given to the flames. This was on the 19th of June 1816. Lord Selkirk who heard the news when on Lake Superior en route to Red River retaliated by capturing Fort William, and put in jail the officer sent up from Canada to arrest him. These were high handed proceedings and the Imperial Government took steps to put a stop to this guerilla warfare. Later all forts taken were restored, and the colonists were brought back to their land in 1817. Lord Selkirk was involved in many law suits as a result of these struggles, and died in England at an early age in 1820. The state of affairs which had become intolerable was put an end to by an amalgamation of the two Companies in 1821.

For eleven years the West had been given over to lawlessness and disorder such as at no period before deeds of violence marked the struggle. Colin Robertson made an illuminating remark to Lord Selkirk or since has been tolerated. Many when he was urging the employment of Canadians namely that "the Orkneymen were afraid to be lawless in a lawless land." Truth to tell the Nor' Westers were the more high handed and resourceful of the two in most cases. One sample of American ruthlessness, was provided by Pangman Pond, a Boston partner, when he deliberately shot a rival trader in the Athabaska, his second murder. His own men were horrified, and Pond retired to Boston to end his days.

To this period belongs the use of troops. Lord Selkirk brought in two hundred De Meurons as soldiers.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, BART.
ONE OF THE FATHERS OF CONFEDERATION.

Later the Sixth Royal Regiment under command of Col. Crofton, was stationed at Fort Garry. Col. Crofton left in 1848, after the International boundary question was settled, and was succeeded by 100 pensioners who quickly became absorbed in the settlement. One reason for this garrison was the attempt of the Company to enforce a monopoly of trade against the wishes of the Colonists.

When the new era began in 1831 there were 200 Scotch settlers at Kildonan, and many Swiss were brought out who settled among and intermarried with the De Meurons. These people, who were skilled artisans, were brought to a land where there was no possible use for their handicrafts. In 1826 many of them moved to found Fort Snelling in Minnesota.

Sir George Simpson was the new [illegible] ful energy. [illegible] Company bought back from Lord Selkirk's [illegible] the princely grant of land, and the Council of Assinaboia was established to govern an empire. Sir George was president and his officers were his councillors. The new and the old order came into conflict over the question of freedom of trade. The Company had a monopoly and enforced it by an export duty. Wm. Sayre, backed up by the Metis, and later Dr. Schultz won the case for the settlers. Twelve hundred Red River carts carried goods to and from Ft. Paul, but later came the steamboat and in the end the railway. Grasshoppers destroyed the crops in 1818 and 1819, but from 1828 for 20 years there were bounteous crops. In 1851 Governor Ramsey of Minnesota wrote that "the people were smothering in their own fat". The census of 1849 showed a population of 5,391 people with 6,329 acres under crop, and 12,000 head of live stock. All that was required was access to markets. Had there been a sincere desire to see the colony prosper the road to the Bay would have been improved. Sir George Simpson's death in 1860 was the beginning of the end of the old order. Canada had long shown an interest in this "Great Lone Land", and the frontiersmen of the United States also had an eye upon it. As a result of a Parliamentary enquiry in 1857 the Imperial Parliament decided upon the policy of allowing Canada to take it over. A body of colonists petitioned to that end in 1857. A necessary preliminary step was Confederation, and this accomplished the West was absorbed in 1869 and British Columbia in 1871. The problems involved in these steps were great indeed for a people so few in numbers. Well might Lord Dufferin say "Canada dreams her dream, and forbodes her destiny".

Lord Selkirk's colony has been voted a failure yet in a large sense it was a signal success. Small as was the colony and untoward as were the conditions of its planting, it proved the fertility and worth of the West, and made its ultimate union with Canada certain and hastened the event. The union could not have been delayed much longer without danger of losing the whole of the West to the United States. Citizens of that country coveted it and took advantage of the disturbances accompanying its transfer to Canada in an effort to detach it from the British Crown.

"LIFE'S LULLABY"

Man comes into this world without his consent, and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings by the balance of his species. In his infancy he is an angel, in his boyhood he is a devil, in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his duties he is a damn fool; if he raises a family he is a chump; if he raises a small cheque he is a thief and then the law raises the devil with him, if he is a poor man he is a poor manager and he has no sense; if he is rich, he is dishonest but considered smart; if he is in politics you place him as he is, an undesirable citizen; if he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away from church he is a sinner and damned; if he donates to foreign missions he does it for show; if he doesn't he is stingy and a tight wad. When he first comes into the world everybody wants to kiss him; when he goes out, they all want to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him, if he lives to a ripe old age, he is simply in the way and living to save funeral expenses. This life is a funny road, but we all like to travel it just the same.

SELF-DEPRECIATION NOT ALWAYS GENUINE.

Partakes of the same Character as Self-Assumption.

Self-depreciation partakes of the same character as self-assumption. Both come from over-thought of self, and both vanish when self is merged in something else. Just as soon as we are earnestly anxious for some result we begin to work for it, without stopping to gauge our powers or to think anything at all about them. The mother who ardently loves her child and desires his best good does not spend her time in bewailing her unfitness to take care of him. She begins at once, and does her best, and her power grows with every effort. The business man with a family depending upon him does not delay providing for the members because he distrusts his ability to do so; he forgets to consider that, and simply pursues his work as well as he can. So in every instance, if the self-depreciative will cease thinking about themselves at all, and devote all their thought and energy to the duty in hand, they will find their strength and fitness for the work grow with exercise, and the fears which have stood in the way of success will melt away.

Valuable Tim.

Andrew Wilson, an attorney, was named as the administrator of an estate. It was his duty to find the lucky but missing brother. "He was slicing turnips for the sheep on his employer's farm, up among the mist-clad hills of Scotland," said Mr. Wilson, "when I found him. I had traced his life from the old farm on which he was born, step by step through forty years of ill-paid and often most unpleasant labor before I approached him. It was not difficult, for he had held but a few positions in all those years. Every one in the countryside knew him. 'Are you Alexander Stephenson?' I asked. 'I am,' said he, without taking his eyes from the turnips and the knife. 'Your brother James is dead in New York,' said I. 'Aweel, aweel, all men must dee,' he said, slicing away. 'He left you a great fortune,' said I. 'I want you to come to the house with me, so that I can establish your identity and arrange for you to enter into possession of the estate.' 'I'll talk to ye, but [illegible] men,' said he. 'I'll be [illegible]. They fortune will keep, but they turnips will not.'"

A CURIOSITY OF TRADE.

A writer tells the following curiosity of trade. He has lately been travelling in [illegible] of northern Mexico, where tobacco is very cheap, there being no Government duty on it. "At Nogales," he informs us, "a border town, there is an international street, one side of which is in Arizona and the other in Sonora, North Mexico. On the south side of this street, [illegible] sells an excellent cigar of a certain brand for 5 cents. Across this street, on the American side, the identical brand of cigar is exposed for sale at 15 cents. To bring the Mexican cigar across the narrow street and make a profit the American dealer must sell the Mexican product at nearly three times its original value.

Music is the literature of the heart; it commences when speech ends.

WHAT'S DOING AT OMEMEE ; INTEREST IN THE ELECTIONS

Special Correspondence.

Omemee, Sept. 26.—The Peterborough Central fair drew a large crowd from our village and the surrounding country. It is reported that the show was the best held in many years.

Thursday was a day of interest to political devotees in town. The day was exempt from crowds or noise, but the evening brought in many from the rural districts to join with the villagers in learning the results of the voting. The returns were thrown on the west wall of Mr. Chas. Ivory's store from a lantern executed by Rev. R. Burns and Dr. Sutton. It was soon quite evident that the Conservatives were leading and the faithful of that party were jubilant enough to cheer each increased return to the echo. It was certainly a landslide to overwhelm the great Reform party and seven cabinet ministers, the Grits were non-plussed at the result and Conservatives were greatly surprised. The election of Col. Sam Hughes was conceded even before the polls closed, but the belief that the government would be defeated found few sanguine supporters. Now that the battle of the ballots is over, the populace has settled down to ordinary routine, many with happier hearts and increased love for labor. The increasing years of Col. Hughes seems to make him none the less the political champion of Victoria County, and many of his ardent admirers are hoping that he will be invited to accept a portfolio in the Borden cabinet soon to be formed.

On Sunday afternoon Children's Day was observed in the Presbyterian church by a union service of the Sunday school and the adult members of the congregation. The church was beautifully decorated with vines, flowers, etc., for the occasion, and a special order of service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. D. H. Currie. Rev. Mr. Anderson, of Toronto, whose special work is missions, came over by auto from Peterborough and addressed the assemblage from the text, "Come Unto Me.' The speaker was listened to with much acceptance, his message being full of genuine enthusiasm, spirit, progress and inspiration. While the offering was being presented, Mrs. A. G Hodgetts rendered an enjoyable vocal solo in splendid voice. The whole service was bright and full of encouragement, being much appreciated by the school children and the rest of the congregation.

The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Robert Burns, pastor of the Methodist church. The young couple were unattended and left by the 6 p.m. train for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other points. On their return they will reside at Omemee. extend our hearty congratulations to the popular young couple.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Balfour, who are bidding adieu to friends here for the new position accepted by Mr. Balfour, at Lindsay, were the recipients of an address and presentation. The address was couched in felicitous terms and delineated the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Balfour were held, and regret that the trend of circumstances necessitated their removal from Omemee. Rev. R. Burns, pastor of the Methodist church, read the address, and to Mr. Balfour was presented a handsome Morris chair; to Mrs. Balfour, a cabinet of china. On behalf of his wife and himself. Mr. Balfour replied in a few words full of reminiscences of tender memory, of gratitude for such special recognition, and also regret at leaving. Speeches followed by representatives of the Sabbath school and Trustee Board of the church, of which Mr. Balfour was a prominent member, and by others, all eulogistic of the worth of Mr. Balfour's citizenship, and sorrow at his departure. Refreshments and social intercourse concluded the happy event, which was held in the basement of the church.

LORENZ NEWS

Special Correspondence

Lorenz, Sept 26.—Miss Hazel Dawson is attending the Ladies' College at Whitby.

Mr. Norman Thompson and Miss Clara Thompson attended the Sunday school rally service at Bailieboro last Sunday night.

Miss Lulu Nurse was the guest of Mrs. James Thompson on Wednesday of last week.

Mr James Taylor has at last left the employ of Mr. J. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilianders, of British Columbia, have been visiting Mr. Edmund Dawson during the last week.

In following the correspondence from this section it is quite interesting to note the many branches into which our community is divided. We have Bensfort, Douglasville and Lakeview. Bensfort I consider is the only division under which items should have appeared. Douglasville and Lakeview do not exist and I consider that writers under their respective titles are imposters in that they have not as much as a post office by which to identify themselves. We also noticed that between Bensfort and Lakeview lively discussions were indulged in and considerable wrath exhibited between the two writers in regard to which could tell the truth best. This topic should not have created any hard feeling between them

NEWSY NOTES FROM BENSFORT

Special Correspondence.

Bensfort, Sept. 21.—The election returns have excited considerable enthusiasm in our lively village. Mr. Burnham's victory over Mr. Stratton is the cause of much joy to some, while the sweeping victory of Mr. Borden is little short of a miracle in the opinion of many.

Some of our prosperous farmers who sowed little wheat this fall in the hope of growing much more barley next year have had their hopes shattered, when it is also too late; but we hope for better prosperity when we have a Conservative policy controlled by Conservatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillanders, of British Columbia, have been visiting friends in this vicinity during the past week.

Mr. John Blakeley had his barns and stables destroyed about a week ago by fire Just how the fire originated is unknown. Little insurance was carried and the loss is considerable, as the season's crop and considerable machinery and harness was also destroyed.

Dame rumor has it that another of our farm laborers in the person of Mr. James Taylor has left his employer, Mr James Thompson, with whom he has been engaged during the past two years.

A Liberal worker in the person of Mr. Gus Hay, of Peterborough, had a runaway while en route between Bensfort and Centreville on the morning of the 21st No serious damage was done. The Conservatives enjoyed their excitement later in the day when Mr. Burnham's majority was announced.

The boys of this vicinity are not given to charivari parties and were somewhat surprised a few days ago when they were asked to enjoy a peace offering treat provided them at our local post office by Mr. Wm. Deyell, whose marriage occurred a short time ago.

Mr William Monteriel was married on Wednesday last to Miss Hutchinson, formerly of Cavan township.

Our polling division No. 2 was controlled by the following officials on election day;—D.R.O., Mr. Byron Wood, poll clerk, Mr. Richard Morrison; Liberal scrutineers, Messrs. Thos. Minnus and James Fox, of Peterborough; Conservative scrutineers, Messrs H. W. Kerr and Everett Wood.

Mr. Stewart Thompson was the guest of Mr. Walter Finnie on Sunday evening.

We are pleased to see Lorenz among the different centres from which correspondence has been forthcoming. Some thought their worthy writer had left our community.

Juvenile Court for Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—Judge Choquet interviewed the Board of Control yesterday relative to the opening of the juvenile court that the city is establishing in Champ de Mars street. He desired to know when the court would be opened, so steps could be taken to get the Legislature to appoint a judge

In reply he was informed by the controllers that the building which had been bought for the new court had been extensively remodelled and would be in a very short time entirely completed.

The building cost $13,000. For a time it will be used both as a juvenile court and as a house of detention for young offenders. Later on the Legislature will be asked to build a special court, and if this is done, the civic building on Champ de Mars street will be used for detention purposes only.

COTTAGE LOST AT STURGEON POINT

The Occupants Were Fortunately Awakened by Sound of Fire

Fire early yesterday morning destroyed the cottage of Mr A. F. McMichael at Sturgeon Point, and all the contents were also lost.

The cottage, which was occupied by Mrs. McMichael, two children and her mother, Mrs. Shiller, was situated on Irene avenue. It was a two storey frame structure of six rooms, and was just back of the Dickson cottage.

About a quarter to one Mrs. McMichael was aroused from her slumbers by a crackling sound, and immediately proceeded to investigate. She opened the door leading to the lower storey, and was almost suffocated by dense smoke. She immediately gave the alarm, and the other occupants of the cottage made their escape from the doomed building. There was no time to save anything—in fact, they had barely time to escape with their lives, for had not Mrs. McMichael been from her sleep, the four would undoubtedly have met a terrible death.

ULTIMATUM SENT TO TURKEY BY THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT

Germany Seeking to Avert the Trouble, but Turkey Must Give in --- Europeans Leave Tripoli.

London, Sept. 28.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Reuter Telegram Co. sends a despatch dated Tripoli, which gives the report of an impending Italian landing.

It is confirmed that Germany is using her good offices to effect a settlement.

The British Foreign Office, at a late hour last night, was without news of fresh developments in the crisis. No official appeal has been received from the Anglo-Maltese colony in Tripoli for protection. It is assumed, however, that as Great Britain has considerable interests in Tripoli the Government has taken advisable steps to be prepared for eventualities.

The censorship maintained in Italy is so rigorous that it is difficult to learn the exact position of affairs. There is no confirmation that Italy has presented an actual ultimatum, setting a time limit, although undoubtedly she has warned Turkey against despatching troops and war material to Tripoli.

In well-informed diplomatic quarters it is believed that no mere economic concessions will meet the Italian view and that an expedition to Tripoli is a practical certainty—an expedition, too, so large that any serious fighting on the Tripolitan coast with poorly armed Turkish forces would be improbable. Little is hoped from Germany or other powers in their attempts at mediation, if, as is believed, Italy insists upon her demands for a protectorate.

Germany Working Hard.

Berlin, Sept. 28.—Germany's diplomatic action at Rome and Constantinople, in an endeavor to bring about a peaceful settlement of the controversy between Italy and Turkey, is still progressing, the German officials are somewhat more hopeful than yesterday. They still are evidently anxious over the situation, but Germany believes that Italy will not take decisive action without further diplomatic exchanges.

Saloniki, European Turkey, Sept. 27.—All the Italian merchant vessels in Ottoman waters have been recalled.

Europeans Leave Tripoli.

Tripoli, Sept. 28.—The native population of Tripoli are quiet, but Europeans are leaving the country in large numbers.

Italian Military Busy.

Vienna, Sept. 28.—A despatch from Milan says that all railways leading to the ports are crowded with military trains loaded down with war supplies. Troops destined for Tripoli are concentrated at the ports for embarkation and are awaiting completion of their equipment.

Turkish Steamer at Tripoli.

Rome, Sept. 28.—It is semi-officially announced that the Turkish steamer Derna has arrived at Tripoli, with a small contingent of soldiers, some arms and a quantity of food supplies aboard. The Italian warships had no orders to capture her.

A decree issued by the Ministry of the Treasury raises the normal rate of discount from 5 to 5 1-2 per cent.

Italian People Against War.

Chiasso, Sept. 28.—At Vigevano, Province of Pavia, the manifestants paraded, led by a woman, and singing anarchistic songs. They stoned the carabineers who attempted to head them off, wounding some of the soldiers. A judge who sought to interfere got his ears boxed.

The revolutionary socialists, backed by the anarchists, are attempting to provoke anti-military disorders and have compelled the Government to make a great display of force to check their plan.

The general strike proposed for yesterday in protest against a possible war with Turkey failed. Only a portion of the workmen deserted their posts.

Ready To Go Back.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—There are 500 Italians in Toronto, Interpreter Frank Moria says, who would go back to Italy, for service on the reserve list, if war should break out with Turkey. Local Italians are much exercised in the turn affairs have taken, and will send money back to the old land, or go back themselves, if needed.

GLADSTONE WINS OVER UNIONIST

London, Sept. 28.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At Kilmannock bye-elections, W. C. G. Gladstone (Lib.), grandson of the late William E. Gladstone, was elected with 6,823 votes. His opponents were Sir J. O. Rees, (Unionist), 4,637 and McKerrell, (Lab.) 2,761.

The election was to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Rainy (Lib.). The figures in the election of December, 1910, were Rainy 6,657, Black (U.), 5,569.

Investigating Mme. Eames' Marriage.

New York, Sept. 28.—A Paris cable says: An ecclesiastical court, composed of the best known canonists in the Archdiocese of Paris, is considering the marriage of Mme. Eames and Emilio De Gogorza, at the request of Archbishop Falconio, apostolic delegate in America. American Catholics have been scandalized over the marriage of two divorced persons without any explanation.

DYNAMITE AND A SCARE

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 27.—The fashionable class that frequents the Country Club of Winnipeg, are afraid to go near the grounds for fear of being blown up by a ton of dynamite which a dissatisfied contractor has planted somewhere in the 500 acres donated to the club. D. B. McElvoy, who took this unique way of forcing the club to settle a disputed bill, was arrested Tuesday and bound over to the assize court for refusing to tell the secretary of the club where the dynamite is.

"I won't tell until they settle," said the prisoner to the court.

He admits the dynamite is placed on the grounds, and no one cares to go on a hunt for it.

WALL STREET IN THROES OF GREAT BULL AND BEAR BATTLE

Wild Excitement on Change, After J. P. Morgan's Announcement on Steel—Sharp Advance, But Bears End in Triumph.

New York, Sept. 28.—One of the most exciting episodes in the history of Wall Street in recent years was yesterday's session of the Stock Exchange. Aside from times of panic, it is doubtful whether the fluctuations of stocks were ever more violent. The market was in a state of complete confusion throughout the day. The range of prices in some cases exceeded six points.

J. Pierpont Morgan having announced that he was going to support U. S. Steel, Wall Street waited expectantly for an opening bulge. It came. A tremendous flood of orders was reflected in the opening price of 59 1-2, a gain of 2 5-8 points over the close of the night before and, like an irresistible torrent, the quotations mounted till 62 was reached. Then, as abruptly, the price broke under an avalanche of selling orders, and despite determined efforts at absorption of offerings, it declined to 56 1-8, closing, after a day of tremendous activity, practically at the level of yesterday.

A peculiar feature of the day's trading was that it resulted in the utter route of both the bull and the bear factions. At the opening there was a stampede of bears to cover their contracts, which they were compelled to do at heavy losses. In the afternoon the bears obtained control of the market and prices melted away. At the close of the turbulent session the bears retired victorious from the field of battle.

The United States Steel Corporation's statement Tuesday night that dissolution or disintegration were not contemplated by the corporation, was the pivot around which the market moved. To some extent it relieved Wall street's fears. It did not answer the question whether the Government was contemplating a suit for dissolution, however, so that the situation was not changed in one of its most perplexing aspects.

Veteran floor traders said that they never had witnessed such scenes as those on the floor of the exchange yesterday morning. Long before the opening brokers began to gather about the post at which U. S. Steel is traded in, ready to execute the buying orders which had been pouring in as a result of the Steel Corporation's statement. As the hour for the opening of trade drew near the crush became greater. The brokers were packed so closely that it was difficult for anyone to raise an arm above his head.

The gong which signalled the opening of the trading was succeeded by a long howl. The men surged and swayed about the post, and then moved in a struggling mass across the floor. The stronger element, composed of the sellers, who had gathered on one side of the crowd, forced the entire group across the floor. The brokers dragged each other about in such a fashion that an inexperienced observer would have thought that a pitched fight was in progress. The crowd soon returned to the Steel post, but there was scarcely a let-up throughout the day in the excited trading. Never before had such quantities of steel stock been dealt in. The total for the first fifteen minutes was more than 190,000 shares, and for half an hour 275,000.

The decline was as relentless as the advance. Bear traders took courage when they saw that the gains were being lost, and resumed operations. At times during the afternoon the market was almost demoralized. The close was nervous and unsettled. Total transactions for the day were largest for the year.

Who has started in to fight the U.S. government on behalf of the steel trust.

Government Undeterred.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Steel Trust investigating committee will proceed to carry out its program notwithstanding the assurance of Judge Gary and J. P. Morgan, that the law has not been violated, said Representative Stanley of Kentucky, chairman of the House committee which is probing into the Steel Corporation's affairs.

The committee will meet about the first week in November, said Mr. Stanley, and its work, carried on with a great deal of general interest during the last session, will be continued for some time, with Steel Corporation magnates again among the prospective witnesses.

NO OPPOSITION JOB FOR PUGSLEY

Likely to Resign Within Next Six Months

Special to The Review

St. John, N.B., Sept. 28.—Although the recount against Hon. Wm. Pugsley's election in the city has been abandoned, the widespread belief is that the Minister of Public Works will retire from public life within the next six months. He has expressed himself as being against the idea of sitting in the opposition with the Conservatives in control of the department.

UP FOR TRIAL

Bail Refused in The Clarke Smith Case

Special to The Review

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Clarke Smith, formerly secretary-treasurer of the first Board of Directors of the Farmers' Bank, who was brought back from Vancouver by Detective Guthrie, was committed for trial this morning on the charge of conspiring with others to obtain the bank charter by fraud.

McDOUGALL IS NOT GUILTY

Judge Strongly Disagreed With Jury's Verdict.

North Bay, Sept. 28.—John McDougall, charged with the murder of Laurent Morin, in the Township of Phelps, April 4 last, was found not guilty by a jury after deliberating two hours.

Morin was shot dead by McDougall after an altercation over tally of poles, which Morin was cutting on property of McDougall's son. Accused's contention was that Morin had set his dog on him, and in firing at the dog he hit Morin by mistake.

Judge Sutherland, in commenting on the verdict, told McDougall that the most he could have hope for was a verdict of manslaughter on the evidence of witnesses and his own admissions in the box. His remarks intimated strong disapproval with the verdict, and he commented on the increase of crime in Canada, due, in his opinion, to indiscriminate carrying of weapons.

The prisoner, who is a man of 60, was then discharged from custody after thanking the jury for their verdict. McDougall was defended by Mr. G. L. T. Bull.

George Evans, charged with manslaughter, in causing the death of Charles Russell at Thornloe, August 10 last, was found not guilty by the jury and discharged. Russell and Evans were at a garden party, where one of the guests lost his tie pin and Evans accused Russell of taking it. A fight resulted, in which Evans struck Russell, who died shortly after from a fractured skull and a clot of blood upon the brain. Medical evidence showed that Russell's skull was abnormally thin.

THE RUSSELL TRIAL MYSTERY DEEPENS AS EVIDENCE COMES

Plot and Counter Plot is Recited at the Trial—Action Against the Pinkertons Will be a Long One.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—It was made plain at yesterday's hearing of the action of David Russell against the Pinkerton Detective Agency that the hearing is going to be a long one. Most of the day was devoted to preliminary work, examining a few score of telegrams involved, and trying to find out just what they all meant. The result, however, was merely to pile mystery upon mystery, a great part of the evidence being evidently of importance to the plaintiff's case, but so shrouded in a remarkable tangle that just where its significance comes in will not be seen until the key to the whole thing is furnished.

John W. McNamara, Montreal manager of the Pinkerton agency, who is charged with having been engaged by Mr. Russell to unravel a conspiracy against him, and then having joined with his enemies in a plot to have him incarcerated in an asylum for the insane, was the chief witness.

Mr. McNamara was examined, regarding a number of telegrams and in his testimony showed that they were sent, not by Mr. Carpenter, who was nowhere near New York at the time, but by himself, but though why there was need for this deception he did not explain. He had also wired to Montreal to tell Chief Carpenter what he had done, as they were evidently working together. Other telegrams inquired whether the bullets had been removed from a revolver and dealt with other mysterious affairs.

The whole thing was a mass of efforts to show plot and counter-plot against Mr. Russell, with telegrams sent under false names and testimony as to the devious movements of the dramatic personae. Mr. James, one of the witnesses, testified that he had been in the employ of Mr. Russell while in New York, and told of attempts made by Mr. McNamara and others to get him to admit that Mr. Russell was not exactly himself.

POT BOILING AT OTTAWA

Cabinet Selection Causes Plenty of Wire-Pulling.

Late Returns From Constituencies Alter Conditions.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—F. D. Monk, M.P., for Jacques Cartier was called to Ottawa yesterday afternoon, having a prolonged interview with Mr. Rodolphe Forget, M. P., before leaving town. Last evening at the Windsor, Messrs. C. P. Doherty, M.P.; R. Forget, M.P.; George H. Perley, M.P., and W. Price, ex-M.P., met by appointment and talked over matters referring to the Quebec contingent in the Cabinet.

It looks as if the slate would be Monk, Forget and Pelletier, with C. J. Doherty, representing the English-speaking Catholic element, also Perley or Ames.

Bureau Elected.

Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 28.—The official returns of the recent election as announced yesterday by the returning officer show a majority of two for Hon. Jacques Bureau. On the night of the election the announcement was to the effect that Mayor Normand had defeated the Minister by a small majority. A judicial recount will be demanded.

This leaves the Borden majority at 47.

Some Final Returns.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Ed. Kidd, the successful candidate in Carleton, has received complete returns from all but two polls, which give him a majority of over 1,000, and doubling Mr. D. H. McLean's vote with 100 to spare. Unless these two polls turn the tables, Mr. McLean will lose his deposit.

In Pontiac, Gerald H. Brabason, Conservative, obtained a majority of 657. The figures are: Brabason 2,168, Cahill 1,481, Hodgins 1,149.

Protest In Wright County.

Ottawa, Sept 28.—Louis Cousineau, Conservative candidate in Wright County, Que., who was defeated by E. B. Devlin, by a majority of over 1,000, yesterday stated that he has definitely decided to protest the election.

He alleges corruption, and also that in one poll there were 14 more votes polled than were on the list.

Nationalists Quite Independent.

EARL GREY WILL RETURN TO CANADA IN THE NEAR FUTURE

C. J. DOHERTY, M.P.

Who will probably be one of Mr. Borden's cabinet. He may become the minister of justice.

Will Disregard the Unwritten Law—Likes the Country Too Well to Stay Away.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—The announcement that Earl Grey has postponed the date of his departure from Oct. 6 to Oct. 12, in view of the political situation now existing, was made at the farewell banquet tendered him by the Canadian Club of Ottawa.

The banquet was held in the restaurant of the House of Commons and was presided over by Judge MacTavish, president of the club, and attended by 300 club members, the consuls-general of the various countries represented at Ottawa.

R. L. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier occupied positions to the right and left of the chairman and Earl Grey.

The health of Earl Grey was proposed by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. Earl Grey in responding announced his intention of disregarding the unwritten convention which forbids former Governor-Generals from revisiting Canada.

His Excellency also dwelt on the importance of the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway and of its importance as a factor in bringing the east and west to a better understanding, the one to the other. Reference in eulogistic terms to the colony of Newfoundland was also made by Earl Grey, who urged Canada to try and get better acquainted with the lovable people of this, the oldest colony of the Empire.

Judge MacTavish presided as president of the Canadian Club.

Royal Society to Earl Grey.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—The Royal Society of Canada presented Earl Grey with an address of farewell, regret and appreciation yesterday. It was informally handed over by Dr. W. F. King, Dominion astronomer, president of the society, mentioning what the retiring Governor-General had contributed toward letters, arts and science for the Dominion.

Navy Difficulty To Be Submitted To The People

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—The majority of politicians who have been in the capital since the elections express the opinion that the navy question will be settled by a referendum vote.

The French Conservative and Nationalist members from Quebec say they are willing to abide by the decision of the majority of the people.

In the meantime nothing is likely to be done by the incoming government with the contracts for eleven vessels which were on the point of being awarded by the previous administration.

New York Primaries Were Riotous.

New York, Sept. 28.—Only one leader was supplanted by Tuesday's riotous primaries, but several defeated candidates say they will demand a recount. In the 33rd district, the younger Republican element elected Alfred B. Simonds, unseating Edward Healy, district leader for twenty years.

An assault on James Ahearn, the Tammany leader in the 19th district, and the shooting of three men in front of Tammany headquarters in the tenth district, marked the most serious disturbance. Ahearn has a broken arm. It is supposed that he was struck by the night stick of a policeman who waded into a row that started when his opponents tried to throw him out of the polling place.

Hitch In a Deal.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 28.—There is a hitch in the negotiations for the sale of the York and Cornwall Cotton Mills to the Canadian Cottons, Ltd., the Canadian syndicate that now controls many of the Canadian mills. The transfer is not to be completed, but that the property will be left in the hands of the St. John shareholders. A. P. Barnhill, solicitor, says that the purchasers declared the property was not as represented.

Auto Omnibus In River.

Paris, Sept. 28.—An auto omnibus, occupied by about twenty persons, was crossing the bridge Archeveche, over the Seine, near the Cathedral of Notre Dame yesterday, when suddenly it left the roadway and, crashing through the parapet, fell into the water.

The auto omnibus was a closed vehicle, with the passengers inside.

HON. S. C. BIGGS IS DEAD ; WAS IN THE MANITOBA GOVERNMENT

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Hon. Samuel Clarke Biggs, B.A., K.C., formerly Minister of Public Works in the Manitoba Government, died yesterday at 171 East Roxborough street. He had been in ill-health for some years and had two paralytic strokes.

Hon. Mr. Biggs was born in the Township of Ancaster, County of Wentworth, in 1851, and after leaving the public school went to Victoria College, Cobourg. He afterwards attended Toronto University and graduated, taking the silver medal in honor natural sciences. He was married on May 8, 1875, to Emily Orythia, daughter of Rev. Thomas Atkinson, a Methodist clergyman.

He studied law with Sir Charles Moss, then of the firm of Harrison, Osler and Moss. Removing to Winnipeg in 1875 he commenced the practice of his profession there, and was founder of The Winnipeg Daily Sun. In 188[illegible] he went to St. Paul, Minn., where he engaged in large enterprises and was largely successful. In 18[illegible] he returned to Toronto, continuing to practice his profession. While in Manitoba he was member of the legislative for St. Paul's and was Minister of Public Works in that province.

Delirious Man Suicides.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 28.—Edward Hannon, one of the well-known young men of this city, late Tuesday night jumped from his bed, where he had been confined by typhoid fever, pulled on a sweater and pair of trousers, and ran down to the lower steel arch bridge over the Niagara Gorge. There he walked out and jumped off the bridge.

His body was picked up from the stones near the old mill-race yesterday morning, after his relatives had been searching all night. Death had been instantaneous, as he landed upon the stones near the river, instead of in the water.

Germany Yields.

Coughs, Colds

Bronchitis

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhozone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully soothing vapor of Catarrhozone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing, and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only. 25c and $1, at all dealers. 10

OBSTRUCTION

Everyone who has followed politics will remember the days in the summer when the Liberals cried with might and main against the obstructionists. They complained bitterly of the opposition which refused to let the business of the country proceed; inveighed against the Conservatives who were thwarting the will of the majority, as representing the voice of the country; threatened all sorts of ructions when the Liberals again came into power, passed reciprocity, and then started to square accounts with the opposition.

The Toronto Globe shouted itself hoarse against the obstructionists who would not let the government run the country, who refused to let the majority rule. "Shall the government of this country be run by a minority, by an opposition?" it cried. To all of which the opposition said that it was determined that such a great departure from the established policy of Canada should be submitted to the people for an opinion, holding, and rightly so, that the government had no mandate, no expression from the people to make such a tremendous and radical change.

Now that the country has given voice to its opinion, and has answered those who cried "obstruction" according to their kind, shall a measure of closure be introduced in parliament! The Liberals threatened this would happen when they got back into power, endorsed by the people. They were a few months ago hot in favor of a measure which would gag those who would by means of endless discussion block the business of parliament and of the country.

The Liberals who threatened the closure, during the campaign, should surely be of the same opinion now. Shall they be gagged and bound!

THE NATIONAL TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY

One of the first duties of the incoming government will be to ascertain the exact position of the National Transcontinental Railway. Had Mr. Borden's advice been followed the road would have been national in fact as well as in name. Besides paying for it the people would have owned it and operated it. A public owned line from coast to coast would have given the farmers of the West the lower freight rates they so much desire. Extreme conservative as he is Sir Wilfrid would have nothing to do with any scheme of State proprietorship. In taking this stand he was perfectly consistent, for he also steadily refused to nationalize the telephone and telegraph systems, even though by so doing he could have secured lower transmission rates for the public, says the Toronto News.

For long disturbing reports concerning the National Transcontinental road have been circulated, and it is desirable that they should be investigated. The Canadian taxpayer has furnished the money and the credit with which the enterprise has been carried forward and he now demands an audit. He wants to know what there is in the charges that contractors have been overpaid, and that the line from Moncton to Winnipeg is costing far more than it should. Then there is the adjustment of accounts with the Grand Trunk Pacific end of the road from Winnipeg to Prince Rupert. How much money has been spent? For these reasons the obligation will devolve upon Mr. Borden to appoint an exceptionally strong commission. Fortunately it is understood that the old commission, or at least its chairman, Mr. Parent, is resigning.

One of the first things to be looked into is the attitude of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway towards the eastern section of the Transcontinental road. Is the company preparing to operate that portion of the line east of Cochrane and Montreal? Does it propose to carry all the traffic it can clear through to the Canadian Atlantic terminus, or does it plan to divert as much business as possible to Boston and Portland? These are pressing questions that the people of Eastern and Western Canada want to have settled. They have voted to have Canadian freight routes east and west, over Canadian lines and through Canadian ports, and, when they are also putting up the money they wish to be obeyed. The taxpayers are advancing something like $200,000,000 and guaranteeing Grand Trunk Pacific bonds besides to build up Canada. They are partners in this enterprise and have a voice as to how it shall be carried out.

It is important that the incoming government should not be loaded with mistakes of the outgoing administration. The present position of the Transcontinental Railway should be clearly defined so that never in the future can the Borden Cabinet be saddled with errors which do not belong to it. It will make enough mistakes of its own without carrying the odium of those made by its predecessors. In the whole Grand Trunk Pacific business the new Ministers should start with a clean slate. By no means, however, should the investigation be approached in a spirit of animosity. No desire for political revenge should enter into the inquiry or cloud the minds of the investigators. The country's interests are at stake, not the partisan rivalries of politicians. Thousands of Liberals helped to elect Mr. Borden. Their money as well as that of Conservatives is going into this railway, and they want the enterprise overhauled and completed on purely business principles. Lastly, the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific railways are great systems with whose progress the welfare of Canada is largely bound up. On that account the incoming Ministry will treat them with every proper consideration. But the country desires to know the inside history of the National Transcontinental enterprise to date, and its prospects for the future.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Brantford now has a population of 23,700 according to civic estimates. Brantford is growing fast now, but watch it under the Borden administration.

If Italy goes to war with Turkey, watch out for a jump in the price of spaghetti and macaroni. Even peanuts may feel the effect of the war scare.

The fruit men are delighted at the defeat of reciprocity. There seem to be very few people around Canada who are not somewhat relieved to find well enough let alone.

When W. M. German, of Welland, saw those returns come in he must have given himself two or three pats on the back like a cowboy's handshake. He was a better guesser than his fellow-Liberals.

The Liberal newspapers are busy forming cabinets for Mr. Borden, and other Liberal newspapers are getting angry and critical because of their friends' selections. But Mr. Borden himself is going serenely on his way.

Earl Grey will soon be leaving Canada, his term as governor-general having ended. The earl has been a model governor-general, knowing his duties, and neither slighting them, nor exceeding them. Canada could not wish for much improvement on the same Earl Grey.

The matter of divorce is receiving considerable attention from President Taft these days. He is strongly in favor of some means whereby the marriage tie may not be lightly dissolved, as it is now in some states, and hideous scandals thereby avoided. Everyone will wish President Taft good luck in this effort, whatever they might think of reciprocity.

The limit would seem to have been reached in the size of the guns used on the big battleships. The concussion from the firing of the 13.5 inch guns of the British battleship Orion shattered windows ten miles away, and in the boat the tin tops of canned goods were burst open, and the bottom of a boat fell out. Those on board had to wear wool padded ear-laps. The strain was stood by the ship only because of the special strengthening of the deck, and other parts of the structure. It is said that the life of a big gun is so limited that it can be fired only a dozen times before being ready for the scrap heap, so great is the strain.

What would have happened in West Peterborough if Mr. Stratton had decided that there was too much anti-reciprocity feeling here for him to safely run as a reciprocity candidate, and he had broken with the government on the subject, as did German in Welland, and had run as a Liberal against reciprocity? Inasmuch as it was the added influence of the anti-reciprocity feeling which finally beat him, it can only be concluded that he would have again got elected, through the machine, but of course that would not have done him much good with a Conservative government in power.

Some of the newspapers are discussing whether the farmers were for or against reciprocity, judging by the vote in rural ridings. The Toronto Star refers to West Peterborough as a sample of a rural riding. The Star ought to buy a five-cent hammer, and jar up its think tank. West Peterborough is partly a rural riding, but what decided the vote here was the city, with 400 majority against reciprocity. And so little ice did the reciprocity business cut with the farmers, that the party machines had the country vote measured up to within 25 of how it actually went. The farmers of West Peterborough voted according to politics, and not according to reciprocity. It was the city this time that turned against the pact, and its champion.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

Largely as a result, the close was at a decline of 1c to 1 1-8c under last night. Corn showed a net loss of 1-2 to 1-2 to 5-8c, oats were down a shade to 3-8c and provisions lower by 7 1-2 to 10c to 25c.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—There was no improvement in the volume of business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable, owing to the fact that the prices bid continue to be away under what exporters are offering it at, and until values on this side decline to meet foreign buyers' views, or they advance to meet ours, the prospects for any activity are not very encouraging.

The local trade in oats is quiet, owing to the fact that the general impression is that prices are going lower; consequently the demand is only for small lots to fill actual wants. A fairly good trade continues to be done in flour for both local and export account, and the undertone to the market is steady. The demand for millfeed is good, of which the offerings are limited and prices are firmly maintained. Cheese is quiet and easy, and the butter market is weaker at a further decline in prices of ½c per pound. Eggs rule fairly active and steady. Demand for provisions is good.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour

"I'm going to headquarters — you can be sure of that. I'll trace this thing to the men who order it. I'll begin with you. Who gave you your instructions to cut here?"

The man was stubborn and insolent. He had received his orders, evidently.

"You ain't goin' to worm nothin' out of me," he growled. "I've been in law, once, and I don't propose to get there again."

He turned and stamped away, shouting orders to a crew.

Harry followed him, determined to force information, and crying certain angry threats. The man whirled and struck. The blow was unexpected, and so was the manner in which George, prize wrestler of his college, received it. He caught the boss' wrist, snapped it under his left arm, leaped back, dragging the fellow off his footing, and drove his right hand, palm open, with an upward blow against his face. It's a cruel feat of the Japanese system, and the man bellowed in agony. He stood staggering with his eyes shut, and George struck him again, this time with his fist, felling him. He felt lustful joy as he did it. He was beating these brutes of the woods on the plan they had chosen. He had found that the manners of the gentleman did not prevail.

The boss struggled up, holding his bruised face, running about searching for a club, howling commands to his men to help kill "the craw-fisted hyena."

The young man hurried away. He was not prepared to fight a multitude. The boss contented himself with hurling rocks after his foe. He also expressed himself fully as to what he would do if George ever showed himself there again.

After Harry had rejoined his men and explained the situation, he sat in silence. The outlook was not encouraging. Might had plainly superseded right in that section. His men were silent, too. Romeo Bragg solemnly wrenched off a chew of tobacco, his eyes on vacancy.

"Mr. George," he said, at last, "in times like these I go back to the fightin' part of the Old Testament for my Scripture. That and the Golden Rule." Harry glanced up at him inquiringly. "I mean to say, about doing unto others what you'd like to have 'em do to you. That fellow over yon, there, is working on the Golden Rule. And if he wants it done, it will be done. He's set the example. Will you excuse me for a few hours? I want to traipse down to one of old Corn Corran's depot camps that's below here."

George waited as patiently as he could. In that crisis there seemed to be nothing else that he could do.

The night had fallen when Bragg came back. He brought a sack that he handled with care. He stood in the light cast by the little camp fire over which the men had frizzled bacon for their supper.

"I ain't presumin' to give off orders," he said. "I'm only helpin' accordin' to my lights and followin' a few Scripture texts about swappin' eyes and teeth, even Stephen, when the occasion rises. This, here, is the baby!" He patted the sack.

"Dynamite!" said. "One of them sticks in the gizzard of that steam log hauler, other sticks scattered under their bridges and along that road they've built, and mebbe a stick under their wangan camp where their provisions are stored — and I reckon they'll be the ones that will have to go to headquarters — for fresh orders and a few things to do business with! At any rate, there won't be much lumberin' goin' on here at Number 'Leven for a while!"

"Wicked! That's a wicked proposition, Bragg!"

"Well," drawled Romeo, "it ain't exactly like a croquet game at a Sunday-school picnic, I'll admit that; but, on the other hand, them critters over that ridge ain't Sunday schoolers, either!"

George weighed the matter in its various aspects. The thieves were brazen and reckless trespassers. Their property had no right on Clare Corran's land. They were robbing her wantonly, wasting almost as much as they felled. He believed he could see their ultimate object — it was to force her to sell other holdings on threat of being the victim of further marouding. In his study of the conditions in the north country, he had learned that this scheme had been employed in other cases.

Decency held him back — the code as it was observed in that section prompted him to go ahead and play the game as the others played it.

He was suddenly aware that men had surrounded them. An oath from one of his dozing crew informed him. In his preoccupation, he had not thought of posting pickets. He was new to the dangers of the woods.

When he leaped to his feet, Blinn Wiggin faced him — a rifle across his arm.

"I'm going to give you a chance, dude," he said, with insult in his tone. "We've got you deal to rights. Your chance is this — you strat and hike that way." He pointed in a direction away from Corran-acche. "And you keep going. Don't you ever come back. That's your chance, and if you don't take it, you'll swamp callipers for a golden harp — and you can take that straight from me."

It was insult that sought to provoke. Harry understood. He restrained himself.

"I've got nothing against the rest of you," Wiggin went on. "I'll simply advise you to be getting back to where you came from. It's you I'm after. I've got you," he said to George.

"So you've turned into a hired thug, have you?" inquired Harry, surveying him contemptuously.

The men who stood in the shadows were armed. Most of them appeared to be woodsmen from the near-by operation. They were not particularly savage looking. Some of them were grinning, as though their expedition were a lark. But Wiggin prompted by his grudge, did not try to hide his anmosity.

"Wiggin, I have more right in these woods than you have," proceeded the Corran manager. He walked straight up to the young desperado. Wiggin held his ground, swinging his gun in front of him, relying on it for protection. "You're mixing into a thing that's none of your business."

"I've got charge of seeing that you're put out," stated Wiggin. "That makes it my business, all right!"

"Then, you're a cheap, hired thug, as I said you were. Put down your gun and put up your fists. I've got an account with you." It was angry youth declaring itself.

But Wiggin was not there for fair combat. "You step back," he growled, and started to raise his gun.

Harry's training in athletics had been in the way of quickness of attack and dexterity. He caught Wiggin's forearm with the wrench that makes the strongest yell with the agony of twisted muscle and snapping bone. The rifle fell.

"Stand back, you hellions!" roared Bragg. "This is a man's fight. Keep back away from it, or here's fifty pounds of dynamite that goes into that camp fire." The fire was between Wiggin's men and the combattants. There is something devilishly deterrent in a sack of dynamite. At that moment, Bragg wore an expression that backed up what he threatened.

Even in the stress of the conflict, Harry wondered whimsically whether he was to find nothing except fisticuffs in that dreadful north country! He had been forced from one battle to another with grim iteration. His opponent came on to his feet. The wrench had sent him to his knees. He made toward his gun with a coward's desperation, but George beat him back, and he fell with his face bleeding.

"There's the mark I've kept waiting for you," cried Harry. "Wear that in the place of the one Clare Corran gave you."

It was a taunt that stung so wickedly that Wiggin struggled up, and came at his adversary once more.

Woodsmen enjoy a fight. Even Wiggin's men stood back, curiosity as well as that brandished sack of dynamite governing them.

But in spite of his strength, the untrained bully stood no show against the man who had already half mastered him.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROUX, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

THE RELIABLE GIRL

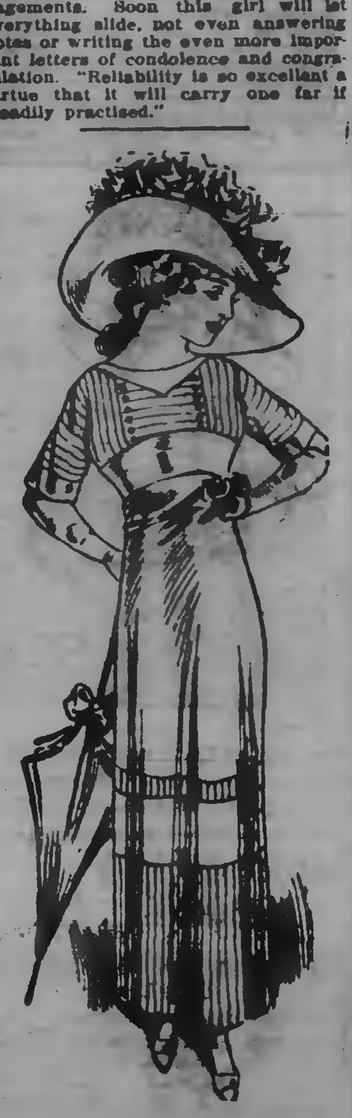
One That Never Breaks Engagements or Puts Off Appointments

One of the most important traits a girl can possess, one which will do more to make her popular and insure her more good times through life than any other, and one which, fortunately, can be cultivated if commenced at a sufficiently early age and never relaxed for a single instance, is the habit of reliability. In the smallest occurrences of the day's round, as well as in the most momentous, the habit of reliability should be practised, for a girl who is not dependable for the small things can never hope to be capable of large responsibilities, says Woman's World.

If a girl has not too many absorbing interests in her life she would become more reliable. She would not then fail to carry out so many things which she now promises and attempts to do, but which when the time comes she finds impossible. Never undertake to do too much. Girls should have a system and never pledge themselves for any enterprise unless they feel confident that it can be fitted in with positive "no" if it is necessary for them to do so, yet they seldom decline if they find they can be of service. The cheerful "I'll try," or "I'll see," sounds encouraging, but, curiously, this remark is generally heard from one known to be unreliable.

Among girls, the undependable and the always reliable ones stand out, especially when it comes to a question of fun and entertainments planned long ahead. It is irritating to accept two weeks in advance an invitation and then at the last moment to receive a fascinating invitation for a week-end out of town. The unreliable girl will yield to temptation, send an excuse to her hostess, who will forgive, perhaps, but never forget sufficiently to ask her again.

The unreliable girl is always breaking engagements, always putting off appointments. At first there is no harm in this girl; she is simply trying to take in all the pleasure that she can, and is too self-absorbed to let others come into consideration. But the difficulty is that the longer this tendency is fostered the stronger will it become and the more impossible will it grow for its possessor to be depended upon even for social engagements. Soon this girl will let everything slide, not even answering notes or writing the even more important letters of condolence and congratulation. "Reliability is so excellent a virtue that it will carry one far if steadily practised."



PLAIN AND STRIPED VOILE

Black and white striped voile is tremendously popular, and when used with a plain color is doubly attractive. In this instance the plain voile was a lovely shade of violet, and the buttons on either side of bodice black velvet.

THE CARE OF BROOMS

Although many housekeepers complain of the short time their brooms last, it is really quite a simple matter to preserve this useful article in all its new stiffness and fulness. After sweeping, dissolve a handful of salt in a basin of water and dip the broom into it, shaking several times. Then hang it up with the broom end down, that the water may drop off the end of the straws. If the broom is stood with the broom end up, the salt water will rot the straws and the string which holds them together.

A Good Hint

When a wall is so soft and loose that a nail will not bear the weight of a picture, mix a little plaster of Paris with some water, scoop out a small hole in the wall, fill it with the plaster, then insert the nail gently. The plaster will harden in a minute or two, and the nail will be quite secure.

Light Pastry

When making pastry, if a little lemon-juice is added to the water, it will make it lighter and take all taste of lard away.

The Home Office has appointed the Rev. Colin Millington assistant chaplain of Portland Convict Prison.

DRESDEN, Ont. July 17th, 1910.

I finally used "Fruit-a-tives" and after the first box, I was so much better that I continued using these fruit tablets and they have entirely cured me.

"I certainly can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to anyone who suffers from Headaches, Biliousness or Stomach Trouble." MRS. ISAAC VANSICKLE.

Thousands of people have had the same experience as Mrs. VanSickle. They have tried doctors and taken all sorts of medicine, only to find that "Fruit-a-tives" is the one and only remedy that actually cures these troubles.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices, and is the greatest Liver Cure ever discovered. It acts directly on Liver, Kidneys and Skin—sweetens the stomach and purifies the blood.

YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

LAYMEN OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES STILL ON THE JOB

Are Doing Faithful Work—Young Boy Has the Right Idea.

The toilers who have to get up at six in the morning, are staying with the task until 10.30 and later in order to cover the work assigned. The people are giving them a kindly reception and the work is doing everybody good. Of course there are some disappointing features. At times a worker drops out because of the pressure of other work or sickness in his home and a substitute must be provided. Then there are some who do not yet have the right point of view about supporting the church. They are not in favor of contributing weekly and put up the claim that they should give only when there, that is, they pay for only what they get themselves and some do not take very much. Business men know that the only way to keep up a business is to secure a regular income, and the church is learning business methods though all of the people do not yet see their obligation as members of their own church.

This is supposed to be an enlightened age, yet there are some who will not give to the missionary objects of their church. One who knows, says they are simply repudiating their vows which they took upon themselves when they united with the church of Christ.

But the great majority are responding nobly. The building fund of Knox church is receiving some attention, but not the response it requires. The people of that church, however, will be sure to be heard from with no uncertain sound by December 1st, when they make their donations for the building account.

Many new boxes of envelopes will be required in Knox and St. Andrew's churches where the duplex system is followed. The young people are going to have a new interest in the church because of their share in the givings. The story is told of a young boy, to whom a box of Duplex envelopes had been given for the first time, that on Saturday when offered a trip on the trains which meant absence from his own church on the Sabbath refused because "you see Daddy I am going to duplex to-morrow." Many of the young people will be duplexing after this week. The great work initiated this week will produce large results in the days and years to come.

There is one thing that the committee in charge would like to impress upon all Presbyterians of the city, that is, if the work which has been undertaken is to be accomplished, all must have a share in it, no one must shirk his duty in the matter. The average per member which is asked for is only about $5.00 per year or 10c per week. Surely this is not an impossible amount from even the poorest in our congregations. Some large amounts have been promised by the more wealthy members of the congregations. This is as it should be. The scriptural method of giving is that we should give according as God has prospered us.

If the Presbyterians of Peterboro succeed in raising this amount, it is sure to result in greater efficiency to the whole work of the church.

STORY OF LEO THE ROYAL CADET

Big Military Opera to be Given in This City

"Leo the Royal Cadet," a big military opera, requiring 200 people in its presentation, will be given in Peterborough in the near future, the committee of the Peterborough Garrison, Sergts Mess having arranged with Mr. Oscar Telgmann to direct rehearsals and the performance. Leo the Royal Cadet is the story of a military romance, which is at all times pleasing. It has been put on in many of the larger cities where hearty commendation was received. Tableaux, scenic effects, choruses and music together with interesting dialogue, make up the performance. Many of the members of the 57th regiment will appear on the program. Further announcement will be made later.

LAID TO REST

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alfred Davies took place this morning at ten o'clock, service being held at St. John's church, conducted by Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. Chas. Carpenter.

"O rest in the Lord," and "I know that my Redeemer Liveth," were played on the organ as the casket, covered with beautiful floral tributes, was brought to the church, and Chopin's funeral march was played at the conclusion of the service by the organist. Mr. R. J. Devey, who with Mr. Dean represented the Sunday school in which the late Mrs. Davies had been a devoted teacher.

The beautiful service was attended by a large congregation, who sang the hymn "On the Resurrection Morning." Several hymns, including "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Peace Perfect Peace," were played on the chimes.

The cortege proceeded to Little Lake cemetery, where interment took place.

THEATRICAL

"THE FRENCH MAID"

"The French Maid," the musical comedy which was presented to a crowded house at the Grand last night lived up to the advance notices. The exquisitely lovely costumes and pretty faces was in keeping with the many catchy choruses. Among the choruses which were enthusiastically applauded, perhaps "Alexander's Ragtime Band," came in for the largest share.

The setting of the second act which represented the roof of Le jardin de Paris, was one of the most beautiful stage scenes that has been shown here. There was something doing all the time, in fact there were more song hits, bright monologues and specialties than in ~~all the other musical comedies~~ seen here this season. The songs were of that kind which remain with the audience and many of the favorite ones are being whistled about the streets to-day.

The company plays in Hamilton to-night.

Friday and Saturday will see the return of the "Cat and the Fiddle," at the Grand.

THIS VISITOR HAD HIS NERVE

Wanted Transportation to Montreal From Relief Officer

An Englishman sauntered up to Relief officer, Miller, last-night and asked for free transportation to Montreal. He said he wanted to spend the visit in the Old Country and was willing to work his passage on a cattle ship from Montreal. He stated that he had been in Peterboro for five months and had been working all of that time but had neglected to save his money.

This is only one of the many such cases that come before the Relief Officer. Needless to say, there was no assistance given the visitor.

LABOR REPORTS TO THE GAZETTE

Conditions as Seen by The Local Correspondent

Mr. J. Arthur Sharp, correspondent, reported as follows;

The month of August has been a fairly busy one in nearly every line of industry; civic improvement work, sewer construction, permanent street pavement, etc., continued to give employment to large gangs of men. The Bell Telephone Company had a large gang of men laying conduits for burying the wires. The Bonner Worth factory will start work this month with about 50 hands; it will manufacture yarns. Messrs Ruth and Condon's Pump Works are installing a moulding department in connection with this factory. They expect to have it in operation next month. Three by-laws were defeated, two by-laws to fix the assessment of the lock works and one seeking authority to raise $24,000 for the purchase of park property. The highest price of the season for cheese was reached when it sold for 12 13-16 and 12 7-8, 2,800 boxes were boarded. There were no strikes and no changes in the rates of wages or hours of labor reported during the month.

Agriculture.—Farmers were very busy harvesting their crops. The yield was generally good.

Lumbering.—Lumbering conditions have been very satisfactory and many of the saw mills have been running overtime. The saw mill of Mr. John McGrath, at Lakefield, was totally destroyed by fire last month; he will build at once. Messrs. Moore and Connell's saw mill on Cameron lake shore was also burned down last month.

Manufacturing.—Activity prevailed in all lines.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES.

The building trades have been very active during the month, and prospects are good for the remainder of the season. The metal shops were all working full time with as many men as the condition of the trade required. Electrical workers and line men were very active. Metal polishers and brass workers were very busy. Woodworkers and upholsterers were active. The printing and allied trades were very busy. Journeymen tailors and garment-workers had a good month. Bakers and confectioners, and butchers and meat cutters were active. Leather workers were well employed. Textile workers and carpet weavers were active. Railway employes had a very busy month. Steamboat men had an active month. Street railway employes were active. Cab drivers, carters, teamsters and expressmen had a good month. Unskilled labor was in good demand.

MARQUARD HAD OFF DAY

Chicago Cubs Took First of Series With Giants 8-0

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The Cubs may be out of the pennant hunt, but they began their series with the Giants to-day as if they were going to make the most of their slim chances, and also as if they were bent on giving the Giants all the trouble possible before the latter leave the city. Joe Tinker, who has been taking a rest, was back in the battle line and the Cubs were keyed up for business. The Giants were surpassed by the Cubs from first to last. They were shut out and beaten decisively. Schulte hit the ball hard enough to have won all by himself. Marquard pitched a poor game. He didn't have his usual speed to-day and only a ghost of a curve. The Cubs knocked him out of the box in the fourth inning and Otis Crandall pitched a far more capable article of ball. The Giants played a poor all-round game. Their misplays were not frequent, but what there were went against them heavily, and enabled the Cubs to acquire an encouraging lead early.

JERRY WENT FOR ANOTHER JAUNT

Old Fire Horse Has Liking for Playing Solitaire

"Jerry," the old fire horse, which is now working on a corporation dump-cart, took another run yesterday morning, but this time he did not do any damage.

James Armstrong, his driver, was measuring some sidewalk at the corner of Downie and Smith streets and the old grey, finding himself alone, started off on a run. He went to fire alarm box No. 38, at the corner of Reid and McDonnel streets and stopped, probably to see if there was a fire in that neighborhood. Two small children who were playing there drove drove him back to where he had left Mr. Armstrong so unceremoniously.

RUGBY PRACTICE AT CENTRAL PARK

Players Are Wanted Out To-night at Seven O'clock

The management of the West Ends asks for a full turnout of rugby players at practice to-night on Central Park. Dr. McPherson will be on hand and every player should be on the job. Good workouts have been held to date and the prospects for a winning fourteen, rests with the players. Practice is called for seven o'clock.

Players outside the W.E.A.C. will be welcomed to the practices, as it is the intention to make up the best team possible. The first game is with Parkdale here on October 14. Practice will be held at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

FOOTBALL

At a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. last night, the Church Football League representatives decided to hold a concert in the S.O.E. Hall, on the night of October 11th. The chair will be taken by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P.-elect.

An important meeting of the Knox church football team is called for to-night at 7.30 o'clock in the church hall.

COURT HANDS THE KNOCKOUT

Johnson-Wells Fight of Next Week Won't Come off

London, Sept. 27.—The fight for the heavyweight championship of the world between Bombardier Wells, the English soldier, the Galveston negro, was blocked to-day when Judge Lush issued an injunction against the promoters and the fighters.

The court held that the fight would endanger the licenses of Earls Court, where it was to have been held and acted on the application of the proprietor of that resort.

HOCKEY

Berlin, Sept. 28.—Unless the players themselves get together and back the professional hockey team in Berlin this winter, Berlin wants will likely be without the game this season. "Pop" Williams has emphatically stated that it has been a losing proposition ever since he assumed charge of the club, and is therefore done with it.

ROSS CRAIG WITH DUNDAS AGAIN

Ross Craig of the Dundas team, was a visitor at the Tiger practice recently. He will likely play with Dundas again, although he thinks that he would look nifty in a yellow and black uniform.—Hamilton Herald.

KEN OVEREND NOT FOR OTTAWA

Kingston, Sept. 28.—The report that "Ken" Overend is to play with the Ottawa Rough Riders this fall is untrue. Overend is back for his final year at Queen's and has no intention of going to the Capital city this fall.

RUGBY

Now that the noblest game of them all—Canadian rugby—is in the air, it would do no harm to run over a few of the rules of the game and the needed qualities to be found in the men who play the game.

The game is divided into the wings, the scrimmage, the quarter back, the halves and the full back. Roughly speaking, the teams are divided into the wings and the back division, and upon the way that the different parts of the team fit into the play of each other depends the strength of the team. Weak wings will kill the work of the best backs that ever lived, and poor backs will neutralize the efforts of the finest wings that ever stepped on to the field. The wings must protect the backs, and the backs, in turn, must see to it that their play allows the wings to do their share right.

To play the game the candidate must possess a certain amount of weight, as the sport is what is called a "fighting game," and the weak brother will get all that is coming to him and a good deal more. The quarter back, the halves and the full back may be small men, but as a rule, the bigger the man, everything else being equal, the better. A clever small quarter back, with a good head and a lovely pair of hands, quick as a weasel, possessing a booster in either foot, is, of course, preferable to the quarter whose only recommendation seems to be his strength of arm. However, all being equal, the player with the snappy beef is the man for the job.

To the outsider all play looks alike on the wings. To one who knows even a little of the game, the tear-em-up stuff on the wing line is one of the beauties of the game. What looks like a clumsy, rough-and-tumble mix-up between two men on the wing line may be a carefully prepared attack in order to rip a hole for the quarter to go through. If the quarter fails to get the ball and slip through the hole—it is bad play. If he does slip through, then it is up to the wings to shove the boy along. It looks like a human mountain, but really it has been carefully prepared.

The wings line up on either side of the scrimmage, and their main duty is either to get the ball as it comes out of scrimmage, when the other side has possession, or to protect their quarter back and halves when the ball comes out on their side and allow the back division to start something. They must know what is to be attempted and be ready to assist in a flash. If anything goes wrong, each man has to act for himself.

In the metal industries in Berlin nearly half the men work from nine to ten hours a day, and the majority of the rest ten to eleven.

Hudson, N.Y. brewery workers secured eight hours for six months in the year and nine hours for the other six months. Engineers also get increase.

A LAND MYSTERY

The building of a railroad by the British from Persia to Karachi across Mekran may not of itself, as the New York Sun says, be a project of importance. Europe has offered little opposition, and engineers say the route presents few serious obstacles; but it brings the rest of the world into contact with some of the earliest scenes of Eastern history and opens a land of mystery of which there have been only glimpses about every thousand years.

Mekran is the coastal region of Baluchistan and extends from India to the Persian Gulf. Sailors before and since the voyage of Alexander's Admiral, Nearchus, have coasted along its white shores and found themselves surrounded by spouting whales such as the first map makers delighted to picture. High pooped native crafts like ancient galleys carrying pirate slave traders and gun runners dodge into its shallow harbors. British steamships sometimes stop at one of its ports for a cargo of dates or rice for the Indian trade. But sailors never penetrate into the range of yellow hills or cross the sterile plain, "the hottest land of all Asia," where the sand rolls in waves and floats in stifling clouds. Oases are rare along the streams that flow from these ridges; the country is dry, weather worn, desolate, shunned by man.

The few inhabitants are the flotsam and jetsam of the civilization that have passed over it. They are the wreckage that drifted into this obscure world from the earliest movements into and from India to the first search of Europe for Eastern empires. The Portuguese that conquered Muscat and captured the islands of Ormuz and Kishm and founded colonies at Bander Abbas and Gwadur left their tribute of adventures, as did the Dutch, French and English that came after them. These found here older people of whose origin all trace was lost, colonies of half bred Arabs left by the decline of the Arab dynasty at Sind, Mongols from the time of Genghis Khan, negroes, descended from mediaeval slaves, and stragglers from every central Asian tribe.

Yet Mekran cannot always have been such a dry, desolate land. Buried in the sands beneath some of the little towns are the ruins of cities. At one place an explorer found the walls of six towns that must at some time have been places of some importance. In the hills above Gwadur are the remains of a great reservoir. Tombs with fragments of pottery that no one seems able to identify are often uncovered; many of the hills are closely covered with stone houses with dome shaped interiors. There are remains of works of masonry that were great dams for catching the waters of the river at flood time. In arid deserts explorers have found forests of dead trees that have stood stark for centuries, and on some of the hills terraces that must some time have been in a high state of cultivation. No one apparently is able to tell who built these cities and reservoirs, cultivated the terraced hills, or were buried in the tombs. The very reason why this land to-day is only a region of great heat, thirst and death is one of the secrets of nature.

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total is not less than $45,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, $400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzenbad) pay $912,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

HE WAS SURPRISED.

House Was Ransacked While Family Sit on Doorstep.

While Mr. Ovide Tanguay, in company with his family was enjoying the fresh air on the front doorsteps of his on Gilford Street, Montreal, a nervy second story man introduced himself through a window in the rear and ransacked the place from top to bottom. When Mr. Tanguay made up his mind to retire he was dumbfounded to note the appearance of his bedroom. All the drawers had been emptied and contents were strewn pell-mell on the floor while all the jewelry and other valuable articles had been taken. Two watches, a watch chain, two stick pins and three rings are missing.

Kissed 286 Babies and Coaxed $27,500

After kissing 286 babies, ranging in age from six months to four years, and consecrating them to the "cause of Zion," Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to John Alexander Dowie, stood by a barrel in Shiloh Tabernacle lately and watched his disciples toss $27,500 into it a "sacrifice offering."

Voliva kissed all of the infants and consecrated them in exactly 48 minutes. Sunday was the annual consecration at Zion, and in the line of men and women that contributed to the "sacrifice fund", were 3,319 persons.

The most extensive irrigation work in B.C. is now in progress near Kelowna in the Okanagan valley.

JACK THE PEEPER

Locality Visited by an Unwelcome Prowler Again

Some weeks ago the north ward residents were much excited over the stranger who was prowling around, and where opportunity offered stole up to the windows to view the contents of the room. Why he left the above mentioned ward gossip fails to relate, but his presence in the south ward is not hailed with delight by any. That he is in our midst is no fairy tale, for he has been seen on many occasions within the past week by many. On Friday night he was pursued by a William street resident, who followed him towards the G.T.R. station, where he eluded his pursuer by seeking shelter in or around the empty box cars. He is described as being a man of slim build, about six feet in height, with a frizzled or shaggy beard, wearing a stiff hat and dark coat.—Warder.

Says Wedding Fees Are "Tips."

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—Ministers who accept fees for officiating at weddings were attacked by Rev. J. B. Lemon, pastor of the Wilson Avenue Baptist Church at the Baptist Minister's Conference here yesterday. He declared such fees are no more than "waiters' tips" and should be refused if ministers would preserve their self respect.

Great Night at St. Kitt's.

St. Catharines, Sept. 28.—The downfall of reciprocity was celebrated in this city last evening, when Conservatives from every point in Lincoln County and many sections of Welland County, united in holding a monster demonstration. It took the form of a mammoth parade, which was the largest ever seen in this city in years.

Coal Results

¶ We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact, and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

St. Lawrence Sugar

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

SPOKE TO THE ARCHDEACONRY

The Attitude of the Church Towards Christianity

The Archdeaconry of the Midland district met in Lindsay yesterday, commencing a three day session. Archdeacon Warren was in the chair and Rev. C. W. Holdsworth, the secretary, was also present. After routine business and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Mr. J. H. Burnham, at the request of the Archdeacon, read a paper on the subject, "The attitude of the Church towards Christianity."

Mr Burnham outlined the great modern issues now lying between the scientific methods and the ecclesiastical methods of thought. The question to be decided was should men in matters of religion proceed according to the dictates of common sense or to revelations as outlined by an historic ecclesiastical body. The battle was now on and although the congregations of different churches may not be so affected as to cause a wavering yet it was probable that in five years from now it would all be settled as to what method would prevail.

At the conclusion of the reading of the article, Mr. Burnham was cordially thanked for his excellent contribution to the program.

FARMERS BANK ASS'N. FORMED

Pontypool Man is on the List of Officers

Toronto, Sept. 28—An organization to be entitled the Farmers' Bank Depositors' Relief Committee has been formed by a number of those who were financially involved in the failure of the institution, and officers have been chosen as follows—Chairman, Rev. Geo. Gilmore, Fingal; Secretary, Rev. C. F. Clarke, Kerwood; Treasurer, W. H. Pollard, Pontypool; with Messrs. W. Minthorne, Lindsay; and J. G. Ashmore, Dunsford; forming an executive. Counsel for the committee will be Mr. I. E. Weldon, Lindsay, and he is to be instructed to push the depositors' claims to the fullest extent. Mr. Gilmore, in a statement, says the committee takes the attitude that the Farmers' Bank failure stands alone among bank failures, and will, therefore, leave no stone unturned in seeking repayment from any source, disregarding precedent. Thirty members of the new parliament he says, are pledged to secure the depositors' money for them, and they will be pressed to implement their undertakings to the fullest extent as soon as the House opens.

THIS JOKE HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

A laughable incident occurred on George street yesterday afternoon when a small boy attempted to jump into one of Mr. Isaac Noble's express waggons. The end board of the box dropped down and the lad was deposited face downwards on the muddy road. The driver stopped until the lad got up and then he helped him to the seat.

WANTS TO GET BACK TO ENGLAND

Clergyman's Son Not Progressing in the Country

A young man who is a recent arrival from the Old Country, has been inquiring around the city lately as to what steps will be necessary for him to take to enable him to work his passage back to the land of his birth. If he could hire with a cattleship he thinks the problem would be solved.

The young man is the son of an English Church clergyman, and came to Canada after failing in his examinations at home, on which he wrote to pass his first year in art.

Unfortunately he has failed to settle down to steady employment while in this country, although having had no dearth of positions. He was desirous of entering the Department of Agriculture, but the conditions of entering are that the applicant must have had a year's experience on a farm, but one day was enough for him. He has worked at the Canadian General also, but only for a few hours. He approached Mr. Howson the other night, asking for some advice, which was given to him, the officer advising him to stay at some work long enough for him to earn enough money to take him back to the Old Country. Whether he will act accordingly is a matter of conjecture.

PRESIDENT TAFT ON DIVORCE LAWS

Increase in Divorces a Reflection on the Country

Independence, Kan., Sept. 27— In urging uniform legislation in the several States, President Taft declares here to-day that there was a greater urgency for uniformity of the laws on marriage and divorce than on any other subject.

It was his first address on the subject, and was greetly warmly by his audience.

"It is very awkward, to say the least, that a man who is married on one side of a state line may not be married on the other side," said the President. "Our State rests with our homes, and if we cannot keep our homes sacred and free from constant demoralizing breakups we had better go out of the business of government altogether.

"The increase of divorce in this country is a reflection upon the laws of our country. We ought not to permit the marriage tie to be dissolved at will. You may say we ought not to keep unhappy persons together. Who brought them together? We did not. If they got together under a contract why shouldn't they be bound to the contract, unless one or the other does something which in the eyes of all men ought to permit or require at least a separation if not a divorce.

"The trouble is not that in an individual case demoralization follows because of a separation, but when a man or woman feels that it is a question of option with her whether she will live with her husband or he with his wife, then, with that option before them, they conduct themselves in such a way very frequently as necessarily to lead to a breach.

"It is the ability, the prospect of getting dissolution of that sort that demoralizes. We ought to have a general uniform law on that subject that stiffens up and makes sacred the marriage tie. I agree that it is not possible in this State, and under present conditions, to make marriage absolutely indissoluble, as it is in some States, but it is possible to make divorce difficult, so that it cannot be obtained by collusion, and only when one party or the other shall have done something that all men regard as necessarily affecting the obligation of the marriage tie."

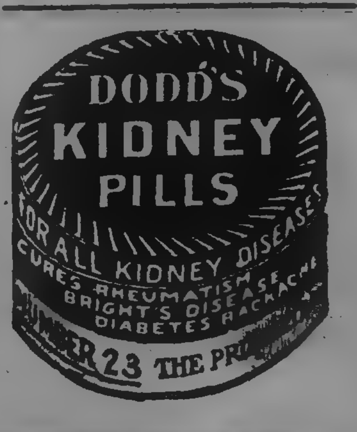
VISITOR FROM SHEFFIELD HERE

J. W. Dawson on His First Visit to Canada

An interesting visitor from the Old Country is in the city to-day in the person of J. W. Dawson, of Sheffield, England, who is the immigrant booking agent of that city. He is in Canada for the purpose of looking into the condition of the country and what it offers to immigrants. It is his first visit to Canada and he expressed himself to Mr. Howson as delighted with what he has already seen. He visited the lift lock in company with the local immigration officer this morning and this afternoon is going through the Canadian General Electric works.

Mr. Dawson's habit of boosting Canada has earned for him the sobriquet "Ask Dawson."



COL. SAM HUGHES AND HIS CAREER

Has Seen Active Service With Pen and Sword

(Toronto News.)

Whether the pen is mightier than the sword, no man in Canada is better fitted to decide than Col. Sam Hughes, Conservative member in the new Parliament for Victoria and Haliburton.

Col. Hughes at his editorial desk in the Lindsay Warder office for 12 years, and in the saddle with General Warren in Griqualand and Bechuanaland campaigns, has tested the comparative powers of destruction in pen and sword, in blast of ink or blast of powder, and in the column of nonpareil and the column of the Queen's Own.

Since the editorial days, which ended in 1897, he has hugged close the career of the soldier. Parliament invited him to a seat at a by-election in 1892 in North Victoria, and his constituents liked the idea so well that they sent him back in 1896 and 1900.

Carrying the campaign of conquest into Victoria and Haliburton, he fought and won two stiff contests in 1904 and 1908 and with these little warrants of popularity to support him, invited a tilt with reciprocity at the recent election and left it battered and gasping on the night of the 21st.

Between times he has fought other sorts of battles. In his boyhood days Col. Hughes walked away with all manner of records. He jumped highest, hopped farthest, ran longest and finished easiest. The medals used to be brought home after the annual field day of Public school and college in a neighbor's waggon.

WHEN THE BUGLE CALLED.

War came around in the course of events. A call was issued for help in South Africa. Remembering how he had answered "the call" in the Fenian Raid troubles, where he won recognition, the Colonel buckled on his armor, honed his Damascus blade and with his favorite charger impatient beneath him, headed for the latest scene of conflict. It happened to be the other side of the world. But no matter. He constituted himself a "free lance." He pitched into the problem of railway transport up from the Cape; was appointed assistant to Inspector General Settle on the lines of communication; promoted to be Chief of Intelligence staff to the same General. Sir Charles Warren captured him to perform identical duties in Griqualand and Bechuanaland, and he later headed a mounted brigade for the same territory.

His brother-in-peace is James L. Hughes, Inspector of schools, Toronto. Religiously he prefers Methodism. Politically it is stated by close friends, that he leans away from Liberalism. And his home address is Lindsay.

ABOUT ALFALFA COMPETITION

Some Pointers for Farmers Who Have Sown This Year

The committee of management in connection with the special alfalfa competition, which was arranged last spring in the interests of the farmers in Peterborough county, has decided that it will not be necessary to judge the alfalfa fields this fall. In drafting the regulations under which the alfalfa competition would be conducted a provision was made that the fields were to be judged twice before the prizes would finally be awarded; first, on or about the first week of October, and the following summer on or about the first of June. It has since developed that every purpose will be served by judging the alfalfa, but once and that early next June before it is cut for hay.

Several local farmers who have sown alfalfa this season for the first time have enquired recently as to how they manage the crop they have secured this fall. A real fine catch has been secured by a goodly number of farmers in the district and in many cases it is of considerable length and their owners are anxious to cut or pasture it. In one case an enquirer has secured so luxuriant a stand that he is afraid the crop will be smothered out unless he cuts it before winter.

FACTS OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

All who have alfalfa and are not experienced in handling the crop will do well to remember that the first winter is the most critical time in the whole life history of the alfalfa plant. Once it is safely through the first winter, the alfalfa has a fair chance of persisting and yielding abundant and profitable crops for some years in succession. While many alfalfa growers have found that they can pasture their alfalfa without danger to the stand it should be understood by all that it is decidedly risky to pasture alfalfa the first fall. A real good top is essential to ensure the stand coming through the winter safely. A good top on the plants favors root development and protects the ground from alternate freezing and thawing in early winter and in spring and it holds the snow during winter, and thereby provides the very best of protection for the crop.

INSURE CROP FOR NEXT YEAR

Those who have secured a good stand of alfalfa from which they look for good returns next year are advised to forego any immediate returns in the way of hay or pasture from the crop in order that they may the better insure the returns they seek next year.

Anyone having a first class stand of alfalfa of this year's seeding and have not entered it in the alfalfa competition is advised to get in touch with the secretary. Five valuable prizes are to be awarded to the winning competitors who secure the highest number of points. There is no entry fee whatever and competitors have everything to gain from entering in the competition. The competing fields will be judged by experts on or about the first of June, 1912. All communications, entries, and enquiries should be addressed to the Competition, care of Farm and Dairy Peterboro, Ont.

A SETTLEMENT

Between Mr. Bogue and the Town of Campbellford

The Council of the town of Campbellford, through their solicitors Messrs Watson and Payne, have at last effected a settlement with Mr. Bogue for $13,000. This settlement is subject to the will of the people. It will be remembered that Mr. Bogue asked for the sum of $26,000 and the case has been hanging on for about three years. The Council will submit a by-law to the people some time next month to raise the money. The settlement is made on condition that the amount be raised within sixty days.—Campbellford Herald.

ELECTION IN DUMMER

The torches are lighted, the bugle sounds shrill,
Wild cheering resounds over forest and plain,
From each part of Dummer the Tories have mustered,
For Sexsmith has triumphed is victor again.

Sing for the pride of a lawyer is humbled,
His colleagues and grafters in mighty array;
How foolish his boasting he held the wrong token,
So now he is down and out, of the way.

In Warsaw, he talked of his father the farmer,
And how often to school in his patches he went,
He called us his sisters and brothers so kindly,
But with bait such as this we don't bite worth a cent.

The Free Trade agreement he did not converse on,
To argue that question he was not prepared,
The farmers and merchants could go down to Hades,
A seat in the Parliament was all that he cared.

We wish in his leisure, he, Warsaw would visit,
The thing most important we don't need to tell,
The blackboard will show him how teedledee's in it,
And teedle-dum's out, he knows very well.

Then cheer all the false ones, who for sake of their business,
Have turned their old coat and sneaked out of our rank,
Their fears will o'er take them there is nothing to save them,
And who is to blame, themselves they may thank.

Our member is honest, a gentleman always,
To such petty meanness he would never come down;
To foe he is generous, to friend he is faithful,
He is loyal in heart to his country and crown.

They coined up false stories, his fair name to blacken,
But in his reputation, no fault could be found;
They called him a traitor, the people knew better,
They had made a mistake, it was the other way round.

Some Poetry This

There once was an Hon'rable Fielding
To the States he was talking of yielding,
But he cut short his name and had only to blame
The edge of the axe he was yielding.

Have you heard of the wonderful stir
That was made by a Lib'ral called Kerr?
Sure his talk was all lost for he found to his cost,
That to Sexsmith they stuck likke a burr.

But a Tory who's called J. H. Burnham
Made the Liberal party return him,
For he said they were daft if they'd line up with Taft,
Now the Yankees are saying "concern him."

ITALIAN WARSHIPS HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO LAND MARINES TO OCCUPY TRIPOLI

WAR HAS BEEN OFFICIALLY DECLARED BY ITALY; FOREIGN OFFICER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

The Turks Are Already Preparing to Evacuate Tripoli—It is Not Expected That There Will be Many Hostilities—Turkey Already Lying Down.

Special to the Review.

Rome, Sept. 29 — Italy declared war against Turkey to-day, according to an official announcement at the foreign office.

Orders have been issued to the commander of the Italian Squadron off Tripoli to go ahead to seize the city, and a landing will be made immediately.

Turkish troops are evacuating that place, and it does not look as if the Turks will attempt much fight.

LONDON, SEPT. 29.—AN APPEAL HAS BEEN MADE TO ITALY BY THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE, ASKING THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT NOT TO LAND AN ARMY FOR THE INVASION OF TRIPOLI AT THE PRESENT FOR FEAR OF SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES IN THE BALKINS.

ATEZ, SEPT. 29.—THE TURKS ARE PREPARING TO WITHDRAW FROM THE CITY OF TRIPOLI.

LONDOND, SEPT. 29.—WHILE THE TIME SET FOR IN ITALY'S ULTIMATUM TO TURKEY EXPIRED TODAY AT NOON, THE LANDING OF TROOPS WAS DEFERRED UNTIL THE USUAL NOTIFICAIONS ARE SENT TO THE FOREIGN CONSUL.

Constantinople, Sept. 29.—Italy has presented her ultimatum, demanding an answer within twenty-four hours. She will accept only the immediate evacuation of Tripoli and Benghasi.

It is reported that the Turkish Government has decided to reject the Italian demands embodied in the ultimatum, and has addressed an explanatory communication to the powers.

When it became known that Italy had granted a time limit of only 24 hours in which to enable the Turkish Government to instruct the authorities at Tripoli not to oppose an Italian landing, there was consternation in public and official circles and strong denunciation of Italy's methods.

The Italian charge presented the ultimatum at the usual weekly reception to the foreign representatives at the Foreign Office. The grand vizier immediately went to the palace, where the Ministers were summoned to a special council, which sat late.

Italy's Defi.

Rome, Sept. 29.—A note addressed by the Foreign Office to the Italian charge d'affaires at Constantinople some time Tuesday night peremptorily fixed 24 hours as the period within which the Turkish Government must reply to the demands therein set forth. The note began:

"During a long series of years the Government of Italy never ceased to make representations to the Porte on the absolute necessity of correcting the state of disorder to which the Government of Turkey had abandoned Tripoli and Cyrene. These regions should be admitted to the benefits of the progress realized by other parts of the Mediterranean and Africa.

"This transformation, which is imposed by the general exigencies of civilization, constitutes for Italy a vital interest of the first order, by reason of the slight distance separating these countries from the coast of Italy.

"Notwithstanding the attitude taken by the Government of Italy, which has always accorded its loyal support to the Imperial Government in the different political questions of recent times; notwithstanding the moderation and patience shown by the Government of Italy, its views concerning Tripoli have been badly received by the Imperial Government. But more than that, all enterprise on the part of Italians in the regions mentioned has been systematically opposed and unjustifiably crushed."

The note continues:

"The Royal Government has received from its consular agents in Tripoli and Cyrene information that the situation is extremely grave because of the agitation prevailing against Italian subjects and which is incited in evident fashion by officers and other functionaries of authority.

"This agitation constitutes an imminent danger not only to Italian subjects but to foreigners of all nationalities, which requires them for their own security to embark and leave Tripoli without delay.

"The arrival at Tripoli of Ottoman military transports, which the Royal Government has not failed to observe, appears preliminary to serious events, aggrevates the situation, and imposes on the Royal Government the obligation absolutely to prepare for the dangers which will result.

"The Italian Government having the intention henceforth to protect its interests and its dignity, has decided to proceed to the military occupation of Tripoli and Cyrene.

"This solution is the only one that will give Italy power to itself to decide and itself attend to that which the Imperial Government does not do.

"The Royal Government demands that the Imperial Government shall give orders that the actual Ottoman representative shall not oppose the measures which will in consequence be necessary to effect this solution without difficulty. An ultimate agreement will be requested, the two Governments to regulate the definite situation which will arise.

"The royal embassy at Constantinople is ordered to demand a decisive response on this subject from the Ottoman Government within twenty-four hours of the Porte of the present document, in default of which the Italian Government will consider itself as being obliged to proceed immediately with measures destined to assure the occupation. Ask in addition that the response of the Porte within the period of twenty-four hours shall be communicated also through the Turkish embassy at Rome.

(Signed) "Di San Giuliano."

Turkey Is Ready.

Vienna, Sept. 29.—The Neue Freie Presse learns from an authoritative source that the moment Italy lands troops in Tripoli, Turkey will declare war, expel all Italians from Turkey within 24 hours, abrogate the capitulations and commercial treaty, institute a boycott against Italian goods, and oppose by armed force any further attempts to land Italian troops on Turkish soil.

Thieves Robbed Barroom.

Chatham, Sept. 29.—Early yesterday morning the Glassford House bar was entered by robbers and $100 taken. The thieves entered the main office and gained admittance through the transom over a door leading into the bar. The cash drawer was opened with a screwdriver and the contents of the register taken.

FOUR WIVES; ALL MYRTLES

Indianapolis Painter Has a Unique Record.

Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—C. A. Bays, a painter of Indianapolis, aged 27 years, has just married his fourth wife. Her name is Myrtle and the name of all his former wives was Myrtle. His fourth wife was formerly Miss Myrtle Hoover, of that city. He was divorced from his third wife two days ago. "I am just foolish about that name Myrtle, and would marry no woman unless that was her name. Mary, Rose, Margaret, Helen and Pansy can't hold a candle to Myrtle. It is just a fad of mine. If I marry half a dozen times more the name of the girl must be Myrtle." Following are the names of Bays' three other wives: Myrtle Lennox, of Winslow, Canada, died; Myrtle Arney, of Shelbyville, Canada, divorced; Myrtle Hay, Tell City, divorced.

To Raise Pastor's Pay.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—The executive of the augmentation committee of the Presbyterian Church of Canada met in the board room in the Confederation Life Building yesterday afternoon.

The committee is very anxious to get the past and proposed work of the board before the people, so that they will be enabled next March, at the latest, to increase the stipends of ministers. The purpose is to make the minimum salary of the ministers in Northern Ontario $900, in the prairie provinces $1,000; and in British Columbia $1,100.

Pauper Gets Windfall.

Hamilton, Sept. 29.—Heir to a legacy and $5,000, an inmate of the Hamilton House of Refuge, is the present position of one William Patterson, a native of Scotland. This information was conveyed to the property committee of the city council at its meeting last night by Supt. Rea of the House of Refuge, who stated that a local firm of lawyers had been engaged to collect the legacy for Patterson, but had been unable to get the money. Mr. Rea asked that the case be turned over to City Solicitor Waddell, and the committee approved of that course.

DOCTORS LIKE CANADIAN GIRLS

Nurses in Long Island Hospital Tell the Tale.

New York, Sept. 29.—Cupid has made his nest in the Long Island City Hospital, and Canadian reciprocity is responsible, says The New York American.

You see, three-fourths of the nurses in that institution are Canadian girls. And the records show that ten out of twelve have wedded young American doctors they met in the hospital.

Three of these romances have culminated in marriages within the past few weeks. Now Dr. John N. Balderson of Brooklyn has admitted that he is "next." On October 27 he is to wed Miss Doris Tufts, a graduate nurse, the daughter of a ship builder, of St. John, N.B. Dr. Balderson was concerned long enough to be asked, "Why is it that Canadian girls win all the doctors in the Long Island City Hospital?"

"Because they make the best wives," he responded. "I know many doctors who have married American girls, and from what they have told me I am convinced that Canadian girls make better helpmates than do American girls. The American girl is too fond of excitement and variety. She is not attracted by home life."

Negotiations Deadlocked.

Dublin, Sept. 29.—Notwithstanding the announcement earlier in the day that the strike declared by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants on all the railways of Ireland had been settled, it was later ascertained that the negotiations are deadlocked. The strikers accepted the terms of the companies, but when it came to returning to work the companies refused to reinstate the strikers in their former positions, as that would mean the displacement of the men who had been engaged to fill them.

Will Not Be Extradited.

Los Angeles, Sept. 29.—"General" Chrys. Pryce, former commander of the Lower California insurrectos, will not be extradited to Mexico to face charges of murder, arson and robbery. United States Commissioner Van Dyke ruled yesterday that there was no ground for his extradition. He will have to face United States proceedings, however, on a charge of having violated the neutrality laws.

All Missionaries Safe.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—A cablegram from Chungking, Western China, has been received at the Methodist Mission rooms to the effect that the missionaries and workers at Chintu are well and safe. The following have arrived at Chungking: Dr. Cox, Rev. J. W. Henderson, Rev. R. E. S. Longley, Mr. Medenhall, Rev. J. W. Sparling, Rev. E. C. Wilford, Misses Rea, Sidarkin, Swann, and Smith.

Labor Man Beaten.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 29.—Jas. Rolph, jr., was elected Mayor of San Francisco on Wednesday. The city has never before known a campaign of such keenness, with J. Rolph, head of a steamship company, opposed in the race for mayor by P. H. McCarthy, incumbent, president of the State Building and Trades Council, and the acknowledged leader of organized labor on the coast.

ROBBERS AT HAMILTON

Canadian Express Company's Head Office is Minus $15,000

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, Sept. 29—Masked robbers entered the head office of the Canadian Express Company here during the night, and after seizing all the night clerks bound them and secured fifteen thousand dollars. The robbers made their escape.

SURE SIGN OF MILD FALL

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Did you start that furnace this morning, fill the whole house with smoke, then open front door, back door, and every window upstairs and down, and proceed to convert a comfortable home into a refrigerating plant?

If so, you made a mistake. The prospects for the near future are for a spell of Indian summer, not an immediate plunge into the long months when furnace banking is used as a substitute exercise for golf.

The information is conveyed, not by the director of the Observatory, but still by observers whose judgment on weather matters is entitled to respect, the same being the members of the hardy band of young men who continue to bathe each morning at the Island. They base their prediction on a proposition which admits of little argument.

No ducks have arrived in this vicinity from the north up to this time.

Therefore, forget the furnace, disturb not the camphor moth balls which shed sweet perfume on the heavy woollen underwear, pawn not the motorcycle in order to recover the fur-lined overcoat. The "Hot Chocolate" sign will not be hung in drug stores for some time to come.

RUSSELL WAS IN HIS RIGHT MIND SAY GOTHAM LAWYERS

Unique Action in Montreal Briugs Out Some Evidence of Interest—Russell on the Stand, and Tells of Plots.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—The case of David Russell against the Pinkerton Detective Agency and the Montreal manager, John McNamara, for alleged conspiracy, continued yesterday, David Russell and his brother, John Russell, being the chief witnesses. Mr. McNamara was also on the stand.

David Russell told a story of the events which led him to believe there was a conspiracy against him. The conspiracy involved two plots, the first being one motive of which was to play the "badger" game on him; the second to secure his incarceration in an insane asylum.

Mr. Russell was only at the beginning of his story when the court was adjourned for the day.

He told of the arrival at the Windsor Hotel of a Mr. Patterson, accompanied by a woman, who tried no less than four times to secure an interview with him in her rooms. He refused, however, to meet her except in the general reception room.

Mr. Russell caused a sensation by stating that after he had proofs that the Pinkertons had played him false, McNamara had offered to have his $1,000,000 western land suit settled for him if he would drop his case against Patterson.

The evidence of John Russell showed that he had been called to Montreal by a telegram which said his brother was not right in his mind and that efforts were made to show him that his brother's mind was unbalanced.

He also declared that at one time it was planned to enter David Russell's room at his hotel and make a forcible examination, and to conduct him to a sanitarium, but that the doctors objected after hearing his New York lawyers, Messrs. Rose and Kellog, who insisted that Mr. Russell was perfectly sane. John Russell stated he was soon convinced that nothing was wrong with his brother, and left for home after a brief visit in New York.

MINERS ARE NOW ON TRIAL

Picketing Tactics Leads to Conspiracy Charge.

North Bay, Sept. 29.—Fourteen Gowganda miners were placed on trial charged with conspiracy and intimidation in connection with a strike on the property of the Hudson Bay Mining Co. at Gowganda, which closed down from June until September.

G. L. T. Bull is defending prisoners, who are being tried in two bunches of seven each, and Crown Prosecutor Arnoldi is being assisted by Barrister H. E. McKee of Elk Lake. The first charge is based on the hold-up of a stage, containing a party of Nova Scotia miners on Gowganda trail August 5 on their way to the mine to take the place of strikers. Nineteen strike-breakers were brought from Nova Scotia, but twelve deserted at Cobalt after being interviewed by union men on the train.

Evidence was introduced to show that men were turned back at Crooked Bridge by thirty strikers or sympathizers with threats of violence and death and that a number of revolver shots were fired when the party did turn back. Many attempts were made to reach the mine and the final successful dash to the mine from there was not accomplished until September over one month being occupied by the Nova Scotia party in making the trip from Englehardt to the mine, two days' journey at most.

The strike was the result of the reduction of wages, followed by arbitration, as provided by the act, the men walking out the day after the award was made by the board.

BABE'S BODY WAS FOUND

Railway Employees Made Startling Discovery on Bank

Port Hope, Sept. 29.—The body of an unknown infant was found on the embankment of the C.N.R. near the railway crossing of the side line leading north from Gage's Creek yesterday afternoon.

The section men were working at the culvert when they noticed a parcel on the bank. One of them touched it with a shovel and upon further examination they found it contained the remains of an infant. The body was in a very bad state of decomposition and was wrapped in a skirt and underwear, in all probability belonging to its mother. A Toronto Star of Sept. 15, formed part of the parcel.

Coroner McKinley was notified and had the remains removed to Walker's undertaking parlors. Constable Garbutt empanelled a jury this morning, and they viewed the remains this afternoon at two o'clock, after which an adjournment was made until Monday. The authorities have not the slightest clue.

Hamilton wants an harbor commission.

CANADIAN NEW GOLD COINS

To be Issued From the Royal Mint Shortly

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—The new Canadian gold coins will be issued from the Royal Mint in a few weeks. The head of King George will be on one side and the Canadian coat-of-arms on the other, the $5 and $10 pieces being about identical in design. The department has not entertained suggestions that the coins should show a maple leaf, beaver or some other characteristic emblem. The $5 piece will likely be known as "George," as the $10 will be known as "Double George."

Charged With Forgery.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Percy G. Gall of Montreal was arrested in Ottawa at noon by Detective Mort Culver, on the charge of forging two checks and having the intentions of trying to forge a third. The two checks were forged on Mr. J. O. Duford, a commercial traveler, one at the Alexandra Hotel and the other in the Windsor Hotel. Gall was arrested in the Grand Union Hotel at twelve o'clock. He appears in the Police Court to-day.

Stampede to New Gold Field.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 29.—On the eve of cold weather a big stampede is in progress to the new gold camp of Ruby, on the Yukon River below Fort Gibbon, and it is estimated that 2,500 persons will spend the winter there. Most of the stampeders are from the Iditarod. Comparatively little gold has been found, but old-timers say the formation reminds them of the Klondyke.

Applications Received.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—It is counted significant of Ottawa politics that the two successful candidates in the recent elections have an advertisement in the local papers that persons seeking Government appointments must apply at an office they have opened, at certain hours. They add that persons applying at their private residences "will not be considered."

RUDYARD KIPLING OPPOSED TO CANADIAN RECIPROCITY.

RUDYARD KIPLING.
From Black and White

Rudyard Kipling, the famous author, in a letter sent from his home in England, expresses strong opposition to Canadian reciprocity with the United States, his main argument being that the nine million residents of Canada cannot hope to hold their own in a trade compact with the ninety million of the United States.

CHAUFFEUR KILLED; THREE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Moter Ditched at the Foot of a Hill When Front Wheel Buckled.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—Running at a high rate of speed along Mason Street, a short distance from Hog's Hollow, an automobile belonging to the real estate firm of Robins, Limited, yesterday afternoon turned turtle, killing the chauffeur and badly injuring three passengers. The car had just come down the incline and suddenly took a plunge into the ditch. One of the front wheels buckled and the machine turned completely over. The chauffeur was struck as it turned and had his neck broken, dying almost instantly. The other three occupants were thrown clear of the car, but received injuries from which they will not recover for some time.

The occupants of the car were:

Henry Langworthy, aged 25, 43 Price street, chauffeur, instantly killed.

J. N. Pountney, druggist, 1,081 Bathurst street, left ankle badly sprained, and bruised about the body.

Mrs. J. N. Pountney, cut about head and face, badly bruised about body, and suffering greatly from shock.

Arthur Parsons, employe of Robins, Limited, 232 Albany avenue, bruised and cut about head and body.

Sister Arrested.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 29.—Following a report that the stomach of Elsie Crawford, who died suddenly a few days ago, contained opium, Miss Annie Crawford, a sister, was arrested. Miss Elsie was the fourth member of the Crawford family to die under mysterious circumstances in 14 months.

Miss Annie Crawford is a beneficiary of insurance policies on the life of Elsie, and is said to have been named as the beneficiary on policies on the lives of her mother, father and the sister, who died last year.

HON. FRANK COCHRANE.

Hon. Frank Cochrane will almost undoubtedly be called into the Borden Cabinet

C. H. Smith Committed.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—Clark Hamilton Smith was committed for trial on a charge of conspiring with others to secure the certificate of the treasury board, which enabled the Farmers' Bank to do business by fraud. He appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning.

He was committed to the jail to await his trial. Smith was formerly secretary to the provisional board of directors of the bank. The proceedings were very short as the evidence had all been taken in the case of the provisional directors, who are also awaiting trial. Bail was refused.

TEACHING OF RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS IS FAVORED

Murder Is Charged.

Chatham, Sept. 29.—Thomas Griffith of Chatham Township was arrested at noon yesterday, charged with the killing of Orlando Arnold. He was remanded pending the verdict of the coroner's jury, which will enquire into the death of Arnold.

Arnold's death is the result of a quarrel between the two named men. It is claimed that Griffith, in the heat of an altercation, struck Arnold over the head. The latter has been confined to his home for the past few days as a result of the injury, and he died early yesterday morning. Griffith will likely have a speedy trial, as the sessions will be held here on Monday next.

Griffith was tried by Magistrate Houston here some fifteen years ago on a charge of attempted murder, but was found not guilty and dismissed.

Attacked the Strikebreakers.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 29.—Strikebreakers employed by the Illinois Central Railroad here were set upon by several hundred union sympathizers at six o'clock last evening as they were being escorted from the building by a police detail. Two strikebreakers were injured. Several arrests were made. Strikebreakers were continually jeered and threatened by a large crowd.

Anglican Synod to Take up the Matter With the Ontario Government.

Hamilton, Sept. 29.—The closing session of the Synod of Niagara was marked by extensive reviews of religious instruction in the public schools.

Hon. Richard Harcourt, former Provincial Minister of Education, suggested after-school services, as provided in the statute, as a substitute for five o'clock parochial calls.

Rev. Dr. Miller said the fact that there was no religious instruction in United States schools was the direct cause of fifty-five per cent. of Americans being non-religious. "We must have more religious instruction if we would prevent the spread of atheism," he said.

Canon Spencer said it seemed the Minister of Education was afraid to bring about religion in the schools. He suggested an interdenominational committee to attempt to get a referendum in Ontario at least.

The special committee on religious education, while regarding denominational schools as the ideal, reported that they were undesirable under present conditions. They urged that pressure be brought to bear upon the Government to introduce in the public schools a syllabus like that used in the Normal schools.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 29, 1911.

MR. SEXSMITH

The Havelock Standard suggests for the position of minister of agriculture the name of Mr. Sexsmith the worthy representative of East Peterborough. There are few names which could be suggested for this portfolio that would be more generally approved, though Mr. Sexsmith is not quite so old a parliamentarian as Andrew Broder, for instance. However he has been in parliament, under Mr. Borden for quite a long time, and certainly should have more claim, though perhaps too modest, to put it forward, than Mr. Smith, the member-elect for South Ontario.

There are only three or four names suggested as minister of agriculture chief of which is Mr. Broder. But the speech which Mr. Sexsmith made in the house, during the reciprocity debate, and which was practical enough to be placed on the records of the American Congress indicates that he would add considerable weight to the administration by his knowledge and experience of things agricultural. East Peterborough in the elections knew when it had a good, substantial representative—a farmer among the farmers, and a splendid type of man withal. Mr. Borden is keeping his own counsel with regard to his cabinet, and it is quite possible that he may spring some great surprises when his announcement is made. Let us hope that he will deem Mr. Sexsmith worthy of the high honor of a portfolio and thus honor the people of East Peterborough through their representative.

A SQUARE VIEW

The New York Evening Post publishes the squarest, fairest and most statesmanlike comment on the Canadian election we have yet seen. Such spirit as is exhibited by the Post can only help greatly on both sides, to soften and smooth international relations. The Post recognizes that the verdict of the people was not so much the intention of giving a rebuff to the United States as to declare for a distinctively Canadian development, unentangled. It says:

"The general election in Canada is one of those political events which bulk large on the instant and of which the far-reaching significance grows as one reflects upon them.

"That it was the voice of the Canadian nation which spoke at the polls there can be no question.

"No mere partisan management, no amount of artificial clamor, no effort by special interests, can account for such a startling political upheaval.

"Wholly unexpected, in any such magnitude, by the press or by newsgatherers or by the politicians of either party, it witnesses to a deep and persuasive feeling among the great masses of Canadian citizens who said very little but who voted in such decisive fashion.

"Nor is there any mistaking the nature of this feeling.

"It is that of national pride and national self-sufficiency.

"To all the evidences of this which Canada has given in recent years, she has now added the crowning demonstration of her desire and determination to work out her own destinies for herself, and to hold herself proudly aloof from anything which might even appear an entangling dependence upon her powerful neighbor to the south.

"Whether we like it or not, whether we think it a mistake or not, there stands the fact that the electors of 8,000,000 people Thursday declared the national will.

"That we regret this tumbling of Canadian reciprocity in a heap, it is needless to say. We have heartily favored the project as not only good in itself, but as inevitably leading to the breaking down of superstitious notions about the protective tariff. It still seems clear to us that the reciprocity pact might have been agreed to by two nations, to the advantage of both.

"But there is no gainsaying Canada's right to decide the matter for herself, nor can there be any questioning of the vigor and positiveness with which she has now made her decision known. All that is left for this country is to ask what is the lesson ... or as bitten in by this surprising Canadian election, and what we ought to do next.

"First of all, we should read in this rebuff by the Canadian people a severe censure of the administrations which have been in power in the United States for past years, for having neglected the great opportunity to promote closer trade relations with Canada.

"Her representatives again and again approached the Washington authorities, but were steadily sent away empty handed. No wonder that they fell back on their own resources and set about a national policy that would make reciprocity with the United States a matter of indifference to Canada.

"Too late our statesmen woke from their sleep. Secretary Root, on his visit to Ottawa during President Roosevelt's second term, found that we had no trade offers to make to Canada that she cared anything about. Finally President Taft seized what he thought a lucky chance, but as it now plainly appears, the whole effort was tardy.

"While our protectionists had slumbered, Canada had grown into the consciousness of a self-sufficing nation. If to know the times and seasons be the mark of statesmanship, our rulers have shown themselves in this Canadian business woefully derelict. When they could have had reciprocity, they sniffed at it; when they at last grasped at it, they were too late to get it."

A CRITIC OF CANADA

Mr. R. H. H. Baird, proprietor of a Belfast newspaper, has been on a visit to Canada for two months studying conditions, and is now on his way home. In Montreal he was interviewed, and after that interview, the principal concern of the keen-nosed news-hunter, was what Mr. Baird had eaten for breakfast. According to the Montreal Star, Mr. Baird is by no means satisfied with Canada.

He says our railway employes particularly in the West, are usually uncivil and sometimes ignorant, that our newspaper editors disagree in their diagnosises of local conditions; that our school system overeducates our youth and unfits them for the hard work, which is obviously the lot of most of us; that ~~white~~ men should now be doing the rough work performed by Japanese labor in British Columbia; that our western real estate boom is inflated and that those who count upon it to bring them riches will be disappointed; that prairie life for those who have come out from Ireland is a hand to mouth existence and that young Irish women who have immigrated in the expectation of finding husbands and homes have been disillusioned; that Canadian husbands treat their wives with greater harshness than do those of England and Ireland; that the average Canadian is surly and uncivil and not inclined to give any information and that when a young Englishman has lived here several years he easily and rapidly falls into the ways of the Canadian and treats womankind and men with the same measure of surliness as his Canadian confrere; that our liquor laws, our C.P.R. hotels and our politics have their points, but that as to the latter he is so tired of politics he'd rather not talk about them except to advise Canada to "watch with jealous care her development and to inspire her sons with a proper idea of what is essential to her inevitable development."

Except for all this, we suppose that Canada has at least one or two good points. We hope so, anyway. Mr. Baird must have run into bunches of excited Canadians during election time, when they had no time to listen to his directions as to how Canadian affairs had to be run. He says that Canadian husbands treat their wives with greater harshness than they do even in Ireland and England. Perhaps that can be accounted for by the fact that in many of the old country centres, the ordinary woman can go to a "pub" and stand up with the men, and is therefore treated more like a companion, whereas the Canadian woman, poor thing, stays at home and loses all the joys of flipping the froth. And therefore she's more harshly treated.

The hardest blow of all is the fact that our educational system overeducates our young, and unfits them to do the work of navvies. Mr. Baird is evidently of the opinion that of education, like many other things, we may have too much of a good thing. Mr. Baird perhaps prefers to hog the benefits of education and refinement and enlightenment himself, and keep the average individual in the laboring class, fit for nothing but navvy's work. Mr. Baird is said to be a journalist, too, but now we has our doots about him. There is something perhaps in what he says about the lack of Canadian manners to strangers. But may be he imagines that he is the whole sheebs, wrapped and branded (very likely the case) and because he was treated democratically with no particular regard for him or his opinions, he thinks we are uncivil. It would be a strain to be civil to a knocker like he seems to be, even in Canada. Who has any use for the wanton knocker, anyway? But, never mind. Dry your tears, Canadians, and set forth to raise yourself in Mr. Baird's opinion. Some day we may hope to get at least part way there. We are sorry to lose so valuable an instructor as Mr. Baird; in fact, we wonder how Ireland has ever got along without him for the two months he has been away.

EDITORIAL NOTES

By the way, has anybody here seen Kelly since the election?

Let us have some asphalt paving, and have it as soon as possible.

It is quite natural that as Thanksgiving day approaches, special attention should be paid to Turkey.

If the Ontario elections are sprung for the end of November, won't we have a great rest for the next two or three years, after it is over?

In a row, over politics, a five year old Chatham boy was stabbed, and is now in a critical condition. Samples of youthful precocity such as these ought to be a lesson to some of the grown-up boys who get politics on the brain.

According to the latest, Hon. Hon. Jacques Bureau is elected in Three Rivers by two majority. They have so many bureaus at Ottawa now that one more or less won't make much difference.

Dr. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, says that the farmers lack business ability. That may be, but the house-wife will promptly refuse to acknowledge that they lack nerve to ask high prices for their products.

The Toronto Globe still has Bourassa on the brain. Though there are but eight or nine Nationalists elected in Quebec, it is still furiously insisting that Bourassa is the real premier of Canada. He is about as much the real premier as Rev. J.A. Macdonald is now the "dictator of Canada." Bourassa and Macdonald are considerably alike in their respective situations.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—There was a good enquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, but as the prices bid were all one shilling per quarter under what exporters were offering, no business was done.

The local market for oats was firmer in sympathy with the sharp advance in prices in Winnipeg, which was due to shorts covering on account of continued wet weather. The local demand for car lots was fair, and some business was also done for export account.

The demand for flour is fairly good for both local and export account, and the undertone to the market remains steady. Mill feed is scarce and firm. Cheese is quiet and steady, and butter is easy. Eggs fairly active. Demand for provisions is fair.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour

He went down again, and Bragg yelled in delight.

But he fell across his gun that lay unmarked in the mêlée. His hand clutched it, he rolled over, and, half reclining, fired it as George was rushing up him. The bullet struck one of the young man's upraised arms, and he went down with a groan.

"You've killed him! You're all in it! I'll testify against you in court!" shrieked Bragg, and the men fled in terror. From where they had stood, after retreating at sight of the sack of dynamite, it looked as though Wiggin had killed his man. Bloodshed, evidently, was more than they had reckon on. They had come merely to intimidate.

Bragg leaped upon Wiggin, and wrested the rifle from him, and kicked him into unconsciousness. Then, he ran to George. He ripped the sleeve from his arm, and bandaged it with the fragments of cloth. "It's broke, son, it's broke," he gasped; "but, thank the good Lord, you ain't dead!"

"Give 'em the dynamite — give 'em the dynamite,' muttered Harry. "Don't wait. They want fight. Give it to 'em.'

Bragg helped to raise him to his feet.

"You bet, I'll give it to 'em! Can't you lean on a couple of the boys, Mr. George? I don't want to leave you here. They'll come back."

With a man to bear him company, George took his position on a hill that towered above the camp of the timber looters. He did not see what took place. But his ears told him. Bragg scattered his men, and ordered them to await the signal of a rifle shot. The devastation was simultaneous all along the line. The awful roar of the detonations came up to Harry where he lay, and the earth rocked under him. Then, one by one, gasping, running, his men rejoined him, Bragg closing the retreat.

"We'll wait till morning before we move," puffed the intrepid lieutenant. "And I reckon that then we'll find we've got the place to ourselves."

His prediction was true. Those who scouted in the early dawn reported that the camps were empty.

"I figger that a part of them got out when they thought Wiggins had killed you," stated Bragg, on his return. "And when the dynamite split the night wide open, the rest of 'em probably thought there was a land that was fairer than this. There's nothing left standin' but the main camp, and that log hauler is the sickest piece of machinery since Nelson left scrap iron in Trafalgar Bay. We're goin' to put you to bed in the camp, Mr. George, and send for a doctor. You needn't worry. Old Romeo is on guard from this time on."

His patient tried to protest that he was able to walk, but he staggered when they raised him. An hour later, he was unconscious in his bunk, and a messenger was running toward Corran-cache with the memory of Bragg's oaths and brandished fists to spur him.

XI.

During that day and the next, the old guide left Harry only to scurry to his outposts and issue profane orders to shoot an enemy on sight.

"The boy's sick," he told them. "I'm afraid he's all in. Oh, won't that doctor ever get here?"

Such ministrations as he understood he gave the young man, lying there in his fever Bragg hardly ate. He did not sleep. He cursed continually under his breath; he knew no other way of relieving his feelings.

When the doctor did arrive, he was accompanied by a retinue that made Bragg open eyes and mouth Clare Corran led them on her black horse. She was first into the camp.

"He dont know nothin'," whispered Bragg, at her elbow. "He ain't knowed a thing for days. But, sure, Miss Clare, he is a bully fighter. I ain't much of a hand to pray, but I tell you I've offered up a few bushels of petitions for that youngster."

She was on her knees beside him when the doctor hurried in. Governor Harriss was with him, scrubbing his thin hands, murmuring anxious regrets.

Of the tale of that following fight with death, Clare Corran was the heroine.

When, after many days, Harry opened his eyes upon a world that he dimly, weakly knew as reality after his dreams, the doctor told him of the battle the girl had waged for his sake.

"She went right down into the valley of death with you, Mr. George. I did what I could; but you can feel certain that her arms drew you back Medicines can do a lot, but a woman can do more than medicines. I'm going home, now. She wants to do the rest."

During the days of his convalescence, he lay gazing at her, trying to frame the thanks that he owed. He wondered at his inability to say them. Once or twice, he tried weakly to utter some of his thoughts, but she checked him with a smile.

At last, he understood why he could not thank her as his soul prompted. He wanted to go down on his knees and pour out to her the love of his heart. He knew himself, now. He had seen what unselfish devotion really meant. He knew what courage signified. He realised that there is a soul-consuming love that differs from the mere attraction of man to woman. But he could not go down on his knees to her. He had to shut his teeth upon his lips. Mary Laroche had his pledge.

One day, the lawyer sought them out in the woods, led by Governor Harriss, who had constituted himself their postman and messenger.

Romeo Bragg was still commander of the guard, vigilant and determined, though the enemy did not reappear

"I have secured the injunctions," the lawyer told them. "Something happened to make them mighty supple. They did not come into court to fight us."

Clare told him of what had occurred on Number Eleven. He had not heard till then.

"That did it," he assured them "They found they had picked up too hot a proposition. They're as ready to hush it as you are. And with the law behind us now, you're safe. I'll hurry home, and clinch things."

Governor Harriss had laid the mail on George's couch, and, after the lawyer had gone, he opened his letters. There was one from Mary, but he did not open that while Clare was there. She glanced at the envelope, understanding, and went out. Grief stabbed his heart when he saw that her lips were quivering. He sat a while, tears blurring his eyes, and then opened the letter.

The next moment, he was on his feet in spite of his weakness. He took another look at the contents of the envelope, and then with a choking cry, he followed her.

She had sat down under the big pine that shaded the camp. Her worry for his welfare showed itself in the cry she gave when she saw him, and perceived the expression on his face

"You should not try to walk, yet,' she chided. But he hurried to her, and pushed the letter into her hands.

"A wedding card!" she gasped "What does it mean?"

She looked into his face, and suspected.

"It's not — it's not the——"

"It's the girl," he said. "Read it — read the letter. I could not. I could not wait. I could not see."

Controlling herself — turning his face from him, she read:

"Dear Harry: You will understand and forgive me, maybe. But if you cannot forgive me, remember that I thought I loved you once. You left me and I——"

Harry tore the letter from the girl's hand, and crumpled it in his fist She stared at him, startled and wondering.

"Don't read any more — there's no need of any more!"

"Poor boy," she said, thinking she understood, though her heart was breaking. "It is cruel — wickedly cruel It kills you to listen. I am sorry I read your——"

Fearing Dismissal, Resigned.

Calgary, Sept. 29.—J. R. Sutherland, Dominion Government land agent, has sent his resignation to the Department of the Interior. He took such action, believed that Mr. Bennett would carry out his threat he made on election night, to clear out the offices in Calgary, and "fire" every official who took any part in politics.

In his resignation Mr. Sutherland admitted that he had discussed reciprocity, but that he had not discussed the merits of the candidates in Calgary. He has been in the service for eighteen years.

Child Died From Burns.

Essex, Sept. 29.—Willie Patterson, five-year-old son of Mrs. Annie Patterson, died yesterday as the result of burns sustained on Tuesday. The boy was playing with coal oil and matches and spilled a quantity on his dress which ignited when he lighted a match.

The mother was away washing and the child's sister, who was left to care for the little boy, went over to a neighbor's. While there she heard her little brother crying loudly and ran home to find his clothing on fire.

BABY'S TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Hands Tied to Prevent Scratching

Five Doctors Failed to Relieve, But Zam-Buk Worked a Cure.

Mrs Chas. Levere, of Prescott. North Channel, Ont., tells how Zam-Buk cured her baby. She says—"My baby's head and face was one complete mass of sores. The itching and irritation were fearful and the little one's plight was so serious that at one time we feared her ears would be eaten off by the desease.

"We had to keep her hands tied for days to prevent her rubbing and scratching the sores. Doctor after doctor treated her in vain, until we had had five doctors. They all agreed it was a frightful case of eczema, but none of them did any permanent good.

"As a last resource we were advised to try Zam-Buk. The first box did so much good that we felt sure we were at last working in the right direction. We persevered with the treatment until we had used thirteen boxes and at the end of that time I am glad to say, Zam-Buk had effected a complete cure."

For eczema, eruptions, rashes, tetter itch, ringworm and similar skin diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, scalds, piles, abscesses, chronic sores, blood poisoning, etc. All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse imitations.

Fewer Wards Proposed.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—Ald. The plan of Ald. O'Connell is to reduce the number of wards from 30 to 22. This is to be effected by amalgamating certain wards.

Reduced Murder Charge.

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 29.—Nicolas Vatille, an Italian, charged with stabbing Henry Vinoit with intent to murder was found guilty of the lesser charge of causing grievous bodily harm, by the jury in the High Court now in session before Judge Sutherland. The stabbing took place May 14 at a dance in South Delorain mining camp.

Characteristics You Should Have If Your Birthday is In May

The Queen's birthday is in May, and a lucky natal month indeed is May.

Every true May maid should share with the Queen certain characteristics which, if rightly developed, will make her, in her own sphere, a veritable Queen of Hearts.

The May maid inherits the sunny, buoyant disposition that turns mountains into molehills, and meets happiness half way.

She is practical; has plenty of common-sense; a keen eye for detail, and a happy knack of hitting the right nail on the head. "Thorough" is her watchword. For slackness of character, incapacity and indolence, she has a truly royal contempt, though readily distinguishing the shiftlessness that springs from poverty and ignorance.

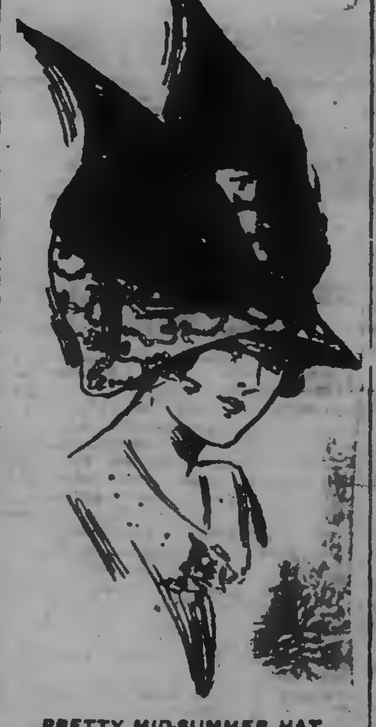
Our Sovereign's warm-hearted, affectionate disposition; her generosity —that wider generosity of heart as well as of purse; her swift scorn for gossip and backbiting, all these are Maytide traits. But especially characteristic is the almost professional interest she has always taken in medicine and nursing. No more natural outlet will the May maid find for her energies than in thus following her Sovereign's example.

The May maid has the true instinct for governing.

The May maid has all her Majesty's love of open-air life, and her fondness for pets, especially dogs and horses.

She is very sociable, too, and, like the Queen, she enjoys brightness and gaiety. She takes a thorough feminine interest in dress, sharing her Majesty's predilection for the striking but delicate colors and glittering fabrics that make the Court toilettes this season brilliant beyond memory.

Very bright, very vivid, taking the keenest interest in every phase of life, social, political and artistic, the May maid, if thoroughly up to date, remains essentially and most truly feminine. For while she shares these qualities with her Queen, she shares, too, her knowledge that the sweetest, proudest title woman can wear is that of wife and mother.



PRETTY MID-SUMMER HAT

Hats of every conceivable shape and size are shown nowadays; a few of them are pretty, but the majority are eccentric and most unbecoming. One of the prettiest of the unusual shapes is shown above. It is a leghorn covered with black and lace, and trimmed on top with a wing bow of emerald green chiffon velvet.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To Preserve Flowers

A little saltpetre added to the water in which cut flowers are placed, will make them last twice as long as they otherwise would do.

A Useful Hint

When making small buns or cakes at home, flour the tins well instead of greasing them; this plan is much less expensive, and the cakes never stick to the tin.

To Boil Quickly

If you want the contents of a saucepan to cook quickly never leave a spoon in it. The spoon carries off a great deal of the heat, and delays the boiling.

Clean Lamp-Burners

Wash your lamp-burners occasionally if you want the lamps to give a good light. Scrub well in a good lather, then rinse and dry by standing on the stove rack. Put in a paper bag before putting on the stove will protect them from dust.

Cloudy Ammonia

It is quite easy to make one's own ammonia at home in the following way: Mix one ounce of rock ammonia with half a gallon of cold water. When this is dissolved the addition of a little yellow soap will make it quite cloudy.

A Clean Pastry-Board

When washing a pastry-board, always scrub with sand, working the way of the grain of the wood. In this way the dirt is removed without scratching the surface. The sand should be washed off with plenty of cold water, the board wiped with a clean cloth, and then left out in the air to dry.

YOU ARE SICK
YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST
WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

All over Canada—from every town and city—we have had reports of attempted deception on the part of Clothiers who cannot get the Semi-ready agency.

Semi-ready garments have earned a certain prestige by reason of their superiority—and the term "Semi-ready" has established by its goodness a secondary meaning—with people who do not know exactly.

There is but one "Semi-ready"—you can always know a Semi-ready garment by its Trade Mark, and by the guarantee certificate placed in the pocket of every real Semi-ready tailored coat.

There is naught "just as good" as Semi-ready tailoring—this you can prove to your own satisfaction by a side-by-side comparison.

APPLICATIONS FOR POSITION OF POLICE OFFICER

John Brown Resigns and John Brown Wants Job

At a meeting of the police commissioners yesterday afternoon applications were read from John Brown, and P. S. Newsholm asking for positions as constables.

A letter from John Brown, Constable, was read, resigning his position, to take effect on Sept. 28th, 1911. It was moved and seconded that the resignation be accepted.—Carried.

Moved and seconded by Mayor Morrow and D. W. Dumble, that Alexander Kidd, who was placed on the police force temporarily by Chief Thompson, be appointed constable at a salary of $500 a year up to Oct. 1st, 1911, and of $600 a year after that date.—Carried.

It was decided that an advertisement be inserted three times in each of the local papers for applications for the position of constable.

The salary of W. E. Meagher, constable, on motion was increased to $650 per year from October 1st, 1911.

Mayor Morrow moved, and Mr. Dumble seconded a motion that the rule requiring constables who wish to resign to give a week's notice, be amended so as to require a month's notice. The motion carried.

TREAT AT THE Y.W.C.A. TO-NIGHT

Miss Knox Will Speak at the Educational Rally

It is peculiarly appropriate that the speaker at the educational rally in the Y.W.C.A. this evening should be the principal of a college named after Frances Ridley Havergal, who, in a sense, was the originator of the Y.W.C.A movement. Miss Knox, however, has much stronger claims upon the interest of a Peterborough audience—a St. Hugh's Hall, Oxford, woman of brilliant academic standing. In the fifteen years she has been in Canada she has made a name for herself in the educational world as an organizer of unusual executive ability, under condition necessarily unfamiliar and difficult. Her claims to greatness have a still surer foundation in the wholesome moral and religious influence which she exerts in the school of which she is the head. She is herself a thoughtful, scholarly student and teacher of the Bible, and the girls under her charge cannot fail to be imbued with a spirit of sensible, helpful Christianity. It is to be hoped that on the occasion of Miss Knox's first public appearance in Peterborough she will be greeted by an audience worthy of her and of the cause for which she comes.

REV. DR. LANGFELDT AT HIS NEW CHURCH

A Barrie Exchange has the following—

The Harvest Festival services last Sunday at St. Paul's were attended by large congregations, both morning and evening, many friends coming from Barrie and Allandale. The ladies had decorated the church very artistically with flowers and the fruits of the harvest field. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt conducted the services, assisted by Rev. J. H. Teney, who was also the special preacher. At the morning service Miss Boys of Barrie sang "The Holy City," and at the evening service Mrs. (Dr.) Sprott sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and "He wipes away every tear from our eyes." Miss Donnelly of Barrie and Miss Mildred Wilson, Churchill, assisted Miss Sadie Leonard at the organ. The singing was heartily rendered by choir and congregation and the congregations breathed a spirit of devout thanksgiving, which was practically demonstrated by the magnificent offertory of $72.60 for the cause of missions. Rev. Mr. Teney congratulated the people on the splendid evidences of life and work in the parish and expressed the hope that still greater things might be accomplished. At the morning service he preached on Malachi II 12, "And all nations shall call you blessed, for ye shall be a delightsome land, saith the Lord of Hosts."

DOWNFALL OF EXPRESS CLERK

Wrote Farewell Note and Drank Carbolic Acid

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 29—"Mother, when you get this I will be in the Great Beyond. Don't blame me it was not my fault; I was only a tool; others got the money."

Harry Vail charged with the theft of over six hundred dollars from the Dominion Express Company, had in his possession a full four-ounce bottle of carbolic acid when Geo. Grierson, inspector of the Canadian Pacific Railway Police, came into his room and arrested him. The above note shows that he intended suicide.

Harry Vail appeared before Inspector Duffus at the Barracks and pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing $495 from the Dominion Express Company, while in their employ as cashier. Only three witnesses were called; M. Flaherty, the local accountant, J. Pugh, an assistant cashier, and Geo. Grierson, inspector of police. The evidence of the first two witnesses went to show that Vail had covered the deficiency to $495 by putting a cheque from a branch office through on the debit side of his book, without carrying it through on his cash balance sheet in the credit column. After hearing the evidence Inspector Duffus committed Vail for trial upon the charge of the theft of $495.

There are four additional charges of theft, amounting to $283, against Vail, which will be taken up at the barracks on Monday. G.R. Keelman charged with being an accomplice will be tried on Wednesday. Harry Collins will come up for hearing on Saturday, Dan Giroux the express driver, also charged with the theft of over a hundred dollars and the forgery of a cheque for $25, will be tried on Saturday also.

Defeat of R. S. Lake Due to Use of Money

Regina, Sask., Sept. 28—The Government influence among foreigners and homesteaders was a big factor in the recent election. The Province was overrun with officials of every description coercing voters. Mr. Lake's defeat is bitterly regretted here. The government spent thousands of dollars to defeat him and all the machinery of the local government was used against him.

The seat will be protested and Mr. Lake will be in Parliament after the first session. Many irregularities are coming to light. There is a strong revulsion of feeling since the Conservative victory.

MR. J. A. SEXSMITH WITH PORTFOLIO

Is Suggested for the Position of Minister of Agriculture

Says the Havelock Standard—The daily press is busily engaged these days in making cabinets for Mr. R.L. Borden, and the claims of the various aspirants for Ministerial honors are elaborately enumerated. The Standard, falling in line, would respectfully recommend to Mr. Borden, that he seriously consider the ability and character of our own member, Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, for the portfolio of Minister of Agriculture. While there may be many other farmer members recently elected, and some perhaps with more parliamentary experience to their credit than J. A. Sexsmith, yet we have no hesitation in affirming that Mr. Sexsmith would fill the post with honor to his party and to himself.

TOOK A FIT

Young Man Took Suddenly Ill on Street

Passers-by on George street in front of Richard Hall's store, were considerably excited yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, when a young man named James, suddenly collapsed and fell in a heap on the sidewalk. He was assisted to his feet by a couple of people passing, but appeared to be in a fit of some nature, as his eyes were glassed, and his limbs quivered quite noticeably. He was assisted to Payne's drug store, until the ambulance arrived, which conveyed him to Nicholls Hospital. Dr. Marshall attended him, and his condition to-day was reported to be satisfactory.

COLLEGIATE FIELD DAY AT RIVERSIDE ON THURSDAY

Jumps Are to Held on Monday Afternoon — Road Races To-day.

The Collegiate Athletic Club is holding its annual field day of sports next Thursday afternoon at Riverside Park At 4.15 o'clock this afternoon the road race, senior and junior, was billed to be run from the school and on Monday evening next, if the weather is favorable, the jumps will take place at Riverside Park.

The field sports are becoming more popular at the collegiate every year and the citizens and parents of the pupils are showing their appreciation of this enthusiasm by turning out in large numbers to view the contests.

The prizes are also worth competing for. For the all-round championship of the Collegiate there is a handsome trophy which Harold Hill now holds. There is also a silver cup for the junior championship which Meredith Huycke possesses. Several medals are also among the prizes.

There is no doubt that the races will be better than ever this year as several of the athletes around the collegiate have been training under capable managers for some time and Hill is going to have his work cut out for him if he walks home with the trophy again. Those who saw Hill's work in the Labor Day sports are confident that he will smash some more records at the meet next week.

The road race last year was won by P. Fusie, a dark horse. It was a surprise packet for the most of the spectators but the ease with which the winner shook off his opponents made the victory a popular one. There There are several entries for to-day and he will probably get a better race than last year.

DOUBLE HEADER IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Park St. vs. All Saints' and St. James' vs. Knox, To-morrow

The regular weekly double header will be played by the Church Football League teams to-morrow, Park St. and All Saints meeting at the former's grounds, while St. James' and Knox clash at the Exhibition Park. Both games are called for three o'clock Added interest has been given to the league, by the donation of a trophy and the contests from now on, are sure to be very interesting, and the Baptists and Saints are travelling on an equal standing, so far as games count, and undoubtedly the premier attraction to-morrow, will be the contest between these two elevens.

THE RING

(Moncton Transcript.)

On the train from north yesterday afternoon, and occupying a Pullman section, was no less personage than Jack Munroe, bound east to visit his mother in Cape Breton. It used to be Jack Munroe, heavyweight pugilist; but now, it is Jack Munroe, financier and capitalist. "The only man who ever won a decision off Jeffries in his heyday," was lying back at ease, reading, when a Transcript representative entered the car. And what do you suppose he was reading? Not the sporting page of an American or Canadian daily, as many would suppose, but the latest edition of "Life," which goes to show that Jack has relegated for keeps his pugilistic instinct to the background.

The ex-mayor of Silver Falls was looking years younger than on his last visit east. Stripped, to-day, he would weigh easily 240 pounds, and to a question as to whether he proposed joining the ranks of the "White Hopes," he answered, "No more for mine. I am through with the ring, and hereafter I will confine myself to business. But just the same, while I am in Cape Breton, I am going to keep an eye peeled for likely looking men, and tough men at that. They have produced what I consider the best middleweight wrestler in the game to-day, and that man is Dan McDonald. "Oh, yea," he said, "we hear of McDonald away out there, and you may take it for granted that McDonald's name is known wherever there is a mat."

Jack's mother is living on the old homestead at Boularderie, a short distance from North Sydney, and that is the place Jack was born. He is now located in the Porcupine district, having gone there from Cobalt in pursuit of the elusive dollar.

RUGBY WORKOUT

Practice at Riverside To-morrow Afternoon at Three O'clock

All rugby players who can possibly do so are asked to be out in uniform at Riverside Park, to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock for a workout. With the first league game with Parkdale only a couple of weeks off, it is necessary that those who want to play the game, attend the practices. Good progress has been made so far. and with a little co-operation, the W.E.A.C. feel that a good strong fourteen can be placed on the field to represent Peterboro this season.

HEFFERNAN WITH OTTAWA COLLEGE

But is Out of Rugby Game With Bad Knee

Ottawa Citizen— A light workout of the Ottawa College football team was held at Varsity Oval yesterday afternoon, when two full teams opposed each other for a short while. The back line, though a young one is showing up remarkably well, and it is not unlikely that a couple of stars will be uncovered before the season opens in this department such as Jimmy Dean and Nick Bawlf of the 1907 fourteen.

The Robillard boys, Henry and Jack, are practically sure of positions, the former being a strong candidate for quarter. Billy Shartrand and Nagle are also doing great work while Renaud, who played on last year's small yard team, will likely be found with the seniors also. Jack Sullivan, who was injured a few days ago, was in his old place on the line again, and Silver Quilty, who figured at outside wing and at center half last year, will likely be moved closer to the scrimmage, where his great plunging will make him more valuable. "Moose" Heffernan is out of the game with a bad knee, but will be all O.K. by the end of the week.

All the team is making great improvement, in fact and should be in tip top shape to give the McGill boys the game of their lives when they clash at Montreal on Saturday, Oct 7th.

PETE CAMPBELL IN HARD LUCK

Pete Campbell is the hard luck player of Varsity. Last season Pete was troubled with Charley Horse and injuries while now he is out of the game with an injured shoulder and a sprained ankle. Pete will be unable to play to-morrow, and his place at quarter will be taken by Gardner.—Mail and Empire.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 29 — Tecumsehs have had the best of weather since their arrival on the coast and have had a hard work-out each morning since Monday. They have made a big impression and their home is regarded as being very shifty, but opinion in Vancouver concedes them no chance of winning the cup.

Fierce Fighting in Persia.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 29.—Teheran despatch says that according to Government advices a great battle was fought Wednesday at Nobaran, 50 miles from Teheran. Salar Ed. BOTTLED LEMON JUICE

Those who do not use many lemons in cooking think it extravagant to buy them simply to remove stains from the hands, as the lemons soon dry up or go mouldy. Try this way; you will find it most economical: Buy a large, juicy lemon, and squeeze out all the juice. Strain, and pour into a small bottle, and cork tightly. If the hands are stained, or very dirty, pour a little juice into the palm, and rub the hands well all over, into the nails and finger-tips especially. Let this dry on, then wash the hands in warm water with good soap. You will be delighted with the result, and surprised to find how long the juice will last. The rind can be dried and used as a flavoring for puddings, etc.

SMILES AND SMILES

A smile that bears a hint of bitterness is a mere grimace.

A smile of scorn throws scorn upon the scorner.

A frank, free, merry, happy smile is the true variety, and worth running a mile to see.

BOOT ECONOMY

When buying boots, cheap or expensive, many coppers can be saved by rubbing the soles and heels with a little boiled linseed-oil. The oil hardens the leather, and keeps the wet from penetrating to the feet. The process must be repeated every other evening till the leather will absorb no more oil. A gill of oil costs five cents, and saves about a quarter in the long run.

GOOD HINTS

An immaculate mattress is essential to good health. It is well to have a separate cover that buttons on, so that it can be frequently washed.

A cloudy day is the best for washing windows, because the warm sunshine dries the water too quickly, and the window is likely to be streaked.

HAND RAILS ON LADDER

Give Persons Sure Footing in Ascending to Top Steps

People who have had occasion to use tall stepladders know how difficult it sometimes is to keep their footing in ascending to the top steps particularly if they have a bucket or some other burden in one hand. An Indiana man has designed a pair of hand rails for ladders which effectively overcome this. Along the upper part of the sides of the ladder are attachments, on each of which swinging arms are pivoted. To these arms, in turn, railings are pivoted so that when needed the railings can be pulled out to form a guide and support to a person ascending the steps and when not needed they can be folded in along the sides of the ladder. Painters or paperhangers will find this attachment a great help and need not worry about a tumble. Housemaids, too, will be able to climb to the top of the ladder and wipe the ceiling without any further excuse.

RECIPROCITY IS "KILLED DEAD"

Ottawa Free Press (Liberal)

It was not increased trade with the United States that a majority of the people of Canada voted down on Thursday last.

What they objected to was the agreement, written and definite, between the two countries which they were asked to ratify. They regarded that agreement as something in the nature of a dangerous entanglement with the United States.

The Free Press believes that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States will come, for as our turncoat Ottawa contemporary truly said, "mutual free trade in food is mutual common sense."

But this reciprocity will be brought about, not by written agreement that the people of Canada have objected to—but by natural evolution

For the relief of its consuming population, the United States must, sooner or later, take the customs duties off the importation of food. The lowering of these barriers against Canada's products will cause our farm produce to flow into the United States. That will lead to an increase in the cost of living here. The Canadian Government will then be compelled to afford relief to our consuming population. We shall have to lower our tariffs against the United States to bring that relief.

In this way we will have reciprocity, and in this way, only.

If the Toronto Globe is to be interpreted as advocating the maintenance of the reciprocity plank in the Liberal platform, the Free Press asserts that it is out of touch with Canadian and Liberal opinion.

The Montreal Herald speaks better for Liberalism when it says:

"That this particular proposition for a trade bargain with the United States should be nailed to the masthead by the Liberals is uncalled for by loyalty to any principle, and a grave political mistake will be made if the project is not dropped from the Liberal agenda."

Reciprocity with the United States by agreement is dead in Canada—and dead, we believe, for all time to come.

But the Liberal part still stands the champion of the people against the trusts and capitalistic plundering; it still stands for lower tariffs on the people's food, and for policies such as an increase in the British preference, that will alleviate the hardships caused by the increasing cost of living.

SCHURMAN GETS AFTER MR. CRANE

Warm Language Over Remarks on College Morals

Ithica, N.Y., Sept. 28—A vitriolic renunciation of R.T. Crane, of Chicago, for characterizing Harvard, Yale Princeton, Columbia and Cornell students in particular, and the vast majority of college students in general, as heavy drinkers and youths prone to gross immorality, was the feature of the address of Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell University, at opening exercises to-day.

"Mr. Crane's allegations are a libel and an outrage," said Schurman, "not alone on the great body of our universities' students, but on a group of the ablest, most high-minded and devoted citizens of the republic, university professors everywhere.

"Mr. Crane is happily a rare type in this republic. Most right men who have been deprived of the opportunities of a higher education feel and regret their loss. Mr. Crane has succeeded as a money-maker, and he seems to regard wealth as the be-all and end-all of human existence. Success in life he measures by success in money getting. That ideas, that knowledge are of vastly more value than money, Mr. Crane apparently cannot imagine. No wonder he attacks the colleges and universities, which are devoted to scholarship, science, and truth."

EXPERIENCE OF A MINISTER IN PRESBYTERIAN CAMPAIGN

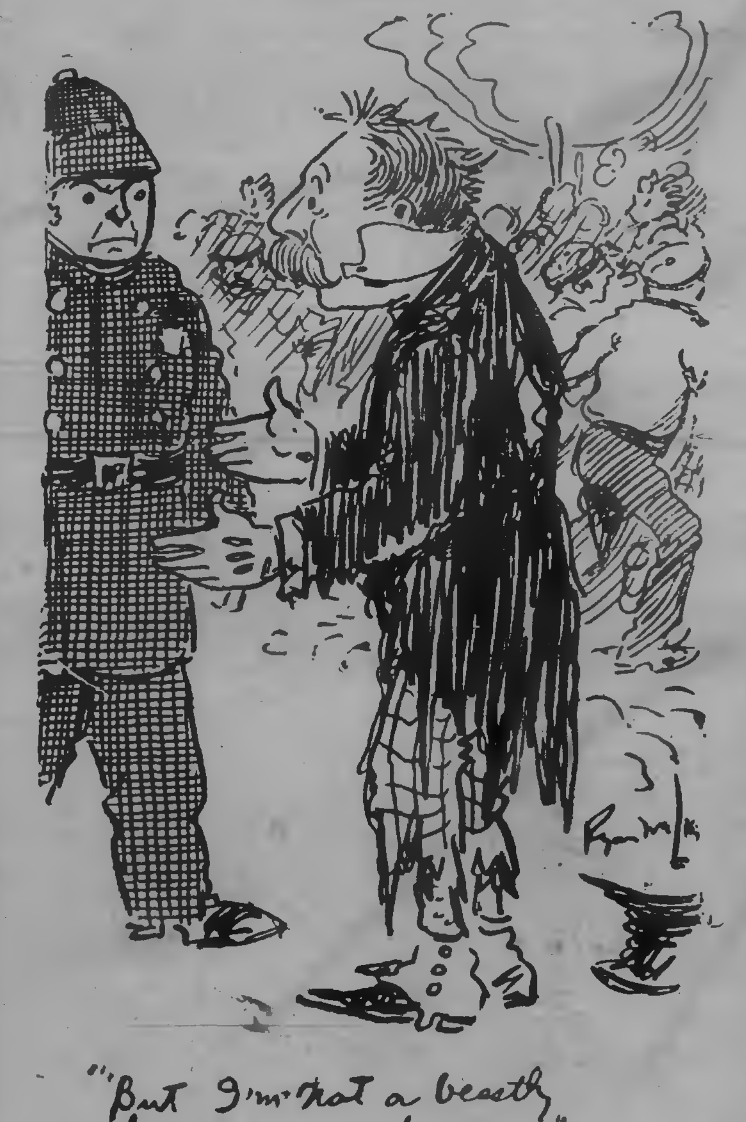
An interesting feature of the house to house conference now being carried on by the Presbyterians was the visitation yesterday by one of the ministers of the families in a country section of his congregation. The minister was accompanied by an elder. It is generally supposed that it is fatal for a minister to engage personally in such work, and the laymen who are expert business men, may wish to know the result of the day's work, so far as a day's work can be totalled.

Fifteen families were called upon. Definite amounts were subscribed by nine, with an annual increase of $34.20 for current revenue, and $41.40 for missions, a total gain in the two departments of $75.60. Five others kept their cards and promised to hand them back on Saturday or on Sunday. Two families in the district were not reached yesterday, but will be called upon later. When the work is completed there will be a gain in this district of over $100. Two men definitely promised the minister to unite with the church at the communion service to be held in October. The minister was received most cordially, and no deaths from shock are reported up to our going to press. It is safe to say that the attendance at church from that district will be larger than ever next Sabbath. No one was unduly pressed for money, but the church's job in its reality and bigness was brought home to the several families, and it was taken for granted that each would do his share, and the results are satisfactory. There will be a demand for more envelopes, and it is doubtful if the supply, regarded as abundant when the order was placed at the beginning of the year will be adequate. In one church this supply was exhausted before the present movement took shape, showing that the growth was beyond the expectation of the officials. In some families where only one member formerly contributed, now there will be two or more contributions.

In Knox church 78 cards have been returned, of which 68 promise definite amounts for current revenue, ranging from 5c. to $1.00 Sabbath, while 31 make definite promise of amounts ranging from $1.00 to $25.00 for the building fund, payable December 1st, 1911, and 52 make a definite subscription to missions, ranging from 5c. to 25c. per Sabbath. But other than financial results are being obtained. One worker reports coming into acquaintance with a family which had been here for two years and had not been in a church. This will not be the case after next Sabbath. The haystack motto—100 years ago—"We can do it if we will." The Men's Missionary Congress, Toronto, 1909: "We can do it and we will." The Edinburgh Conference motto, 1910: "He can do it if we will." God works through men. Let Him use you and yours.



"But I'm not a beastly director dontcherknow"

"You know I had a beastly experience in London this pawst summer," said Lawrence D'Orsay the distinguished comedian, "and I chawnce to be especially reminded of it while here in deah Peterborough because I was born in Peterborough in England and had just been to that delightful town to spend a day. I reached London from Peterborough, and landed with my-ah luggage at Paddington station. Now there was a strike on in London and my word the-ah strikers dontcherknow bally well mistook me for a railroad director and they certainly ruined my personal appearance by just mobbing me, but the worst of the whole thing was they threw a large black cat at me and my word but that—ah cat made a bally wreck of me, but at lawst I was rescued by the London bobbies from both the destructive cat and the strikers and felt like a bloomin' cad.

Mr. D'Orsay comes to the Grand Opera House on Friday, Oct. 6th, in The Earl of Pawtucket, which has had the largest audiences of any play this season in Toronto.

FORMER PETERBORO BOY IS NOW TOTALLY BLIND

Scott Wilson Meets With Another Unfortunate Accident—Struck in Eye by Chip of Wood.

The many friends in this city of Scott Wilson, the eighteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wilson, Spokane, Wash., and formerly of this city, will regret to hear that he was the victim of a serious accident when he was struck in his eye with a chip, and is totally blind. Many of the citizens will remember that eight years ago, while the family resided in Peterborough, he was shot in one eye with an air rifle in the hands of a neighbor's boy and he has not been able to see out of that eye since. Thus losing the sight of the other eye makes him doubly unfortunate.

The physicians in attendance, which are the best that can be secured, place their only hope for sight in restoring the eye which was shot.

The Wilson family left here about six years ago after having resided in the city for five years. They made many friends while in Peterborough who will sympathize with them in their trouble.

ALD. MORGAN BACK FROM CONVENTION

Many Interesting and Profitable Features at Milwaukee

Ald. Morgan, chairman of the Fire Water and Light Committee, returned on the C.P.R. midnight from the Fire Chiefs' convention which he attended at Milwaukee with Fire Chief Howard and Mrs Howard, September 18th to 22nd. The Chief and Mrs. Howard went to London, Ont., for a few days where they will visit the chief's mother before returning home.

Ald Morgan, in speaking to a Review representative, this afternoon, was very enthusiastic over the trip.

One thousand fire chiefs were present at the fire chiefs' convention in Milwaukee, besides the other delegates. There were fifteen deaths recorded on the report at one session and a very impressive memorial service was held in which the delegates took part.

PREVENTION OF FIRES.

There were instructive addresses on the prevention of fires by competent speakers. Ald. Morgan says that one method was emphasized which is along the line of the by-law being adopted here—that of having the fire chief inspect all the stores and business places and city and public buildings.

There was always someone planning some entertainment for the visitors. While the men were in convention the ladies were being taken around the city in autos. On Thursday evening, Sept 21st, a big banquet was held for all the delegates and their wives.

BIG DEMONSTRATION.

There was a big demonstration of fire apparatus by the exhibitors, for the benefit of those in attendance at the convention. It consisted of motor driven chemical fire engines, chemical extinguishers, etc. The chemical extinguishers have been a success and are in use everywhere, but the chemical engines, motor driven, are only in their infancy.

Ald. Morgan visited several fire departments and saw the turnouts and equipments and emphatically states states that the local department is second to none, outside those which have motor driven trucks. The hall is also kept as neat as any he inspected.

Fire Chief Howard and Mrs. Howard are expected home in a few days. Miss Morgan did not accompany Ald Morgan, as announced.

FARMERS LACK BUSINESS SKILL

Prof. Creelman Says They Aren't Speculative Enough

Toronto, Sept. 28—That which the farmer in Ontario lacks most at the present day is business ability. He will not spend ten dollars in order to make twenty, but unlike the business man, looks for a bare existence first and lets the amount of profit rank second, he would do well to take a leaf out of the example book fo the western farmer, who is born speculator and will readily spend $100 on the chance of making fifty rather than not spend at all.

This is the opinion of Dr. G. C. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, who addressed the post-graduate conference of Knox College last night on the subject of agricultural education.

Dr. Creelman advocated for each country district the presence of the "doctor of agriculture" along with the physician, lawyer, and veterinary surgeon.

Such a man would find plenty of work to do, and could raise the efficiency of the soil in his district from twenty per cent up. There are over twenty such men at work at the present time, established by the agricultural college, and each is so busy that an assistant has had to be provided.

Floods have caused much damage at Fort de France, Martinique.

STATUE OF EDITOR HORACE GREELEY

Cast Yesterday at Chappaqua and is 8 Feet High

New York, Sept. 29— A large bronze statue of the late Horace Greeley, the distinguished American journalist and editor of The Tribune was cast yesterday, preparatory to its being erected to his memory in the village of Chappaqua where he spent many of his best days.

The statute is the work of Mr. William Ordway Partridge, the New York sculptor. There are several large statues of the noted American journalist, but all of them show him seated. The conception of Mr. Partridge represents Mr. Greeley standing his chin slightly raised as though looking in a moment of relaxation toward his distant acres. In his right hand, which is hanging down easily from his side, is a newspaper. The pose is easy and unrestrained and the expression of the face is indicative of simplicity and ideality. The statue measures eight feet in height.

Italian Flag Flying Over Tripoli; Troops on the Move

Italian Cruisers Chasing Turkish Fleet to the Dardanelles—Fighting Starts on Greek Frontier---Austrian Frontier Mobilization---Transports Founder

ITALIAN FLAG FLIES IN TRIPOLI.

Special to the Review.

Rome, Sept. 30.—The Italian flag flies over Tripoli, and it is reported that Italian troops will invade Albania in European Turkey.

MOBILIZING ON AUSTRIAN FRONTIER.

Special to the Review.

Vienna, Sept. 30.—Italy is mobilizing troops on the Austrian frontier. The move is not understood here.

TURKISH TORPEDO BOAT STRANDED.

Special to the Review.

Rome, Sept. 30.—The Duke d'Abruzzi telegraphs that he has established a blockade at Prevenza. In a despatch he says. "Two torpedo boats attempted to escape. We engaged one, which was stranded after catching fire. We pursued the other, which returned to Prevenza."

GREEKS ARE FIGHTING.

Special to the Review.

Belgrade, Sept. 30.—Fighting is in progress on the Turko-Greek frontier to-day. It is believed to be mere skirmishing preliminary to a general Turko-Greek campaign.

ITALIAN CRUISERS CHASING 'EM.

Special to the Review.

London, Sept. 30.—The Admiralty advises that two big Italian cruisers are closely following a fleet of Turkish warships en route to the Dardanelles, where they are due to arrive Sunday morning.

TRANSPORTS ARE BEACHED.

Special to the Review.

Vienna, Sept. 30.—A rigid censorship renders news of the late war developments meagre. The Italian landing at Tripoli is not yet confirmed, and is not yet credited. The sinking of two barge loads of Italian soldiers is, however, confirmed, but the fate of the men is unknown. In beaching two Turkish transports off Prevenza to avoid capture, several hundred Turks are reported drowned.

London, Sept. 30.—Hostilities have begun in the Turko-Italian war by the invasion of the Epirus by an Italian squadron, and the blockade of Tripoli, which was summoned to surrender by the commander of the Garabaldino, the Turkish governor of Tripoli refusing to accede to the demand. It is stated that the Italians will seize the whole coast.

It is believed in London that the grabbing of Tripoli by Italy is part of the program of the triple entente, whereby Austria took the Bosnia-Herzegovina provinces, Germany contemplated a share of Morocco, and Italy now seizes her portion. Germany is protecting Italian subjects in Turkey.

The Turkish Government is said to have resolved not to oppose the occupation, and the Ministry has resigned. The Turkish fleet, steaming for the Dardanelles, may be captured by the superior Italian squadron.

That England's hands are tied is admitted by the London press, but The Daily Graphic blames Sir Edward Grey for permitting the violation of treaty obligations which guarantee the integrity of Turkey.

Destroyer Is Sunk.

Saloniki, European Turkey, Sept. 30.—(1 a.m.).—An Italian cruiser has destroyed a Turkish destroyer in the harbor of Prevesa, in Epirus, and landed troops. The Turkish authorities are sending a battalion of troops to Prevesa.

Battle at Prevesa.

Paris, Sept. 30.—The Matin Athens' correspondent says that the telegraph officials at Vonitza, Greece, wires to the Government that a naval battle occurred off Prevesa at two o'clock in the afternoon. Italian warships belonging to the Ionian squadron encountered a flotilla of Turkish destroyers cruising off the coast of Epirus. The Italians promptly attacked the flotilla, and two Turkish ships were badly damaged by shells. They have gone ashore in the Gulf of Arta.

Italians Land.

he Turkish Cabinet has resigned.

d Pasha, president of the Senate, een appointed grand vizier, and il Pasha, Foreign Minister.

mond Shefket Pasha will continu a Minister of War.

Th overnment has decided not to oppos n armed resistance to the occupat of Tripoli, and, further, to take m easures against Italian residents Turkey. The Government hopes b dopting that attitude that Italy wi t treat the Tripolitans as a conque people.

Tur ank Two Barges.

Constant e, Sept. 30.—The Turkish War Ministry, according to the reports current here last night, has received a despatch from the late Turkish military attache at Paris, who has assumed command of the forces at Tripoli, stating that the Italians began to disembark yesterday afternoon, but the Turks succeeded in sinking the first two barges.

The Italian charge, Signor di Martino, handed the Porte yesterday afternoon a communication intimating the intention of Italy to proceed with the measures foreshadowed in the ultimatum. This was tantamount to a declaration of war, and as a state of war would give Italy greater freedom of action in Turkey waters there is much apprehension regarding the Turkish war vessels at present streaming in the direction of the Dardanelles, lest they are captured by the Italian squadron, which is believed to be watching the movements of Turkish ships.

The British embassy here is concerned for the British officers with the Turkish squadron and are instructing the Government for their recall. The question of the protection of Italian subjects in Turkey is engaging the attention of the Italian authorities.

The newspapers publish the statement that Italian battleships have appeared off Smyrna and Salonaki.

"The Italian embassy, carrying out the orders of the King, has the honor to notify you that the delay accorded by the Royal Government to the Porte, with a view to the realization of certain necessary measures, has expired without a satisfactory reply reaching the Italian Government. The lack of this reply only confirms the bad will, or want of power, of which the Turkish Government and authorities have given such frequent proof, especially with regard to the rights and interests of Italians in Tripoli and Cyrenica.

"The Royal Government consequently is obliged itself to safeguard its rights and interests, as well as its honor and dignity, by all means at its disposal. Events which will follow can only be regarded as the necessary consequence of conduct followed so long by the Turkish authorities.

"The relations of peace and friendship being therefore interrupted between the two countries, Italy considers herself from this moment in a state of war with Turkey. I have therefore the honor to make known to your highness that passports will be placed at the disposal of the charge d'affaires at Rome, and I beg your highness to hand passports to the representatives of the Royal Government.

"Ottoman subjects may continue to reside in Italy without fear of an at-

Sir Wm. Whyte's Retiral.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—To-day is the date set for the retirement of Sir William Whyte from the management of the Western Canadian Pacific Railway affairs. Up to this time his successor has not been named.

The probabilities are that one of three men will fill the vacancy. They are Sir Thomas Tait, G. J. Bury, and George M. Bosworth.

May Have Perished In Flames.

Brockville, Sept. 30.—During the night the farm buildings of Alfred Tackaberry, residing three miles from Athens, were entirely consumed by fire with the season's crop. Tackaberry, it is believed, perished in the ruins.

CHANGES OF OFFICIALS

Additions to the Vice Presidencies of the Road

C. M. Hays Resigns Presidency of Can. Exp. Co.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Announcement was made yesterday of a complete reorganization of the executive domestic economy of the Grand Trunk Railway. The old offices of vice-presidents have been altered, so that they are no longer first, second and third vice-presidents, but a number of vice-presidents each in charge of a department. The official circles in the Grand Trunk Pacific are also somewhat changed.

For several days there have been rumors that William Wainwright second vice-president of the two roads, intended to retire, having passed 70 years of age, when employes are permitted to retire on a superannuation. But he is not to retire. Instead he is to take a step higher in the general management, as a reward of his faithful services since he entered the service in 1862.

E. H. Fitzhugh, formerly vice-president of the Grand Trunk, becomes president of the Central Vermont, Central Vermont Transportation Co., Southern New England Railway Co. and Montreal and Southern Counties Railway. As the headquarters of the Central Vermont are at St. Albans, it is expected that Mr. Fitzhugh will leave Montreal for that town.

CHARLES M. HAYS,
Who Resigns Presidency of Canadian Express Co.

The reorganization of the vice-presidents continue.

William Wainwright, formerly second vice-president of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, becomes senior vice-president of the Grand Trunk and second vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

M. M. Reynolds, formerly third vice-president of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, becomes vice-president of the Grand Trunk, in charge of the financial and accounting departments, and third vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Howard G. Kelley, formerly chief engineer of the Grand Trunk, becomes vice-president in charge of construction, transportation and maintenance departments.

J. E. Dalrymple, formerly freight traffic manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, becomes vice-president of the Grand Trunk in charge of traffic, both passenger and freight.

R. S. Logan, formerly assistant to President Hays, becomes vice-president for the Grand Trunk in charge of land, tax, claims, and mail departments.

H. R. Safford, formerly with the Illinois Central at Chicago, becomes chief engineer of the Grand Trunk, with headquarters at Montreal.

D. E. Galloway, formerly secretary to President Hays, becomes associate to the president.

Charles M. Hays having been elected chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Express Co., is succeeded as president of that company by Mr. John Pullen.

J. E. Dalrymple is also appointed fourth vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, in charge of traffic with headquarters in Montreal.

CANADA'S NEW PRIME MINISTER, WHO FOUGHT RECIPROCITY ISSUE.

R.L. BORDEN AND MRS. BORDEN.

Robert Laird Borden, Canada's new Prime Minister, is the first man to attain that office who has not given the better part of his life to politics. He was forty-two years old and a lawyer of eminent standing in Halifax before he entered the public arena. The election of 1896, which brought Sir Wilfrid Laurier into power, gave Mr. Borden a seat in the opposition.

He displaces Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a man who is his opposite in nearly every conceivable characteristic. Sir Wilfrid is French, fluent, adroit; Mr. Borden, British, blunt, without the minor political facility which makes leadership easy.

STRATHCONA'S FLYING TRIP

Canadian High Commissioner is Quite Active

Montreal, Sept. 30.—The extraordinary activity which marks Lord Strathcona's visit, despite his 91 years, was again exemplified by his arrival in Montreal at an early hour yesterday morning.

Although Canada's wonderful old man only landed from the Mauretania in New York on Thursday, accompanied by his daughter, the Honorable Mrs. Robert Howard, no time was spent in that city. A special train, consisting of engine, baggage car, and private car was at once ordered, and rolled into the Canadian Pacific Railway station here at 8.30 yesterday morning, after a fast but otherwise uneventful journey.

So unexpected was the High Commissioner's advent that no one was at the station to meet him, and apparently little the worse for the journey, Lord Strathcona immediately entered a waiting motor car and was driven off to his residence on Dorchester street.

There every moment was practically accounted for, and with a very brief rest, business ruled supreme for the remainder of the day.

Lord Strathcona expects to leave for Ottawa some time to-day, and after a brief return visit to Montreal, will go to New York in time to catch the Mauretania on her trip back to England.

Winding-Up Order Granted.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—At the request of Mr. T. J. R. Laurendeau, president of the King Edward Park Co., Ltd., a petition for a winding-up order against the King Edward Park Co. was presented yesterday morning, and the petition being unopposed, was immediately granted by Judge Laurendeau, who was on the bench.

Mr. A. Desmarteaux was appointed provisional liquidator, and the meeting of creditors will be called for October 9.

Mrs. Patterson Hall Elected.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—The Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England, in triennial conference here yesterday, elected officers for the ensuing three years. The re-election to the presidency of Mrs. Patterson Hall by an unanimous vote was the feature of the sitting.

Other elections were: Honorary president, Mrs Tilton, Ottawa; recording secretary, Mrs. Raynes, Montreal; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rogers, Ottawa; Dorcas secretary, treasurer, Miss Halso, Toronto; junior secretary, Miss A. Gaviller, Hamilton; secretary-treasurer, Miss Edith Cater, Quebec; convener of Chinese work, Mrs. G. Greene, Ottawa.

Vice-presidents will be elected today. Mrs. Robertson of London, Ont., read a paper on conditions among the Indians and complimented the efforts of the Rupert's Land diocese in improving the condition of the red men.

DEATH WAS DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES, SAYS THE CORONER

Body of James McCartney May Be Exhumed at Wiarton to Satisfy Public.

Wiarton, Sept. 30.—There is a possibility that the body of the late James McCartney, which was found in a field near his home ten miles from here, may be exhumed and another inquest held, to satisfy a curious public.

On Tuesday last Coroner Wigle, sr., held an inquest on the body and called a number of witnesses, one of whom was Dr. Charles Wigle, his son. The latter made the post mortem examination, and under instructions from the crown authorities at Walkerton, made only a superficial examination of the cuts in the head, which are said to have been merely flesh wounds which went as far as the bone of the skull.

In the evidence submitted by Dr. Charles Wigle, he stated that all the wounds could have been inflicted by a stone or by falling on a stone, and the jury decided, after much discussion, to bring in a verdict, to the effect that "James McCartney came to his death from wounds on the head, inflicted by some person unknown."

Dr. Wigle takes the ground that, no matter what the internal condition may be, it would not explain the wounds on the head. He stated that he had treated deceased for nervous trouble and dizzy spells a week before he died, and that McCartney was very depressed and seemed to be in terrible fear of something. He was weak and more or less in a condition of collapse at that time.

High Constable Ward visited the scene Thursday, and found some small blood marks and hair on a stone near where the old man lay, as well as some marks which looked as if the dead man had had a water brash.

"Joy" Bullet Kills Man.

Quebec, Sept. 30.—Dudley Causton, manager for Mark Hambourg, was shot to death at Rimouski Thursday evening. Deceased, with Mr. and Mrs. Hambourg, was a passenger on board the Empress of Britain and landed to take the train for the East.

During the evening, a political demonstration was in progress, and a revolver was discharged, the bullet striking and killing Causton.

LINDSAY GIVES TO SEYMOUR CO.

The Franchise for Local Power Won't Buy Local Plant

Lindsay, Sept. 30.—The vote to grant a franchise to the Electrical Power Co., Ltd., a company which controls some twenty or more power concerns in the Trent district, carried the bylaw, the total vote being 889 for, and 283 against, or a majority of 606. In fact the bylaw carried with large majorities in every division. Two bylaws were before the people, one to give the franchise, the other to buy the local plant out and have municipal ownership. With the passing of the bylaw, the people of Lindsay will get cheaper light and power rates, and a promise of new industries.

One Jury Man Held Out.

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 30.—The jury disagreed in the charges of conspiracy and intimidation in connection with the strike at the Hudson Bay Mine brought against fourteen Gowganda miners, one juryman standing out for acquittal against eleven for conviction.

The jury was discharged and a new jury about to be empanelled, when counsel for the prisoners, G. L. T. Bull, entered a plea of guilty for his clients and Justice Sutherland allowed the fourteen liberty on suspended sentence, pending good conduct for one year.

COCHRANE IS A CERTAINTY

At Least One Man Settled on for Borden Cabinet

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Up till last night two men and no more than two had been definitely slated for places in the Borden Cabinet. It is said on what should be the best authority that Cabinet forecasts so far published are wide of the truth and that the authentic list of Borden Ministers when finally announced will surprise men higher in the party heretofore and closest to the Premier-elect.

Mr. Borden is making his own Cabinet, although he is taking the advice of such men as Sir James Whitney. It will not be, according to the best information available last night, composed wholly, or nearly so, of men who have been known in the political world, or who have done party service.

Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. Robert Rogers are regarded as the two whose entry into the new Government is a settled thing. Their portfolios have not been designated, and the probability is that none of the men who are finally chosen will be assigned a portfolio until the Cabinet personnel itself has been settled.

An effort is said to be being made to bring Hon. Richard McBride to Ottawa as Mr. Borden's right hand man, but the British Columbia Premier has not yet replied.

TWO MEN JAILED; RESULT OF HAMILTON EXPRESS ROBBERY

Disappearance of $8,000 from Office of Canadian Express Co. Leads to Arrest of Clerk Who Says He Was Bound and Gagged—Friend in Trouble.

Hamilton, Sept. 30.—Following the sensational discovery of the theft of more than $8,000 from the vault in the local office of the Canadian Express Co. at an early hour yesterday morning, George H. Kennough, night clerk in the office, was taken into custody by Detective Cameron on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery, and the police claim they now have sufficient evidence to justify a charge of theft against him in connection with the affair.

The police made a second arrest when they captured John Hughes, an agent of the London Life Insurance Co., formerly employed at the Canadian Express office. He was arrested at his home on Bay street north, and taken to the cells. No formal charge has been made against him, and the police will not say what connection he is supposed to have with the case.

Detectives left for Dundas yesterday afternoon to search the Kennaugh home there.

The police department last night refused to discuss the matter or to give out any further information, but it is understood that no clew has yet been discovered as to the whereabouts of the stolen money. The exact amount taken from the vault was $8,574.24. Of this sum $5,000 was contained in one parcel of bank notes, $2,000 in another, and the remainder was in small bills and silver.

The robbery was discovered by W. A. Robinson, local agent for the company, who was called to the office shortly before 7 o'clock in the morning by one of the drivers, who was unable to gain admittance to the office as usual. Kennough was found lying in the vault, bound hand and foot with two pieces of small grass clothes-line, which was quite new. The police department was promptly notified, and Detective Cameron went to the scene at once.

Kennough before being unbound told a story to the effect that two men entered the office from James street, and before he was aware of their presence one of them placed a revolver to his head and demanded the money in the vault. After securing their booty they tied Kennough's hands and feet and put him inside the vault, where he was later found by Mr. Robinson. Kennough said the robbers were masked and he was unable to give any description of them, other than they were short and stout.

The police say that Kennough's feet were very loosely tied together and that he was able to move about after being placed on his feet. It is also alleged that the rope which bound his hands was nearly untied when he was found.

Further suspicious circumstaces are that he was not gagged, and could therefore have made an outcry, which would probably have attracted the employes of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co., whose office is just across the street. To-day the police will canvass all the stores in the city which sell rope, in an effort to discover the identity of the person who bound Kennough.

Morocco Trouble Clearing.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Premier Caillaux at eight o'clock yesterday morning received a delegation of brokers, who feared the effect on yesterday's quotations of the pessimistic reports of fresh causes of disputes having arisen between France and Germany over Morocco. They were especially uneasy, as to-day is settlement day.

The Premier assured his visitors fully that no new discord with Germany existed, but that simply some questions had arisen as to the phrasing of various points to obtain lucidity and precision.

The Cabinet will meet to-day to consider these questions and "edit" France's rejoinder.

Fire at East Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—East Toronto was visited yesterday by a $27,000 fire of unknown origin, which gutted the hardware establishment of A. F. Carnegie, 166 Main street. The fire brigade was unable to control the blaze, and a hurry call was sent for the city reels.

The buildings was owned by L. A. Delaplante of 61 Balsam avenue, and was insured for about $15,000.

Port Elgin Grocer Charged.

Walkerton, Sept. 30.—J. M. Wells, grocer, of Port Elgin, has been sent for trial by Magistrate Chapman on the charge of having committed an assault on a nine-year-old girl.

WHEN ALL NATURE IS IN TUNE

A hen is not supposed to have much common sense or tact, yet every time she lays an egg she cackles forth the fact.

A rooster hasn't got a lot of intellect to show, but, none the less, most roosters have enough good sense to crow.

The mule, the most despised of beasts, has a persistent way of letting people know he's around by his insistant bray.

The busy little bees they buzz, bulls bellow and cows moo, and watch dogs bark and ganders quack and doves and pigeons coo.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks; pigs squeal and robins sing, and even serpents know enough to hiss before they sting.

But man, the greatest masterpiece that nature could devise, will often stop and hesitate before he'll advertise.

SOUR RISINGS FROM STOMACH

Those Who Experience Fullness and Pain After Meals, Stomach Disorders, and Indigestion, Should Read Below.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

BREADTH IN RELIGION

When will it be possible for the various religious denominations to get together, to work together, and to live in harmony and cordiality?

Organic church union among three or four churches does not promise the required relief. The change that is needful seems to be an enlargement of the spirit of the brotherhood of man, where one church is not seeking aggrandizement at the expense of the others; and where instead of rivalry and ill-feeling there will be a combination and concentration of effort toward spreading the benefits of Christianity.

The other day, in the Review and in the Examiner an account of considerable length appeared, in reference to the Presbyterian effort to raise a special fund for the spreading of mission work among the Chinese and heathen nations, and for special home purposes. A gentleman called on the Review and asked why the newspapers gave so much space to a movement that was of interest to only one denomination. He thought that perhaps an account of how and why the trouble between Italy and Turkey arose would be of more general interest to the reader. Then this gentleman kindly asked what was the need for the raising of all this mission money. He doubted whether the conversion of the Chinese was a practical proposition, as they seldom took Christianity up genuinely. He asked the question, "What would we Canadians say if the Chinese sent over here missionaries to convert us to their beliefs?" And he went on to argue that their religion was older than ours, and while, of course, we would argue that we were right, who was there to know that we were.

This rather unique view of a religious question will be emphatically condemned by Christians generally, of course. Our inbred, dogmatic conviction that Christianity is the only true religion can only find a counterpart in the tenacity with which the "heathen" follower of Confucius, of Brahma, of Mohammed, of Buddha, clings to the faith of his people.

But this is not what we started out to say. While it is true, as William Jennings Bryan says, that religion is the most important thing in life to a man, should not the true Christian try to work in harmony with his fellow-Christians? The growth to-day is toward a broader ideal; a better interpretation of the idea that after all the main foundation of true religious feeling is not the quarrel about the ritual that distinguishes one variety of Christianity from another; but in the recognition that all Christians should be marching toward the same goal, with their eyes fixed on the same distant star.

What matters it if one Christian marches under a banner of blue, while another marches under one of red? Should Christians stop on the way, to fight each other, over the color of their banners, or whether the trimmings on one are deeper and more showy than on the other? With a plain purpose in view, shall they stop to rend each other like wolves over a comrade fallen in the chase?

Why should not the people of Canada, of Peterborough, and other places as well, adopt the broad mantle of charity, the width of view that can overlook petty differences, insignificant in themselves, and recognize that in all men there is the good and some evil?

The trouble is that so many pillars of religion mistake narrowness for enthusiasm; a quarreling spirit for the spirit of "embattled Christianity." Broaden out, ye Protestants and ye Roman Catholics, and get over the idea that the world revolves around prejudice and rancor.

THE LIBERAL TROUBLES

There is a curious division of opinion among Liberal newspapers about whether the Liberal party should adhere to its principles of free trade, even to the extent of making reciprocity one of its big planks, or whether the Liberal party should wash the smell of reciprocity off its hands instanter, and thus hope for political salvation.

The Ottawa Free Press and the Montreal Herald tell the Liberals that they must forget about free trade and reciprocity if they ever hope to hold office again. The Toronto Globe and the Montreal Witness hold tenaciously to the old theories even if it led to the extent of again endorsing the movement to wipe out tariff barriers. They hold that there must be an educative movement on the tariff. The Manitoba Free Press warns the Liberals that they must stay a long time in opposition unless they are prepared to abandon free trade ideals, and are content to be merely a low tariff party.

The Liberals are on the horns of a dilemma in the matter of tariff policy. Twenty years ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier preached free trade in its pristine purity. When he got into office in 1896 on the Manitoba school question, he found that he could not afford to put those theories in practice. In some instances, the tariff was actually increased, and where it was lowered, the changes were so light as to be immaterial to the progress of the country. The old tariff was maintained substantially intact, as to principle, at least.

Now that the Liberals staked their all on a big departure from that Conservative policy which they deserted after fifteen years of success, and met their Waterloo, the question facing the party is: "What sort of a constructive tariff policy can we formulate that will be radically different from the Conservative policy of moderate protection, and yet be the same?" The country evidently will have none of free trade with the United States by an agreement. To succeed, the Liberals must be moderate protectionists, too, and that does not suit some of the real old Liberals of firm free trade faith.

The Conservative government will have its troubles, especially with the navy policy, but the Liberals have their own. If Mr. Borden formulates some policy as regards a navy that is strongly imperialistic, and opposed to the views of the Quebec Nationalists, will the Liberals join with the Nationalists to oppose that strong imperialist policy or vote with the government? This also is an interesting Liberal question. Where do the Liberals stand as regards a matter like this?

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is no market in Italy for the present at least, for that delicious confection known as Turkish delight.

If the chief Conservative whip becomes finance minister, the entrance to his office will be known as the Perley gates.

Mr. Borden is elected in Halifax by 175 majority. Halifax ought to be ashamed of itself, not to give the premier-elect a thousand or more. But a dead set was made on the leader by the Liberals.

To-day we bid good-bye to September. Politically, at least, it marked an era of tremendous importance to Canada. It will be known as the month of the "Parting of the Ways," wherein we did not part.

A big factory proposes to establish itself at Ottawa, now that the Conservative government is assured. From many of the Ontario cities announcements are coming of other factories locating—three from Hamilton within a week. Watch us grow under Borden.

The price of furs this year will advance from 10 per cent. to 100 per cent. This is due to the advance of civilization, making the fur-bearing animals much scarcer and harder to get. If furs get much higher in price, we will soon have to plead with someone to warm up the winter weather some.

J. R. Sutherland, the Dominion land agent at Calgary, has sent in his resignation, admitting that he took an active part in the politics of the day. A few more such resignations would save considerable trouble. The Laurier administration all over the country has been honeycombed with "offensive partisans" and it is time an end to the debauchery were made.

Both Hon. Frank Oliver and William Templeman intend to retire to the editorial desks of their newspapers. Mr. Oliver will continue to carry with him the secret as to where the $69,000 came from. When he gets hard up, and wants to sell a few papers, a story about that $69,000 would create some sensation. This suggestion is offered free of charge.

The Toronto Globe is very anxiously trying to persuade Premier Whitney that an election just now would be in bad taste. Why is the Globe so anxious about it, and about the effect of a provincial election on business? It has never at other times thought that elections brought on at opportune times were against rhyme or reason. Why does it not condemn the Scott government of Saskatchewan for holding elections on November 8th, and continuing the political excitement? Perhaps it realises that with a Conservative federal government, the quicker the Scott government gets through with its machine unimpaired, the better.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Trampled to Death by Horses.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—With his school books under his arm, Alexander Trudeau, ten years of age, stood on the corner of Atwater avenue and St. James street at 7.35 yesterday morning. Two 1,500 pound horses attached to a heavily laden ice wagon swung around the corner, unnoticed by the boy as he started across the street. A moment later he lay a huddled heap in the road, trampled by the horses, with his skull crushed by one of the back wheels. He lived for barely ten minutes. The lad was a son of Mr. Octave Trudeau, of 831 Albert street.

Strike Is Not Spreading.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—There is little probability of the strike of the laborers on the water front increasing. Thursday almost 100 men, mostly engaged about sheds in the employ of the Dominion Transport Co., refused to work, others having joined them, but only in small numbers.

The striking men are asking an increase of five cents per hour, from 20 cents, and 25 cents and 35 cents an hour.

Officials of the Transport Co. said they were getting all the men they require.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour

"Cruel! No, Clare; it is life to me, that letter. It is strength, hope, love, happiness, that letter! Oh, the words are choking me. I must say them. I must go down at your feet and tell you the words that have been bursting in me all these days. I'll go away after I say them. You want no discarded lover, I know that. But I want to tell you that I never knew love till I loved you. It was only a boy's liking — that other! This is a man's passion, and——"

She put her hand on his arm.

"Hush!" she said, looking past him. She said it gently. "I want to listen, Harry. But it's too sacred for others to hear."

He followed her gaze, and saw Romeo Bragg at the door of the camp, trying to look innocent. He took her hand.

"Strength is in me again," he declared. "Come, my Clare! Come up to the hill. Let's get nearer heaven — for it is sacred, what I have to tell you!"

"I've said it would happen," said Romeo Bragg to Governor Harriss; "the only thing is, he's hung off longer'n I expected he would."

"Where do you reckon they're goin' to?" asked Harriss.

"Heard him say something about 'heaven'," chuckled Bragg. "But if that girl ever looked at me the way she looked at him, just now, I'd reckon that old earth was a good place to stay a while in."

"They'd better not go too far," mumbled Harriss. "I ain't said anything about it — for I didn't want to worry a sick man or Miss Clare. But I'm knowin' to it that that hyena of a young Wiggin has been hangin' around this place on the sly for some time."

"You must be mistook," declared Bragg, turning to his duties: "he don't want any more George provender passed to him. He ain't got appetite for it."

The two who slowly climbed the hill did not see the skulking figure that ran away toward the deeper woods of the summit. The man who ran evidently did not want to encounter them in the open where those at the camp would detect him.

It was Blinn Wiggin who ran.

He found a hiding place near the top. He seemed to guess that they would come that way. His shelter was a hole under the looming shadow of the roots of an upturned tree that had been felled by a tempest. The roots held in their meshes the broad plat of earth, mixed with stone, and the heavy mass was set on edge, supported in that position by the prostrate trunk. Wiggin squeezed himself down close to the plat in the hollow it had left. He swung his rifle into position. He commanded the path.

But there was another skulking figure in the hilltop woods, a figure that had followed Blinn Wiggin for many days.

It appeared now with cautious steps. It saw what ambuscade Wiggin had prepared. It was Noel, the Bear, treading with the soft foot of the trailer. He heard the voices of the young people, as they climbed slowly, favoring Harry's new convalescence.

Noel stood for one moment, motionless. He understood.

He threw his knife and ran to the rear of the upraised plat. He peered at its upper edge, as though he intended to clamber up and drop on the man waiting there with rifle aimed. But, glancing down, he saw something that brightened his dull eyes. When the tree had fallen its trunk had been splintered across a boulder. The stub at the plat was joined to the tree only by strands of wood fiber, already half rotted.

The Indian had the quick knowledge of his forbears in regard to the affairs of the woods.

He kneeled upon the trunk. He began to cut at the fibers with his keen knife, grunting all the time like a quillpig at his gnawing. Wiggin growled a curse, and threw back a handful of pebbles to scare what his ear told him was a meddlesome porcupine finding his supper of spruce bark. The slashing of the knife blade sounded like an animal's teeth. With his grunts, the old man made the illusion complete.

Wiggin could not emerge to bother with a porcupine — the creature mattered nothing to him at that moment. He was after bigger game. It was almost in sight on the path, now. His finger pressed softly on the trigger. Hate blazed in his eyes. He had waited long, but he had never dreamed of such an opportunity as this. He would kill him at her feet. As for the girl who had scorned him, well——

The last fibers snapped. The weight of rocks and earth flipped the stub of tree upright. With a hollow "plock," with movement as swift as a steel trap, the plat came back into its old-time place, fitting into its hollow as though it never had been disturbed. Ten feet deep, under the stub of tree, Blinn Wiggin was entombed, life crushed from him as a fly dies under a housewife's palm.

"There's Noel, the Bear, from the Aznaki tribe," whispered Clare, as they passed the spot. She pointed up at the old Indian, standing beside the stump of tree, his arms folded, his face calm. "He has been wandering through the woods lately like a lost soul. There's gossip that some one has deceived his grand-daughter, White Lily — the pride of the tribe. Poor old man!"

They went on, hand in hand, and left him there.

He was there when they came down again, Harry George's lips sweet with her kisses, his soul brimming with the joy of living and loving.

Father Morriscy's Remedies

Now on Sale in Ontario

When Father Morriscy, the famous priest-physician of Bartibogue, N. B., died a year ago last spring, he left his prescriptions to the Sisters of the Hotel Dieu, at Chatham, to be used for the benefit of humanity and of the church.

Not being in position to make up and distribute the prescriptions themselves, the Sisters arranged with a number of gentlemen, who had been Father Morriscy's friends, to do it for them. These gentlemen working under the name of the "Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Limited," had by the first of the year placed the remedies in nearly every store in the Maritime Provinces.

So gladly were they received, and so satisfactory has been their record of cures, that the Sisters and the Company have decided to place them on sale throughout Canada.

Father Morriscy's "No. 7", for Rheumatism and the Kidneys—"No. 10", Cough Cure and Lung Tonic—"No. 11", Stomach Remedy—"No. 26", for Catarrh, and "Father Morriscy's Liniment"—can now be obtained from most dealers in this Province. If yours does not keep them write the Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Limited,

MISTAKES I MADE

By a Young Wife

It is extraordinary how the "contradicting" habit grows on one. I made the mistake of letting it become chronic before I realized that I was suffering from it at all.

I began it just for the sake of an occasional friendly argument with Ned. It seemed so silly to be always agreeing; but in time I found that it was far sillier to be always disagreeing.

It is extraordinary how easy it is to take the other side whenever anything crops up which leads to discussion, and it is amazing what a disagreeable individual one becomes in the taking thereof. I found myself growing a positively quarrelsome person before I pulled myself up short; then I discovered that it is much more restful not to argue unnecessarily.

There is quite enough wear and tear in life without voluntarily adding to it in this way.

CHEAP FLOWER-POT COVERS

Take a piece of very stiff cardboard about twelve inches wide and twenty-four inches long, bend it gently until the ends meet, lap them over sufficiently, and fix together by tacking with needle and thread, or with some quick-drying glue. Cut some cretonne to fit the outside, and some plain sateen lining for the inside. Put these in place, and bind top and bottom over the edges of the cardboard with braid or ribbon. Attach a large rosette of baby ribbon to either side, and finish the edges top and bottom with cord. For smaller flower-pots, cut the cardboard according to size. These covers are very handy for slipping over unsightly pots, the pots being stood in saucers, which the covers will also hide.

LITTLE CHRISTIAN

Six Years of Age Now in Good Health, Thanks to Booth's Kidney Pills

Mrs. Alex. Moore, of James street, Oxford, N.S., says: "Booth's Kidney Pills cured our little daughter, Christian, age six years, of many symptoms of kidney weakness. She complained of a sore back, the kidney secretions were frequent and uncontrollable, especially at night. Her stomach was weak and her appetite poor. This caused her to have frequent headaches and the least exertion would tire her. We had tried many remedies, but she did not improve. Finally we learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and procured a box. In a short time she was well and does not now complain about her back, the kidney secretions have become normal and she plays around the house with no apparent fatigue. We always recommend Booth's Kidney Pills."

HOT WEATHER AND THE BABES

Pure Clean Water in Frequent Doses Most Essential—Rice Water Splendid Food

Mrs. Selma Lewis, an authority on the care of infants, writes the following in the New York American:

"In hot weather attention to the welfare and the comfort of the babies is especially important.

"Change the baby's linen two or three times each day, avoid blankets and cotton quilts as much as possible and keep the child on a little hair mattress (or pillow) preferably.

"The most essential thing to preserve the baby's life in summer is to give it all the pure, clean water it needs.

"The little baby cannot ask for the drink when its little lips are parched, and often when it cries in distress is given a rocking or a bouncing by the fond mother with a gentle admonition to hush and go to sleep.

Little babies are very thirsty most of the time and need water far more often than milk. Their pores are free and unobstructed, unlike those of grown-ups, who have to eliminate so much waste material, and whose pores become badly clogged.

"Babies, in summer especially, should have a teaspoonful of water every fifteen minutes and sometimes a tablespoonful. Of course they must be held up properly in a tilting position when a spoon is used, otherwise keep a little bottle with clean, cool water, not too cold, handy for feeding purposes, with a rubber nipple, of course.

"You will find that your baby will thrive beautifully and be as good as good can be, if you consider its thirst and satisfy it.

"Now about milk.

"If you can get good fresh milk twice a day and it agrees with the child, you need not worry, but many a mother is grievously worried because milk does not agree with her baby. I wish to tell them what I have used in such a case, and how I have succeeded in keeping my babies well and raising them easily and beautifully.

"You are absolutely safe if you will follow these instructions given to me by my Chinese cook.

"We all know that the cow is a sacred animal in China, where she is never milked, and, consequently, the little fat and healthy Chinese baby has never tasted milk.

"Boil a cup of rice (after rinsing it) in a pint of water. Drain off the first water (after it has come to a boil) and when the rice is tender use the second pint of water as a broth by straining it through a colander. To this rice water or rice broth add a half teaspoonful of sugar and just the least dash of salt. It is well also to add from one to two tablespoonfuls of pure sweet cream.

"Mix thoroughly and feed to the baby through the bottle or cup. Thus the child gets a delightful, nourishing substance, easily digested, and without the curd or caseine of the milk.

"This is one of the finest foods I have known.

"If the child is ill at all or fretful, give it the rice-water without the cream for a day or two.

"Another splendid baby food in summer is barley-water prepared but of nice pearl barley in the same way as rice-water, only it is advisable to soak the barley for about an hour and to boil it at least an hour and a half.

"To this barley-water I have added one tablespoonful of pure glycerine. This takes the place of both cream and sugar, and is the lightest, most digestible substance there is—also nourishing.

"These recipes will not cause constipation, but where milk has been the cause, use glycerine suppositories injected, one-half a suppository being sufficient.

"Now about cleanliness.

"I insist upon a tub bath for the baby in the morning and a sponge bath at night with various little cooling washes during the day. If the baby has a tendency to rash, or any other skin eruption, dissolve a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda in the little bath-tub. It is better not to have the baby swallow much of this water.

"This bath will relieve any itching of the skin and is wonderfully cooling and refreshing.

"In taking the baby out in the buggy (go-carts should not be used too early, as they are not sufficiently comfortable), be sure not to have the baby's eyes exposed to the bright daylight. Keep the hood or parasol of the buggy well over the face, shading it."

QUEEN'S BEST FRIEND

Some Women for Whom the Queen Has Deep Attachment

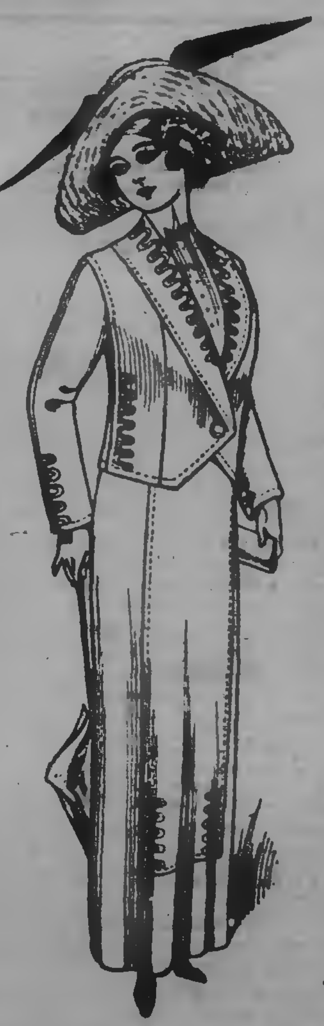
Not much has been said of the Queen's friends, but though removed by her station from close association with very many women, she nevertheless has a number of women friends between whom and herself there exists a deep attachment. Of these, her most intimate friend is the Duchess of Devonshire, who as Lady Evelyn Fits Maurice was known as a very young girl in Canada.

The Duchess is about thirty-seven years old, a slender, delicate-looking woman, resembling her mother, Lady Lansdowne. She is very much like Queen Mary in character, and they have many tastes in common. Both have large families, to which they devote a great deal of time and personal attention. Both are capable women, with clear minds and the faculty for organization, and both oppose luxury and extravagance, dressing simply and living in their homes quiet, simple lives.

With many beautiful houses at her disposal, the Duchess of Devonshire ranks as one of the foremost hostesses in England. King George and Queen Mary are constant visitors at her town residence and at her country homes. Chatworth House, Devonshire House in London, Bolton Abbey in Yorkshire, Lismore Castle, Hardwicke Hall and Compton Place at Eastbourne are some of the Devonshire residences. Each of these homes is a palace situated in acres of beautiful grounds, with woods and fields, hunting and shooting preserves.

Devonshire House is filled with treasures, antique carvings, wonderful china and superb pictures, which have been in the family for years. The Duke and Duchess often loan their drawing-rooms for bazaars and entertainments, the public being willing to pay well to see the inside of the house.

As the eldest child of Lord Lansdowne, the Duchess came into touch with Court life when little more than a girl. After her marriage she began to entertain largely, her house being the centre for a certain set of young matrons, including Mary, Princess of Wales. The Duchess has recently accepted the appointment of Mistress of the Robes in succession to her aunt, the Duchess of Buccleuch, who held the post for nearly a quarter of a century.



STRIPED MOHAIR

Silk mohair is among the prettiest of the summer fabrics used for summer coat suits, and those with stripes are exceptionally good looking. This one is gray with a black stripe, and the braid used for decoration on coat and skirt is black silk soutache. One could not choose a more serviceable gown for travelling than one of this sort.

TO CLEAN GILT

The following method is excellent for cleaning discolored gilt or brass ornaments. Dissolve a piece of soft soap about the size of an egg in a pint of hot water, and add a tablespoonful of ammonia. Carefully wash with a cloth wrung out of this mixture, rinse with cold water, and dry with a soft cloth. You will find that the stains will disappear like magic.

TO WASH BLANKETS

When washing blankets for the first time, we always steep them over night in cold water in which a handful of borax has been dissolved. They are much easier to wash when treated in this way than if put straight into suds.

CLEANING TUMBLERS

Tumblers which have been used for milk should always be rinsed in cold water before they are washed in hot. When this is done the milk does not stick to the glass, and there is no danger of their looking cloudy.

Brantford's population is 25,700 an increase of 1,500.

THE UNTRUTH

OF

$5.00 Glasses For $1.00

Exposed and Explained

Of the many deceptive agencies at work in the optical business, none is more dangerous to the public than the so self-called Optical Specialist who advertises $5.00 and $3.50 Glasses for $1.00.

Of course, very few if any, who visit these fakirs ever get a pair of glasses for $1.00, but such an advertisement serves the purpose of bringing in the victims, and the would-be optician relies on his shrewdness to do the rest.

The trick is to attract the people to call for the $1.00 glasses. Then the game is to tell the caller: "Your case is different," and "You need Glasses made to order." The result is that the patient pays from $3.00 to $10.00 for glasses which never suit, and are not worth half the price paid. The testing is simply guess work, the glass that the patient appears to to see clearest through, is the one fitted.

This kind of would-be optician generally makes it a practice when he strikes a town of going to some druggist and for a paltry 10 per cent. is allowed to use the druggist's name and also his store to do business in. He is supposed to be a graduate or director of some wonderful Optical College (which exists in name only). Notice also that his name never appears on his advertisements, neither is there any manufacturer's stamp on the goods he sells.

Is this the class of men you would entrust your eyesight to? men who never made a study of the eye. Would you jeopardize your eyes by allowing such men to fit you with glasses? I think not. The people of Peterborough are getting everlastingly tired of hearing "reduced from $5.00 to $1.00." YOU know and we know that no one is going to give you gold dollars for 50 cents.

Peterborough has had a sample of this method of selling glasses and the results that have followed should be an object lesson to her citizens.

I have changed scores of glasses that were fitted by these fakirs, glasses that would have ruined the sight if they had been used for any length of time.

Every day brings to my office people who have been victimized. I can produce facts and victims to prove instances where people have paid $8.00 for glasses not worth over $2.00.

PRESENTATION AT MARK ST. CHURCH GATHERING

Pearl Sunburst and Chain for Miss Bessie Crowe who is Leaving the City

One of the pleasing features on the program at a congregational social evening in Mark street church last night, was a presentation and address to Miss Bessie Crowe, who is about to leave for another field of work in of the useful and appreciated members of the congregation, being pro- Toronto. Miss Crowe has been one minent in choir, Sunday school and League work. Her departure from their midst will be felt as the willing worker's loss always is.

During the progress of the entertainment, Mr. Callander of the choir, and Miss Effie Fowler of the League, were called upon for a duet. On reaching the platform they asked permission to turn the number into a trio and invited Miss Bessie Crowe to their assistance. Mr. Callander then read the address and Miss Fowler made the presentation which consisted of a handsome pearl sunburst and chain in a neat plush case.

Miss Crowe made a brief acknowledgement of the gift and thanks for the good wishes expressed.

MISSIONS A MAN'S JOB

Men of the Presbyterian Church are Doing Their Part in the Present Campaign—Conference To-morrow Night

Since the inauguration of the Laymen's Missionary movement, one frequently hears the expression, "that the work of missions is pre-eminently a man's job." We may not know the exact idea which the man who first coined the expression attached to it, but he evidently had in mind the fact that the task which is set the church to evangelize the world is a big enough one to interest the best, the biggest, the brainiest men in the church. He may have had in mind too, that the work of missions should no longer be left to the women of the church. It was to a company of men that Christ said, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." The first great missionaries were men. The church to-day is laying emphasis on the part which men must take in this movement is simply returning to apostolic methods. In the great conventions held all over the country within the last few years, the thing that has impressed one more than anything else is the large number of prominent business men who met together to give time, thought and energy to the consideration of the best means to be adopted to carry out Christ's commission. Then these men are giving thousands of dollars where before they gave cents for this work. Many of them are going up and down the country advocating the cause of missions at men's conferences. At the present time Sir Andrew Fraser, who has just returned from India, after a long life of strenuous toil in the serving of his sovereign, is devoting most of his remaining days to the advocacy of the cause of missions. He is at present in Canada and begins, in a few days, in company with the moderator of the General Assembly and others, a campaign which will touch the chief cities from the Pacific to the Atlantic in our great Dominion.

The response which the men of the church all over, as well as the men of Peterborough are making to this new appeal, shows that when the work and duty are put squarely up to them they see the reasonableness of the demand, and that it is indeed "a man's job." And this is what the men of the three Presbyterian churches have been doing night after night throughout the week. Over fifty men from all walks of life have been visiting their brethren and conferring with them as to their duty to have a share in this great work. And they are meeting, as they ought, with a most hearty response. Men are saying, "We never looked at the matter in this light before. This is our work. This is our business in the world. Enroll us as co-workers." In one family district last night three members of the home asked for weekly envelopes, who never contributed before. One man increased his weekly offering to missions from 50c to 75c., another who gives yearly increased his from $50 to $100.

Conferences of the workers will be held in each of the churches to-morrow night after service. It is intended to prosecute the work until every Presbyterian in the city has had an opportunity of saying yes or no to the appeal. Few, it is believed, will say no.

A considerable number have decided to return their cards at the church service to-morrow. The committee feel that it would greatly facilitate their work and make a second visit unnecessary if all who have cards would be careful to return them on the collection plates to-morrow.

"WITH EDGED TOOLS" BY AN ALL STAR COMPANY

High Class Dramatic Treat at the Grand on Saturday Oct. 7 by English Company

One of the finest attractions that we are to have in Peterborough this winter is "With Edged Tools," given by an all star English company, who will appear at the opera house on Saturday evening next. It is not often that the theatre goers of this city have an opportunity of seeing thoroughly high class productions, but it happens that the company have a week to put in before going on to Chicago for a long run and are therefore giving a limited number of performances in the smaller cities. "With Edged Tools," opens at Ottawa on Monday next, the company having landed from the "Royal Edward" at Montreal yesterday. After leaving Ottawa the company will show in Kingston, Peterborough, Brantford and London, with three days at Toronto, in the Royal Alexandra.

Mr. Armitage, who had a most successful season as manager for Forbes Robertson and his company, last year, and who is managing "Edged Tools," and predicts as great a success for his present attraction, was in the city yesterday arranging for the production of "With Edged Tools," at the Grand next Saturday evening. It will be an opportunity to see something thoroughly good without having to go to Toronto or Montreal, and the management of the opera house are to be congratulated on securing such a high class attraction.

The Peerless Peninsular

You don't want to use a range as a step-ladder—not as the ordinary thing—but you do want a strong, well-built range. This picture is given here to show that the oven door — a weak spot in most ranges—is a firm, strong piece of construction in the Peninsular and it is typical of the whole make-up of this durable range.

Some people prefer a cast-iron range but want one or two features usually found only in steel ranges.

is designed for just such people.

It has the perfectly-fitting doors and parts, the firm, substantial body and the cosey, homelike appearance peculiar to cast-iron ranges.

At the same time it has an oven made partly of iron and partly of steel — an oven that will heat quickly and evenly all over.

Grates Easy to Remove

Low Closet for Pots and Pans

It has a large oven, two inches deeper than any other range of the same size, just large enough to cook four pies at once.

It has a drop oven door, which is not usual on a cast-iron range.

These are all things that you can see—very important things, but not more so than the things you cannot see—the interior construction, which decides whether or not your pies will burn, whether your oven will twist and bend, whether it will be perfectly tight so as to keep out dust and smoke, whether it will wear.

These unseen points you can be sure of when you buy a Peerless Peninsular, or in fact any Peninsular range.

Fifty years of building stoves — honest stoves — are behind every range that bears the name "Peninsular." That name says the materials are good — the flue arrangement is good—the oven is built to heat evenly—the range will wear.

All modern conveniences have been embodied in the Peerless, too.

It may be had with a hot water reservoir and a steel warming closet or not, as desired. The warming closet has a drop door like the oven, making it easy to pull out dishes and adding double shelf room when needed.

Top Raised for Broiling.

There is a Peninsular range to suit every purse and to please every taste in range architecture.

"The Cost"

illustrates some of the more popular lines and explains why Peninsular ranges cost less in the long run than others. Don't buy a range before reading this book. It's free.

NOW "THE EARL OF PAWTUCKET"

That thoroughly interesting and amusing comedy of Augustus Thomas, "The Earl of Pawtucket," will be the attraction at the Grand next Friday, Oct. 6th. John Cort has made an elaborate revival of the play this season and will present Lawrence D'Orsay in his original role of Lord Cardington. This is a part which Mr. D'Orsay has made famous and the critics agree that he gives an original and unique conception of the character, and makes his lordship, not a travesty, but a character—and a character that is full of striking interesting and wholesome humor. The salient elements of the English nobleman are well defined. His personality is distinguished by a refinement of manner, an unctuous vein of fun and an irresistible appeal to wholesome humor.

From the moment the Earl is seen in the palm room of the Waldorf-Astoria ordering his coffee, so as to prepare himself for the romantic quest of the lady who captured his affections in a Paris hotel, and indeed through all the besetting trials and tribulations which come to him because he is not travelling under his own name, to the culminating situation in the Turkish room, when he stands accused of being the mysterious assassin both of Lord Cardington and the man whose name he has assumed—he remains the imperturbable, good-natured, high-minded and generous Englishman of breeding.

While in America Lord Cardington pretends to be an American, Montgomery Putnam of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, and despite his very decided English drawl, thinks he is secure in hiding his identity under the name he has assumed. As the identity of the Earl has been sunken in that of Putnam, he is accused of having done away with Cardington, and as Putnam's sister declares he is not Putnam at all, he is also suspected of having killed Putnam. While he is standing among resentful relatives of both the girl and Putnam with a bank account much depleted because of back alimony he was forced to pay, Miss Fordyce comes in on the party, and by previous agreement she and his lordship stroll happily off together for a walk up the avenue, quite unconscious of the amazement they leave behind. In the company of merry players Mr. Cort has selected to support Mr D'Orsay are Katherine Emmet, Louise Sydmeth, Susanne Rusholme, H. J. Carvill, Ernest A. Elton, John Alden, Leonard Ide, Robert W. Smiley, Harry Driscoll, John Taylor, Lewis E. Parmenter and G. N. Stewart.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS GIVE NEW SECRETARY THE GLAD HAND

The members of the Boys' Department of the Y.M.C.A. evidently do not intend to give Dr. Spicer, their new secretary, who arrived in the city on the 4.28 C.P.R. train yesterday from London, Ont., any chance to feel lonesome. At least, that was the impression one gathered by looking into the Boys' parlors between seven and nine o'clock last-night. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. served an evening meal to one hundred and twenty-five association workers, and Dr. Spicer was tendered a banquet which surpasses anything ever before attempted by the local Boys' Department.

The dinner, though a very satisfying and necessary item on the program was not by any means the most important. The addresses of welcome to the newcomer by the chairman, Mr. R. F. Downey, Messrs. Jack Laing, J. J. Thompson, H. M. Gilchrist and Rev. H. J. Keith, and the reply of Dr. Spicer all received a share of applause, but Mr. Taylor Statten, Provincial Boys' Secretary, who delivered the address of the evening, made the greatest hit with the boys. They had heard Mr. Statten, at the last banquet, tell a very interesting story about the "House that Jack Built," and they expected something as good last-night, and they got it.

The presentation of Bible study certificates to Masters Vincent Mulligan and Bruce Leavis was a very popular item also.

MR. R. J. DOWNEY

Mr. R. J. Downey, chairman of the Boys' work committee at the Y.M.C.A., occupied the chair and interested the boys by giving them a motto, "Progress. They should always seek to advance and should have high ideals.

Mr. Jack Laing, a former Boys' Secretary was called to convey a few words of welcome to Dr. Spicer. He urged the boys to get behind their new leader and help him in his work.

DR. SPICER

Dr. Spicer was here given an opportunity to say a few words to his new charges. He referred to Mr. Downey's remarks on "Progress." We had to either go ahead or back as we could not stand still. He would help the boys here to go ahead and they must get behind him.

He was delighted to meet all the boys. It gave him much pleasure to look down into the faces of those who were to be with him, and would put his trust in them and stand by them and he wished for their trust and aid.

TAYLOR STATTEN

Rounds of applause greeted Mr. Taylor Statten as he rose to speak. He told the boys of an old pump which needed priming quite often. He wondered if the banquets held by the department were as a priming to their interests in the work.

He referred to Dr. Spicer as the making of the best Boys' Secretary in the Dominion. He welcomed him a full fledged physician into the work. The parents would be glad to send their children to the Y.M.C.A. when there was such a well educated man as the doctor to look after them and instruct them. He hoped no boy present thought of giving up any opportunity of higher education.

Mr. Statten told his hearers of a relay race for which one fellow did not train and therefore did not have the staying power to give the last man a head start, but instead lost ground himself. The boys of to-day should give the men that they are to be, a head start by living a pure life now. The things that a boy did between 13 and 20 years, were the things that counted. The habits that were formed would either help or hinder.

"The thing which you think most of will be the thing that you will ultimately do whether you at first intended to or not," said Mr. Statten. He related a couple of instances to show that the above statement was correct. What are the things in your thoughts? Are they going to lead you upward or downward? he asked.

Some of us looked all right on the surface, but if we were not right at heart, it would show by and by.

"There are four boys to each of us" said the speaker. "They are, the boy that the fellows know, the kind of boy that we are thought to be in our homes; the boy we know ourselves to be; and the boy God knows us to be with the possibilities He sees before us. Get these four boys into one, concluded Mr. Statten, throw away the filth and slime, and have your life ring true."

MR. J. J. THOMPSON

In welcoming Dr. Spicer, Mr. Thompson, physical director, said that not only the Boys' Department, but the physical departments would be helped by the new Boys' Secretary.

BIBLE STUDY CERTIFICATES

Masters Vincent Mulligan and Bruce Leavis each received Bible study certificates. They passed the necessary examinations and received their reward. Mr. Statten said he hoped that Peterborough would win the Bible study cup of Canada next year.

The general secretary, Mr. H. M. Gilchrist said that the boys here needed a young man who could give them Christian inspirations and he felt sure Dr. Spicer was the right man in the right place.

The Boys' Department was considered a part of the Young Men's Christian Association and not as a separate body, so they could all work together.

Rev. H. J. Keith joined in welcoming Dr. Spicer to the city and to the Y.M.C.A.

The pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

FINANCE ITEMS

No Action Taken in Request for Rebate on License

The biggest task that faced Chairman Bradburn at a meeting of the City Finance committee yesterday afternoon was that of appending his signature to the budget of accounts piled up before him. There were at the meeting Mayor Morrow, Ald. Graham, Ald. Metheral and chairman Ald. Bradburn.

In the way of communications, one was received from Mr. R. A. Elliott who asked the committee to grant him a rebate on the license of his bowling alleys and shooting gallery stand in the old Opera House block, he having removed his pool tables alleys, etc., from the rooms. The amount to be deducted was $71.69. No action was taken in the matter.

FINE RALLY AT Y.W.C.A.

And Profitable Address on Service by Miss Knox

Judging from the enthusiasm and the large attendance at the rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association at their educational re-opening for the coming season, last night, that institution must feel assured beyond doubt of a most successful and prosperous season's work. The opening, which assumed the form of an educational rally, was especially favored by the presence of the talented lady educationist, Miss Knox, the present dean of Havergal College for young ladies, and who has won for herself during her stay in Canada a reputation by her unusual educational executive ability. She is moreover a woman of brilliant mental attainments, and in her splendid address of last evening spoke with a fluency and ease which could not fail to convey pleasure to her eager and attentive hearers.

Miss Knox's address was delivered in the gymnasium of the building which was filled to capacity. On the platform besides the chairman and the speaker was Rev. F. J. Sawers, of St. Luke's church, East City, who conducted the devotional exercises of the gathering. A high-class musical program was as follows:

Piano duet—Misses Clarry and Campbell.
Vocal solo—Miss Edwin Palmer.
Vocal solo—Miss Olive Howell.
Vocal solo—Mr. Edward Hanrahan.

The address came next. After being briefly introduced by the chairman, Miss Knox stated that she wished to speak briefly on the subject of "Service." She was glad also to be privileged to come to Peterborough because it always reminded her of her home of the same name in the old land, and whenever she passed through Peterborough in Canada, she regarded it as an echo of her old home.

"In speaking of service," said Miss Knox, "Christ says when He welcomes us, "Well done good and faithful servant. This arouses the question "what about the women of Canada, what are they doing in the way of service? No person should feel prouder than when they are engaged in doing something for their country. It may be the service of the mother in the home properly caring for her children, or it may be the Sunday school or day school teacher or any of the various occupations, as long as it is service. It is the title road to honor. In Canada the women are wanted, they are in demand, while in England when a position for a woman wanted is made known, applicants are so numerous that they actually tread on each other's heels for the job.

"In Peterborough Y.W.C.A." said speaker, "I am glad to learn that so many of the members are enrolled in some of the classes, over 95 per cent. I believe. That is almost a record in Y.W.C.A's. of Canada. But are you neglecting your mental study for some of the other classes. Are you all reading good books. Through helpful books you become acquainted with the thoughts and minds of truly great people. In works of history you get next to places even better than is possible by actually visiting them. It is not walls that constitute a place, it is the great events that occurred at them.

"Lastly are you reading your Scripture? Have you tried strong purposeful Scripture study?; and are you prepared for the spirit of your work as well as the work itself? Day by day you and I are weaving the pattern of our lives and will the words on the pattern be "Christ" or "Self." Have we asked God to guard the door of our lips so that the sharp arrows will hurt the feelings of others?

The address was closed with similar words of exhortation. At its conclusion a very suitable vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Miss A. Weir, which was ably seconded by Mrs. Rogers. The singing of the National Anthem closed the affair.

Later, refreshments were served in the drawing room and a most sociable and enjoyable evening brought to a conclusion.

GAVE HIM A SUIT CASE

Employees of Cordage Co. Remembered Mr. Louis Jackson

The managers and employes of the Canadian Cordage Co. gave their fellow workman, Louis A. Jackson, a fine send-off on his leaving town to go to his new position with the International Harvester Co., Auburn, N.Y., by presenting him with a beautiful leather suit case and address, which proved to be a great surprise to him. He thanked them most heartily, and said he appreciated the present and address which showed the good feeling between them. The following is the address:—

Dear Mr. Jackson,—As you are about to sever your connection with the Canadian Cordage company, we, your fellow employes, feel that we could not let you go without expressing to you our regrets at your departure and our good wishes towards your future success.

We ask you to accept this small token as an expression of the good-fellowship that has at all times existed between us, and as a remembrance of the friends which you leave behind.

Signed on behalf of employes and staff.

Some Men, who don't know, have an idea that all Shoes are alike. They think that when they pay $3.50, $4.00 or $5.00 for a pair of Shoes, that it doesn't make much difference where they buy them, that a Shoe is a Shoe, and that's all there is to it

THESE MEN ARE MISTAKEN!

It's true that all Shoe Prices sound about the same, but there is as much difference in the Shoes as there is in the Men who wear them.

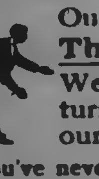

Our Men's Shoes are the choice products of The Country's Best Shoe Makers. We select the best Shoes that the best makers turn out. There are no better Shoes than ours to be had anywhere.

Why Should You Buy Imported Lager When You Can Get O'Keefe's?

Imported lagers cost more than O'Keefe's "Pilsener"—NOT because they are as good, but because of the duty paid on them.

The Canadian laws are very strict in this respect, although O'KEEFE'S was brewed of these choice materials long before the pure food laws were passed.

The same thing cannot be said of American lagers.

"No folks like home folks".

No lager like O'Keefe's "Pilsener"—brewed at home, under home laws, for home use.

Why should you pay more for imported lager—when less money buys such a pure, old, delicious lager as O'Keefe's?

FUSIE REPEATED IN SENIOR ROAD RACE FOR COLLEGIATES

Clare Stewart Took Junior Event — Winners Made Good Time on Muddy Road

In spite of the condition of the streets after the rain, the collegiate roadrace was run off last evening Clarence Fusie and Clare Stewart carrying off senior and junior honors respectively. The events were in connection with the Annual Field Day competitions.

SENIOR RACE

There were three entries in the senior race, but Fusie, who won last year, did not have much trouble leaving his opponents behind. He made the round in 16 min. 3-5 sec., a remarkable achievement considering the heavy going. It is safe to say that with a good road he would have beaten the school record for the distance 15 54 3-5, made by Harold Lees.

White finished nearly a minute behind Fusie and Brown 40 sec. after White.

JUNIOR RACE

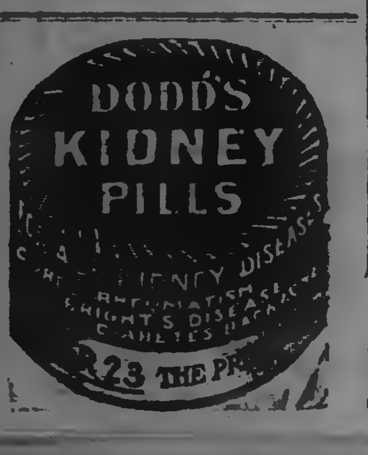
There were six entries in the junior and the feature was the staying power of Arthur Aspett, who judging from his career so far, bids fair to emulate the athletic powers of his dad. He is just breaking into the running game. He remained in third place as far as Smith street, when he crept closer to the leader, Clare Stewart, passing Anderson, and he seemed to be fresher at the finish than the winner. He was only six seconds behind him. Laidlaw Anderson came in third. The others all finished.

There was a large crowd out to see the races which are becoming very popular with the citizens.

The boys all seem to be in condition for the jumps Monday, and the big day on Thursday afternoon, and there are likely to be some records smashed.

The officials in charge of the race were: Judges, Messrs. Ferguson and Firth; scorer, Will Stewart; timer, Mr. J. J. Thompson.

The course was from the Collegiate along McDonnel street to the Monaghan road, to Smith street, to Water street, down Water to McDonnell again, and then to starting point.



HOCKEY

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 30—That Victoria will see ice hockey of the highest class was the statement made yesterday by Walter Smaill, who is now in town and who will play for Victoria in the western hockey league. Mr. Smaill is staying at the Y.M.C.A., where he has at hand all the facilities for keeping in training. He played with the Wanderers last season.

Besides the former Wanderer another respective member of the local team, Bobby Rowe, last year with Renfrew, has taken up his residence here. These two with Lester Patrick who is superintending the building of the rink, are assured for Victoria.

The league has to date signed up eleven players as follows: Walter Smaill, Wanderers: Bobby Rowe, Renfrew; Donald Smith, Renfrew; Tom Phillips, Kenora & Griffiths, Kenora; Sib. Nichols, Moncton: Neway Lalonde, Canadiens; Harry Hyland; Wanderers: Ernie Johnson, Wanderers: Lester Patrick and Frank Patrick. The last mentioned two will act as player-managers of Victoria and Vancouver respectively. In addition to these there is Lehman, former Berlin goal-tender, who is likely to come west.

THE TURF

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—Adams Express equalled the world's record for a mile on a circular track yesterday, winning the fifth race at Churchill Downs in 1.37 2-5. It was the second time the track record for one mile was broken at Churchill Downs during the day, and the third time within two days. Little Esther lowered the track record for a mile to 1.38 1-6. In the third race to-day, T. E. Green covered the mile in 1.38, only to have 3-5 of a second clipped off this record by Adams Express in the fifth. The track was lightning fast.

Owing to the short time given for preparation, the program was not as lengthy as it might have been otherwise, but it was certainly enjoyable.

Chest Inflammation

Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side — Constant Coughing.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold draft, places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my side and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realising that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy and enjoy perfect health."

Nerviline CURES CHEST COLDS

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica, and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large bottles, 50c, trial size 25c. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

DR. SULLIVAN AT MURRAY ST. CHURCH

Helpful Address to Congregation at Annual Reunion

Everyone of the large gathering at the annual reunion of the Murray street Baptist church congregation held last night in the lecture hall, had a good time. The program was arranged for that purpose, and it certainly could not have been improved upon.

The lecture hall held a capacity crowd. The autumn message delivered by Rev. Dr. Sullivan, of Olivet Baptist church, Montreal, was something which his auditors listened attentively to and took home with them. His message was the kind which hits the target. Results rest with the congregation of Murray street.

Had he continued his address for another hour, he would still have held the close attention of his audience. He has a manner of delivery most pleasing and attracting. Dr. Sullivan is a happy man and not the least bit stingy. He likes to see others happy, and he has the happy faculty of imparting this spirit to his audience. In his address last night he brought out many practical points to be considered by any congregation facing it as are to-day the responsibilities of the 20th century, and what he had to say, he said well. His text was the last verse of 1st Corinthians, 15th chapter: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

Dr. Sullivan congratulated the congregation. "You are not a dead crowd," he said. He congratulated them on having such a pastor as Rev. J. R. Webb, and also on their latest achievement—a new church.

That deeds depend upon creed was the meaning he drew from his text. Gratitude demanded of every man who entered the kingdom of God that he do his full share for Christ's kingdom and for his fellow-man.

No man could be faithful before first having the faith. The speaker said it was a great thing to be a Baptist. "What we believe we can prove," he said. What were the Baptists to do in the 20th century? First of all it was necessary to have the personal touch. Without it nothing could be done. Bringing people into the sanctuary was essential. "If your seats are vacant, don't blame it on your pastor, but blame it on your own laziness," said Dr. Sullivan. The lonely and discouraged needed a welcome and they should be made to feel at home in the church.

Again, the people should be followed during the week. The rich and the poor should come together. The church was not called upon to have one dead level organization. Let everybody be glad and infuse the same spirit into others.

Following Dr. Sullivan's address, Mr. Joseph Bently, who accompanied him, was called upon for a few remarks. He expressed his pleasure at being present and tendered congratulations. His was a short address, in which he urged all to exert all their efforts in the interests of the church life.

A vote of thanks was tendered by Rev. J. R. Webb to the visitors, on motion of Mr. Thomas McGeachie and Mr. D. Thompson, and another half hour was spent in social intercourse, during which refreshments were served by the men. Music was supplied by an orchestra, and vocal selections were given by members of the choir.

"Love, Laughter and Life"

A WORD TO MOTHERS

A contemporary journal has a useful article entitled "A Word to Mothers," in which the writer warns mothers of the danger of placing their children before their husbands in their affections. Says the writer: "The probabilities are that you will have the father long after the children are gone, and if you live long enough, you will find out how little use the child has for your selfish and passionate love for him after he has grown up and married and become a parent himself. The kind, too-indulgent parents who have given all they had to their children, expecting their care and attention in old age, are taking a great risk."

Most people will agree that while everything reasonable should be done to give children a good start in life, it is neither to the interests of the parents nor to the children that the former should in their old age find themselves dependent upon their children's generosity, through having spent all their income, year after year, upon the family. Relations are likely to be of a far happier character if in their declining years they enjoy complete independence of everything except natural affection.

CANNING OF FRUITS

All Imperfect Fruit Should be Discarded—Absolute Cleanliness Necessary

Canned fruits keep because the bacteria in them have been killed and others cannot enter if the air is excluded. A few kinds of bacteria can grow without oxygen. If one of these germs is sealed in the can without being destroyed by boiling, the fruit will spoil, even if the jar is air-tight. Most kinds of bacteria are destroyed if kept at boiling point for fifteen minutes.

Fruits put up in a large amount of sugar do not have to be sealed, but even preserves are better put in glass jars to protect them from mould, which is apt to form on the top of a large open dish. Mould grows from spores, which are always floating about in the air. When these small particles fall upon a moist surface, which furnishes suitable food, they at once multiply and soon cover the entire surface. Mould does not usually cause fermentation of fruits, but is the cause of decay in ripe fruit.

To kill mould spores fruit must be boiled and then kept in a cool, dry place, well covered.

To sterilize utensils, put them in cold water and gradually bring them to boiling point, then boil fifteen minutes. Glass, cans and tumblers can be sterilized in the same way. They should remain in the hot water till used.

Canning should be done when the air is free from dust. All towels used, as well as the hands and clothes of the worker, should be perfectly clean.

If tin or iron utensils are used in canning, the fruit will become discolored and a disagreeable flavor will be developed. The acids of the fruit act on those metals. The ideal utensils for use in canning are enamelled or porcelain lined ware.

Kettles for cooking fruit should be large around, as it is better not to have too many layers of fruit at once.

It is of great importance in canning to have the jars, rubbers and tops in perfect condition. Never use old tops with cracked hinges, or old soft rubbers. Some housewives prefer the wide-mouthed jars that seal without rubbers.

In selecting the fruit for canning, all imperfect fruit should be discarded. Cut out the bad places and use them for jelly, marmalades, etc. The flavor of fruit is not developed till it is perfectly ripe, but fermentation begins so soon after thi spoint is reached that it is much better to use fruit a little under-ripe for canninng.

Fruit should be canned as soon after picking as possible. If it is impossible to can it immediately, it should be kept in a cool place away from the flies.

Always leave the lids and cans in hot water till ready to use. Take one can at a time from the hot water, and fill at once. Everything whatever used in the canning process should be thorounghly scalded—cups, spoons, forks, knives, funnels and basins. The inside of the cover should never be touched, either with the hands or a cloth after it is taken from the boiling water. Never wipe the top of the jar with a cloth after the fruit is in. The cans should always be filled full to overflowing before they are sealed.—From Woman's World.

BOYS AT HOME

Encourage Them to Keep Their Clothes in Good Shape

There is no harm in encouraging a boy to be "a bit of a dandy," if it takes the form of pride in keeping clothes tidy and in good shape.

Get him into the habit of brushing his own suits and folding them properly. Show him how to keep his trousers in order, and he will grow up with a habit of tidiness that will be worth a great deal to him.

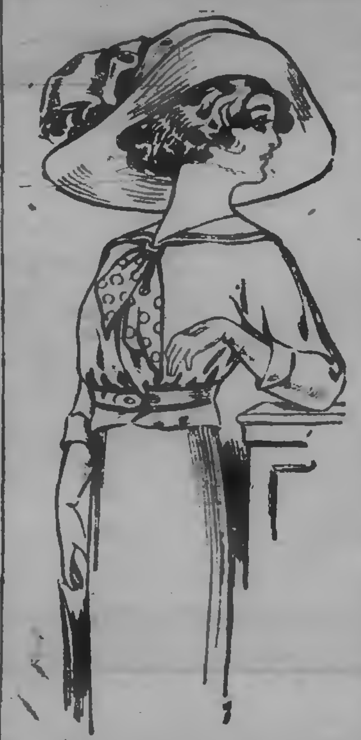
After brushing, place each inside brace-button face to face, and the trousers will fall naturally into their proper folds, and only require doubling. No valet could improve upon this method.

The good old fashion of pressing trousers under the mattress is not to be despised.

Here is another little tip for the particular boy. Whisper to him that every gentleman who values the "set" of his trousers gives them a little hoist at the knee whenever he sits down. This prevents them from bagging.

When you need a cold cloth, and haven't ice, try wringing a cloth out of cold water and shaking it briskly in the air. The rapid evaporation will give you an almost ice-cold compress.

The gain in the American Federation of Labor since the convention of last November has been 156,898 members of various trade unions.



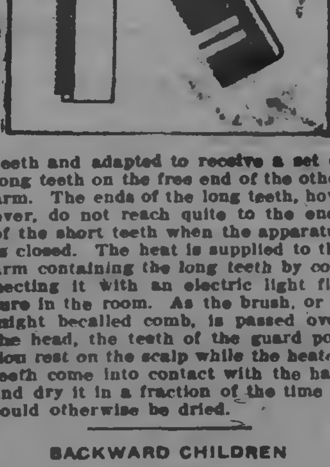
ONE OF THE NEW BLOUSES

For young girls, the new blouses are pretty and picturesque, but when worn by a woman out of her teens it becomes a caricature. They are much liked for seashore wear, and are made most from soft materials, such as voile, marquisette or silk cashmere. Band trimmings of plain silk should match the tie.

HAIR-DRYING BRUSH

Guard Prevents Electrically-Heated Teeth from Burning Head

A most ingenious apparatus is the hair-drying brush designed by a Texas man and depicted herewith. By its means heat can be applied to the hair without any danger of burning the head. The implement is made in two parts, hinged at one end. One arm consists of a guard portion with short teeth and adapted to receive a set of long teeth on the free end of the other arm. The ends of the long teeth, however, do not reach quite to the ends of the short teeth when the apparatus is closed. The heat is supplied to the arm containing the long teeth by connecting it with an electric light fixture in the room. As the brush, or it might becalled comb, is passed over the head, the teeth of the guard portion rest on the scalp while the heated teeth come into contact with the hair and dry it in a fraction of the time it could otherwise be dried.



BACKWARD CHILDREN

Children who are dull or stupid are sometimes a cause of great irritation to a brisk, busy mother, and are apt to be left very much in the background.

But, as a matter of fact, special attention should always be given to a backward child. To begin with, some physical weakness, such as slight deafness, bad sight, ill-developed heart, or anaemia, may be causing the little one to appear dull and stupid. Sometimes adenoids will make a boy or girl seem almost entirely lacking in intellect. It is always wise to consult a doctor if a child seems extra backward.

SAVED FROM THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

"Fruit-a-tives" cured Appendicitis

NEWBURGH, Ont., Feb. 12th. 1910.

"Just about a year ago, our daughter Ella (fourteen years) was taken with terrible pains in the right side. We at once put her under the care of a first-class doctor, who pronounced it a case of Appendicitis and advised an operation. We took her to a Hospital in Kingston where she was again immediately examined by an eminent specialist. He said she had Appendicitis and must be operated on at once, if we wanted to save her life.

"Luckily for us and for her, an uncle came in with some 'Fruit-a-tives' and insisted on Ella taking them. Good results were apparent almost from the first dose, and the treatment cured her. 'Fruit-a-tives' saved our daughter from the surgeon's knife and to-day she is enjoying the best of health".

GOOD MANNERS

It is the greatest mistake to think that manners are only for society, and are to be set aside with our outdoor garments when we come home. If manners are meant to hide the unsightly side of human nature, to clothe the nakedness which shocks our highly-cultivated sense of what is fitting, it is surely at home that this primitive aspect is most likely to obtrude, and it is just as shocking when displayed at our own fireside as to the world at large. If parents taught the sons of the house to be polite to their sisters, and if they themselves were polite to each other, there would be fewer unhappy homes. Boys often think that manners are only meant for girls, but they would be none the worse or less manly for knowing how to behave; while it the greatest help to a girl when she goes out in the world to be able to feel at ease in society, to enter and leave a room gracefully, and to find the right thing to say when her mother's friends speak to her.

Mildew

If linen is mildewed, rub the spots with brown soap, then apply a paste of chalk-and-water, and put the article in the sun. After two or three applications the mildew will be bleached out; the article should then be washed thoroughly all over.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes, and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty; and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes, on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Drink Sweet Milk after eating onions; it will purify the breath so that no odor will remain.

To Carry Butter to a picnic in hot weather pack it into a cup, and press a piece of ice in the centre to keep it cool.

When Washing Brushes of any kind add a little ammonia to the water. There is less danger of the bristles dropping out.

Do Not Leave Wooden Tubs Dry, or they will quickly crack and come apart. Keep a little water always standing in them.

Fingers Stained with Fresh Fruit, walnuts, etc., should be dipped in strong tea, rubbed with a nail brush, and then washed in warm water.

To Remove Fly Spots from mirrors and picture glasses, take a cloth and dip in a little pure paraffin, rub the spots well, then polish with a dry duster or chamois.

Always commence to cut a cucumber at the thick end; the thin end has a bitter taste. If the whole cucumber is not cut up, stand the cut end of the unused half in a basin of cold water.

Before Filling Salt Cellars, place the table salt in a slow oven to dry thoroughly. Allow it to get cold, and by doing so the salt will keep finely powdered instead of hardening into a solid mass.

To Make New Potatoes Scrape easily, put them to soak a little while with a small piece of common soda in the water. You will find them scrape and clean beautifully; also the fingers will not be soiled.

To Stop the Ravages of Moths, when they have made their appearance, wrap the article in thin cloths, then cover with wet Turkish towels and put them in the oven to steam. This will always rout moths.

Sometimes Oil Lamps throw a very dull light. Try placing a small lump of camphor in the oil vessel, and you will find that in a very short time the light will become quite bright. If you have no camphor at hand, a few drops of vinegar will answer the purpose.

If a Teaspoonful of Glycerine be added to every four pounds of any kind of jam or marmalade a quarter of an hour before boiling is completed it will be found to remove the foggy appearance, and make the preserve transparent and firmer than the usual home-made jams.

For Removing Grass Stains from flannel get some lump fuller's earth from the chemist, wet it, and place on the stain. Let it remain there for a couple of hours, and then rub lightly. If the first application does not remove the stain apply a second time, brushing off when perfectly dry.

PRESENTATIONS

By Ladies' Aid Society at Apsley to Departing Friends

Special Correspondence.

Apsley, Sept. 29—The Ladies' Aid Society with a number of their friends met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Masters on Friday evening last to say farewell to Mrs. Masters, who is leaving for Burton, B.C., and also to Mr. C. Soules, Presbyterian student and Mr. H. Mutton, Methodist student, who are leaving this circuit to again attend college.

The following address was read to Mrs. Masters by Mr. Soules and at the proper time Mrs. E. Tucker presented her with a hand bag and toilet set.

Apsley, Sept. 22, 11

Dear Mrs. Masters—We, the members of the Ladies' Aid Society having learned of your intention to leave our midst feel that it would be great ingratitude on our part to allow you to pass from our ranks without in some way expressing our respect for you, not only as a member of our society, but as a citizen of our neighborhood. We appreciate your services as president of our society and recognize the fact that responsible positions are not held without exercise of patience and self sacrifice.

The breaking of the ties which bind us together as Christian workers, are not always the most pleasant experiences of our lives, but can be ever ruled by the master hand of God, to result in higher good.

We ask you to accept this gift, not as a remuneration for your service but as a slight token of our appreciation of your service amongst us, and further pray that the blessing of God may attend you and yours in your new home.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society of Apsley.

Addresses to Mr. Soules and Mr. Mutton followed, which were read by Miss M. Pullied and Mrs. W. Staples and each were presented with a leather shaving case, the presentations being made by Misses F. Stephens and E. Pullied respectively. Following are the addresses.

Apsley, Sept. 22, 11

Dear Mr. Soules—We, the members of the Ladies' Aid Society avail ourselves of this opportunity to give expression to a commingled feeling of regret, reverence and gratitude.

For the past two years it has been our good fortune to be under your wise and skilful guidance, and during those years, we learned among other things to appreciate your honest efforts in our behalf. You have set an example that each of us may safely follow and animated us with a nobler ambition the path we should aim to tread.

In token of our good will we ask you to accept this gift and our prayers that the constraining love of Christ may ever draw you in that service which shall in no wise lose its reward.

With every good wish we bid you farewell.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society of Apsley.

Apsley, Sept. 22, 11

Dear Mr. Mutton—It is with feelings of regret that we are assembled here this evening to say farewell. Our association with you, though short has been very pleasurable and profitable and we are extremely sorry that it has come to an end. During the time you have been amongst us you have shown yourself to be a helper to our society, a devoted worker of the League, and have been sincere in your endeavor to personally lead us to devote our lives to Christ. We ask of your acceptance of this gift trusting it will remind you of the three months spent in our midst.

We trust and hope when your work and ours is done on earth, we may all meet in Heaven, where all good deeds are rewarded.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society of Apsley.

All three were completely taken by surprise and could scarcely give utterance to their feelings, but each in turn made replies. The addresses were beautifully written and ornamented with hand paintings of forget me nots, Maple leaves with autumn tints and ivy.

IT IS REAL PLEASURE

To us to hear the many kindly appreciative remarks which come to us daily from wearers of these modern glasses. They are certainly the finest produced in any country, and they recommend themselves by whomsoever used. FATE OF THE TURKISH FLEET

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW

London, Oct. 2.—The Turkish t's fate is still uncertain. The Turkish ministry of rine admits the loss of only one cruiser, reporting the r of the fleet safe at Constantinople. From Italian source comes a report that three battleships are sunk, and oth captured by the Italian squadron in the Dardanelles.

London, Oct 2.—According to The Daily Telegraph's correspondent in Rome, Germany and Austria have already made unofficial representations to Italy of their displeasure at her procedure, and that if these representations are ignored they will be followed in another shape by "humiliation to Italy."

According to information from diplomatic sources, the landing of the Italians at Prevesa is greatly resented by Austria and Germany, and had much to do with their reported change of attitude towards Italy.

Turkey's internal politics probably account in a large measure for her hesitation in taking the offensive. Said Pasha, the new Grand Vizier, continues his efforts to form a coalition Ministery, but finds the task one of almost insuperable difficulty.

Italy Explaining.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—Italy yesterday sent a circular note to the powers explaining her reasons for the action against Turkey, expressing the hope that the steps taken will be confined to the occupation of Tripoli, that the hostilities will be of short duration and that negotiations to fix the status of Tripoli will be begun soon. Italy, it is stated, will endeavor to localise the hostilities.

The note closes with the assurance that the steps taken are in the interests of humanity and civilization, and that no effort will be spared to protect the subjects of other nations in Tripoli.

Italians Impetuous

Berlin, Oct. 2.—It is reported from Turkish sources, that the Italian attack at Prevesa upon the Turkish torpedo boat destroyers was made 90 minutes before expiration of the Italian ultimatum.

Specials from Athens state that the Turks were trying to join four other destroyers at Gumenitza near Prevesa. Cannonading was heard off Gumenitza Friday night, when it was concluded that the Italians had attacked the other torpedo boat destroyers here and blockaded that port.

In a letter received by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, from Mr. Arthur O. Wheeler, the well-known mountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:

"We have a great amount of splendid material for publication, and a collection of photographs that cannot be surpassed. We have just completed what is very nearly a 100-mile circuit around Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peaks and valleys, lakes and waterfalls, on all sides of it, and the glaciers are very fine. The region is immense, and there is work for years come, exploring, mapping, and depicting. There is a fine bunch of high peaks, and large snowfields and glaciers southwest of Tete Jaune Cache. There are also great peaks up the Athabasca and Fraser headwaters, tributary to your line. The most showy part of Mt. Robson is the Robson Pass and glacier, and Berg Lake."

In addition to the above, Mr. Wheeler reports that his party have collected over 600 specimens of animal and bird life, and a good botanical collection as well. This expedition, which was organized by the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been a most successful one, and when its results are published, will be of great value. The facts now known bear out the general impression that the territory contiguous to the mountain division of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will surpass in scenic beauty that which cannot be seen on any of the North American Transcontinental lines.

CANADA'S TRADE INCREASES; RECORD PROGRESS IS MADE

Foreign Trade Shows a Growth of $18,000,000 in August, in Spite of Campaign.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—The election campaign evidently had no bad effect in checking the Dominion's steady growth of business prosperity. During August Canada's trade increased by no less than $18,308,133, or nearly thirty per cent., as compared with August of last year. The total trade for the month was $81,490,654, of which $47,405,591 was in imports, a gain of nine millions. In exports the principal gain was in agricultural products, which totalled $7,238,394, an increase of nearly five millions over the preceding August.

For the first five months of the fiscal year trade has totalled $330,522,426, an increase of $34,706,645, of which $22,629,971 was in imports entered for consumption.

Coin and bullion were imported during the five months to the value of $1,0694,959, as compared with $2,869,965 for the corresponding five months of last year.

Customs revenue for the month just closed indicate that the rapid growth of imports is being maintained. The total customs receipts for the month were $7,710,181, an increase of $1,252,241 over September of last year. For the first half of the fiscal year customs revenue has totalled $41,306,328, an increase of $5,746,784, or nearly one million dollars per month.

The new administration will take office with trade and revenue increasing at the most rapid rate in the history of Canada, and with the way paved for another huge surplus at the close of the fiscal year.

13,000 MEN OUT ON STRIKE ON THE HARRIMAN RAILROADS

Trouble in Carrying on Traffic Has Already Been Experienced.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Reports up to Saturday afternoon indicated that the order for a strike by shopmen on the Illinois Central Railroad and Harriman lines had been generally obeyed. With many points not heard from, approximately 13,000 men in the chief cities were known to have left work to enforce demands for recognition of federation of shopmen.

Reports from the Pacific Coast indicated that the men were ready and generally obeyed the order. The number of men reported out in the chief cities was: Chicago 4,000, Omaha 1,000, Denver 425, East St. Louis 500, New Orleans 1,750, Kansas City 100, San Antonia 500, Vicksburg 600, Memphis, 1,300, Houston 1500, Ogden 500, McComb, Miss., 1,000, San Francisco 400, Oakland 500, Los Angeles 1,600.

More Trouble.

Houston Texas, Oct. 2.—New trouble on the Harriman lines in Texas loomed up at noon here on Saturday in the action of conductors and brakemen.

WHEN ALL NATURE IS IN TUNE

A hen is not supposed to have much common sense or tact, yet every time she lays an egg she cackles forth the fact.

A rooster hasn't got a lot of intellect to show, but, none the less, most roosters have enough good sense to crow.

The mule, the most despised of beasts, has a persistent way of letting people know he's around by his insistent bray.

The busy little bees they buzz, bulls bellow and cows moo, and watch dogs bark and ganders quack and doves and pigeons coo.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks; pigs squeal and robins sing, and even serpents know enough to hiss before they sing.

But man, the greatest masterpiece that nature could devise, will often stop and hesitate before he'll advertise.

CABINET-MAKING AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Premier Hazen and Solicitor-General McLeod, of New Brunswick, arrived this evening and will confer with the Prime Minister-elect to-morrow respecting New Brunswick's representation in the new government. Mr. O. S. Crocket, M.P. for York, N.B., also arrived this evening. Mr. Stanfield, M.P. for Colchester, N.S., left tonight for his home in Nova Scotia.

The official announcement of the new Federal Cabinet will not be made for some days. It is probable, however, that when the new Ministry is announced it will be found that portfolios have been accepted by Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands and Mines in the Whitney government; Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works in the Roblin government, Mr. George E. Foster and Mr. F. D. Monk.

THREE HUNDRED DROWNED AND BURNED AT AUSTIN DISASTER

Terrible Accident in Pennsylvania Town—Dam Burst, and Fire Added to the Havoc and Terror—Buildings Are Wet and Charred.

Special to the Review.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 2.—Thirty-six bodies of victims of Saturday's bursting dam catastrophe were recovered. The local authorities placed the number of dead at three hundred, but the state officials give the more conservative figures of one hundred and fifty. That the dam was known to be unsafe for the past year was the admittance made to-day.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 2.—Three hundred or more persons met their death through the bursting of a dam above this town Saturday. Fire followed, and completed the work of destruction.

The curtain of night which was rung down on the flood scarcely before its victims had all been claimed and its surviving spectators fully realised how great a tragedy the elements of water and fire had enacted in the natural ampitheatre of the Allegheny Mountains here, was lifted by dawn yesterday, revealing a ghastly scene of death and devastation.

Austin itself, Saturday, a busy mill town of 3,000 people, many of whom were enjoying a fine autumn afternoon as a Saturday half-holiday, is only a ghost of a town to-day.

Torn to pieces by water and eaten by fire, the wet and charred remnants of its buildings, believed to hold the remains of three hundred or more persons, were strewn along the valley edge, piled in windows where the main street business section was, or swept in scattered masses far down the ravine.

Spectators, many of whom barely escaped being victims of the disaster, and hundreds of people from surrounding towns, looked down from the steep hillsides on Austin and Costello through a veil of fog yesterday morning to see the wreckage here of some four hundred houses, a score of business blocks, three churches and several large lumber mills, and three miles further down the river at Costello the ruins of more than fifty buildings. The flood did not spend its force until it raced for more than ten miles from the reservoir. Wharton, still further on, suffered somewhat, but is practically intact. The loss of life at Costello, where the residents had more warning, is believed to be but three.

The property loss in the valley is estimated at upwards of $6,000,000.

In Austin, out of the hundred directly enveloped in the deluge, hardly a dozen survive. The furious flood let loose when the Bayless Paper & Pulp Co.'s dam crumbled Saturday, picked up a heavy battery of big timbers in the mill yards at the dam and with thousands of planks and logs, rammed its path with terrible havoc.

At the hospital to-day there were but six injured for the care of the small army of physicians and nurses who poured into the devastated town all night and day. The medical supplies remained unused in the cars rushed here by the Buffalo & Susquehanna and the Pennsylvania Railroads, and the only use found for blankets and bedding was for the care of the few recovered dead, which up to a late hour last night numbered but fifteen.

The state constabulary yesterday afternoon took charge of the situation, which seemed too appalling for the local committee, which had worked all night. Immediately orders were issued to the railroads to bring no more sightseers to Austin, and sentinels were placed on the chief roadways with instructions to pass none but workmen. Hundreds of automobiles and carriages were turned back.

During the night searching parties with engine headlights, automobile lamps, pine torches and improvised lanterns of every sort poked their way into every pile of wreckage that was accessible, seeking any who might be alive, but scarcely a body was found in which life was not extinct. The night had been one of hardship and horror filled with experiences which had severely tested the mettle of the men whom circumstances had pressed into first-aid rescuers in the flood-devastated village.

Credit for the quick spreading of the alarm was given to Lena Binckey, a telephone operator. Upon receiving the message from the Cliff House that the dam had broken, she pushed the alarm button connecting with the fire department and the engineer's office of the Goodyear Lumber Mill below the town.

The engineer tied his whistle down and the firebell in the town was sounded continuously. She then rushed to the street screaming the warning cry. "The dam has broken." Then she fled for her life toward the steep hillside at the north end of Main street. Turning toward the valley, she saw the great wall of water descending upon the town.

"From where I stood," she said yesterday, "the wall of water seemed fifty feet high. Above it rose a great cloud of spray in which houses seemed to toss, bumping against one another, spinning and turning as they fell to pieces or were swept out of sight. The noise was appalling.

"When I fled from Main street there were scores of people behind me, many of them children. They did not seem to appreciate the imminence of their danger.

"Some turned into stores as if to make a casual purchase. While I was looking down upon them, utterly helpless to give further warning, the cloud of mist that seemed to precede the flood hid them from view and a moment later the green water buried the houses from my sight."

One of the striking and pathetic features of the day, according to Dr. Thomas H. A. Stylies, chief of the state dispensaries, was the practical absence of children among the survivors. It is thought that when the wreckage has been cleared away, and the bodies of victims recovered—although many have been entirely destroyed—it would be found that a large proportion were those of children.

Fort William, Oct. 2.—James Conmee has declared that he will not be a candidate for the House of Commons at the deferred election to be held on October 12, and as there is no other candidate to face J. J. Carrick, he will be declared elected by acclamation on Thursday, the 5th. In a letter to the press, Mr. Conmee says: "Owing to the change of government at Ottawa, and having regard to my condition of health, I do not feel disposed to accept the nomination."

Mr. Conmee will at once leave for the south, where he hopes to regain his wonted strength. He has been very feeble since an attack of typhoid, and his physician has ordered a long rest. This district of Rainy River and Thunder Bay will thus be represented by J. J. Carrick.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Coming close to having his neck broken in an elevator accident, young Walter Kudman reposes at St. Michael's Hospital. On Saturday afternoon the boy, who is but ten years of age, looked down an elevator shaft at the St. Lawrence Market to see where the car was. The car was coming up, and before the boy could jump back, he was jammed tightly against the top of the door.

His cries brought the men working around, quickly to his aid. His head is badly bruised and squeezed, and it will be a long time before he recovers from the shock.

NERVILINE CURES ALL PAIN

The Daily Review

MONDAY, OCT. 2, 1911.

QUICK ACTION

American journals are commenting once more on the swiftness with which the will of the people prevails under the Canadian system of government. We voted on the 21st of September; and it is expected that the new Government will be in office during the first week in October, says the Montreal Star. If the Americans were to make the cleanest possible sweep of the party in power on a "first Tuesday after the first Monday in November," the new Government would not come into power until the fourth of the following March. As for the new Congress, it would probably not meet until a full year after it was elected. As matter of fact, a change of party was made in the popular House of Congress last autumn, the Democrats obtaining a majority; but Taft and his Cabinet still retain their positions, and will until March, 1912, in any event.

We have responsive as well as responsible government in this country, and that is precisely one of the institutions which we think it worth while to keep Canada independent to preserve. It is the good old British system which—as we have frequently remarked—was a growth and not an invention. A growth is able to fit itself to conditions much more pliably than any institution made with hands. We imagine that the day will come when our wide-awake neighbors will tire of their wooden system and adopt something very like the British model they rejected. For our part, we are entirely in favor of picking up helpful hints from any quarter which can furnish them. Thus we favor something ak'n to the proportional voting system which several continental countries use; or—possibly—an adaptation of the second ballotings of the French elections. Few things are so good that they defy improvement; and young peoples, like our American neighbors and ourselves, should be among the quickest to seize upon new ideas.

THE GAME OF DIPLOMACY

Poor old Turkey has had a strenuous time of it. Every one in Europe who gets a little hungry takes a slice. The dismemberment of Turkey is as actual a fact as the dismemberment of another kind of turkey will be on Oct. 30—though the process is naturally slower and much more painful.

The diplomatic game that is being played by the European powers presents a very complicated appearance, and if one could only have a good look beneath the surface, we might see some strange and astonishing conditions. Italy is a member of the Triple Alliance, in which are Germany, Austria and Italy; and Italy is going ahead with her plans to capture the piece of Africa immediately south of her, apparently embarrassing Germany so much that the usually well-trained German newspapers are openly expressing their contempt and annoyance at the actions of the Italian "canaille." Austria also is indignant at the action of her ally, and German and Austrian pressure has failed to stop Victor Emanuel from his quest.

In the settlement of the Franco-German difficulties over Morocco, this prospect of Italian trouble had no little effect. As a matter of fact, though Italy is nominally a member of the Triple Alliance, she is undoubtedly very friendly with Britain, and there seems to be a covert suspicion that Britain has been behind the move so that Germany will be embarrassed and checkmated. If France and Britain and Italy were to hold together, they might laugh at the pretension of Germany in the Mediterranean, because Austria does not count a great deal, unless reinforced by Italy. If the backing and permission of Britain to take Tripoli, which Italy has long desired, is the price of Italy's assistance in checking Germany, it may be a price well worth the giving. Britain evidently has not many more ambitions for the acquirement of Mediterranean territory, Egypt giving her a position of great advantage.

Most of the newspaper comment on the situation favors the idea of Germany backing Italy's hand in the the Tripoli with Britain standing by with gnashing teeth and seeing a member of the Triple Alliance making still further inroads on the Mediterranean coast. This looks plausible at first sight, but it is still an elementary and superficial view, according to the best information available. However, even at that the secrets of diplomacy are so deep that the ordinary commentator can only venture what is at best the guess of an innocent. The game that is being played is before us. From what happens we can only surmise what is behind the scenes, for it is undoubtedly true that a great diplomatic game is being carried on right under our noses. The game is a most absorbing study to those who have some inkling of how the wind lies.

THE PAVING QUESTION

The Peterborough city council is talking pavements. This has been an annual custom, and like a hardy perennial, comes into being at the proper season. But the city fathers are taking hold of the pavement proposition in such a way, that it will take them ten years to reach a satisfactory result.

We believe that the citizens of Peterborough would like to see George street, say from Charlotte to Brock, at least, paved quickly. There is no necessity for trying to pave it all at once, but a few blocks at a time would do nicely. And there does not seem to be very much need for long drawn out experiments to find out what pavement is most lasting and suitable. The asphalt block that is proposed may be a good pavement, but the standard paving—and no one has been able to get an improvement on it—is sheet asphalt, and we have no doubt but that the city engineer of any large city would recommend it as the only real satisfactory paving. Lindsay may be using this block asphalt, but Lindsay does not offer any model for Peterborough, in our opinion. Let us take heed from the trials and troubles of places like Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa.

Peterborough is ten years behind the times in paving matters. If it would get in time as an up-to-date city, it must have its principal street paved—at least in the business section. And we do not think that there is any property owner along George street who would regret the additional expenditure to which he might be put in bearing a part of the cost.

Let us hope that the aldermen will not waste a lot of good time monkeying with a pavement that is not in use by the big cities, where they know what it is to lay mile after mile of pavement, but will reap the benefit of the experience of these cities. Because an agent of a company trying to sell a certain style of pavement comes around is no reason why the city should waste time experimenting to find out whether what he says is true or not. Let us adopt the standard paving, and there will be no need of foolish experiments a mile out of town.

After all the cabinet making at Ottawa, the people of the capital ought to be some guessers.

Col Sam. Hughes believes that he would make the finest minister of militia Canada ever had. Col. Hughes has a good militia record, but some of his idiosyncrasies are working strongly against him in the selection of ministers.

The Ottawa Free Press uses a heading on a news item about the war "Turkey is pained." Surely not. Turkey has got so used to the chopping off-a-slice process that it never feels the knife at all. It is all in what you get used to.

In Montreal $1700 was collected in fines in one day from keepers of disorderly houses. There is plenty of law to provide for the stamping out of these pests, but the more law there is, the more they seem to flourish. That is to some degree true also of the liquor business.

In Montreal the Y.W.C.A. has classes to teach young women care of babies, and borrows from a home enough real, live babies for the purpose. How would it be for the Y.M.C.A. to take the hint, and borrow a few real, live squawkers, and make the young men walk the floor with them for an hour or two hours at a time? This is an age of preparation for the trials of the future.

It was a lucky thing that Lord Strathcona withheld his resignation until after the elections. Had he yielded to the pressure undoubtedly applied to him, to resign, so that Sir Frederick Borden could have been got safely out of the way, Canada would have been saddled with a commissioner the appointment of whom would have been satisfactory to few people, either Conservatives or Liberals.

Let us have some asphalt paving and there is no need of putting it out in North Monaghan for a trial either. Lay a block approaching George street, where the traffic is worth while, if an experiment is necessary. But an experiment is not necessary. Peterborough is ten years behind the times now, without pavement, and it has the experience of other places to go by, without conducting time wasting trials to discover for herself what other places found out long ago.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

DOUGLAS FIR

It Could Replace in Many Instances White Pine for Manufacture

Wood-using industries in Canada reported to the Forestry Branch for 1910 the use of $542,000 worth of yellow pine and $69,500 worth of Douglas fir. From scientific investigation and experiment it has been ascertained that our native Douglas fir could in many instances replace yellow pine as at present used in Canada. Yellow pine is necessarily all imported from the United States, and if a species of native wood could be introduced to take the place of yellow pine, the change would be of great benefit in the development of Canadian industry. Douglas fir is a lighter wood than yellow pine and has a greater limit of elasticity: that is, stands more bending without taking a permanent set. Likewise compression perpendicular to grain is resisted equally by both species. In the Western States the uses of this wood are being rapidly extended, and its recently discovered qualities are introducing it for purposes in which previously only yellow pine was thought fitted. Douglas fir is a light and strong wood, easily worked. For railway cars and vehicles it is used throughout the United States, where its elasticity and durability recommend it for nearly all purposes except where a hardwood has to be used. Because of its beauty of grain and the attractive effects which may be obtained by staining, it is very popular for inside panel work, door and window frames, and cheap classes of furniture, particularly "mission" furniture. Furniture, car and vehicle manufacturers would benefit if Douglas fir was used to a greater extent in Canadian manufacture.

The rails on the Cody spur of the K. & S. railway in the Slocan have been taken up and moved to the C.P.R. spur now building from Three Forks to Bear Lake.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Despite firmer cables from abroad and the stimulating effect of the outbreak of hostilities between Italy and Turkey, prices for wheat gradually sagged to-day under a profit-taking movement, and closed lower than last night, losses ranging from ⅛c to ¼c.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 30.—The market opened strong and excited, with prices ¾d to 1¼d higher, with heavy covering by shorts, on Italy's declaration of war and expectations of small Russian shipments this week. Following the opening there was a further advance, with speculators buying. Spot markets were ½d higher, with cargoes lightly offered. During the morning there was week-end profit-taking, and prices receded from the high. Argentine offers are liberal, with Buenos Ayres failing to respond to the outside advance and a quiet demand from the continent. Notwithstanding the recession, the undertone was firm, and traders excited, with heavy covering in Paris, and the opening firmness in Berlin, and at the close prices were ½d to ⅝d higher than yesterday.

Calgary, Oct. 2.—Threshing has been finished on the C.P.R. demonstration farm at Cassils, eighty acres of spring wheat yielding an average return of 40 1-2 bushels per acre, grade No. 2.

That the farmers of the prairie provinces will receive $200,000,000 for their grain crop this year, although the grain as a whole will grade lower than in former years, is the statement made yesterday by B. S. Brown, superintendent of the Central Western District of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who is in the city on an inspection trip.

HIGH HEELS AND HOBBLE SKIRTS

Lead to Many Accidents Say Railroad officials

New York, Oct. 1.—Women of all classes were wrought up yesterday over the sweeping indictment found against high heels and hobble skirts by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which charges these feminine accessories with being responsible for seventy-three accidents in the last three months. Members of the weaker sex who are partial to leather pedestals and ingrowing flounces were indignant over the charge and kicked just as far as their skirts would permit. Their common-sense sisters, who are going through life on flat heels, were surprised that the atrocious styles had not caused more disasters.

Representatives of the New York Central and Erie Railroads admitted that skyscraping shoes and sausage skirts had given them some trouble, but said the total number of such cases for a year was far below the figures of the Pennsylvania. They pointed out that most of the high heel and hobble skirt collisions named in the Pennsylvania indictment had happened in Philadelphia, the inference being that Philadelphia's most popular in and out door sport was at the bottom of the trouble. The latter view was taken by many of the women who discussed the trouble.

"I've been wearing high heels all my life," said a stout woman, who was so high up she appeared to be coming down hill on the run, "but I've never fallen on account of them. I'd imagine I was sitting down if I wore any other kind. I wear hobble skirts, and I intend to keep right on wearing them. I don't intend to dress like a balloon and wear carpet slippers to suit any old railway company. If Philadelphia women can't keep awake they've got no business wearing such things."

"We average about one such case a month," said one of the officials of the New York Central lines. "I don't know whether our women passengers are more skilful in steering stilts or our trainmen are more careful in helping them on and off trains, but the fact remains we have few accidents of that kind."

Officials of the Erie Railroad recalled about half a dozen cases in the last few years where women alighting from trains had been thrown by skyscraper heels. There were other cases where women thus equipped had jumped from trains and gone so deep into the soil that section hands were called to dig them out. The claim department of the Metropolitan Street Railway had an opportunity to contribute to the "experience meeting," but declined.

"Just cut this company out of that high heel discussion," said one of the officials. "If you print a story like that the office will be overrun with women in search of their lost heels."

The question of the operation of Sunday cars in Kildonan, Man., will be submitted to a vote of the ratepayers on Saturday, Oct. 7.

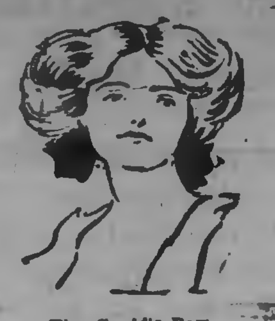
ARE YOUR LIPS BECOMING UGLY?

The "Cupid's Bow" is Said to be Giving Way to Thin, Hard and Straight Lips

Poets have raved and singers have sung of the beauty of woman's mouth—the magnet which draws man into the meshes of matrimony. But, alas! women's mouths are no longer beautiful. We look in vain for the "Cupid's Bow"—the "sweet, red, splendid kissing mouth." That type is giving way to lips which are thin, hard, and straight, and which, while expressing character, detract largely from the beauty of the modern woman.

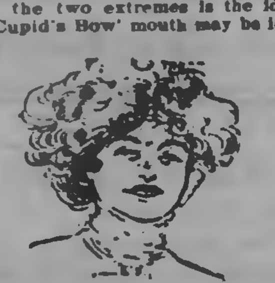


The Cupid's Bow.

At any rate, that is the view expressed by several artists in an interesting symposium of opinions published in the Morning Leader recently. And artists should know, seeing that their livelihood depends on their observations of the human form and face.

"The mouth," says one artist—Mr. G. Sheridan Knowles, R.I.—"is the feature which is most rarely perfect. Many women have good eyes, or a good nose, but very few have a perfect mouth. This may be deplored, because the mouth has the greatest share in expressing character, and cannot be overlooked. My own ideal is the subtle mouth—that is to say, a mouth which expresses distinct character and is in harmony with the rest of the face.

"The Venus of Milo has comparatively thick lips, but other equally famous statues have thin ones. My own opinion is that a compromise between the two extremes is the ideal. The 'Cupid's Bow' mouth may be ideal for a child, but something more subtle is needed for a woman. There have been many conventions in lips. The Gainsborough and Reynolds convention was comparatively thin lips without and Cupid curves. The Rossetti convention was the other extreme—very thick lips."

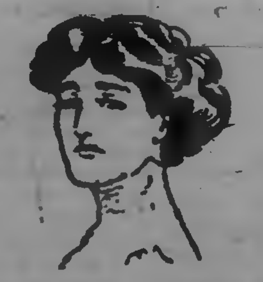


Don't grin. Mouths are best in repose.

One explanation offered of the fact that woman's lips are becoming less beautiful is that they are made thinner and straighter on account of the degeneration of teeth, caused by the unnatural conditions of to-day, and there is no doubt that lips depend upon good and regular teeth for their beauty, and lose their graceful outline when the teeth degenerate.

Mr. Alfred Praga, President of the Royal Miniature Society, agrees with Mr. Knowles that one very seldom sees a perfect mouth nowadays. "My ideal," he says, "is the rosebud or 'Cupid's Bow' type, which is the only pure type of beauty. It may not show character, but that does not matter. Character is not a pure, natural thing, but is acquired, and pure beauty always ends where character begins. Unluckily, woman is developing much character now, and the result may very likely be that she will lose the beauty of her lips.

"It cannot, I think, be too well understood that a beautiful mouth is at its best in repose. The present fashion of smiling and showing the teeth is deplorable. From the artistic point of view, a smile is nothing but a contortion of the face, which ruins the features for the purposes of portraiture. Face muscles that should be in repose are brought into activity, and the result is by no means beautiful. The mouth is stretched across the face, the lips lose any curves they may have, and the whole face suffers."



Type of lips of to-day.

On the other hand, Mr. G. G. Kilburne, R.I., says that he has no difficulty in finding models with beautiful mouths. "I notice many perfect mouths when walking about the streets," he continues; "one sees, indeed, a great number of beautiful women in London.

"Of course, there are many types of beauty, and one type may be as beautiful as another that is widely different. Probably every artist has his own ideal, and it is difficult to say definitely which lips are the most beautiful. They must not be too thin, and they must not be thick enough to become coarse. Certainly the rosebud mouth, which is often held up as the ideal, cannot be accepted as perfect, because, as I have said, it fails to express character."—Tit-Bits.

"FEEBLE STOMACH

Causes Digestive Weakness and Poisons the Entire System.

"No one can have suffered more than I did with stomach trouble," writes Phil. E. Pascalar, well known at St. Andrews Corners. "My doctor told me my indigestion and sleeplessness were due to poisons in the blood. Certainly my condition was desperate, and it seemed from the despondent feelings that swept over me that I would lose my reason. I happened to read about Dr. Hamilton's Pills and bought five boxes from the druggist. Such body-cleansing pills I never used; they were mild and yet quite strong enough to drive all the humors out of the blood. My stomach gained strength rapidly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I improved so much that in eight weeks I could eat and digest all ordinary food. Depression and weariness passed away and I am, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills, enjoying robust good health."

No remedy for biliousness, indigestion, headache, sick stomach, or constipation that compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse substitutes. Sold in 25c. boxes. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cure Stomach Troubles

Settlers Face Starvation.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—In a report received at the Northwest Mounted Police department from Corpl. Clay, who is in charge of the Grande Prairie district in the Peace River country, a warning is given that for the present the food supply on hand is insufficient to properly sustain the rapidly-increasing population.

The report says that the food is practically exhausted, and that it cannot be replenished before December or January. Corpl. Clay suggests that travelers en route for Grande Prairie district should be warned not to go into the country without ample supplies.

Government agents at Peace River Crossing and at Edson will be notified to give the necessary warnings to all parties heading for Grande Prairie.

Parson Seeks Notoriety.

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 2.—A heresy case in the Presbytery of Halifax promises to become exciting. Rev. Mr. Nicholson of Dartmouth was exonerated by a majority of the members of the presbytery. Rev. W. M. Fraser of Halifax now comes out publicly and asks that his name be struck from the roll because he (Fraser) declines to sit in a presbytery where some of the ministers disregard their ordination vows in their preaching and teaching, and because of what he considers their lessening loyalty to the doctrines of the Presbyterian Church. He says that he "will not extend the hand of fellowship to anyone who, denying the virgin birth, brands his Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, with a foul stigma."

Start on Long Ride.

New Hamburg, Oct. 2.—Mr. E. R. De Bourgneuf and wife, who are on a 2,600 mile trip on horseback to Los Angeles, Cal., from Berlin, Ont., left here yesterday morning at 10.30, to continue their journey. The lady was formerly Miss Mary Cassel, a well-known and popular lady of this place, and was given a good send-off by her many friends here.

Mrs. De Bourgneuf wore divided skirts and rode astride on a bay mare, her husband riding a pure white horse. He was dressed in cowboy style. Three valuable hunting dogs accompanied them. They expect to reach their destination in eighty days.

Police Want Time.

Hamilton, Oct. 2.—George Kennough and John Hughes, who were arrested Friday in connection with the robbery at the Canadian Express Co.'s office, appeared in the Police Court yesterday and were remanded for eight days to give the police an opportunity of trying to locate the money.

Kennough, the clerk who was found tied with ropes and who told a story about masked robbers holding him up at the point of the revolver, is charged with the theft of the money, between $8,000 and $9,000. Hughes is held on a vagrancy charge. There may be further arrests, but the police refuse to give out further information.

PERPETUAL YOUTH

A Bachelor's Talk on the Subject to Ladies

"The Bachelor of Experience" writes as follows in "The Woman's World" to women, his topic being "The Gift of Perpetual Youth":

Now, ladies, the gift of perpetual youth is, if I mistake not, the gift for which most of you are looking. Curiously enough, the average man has no great objection to growing old. He knows that a man is as old as he feels, and that a woman is as old as she looks, and he has no tricks to put the clock back to a permanent twenty-seven.

But with woman it is different. She fights age tooth and nail, with all the resources of the dressmaker, milliner, hairdresser, and the toilet specialist, very often most successfully—for how often it is now remarked that there are now no old women!

Yet, at the same time, there is a youth of the heart which is real youth, which all the dressmakers' tricks in the world cannot keep or restore if once it be lost. And here is the real secret of perpetual youth. Keep a young heart and a young outlook in life, and you may set wrinkles and crow's-feet at defiance.

One of the ways to do this is to shun all those wiseacres who are busy trying to screw old heads on to young shoulders. Refuse the idea that all the wisdom in the world belongs to old age, and keep clear of those people who would perpetually persuade you to grow old before your time.

Be pleased and remain pleased with the small things of life, and do not eat out your heart hungering after the supposed advantages which other people possess.

Never be sorry for yourself. Keep your sorrow for other people, and give it expression in kindly thoughts and kindly, timely deeds. Nothing keeps one quite so young as charity of all sorts, whether it be of thoughts or deed.

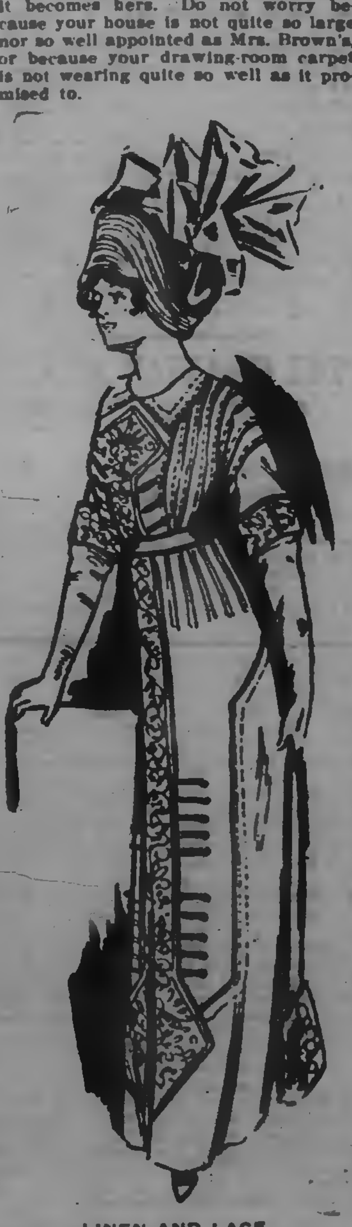
Steer clear of all cynicism in thought, all pessimism, all doubt. All these are cowardice in various disguises, and a coward can grow old in a single night.

Cheerfulness spells courage not only to yourself, but to those around you, and the brave heart which can spread re-assurance wheresoever it goes is the heart which keeps the body young.

A mind habitually cheerful is an armor of proof against disease and against old age. Disease has killed its thousands, but fear has killed its tens of thousands.

How many a life has been crippled by a mean, frightened outlook! How many a woman's beauty has been spoiled, not by the wear and tear of Time, but by that inward peevishness and discontent which will quickly mar the fairest face.

Believe me, ladies, you can rub your faces with all the cosmetics and lotions you please, but there is no beauty mixture so potent as an inward cheerfulness of disposition. Therefore, do not wrinkle your pretty brows because Mrs. Jones, your neighbor, happens to possess a hat which you think would become your own style of beauty infinitely better than it becomes hers. Do not worry because your house is not quite so large nor so well appointed as Mrs. Brown's, or because your drawing-room carpet is not wearing quite so well as it promised to.



LINEN AND LACE

The above cut shows a pretty design for a linen frock, which may be followed in colors or plain white, as one's fancy dictates. Either will be fashionable and either will be pretty. If the lace cannot be procured in shade desired it is a matter of small expense to have it dyed to match one's linen. King's blue works up beautifully.

Note the odd arrangement of lace at top and bottom of panel. Braid loops match the linen and the small buttons are black.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WORK

The executive of the Augmentation committee of the Presbyterian Church met in Toronto on Thursday last. The claims of Presbyteries for the quarter ending Sept 30th were carefully considered and generally approved. It was decided to publish a leaflet on the work of the committee, which might be put into the hands of men engaged in the campaign to raise for the enterprises of the church $800,000 this year, and $1,000,000 next year. The committee is extremely anxious to be able next March to supplement the stipends in Ontario and Quebec up to 900, in Northern Ontario and the Prairie Provinces up to $1,000, and in British Columbia up to $1,100. It is felt that the adequate support of the Canadian ministry is absolutely vital to the success of the whole work of the church at home and abroad. In order that the ambition of the committee may be realized, it will be realised that Presbyteries and others concerned exert themselves to the utmost and that congregations assign to this fund its fair share of their contributions to the schemes of the church.

"DEI GRATIA" HAS GONE FROM COINS

Change in the Currency Not Generally Known

"What has happened to the Grace of God?" asked one man of another this morning. The question was not irreverent. The questioner was talking about coins. In his hand he had one of the new Canadian "cents."

"The fact is that "Dei Gratia" seems to have disappeared from the Canadian coinage, although the new King George coins in England retain it. Samples of these show that there has been no departure from the long-established custom of putting the name of God on the coinage. Why the dies sent out to the Canadian mint are different remains to be explained.

The King Edward coins bore the inscription, "Edwardus VII., Dei Gratia, Rex Iperatoc." The 1911 Canadian coins are stamped, "Georgius V., Rex et Ind., Imp." that is to say, "George V., King, and Emperor of India." There is no "Dei Gra.," and "D. G.," which sometimes appear on British coinage, are absent.

Anglo-Saxon countries long pointed the finger of scorn at France for omitting the name of God from her coinage. A few years ago, Theodore Roosevelt ordered "In God We Trust" removed from the United States coins, but Congress promptly ordered it back again. The alteration in Canadian coins seems to have occurred without attracting attention, but it is safe to predict an agitation for the replacing of "eDi Gratia" on the pieces which are to be minted here.

FIRE WAS IN PARTITION

Sunday Evening Call Was Difficult Task for Firemen

The three house terrace of Mr. Frank Conners, Hunter street near Stewart, narrowly escaped being destroyed by fire last evening when a blaze started in a partition in the centre house, occupied by Mr. Bert Reynolds, contractor. Before it could be gotten under control damage amounting to about $225, resulted.

The fire started, presumably, from a gas stove which was used in a fireplace.

As soon as Mr. Reynolds saw the blaze he ran over to the fire station and gave the alarm and the firemen turned out.

When Acting Chief Menzies sized up the situation he ordered the men to have a line of hose laid in readiness and started in to extinguish the fire by the use of chemicals.

Before the fire was out eight chemicals had been used. The damage, which would have resulted from a deluge of water, would have been greater than that from the fire.

The firemen were hindered to a considerable extent by the spectators who persisted in crowding around. One even went so far as to trip Fireman Tennyson when he was making his way into the building with a chemical. When P. C. Kidd arrived the trouble ceased.

HELPFUL SERMON FOR YOUNG MEN BY REV. H. J. KEITH

Young Men Should Put Themselves Under The Control of a Greater Power

Rev. H. J. Keith preached a stirring sermon to a large congregation at Knox Presbyterian church last night on "Young Man's Social Life," taking his text from the last part of verse 26 of the 11th chapter of St. Luke's, "And the last state of that man is worse than the first."

Rev. Mr. Keith opened his sermon by saying that no young man would like to think that he would be worse in the end than when he started. Any young man who had any respect for himself and friends would say that he wished at the least, to be as good as when he started.

It was therefore recognized as essential that some controlling power must be in the soul of the young man to keep him from falling as he had to either go up or down. The only way for him to be certain that his footsteps were not in the path of degeneration was to be under the control of a greater power.

In his companion a young man either found that which was having a tendency to draw him up or down. Therefore, it was necessary that he should choose good companions. We had to have companionship, but we should find friends who would influence us for good and not those who would lead us astray. The kind of friends who were always treating lightly the sacred things was not the kind which were going to lead the young man upwards.

QUESTION OF HABITS.

There was not only the question of friendship to engage the attention of a young man, but also the question of habits. He must look about and decide whether his habits were to be such as would satisfy the passions which arose in him, or the elevating kind.

SMOKING AND DRINKING.

A question which seemed trivial at times was the drinking habit. Could it be said to be right for anyone to indulge in the cigaret habit? It kept a young man from developing his powers. Over fifty per cent of our Canadian applicants for the Canadian navy were rejected because of the cigaret and a tobacco heart.

Some boys at school had the habit so bad that they must skulk around at recess and satisfy their craving for tobacco.

Should a young man drink? was another important question. He should not, as it led to drunkenness. The average life of a drunkard was fifteen years, and the only cure was that which came from Christian reformation.

A young man should pick out a course in life which would lead him clear of the habits which would sap his vitality.

Some lives required a lot of play. Should the theatre, for instance, be recognized as a proper place to satisfy these longings? Those who were engaged there amusing the people were not of the highest type. There was the field, gymnasium, games, literature and friends and the young man with vigor and a craving for success had power to keep away from these other things which were not elevating.

"Only by tieing up your life to Jesus of Nazareth can you be a strong true man," concluded the speaker.

HENRY SETON MERRIMAN'S GREATEST WORK "WITH EDGED TOOLS"

At Grand Opera House on Saturday October 7th— All Star English Company

It is an anomaly that a writer of the celebrity of Henry Seton Merriman, most sparkling of novelists, and a prime favorite should have had to wait almost indefinitely an adaptor for his works for the stage. We can only attribute it to the fact that it to the fact that it was so patent as to have been overlooked. The adaptor who eventually went to work made no mistake in choosing "With Edged Tools" a modern story of intense interest, scintillating with wit and humor, and of romantic environment—the most popular of all his works.

Who, having read the work has not followed with excitement the adventures of young Jack Meredith in his quest of the priceless Simiacine, a drug, the leaf of a shrub, and necessary adjunct to modern science—hidden away in the desolate plateau of Central Africa? Followed the growth of the friendship between Guy Oscard the silent practical big-game hunter and Jack Meredith, the Apollo-Belvidere of the ball-room, in his effort to indicate his manhood by application to the trade of Old Adam? Followed the duplicity of the society philanderer Millicent Chyne, who plays fast and loose with the affections of men as she would play bridge; and followed the earnest efforts of the old diplomat, Sir John Meredith, criptic, sarcastic, truculently humorous, and brilliantly witty, unswerving in his loyalty, and unbending in his pride to outwit the beautiful Millicent and secure his son's happiness? We might quote with the learned Scott "Lives there a man with soul so dead who"—who, having read read the novel, has remained unmoved by these things. And a pretty little moral is evolved in the working out of the story to the effect that "Those who play with edged tools are bound to cut themselves sooner or later" which justifies the title given to both book and play, although in both cases the title is symbolical. "With Edged Tools." though practically a stranger to the American continent, is one of the biggest successes of recent years in England. It has run continuously for 1079 nights, and is booked for 1913 and 1914 there. It is here presented by the original all-English company, direct from their successes across, which includes Mr. Hamilton Deane, Mr. Stanley Bedwell, Mr. Richard Hicks, Mr. Chas. Hartopp, Miss Marie Leonard, Miss Marguerite Cellier and Mr. Campbell Goldsmith. These are among the best acting names in Britain, all artists who have travelled the world in the train of the stars.

Scene from "The Earl of Pawtucket," in which Lawrance D'Orsay appears at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening next.

"The Earl of Pawtucket," is written in the happiest vein of Augustus Thomas, and is built on mistaken identity and cross purposes, but to use a line of the play, it all "dovetails so nicely" that the comedy is at once interesting and highly amusing. Mr. Thomas' gift of writing sparkling dialogue and contriving laughable situations that are unusual is felicitously exemplified in this. "The Earl of Pawtucket" comes to the Grand, next Friday, October 6th. The seat sale opens Wednesday morning.

ALL SAINTS' AND ST. JAMES' WINNERS IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Both Teams Blanked Their Opponents in Good Games.

All Saints and St. James' were the winners in the church League games on Saturday, when they played Park Street and Knox respectively. The scores were 2-0 and 1-0.

All Saints and Park street were tied for the leadership, and the fans looked for a battle royal. Those who turned out to witness the contest were not disappointed when the two teams lined up. The Baptists were without Dawson and the "Saints" were minus James, but both teams presented a good strong line, as Park street had Hitchins from Havelock, and "Billy" Milburn who has returned from a two-months trip out West.

All Saints won the toss and decided to play with the sun and wind at their backs, while Park street had to face a very strong sun.

The Saints opened by bright and fast play, with their forwards doing some clever passing, but they were checked hard by the right division of Park street defence, who, by the way, are all Scotchmen, in Allen, Donnell, and Irwin. The latter showed his last season form in holding E. Dawson and T. Williams, the Saints' fast left wing from getting very close. Then came the time for the spectators to cheer, when E. Dawson passed to Gash, who passed Renshaw, and beat Milburn for goal No. 1, on a hard shot from the right.

On play being started again the Saints pressed around their opponents goal, but were unable to score, and the first half ended with the sphere in mid-field with the score 1 to 0 in favor of All Saints.

SECOND HALF

The defenders on both sides were called upon early after the resumption of play, the ball being raced smartly from end to end with Park at, on the offensive, but they could not get through the Saints' defence, who are about the best in the Church League and can be depended upon by their fast little forwards.

Then the All Saints followers had the chance to cheer their stalwarts once more, when, by a nice pass from Monk to Edwards thence to Williams goal No. 2 was scored on a close-in shot. This ended the scoring, and the game ended with the sphere in mid field and the Saints winners of a well contested game by the score of 2 to 0.

Mr. A. Pagett gave good satisfaction as referee.

The teams lined-up as follows —

Park street		All Saints
	Goal
Milburn		Moralty
	Backs
Donnell		Gamble
Renshaw		Hull
	Half Backs
Irwin		Vickers
Allen		Hooper
Hitchins		Robinson
	Forwards
Smith		Monk
Follis		Edwards
Miller		Gash
Tooley		Williams
J. Williams		Dawson

KNOX vs. ST. JAMES

While Park street and All Saints were deciding the leadership of the Church League, Knox and St. James the tailenders were battling away on St. James' ground.

It was an evenly contested game, with honors about divided. There was no score until the last minute of play when St. James' managed to notch the winning goal.

By losing Saturday, Knox drops to last place again.

The Burnham trophy which will be emblematic of the championship of the Church League, gives an added zest to the players and they are all out to win.

TECUMSEHS LOST FIRST

Minto Cup Game Went to The Champions by 5-0

The first game for the Minto Cup played at Vancouver on Saturday, went to the champions by 5—0; The Tecumsehs were outplayed throughout the contest, which was witnessed by 9,000 people.

At Scanboro Beach, Toronto, Vancouver beat Young Torontos in the initial Mann Cup game by 7—2.

St. Catharines took the championship of the juvenile C.L.A. series, by winning from Preston 8—1.

Varsity Old Boys put it over the 1911 rugby team by 11—6. Argonauts ran up a 15—1 score on Queen's and Hamilton Tigers had it easy with T.A.A.C. The count was 25—2.

Peterborough in a revised grouping has been placed with Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. in the junior O.R.F.U. series.

Robt O'Brien, of Gananoque, captured the Ward Marathon in 3.57. Eddie Cotter, of Hamilton, was third.

HOW DOES IT LOOK ?

Some Probabilities on the on the Local Junior O.R.F.U. Team

Twenty-six rugbyists turned out to practice on Saturday afternoon, and under the supervision of "Chubby" Connors and "Duke" Oldham they had a grand workout.

Though there was a line-up picked it is by no means permanent, and there is a chance for everyone yet.

Vernon Hayes, who made such a hit with the fans as full-back for the P.C.I fourteen last season, looks good for that position on Manager Oldham's line. Corkery is almost a certainty for the half division along with Johnston and probably Kirk.

Denison, the big defence player on last year's intermediate O.H.A. team, is rounding into shape and doesn't seem to have much opposition for quarter.

Hogan and Gilbert, of last season's P.C.I team, are likely to catch a place on the wing, as well as Langley, Elliott and Davidson. There seems to be abundance of material and the W.E.A.C. should present a formidale fourteen

At 7.30 o'clock this evening everybody is asked to be out in sweaters, as there will be a signal practice in front of the armories. A captain will also be selected.

"BILL" MILBURN BACK FROM WEST

He Obstructed and Assaulted Conductor on C.P.R. Train

Charged with wilfully obstructing conductor D. W. Park of the C.P.R. passenger train on the night of September 25th, running between Montreal and Toronto, and of assaulting detective George Brodie, constable of Peel county, who was called in to assist the conductor; an Englishman named Michael Scott was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble at police court to-day.

The accused pleaded guilty and His Worship handed out a $40 fine with costs, or $47.90 in all with the alternative of one month in jail with hard labor. The prisoner had not the money so it is probable that Michael will eat his Thanksgiving dinner behind the walls of Castle Nesbit.

AN AWFUL FATALITY

Corn Cutter Knives Enter Stirling Farmer's Brain

Stirling, Sept. 30.—Frank Hubbell, a well-to-do and highly respected farmer living on the town-line about three miles west of this village, was killed in a shocking manner last night. The accident which caused his death, occurred about six o'clock. He was grinding the knives of the corn-cutter on an emery wheel which was being driven at a high rate of speed by a threshing engine. Without any warning the wheel broke up into fragments and the particles were hurled in every direction with terrific force. The set of knives were thrown directly into the face of Mr. Hubbell who was holding them on the wheel. So great was the force with which they were driven that they penetrated the brain. One large fragment of the wheel struck Mr. Hubbell on the leg and the limb was crushed by the tremendous impact.

SCRUTINEER BARRED ?

Serious Complaint From North Country Polling Subdivision

It is probable that an investigation will be held at an early date by the local Conservative executive into somewhat serious complaints respecting the conduct of affairs at a poll in the north country, where it is alleged the D.R.O. refused to admit the Conservative candidate's duly accredited scrutineer or consider his paper. As a consequence the Conservative candidate is said to have been without a representative at this poll There was an unexpectedly large majority against him there. There is a good deal of feeling over the matter. A very well known and prominent man of the north country is authority for this statement.

Bombarded Pervesa.

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—It was officially announced late yesterday that Italian warships Saturday morning attacked two Turkish torpedo boats off the Port of Durazzo on the west coast of Albania.

It is officially confirmed that the Italian squadron has bombarded Prevesa, but the landing of Italian forces there is denied. It is announced from Janina that two Italian warships Saturday bombarded the port of Reschadie, and torpedo boats lying in that harbor, one of which was damaged and landed its crew. The Italian ships entered the port and shelled the town, several houses being struck. After taking soundings they left and later entered Port Musto, taking the captain of the port and three boatmen prisoners.

The Porte has notified the powers of the suspension of the lighthouse services in the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, the Dardanelles, the Aegean and Adriatic. The Italian workmen in the Government factories have been dismissed. The Italians employed on the construction of railways in Asia Minor are abandoning work and leaving the country.

Awards to the Grand Trunk

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display instead of two that were announced in the cable received on September 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honour, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

This year the Kamloop district was the only part of British Columbia in which the coddling moth appeared. The pest has been stamped out.

SOME PROMINENT CANADIANS AND WHAT THEY ARE DOING

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

SIR DONALD MANN

The world respects a self-made man. It still more honours and venerates a generous one of this type, one who uses his dollars not alone for selfish accumulative purposes but expends them for the betterment of his country and its people. In the end he shares more largely in the prosperity he has created than anyone else. Sir Donald Mann is Canada's foremost example of such a man. His upward career has been meteoric and reads like fiction. He has had a life full of adventure. His activities had their origins in places where a man was what he was and where no weakling could prosper. It was an indomitable energy and a fixedness of purpose which brought Sir Donald Mann to the top of the ladder. His early training moulded the character of the future Railway King. The place of his birth, Acton, Ont., was but a small village. His boyhood days made the man, who has done things. He soon found farming did not offer enough scope to his latent abilities and transferred his energies to the lumber business. A man of his stamp could not be a failure. At the age of 21, the then plain Donald Mann had already risen to the position of foreman.

The West was at this time making its appeal for men of the right sort. Its lure seized Sir Donald and in 1879 he went to Winnipeg. This made him. By 1880 he was a contractor building portions of the C. P. R. contracts between Whitemouth, east of Winnipeg and the Selkirk Mountains, which occupied him till 1885. It was shortly after this date that the famous partnership of Mackenzie and Mann was formed. Amongst many other important works this Company built the Calgary and Edmonton, the Qu'Appelle, Long Lake and Saskatchewan Railways, as well as the C. P. short line through Maine. By 1889 the firm had become so eminent and well known that it was offered railway contracts in Panama, Eucador, Peru and Chili as well as in China. Sir Donald Mann after visiting and carefully examining all these places decided to decline all the above projects.

It was then that Sir Donald began his now great railway system. He formed its nucleus by purchasing the charter of the Lake Manitoba Ry and Canal Company. From this has grown The Canadian Northern Railway system embracing upwards of 5,000 miles of line through the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario. To-day Sir Donald Mann is Vice-President of the Canadian Northern, the Canadian Northern Ontario and the Halifax and Southwestern Railways. All of which have reached their present high standing through his energy and genius.

Sir Donald Mann's work has chiefly consisted in directing construction. In this branch he has achieved an unsurpassed reputation for speed, efficiency and economy. Perhaps even more important has been his success in convincing public opinion that legislative aid to his projects would be for the public benefit. It is through this diplomacy and tact that his great systems have achieved their remarkable success. Canada has and will prosper still more through the efforts of Sir Donald Mann's fertile mind.

A Popular Judge.

In a popularity contest somewhere near the top would be found Mr. Justice Teetzel. He was born "Teetzel," and christened "James V."

"Most of us called him 'Jim' before he was elevated to the high court bench in 1903," recalls one barrister, "and, between you and me, he hasn't changed much since his promotion. His exalted position has failed to rob him of his individuality."

He was born on March 6, 1853, educated at Woodstock College, Galt, and Toronto, and was called to the Bar in 1877. Made a Q.C. in 1889, he was elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada in 1891, 1896, and 1901. He was made Doctor of Law by McMaster University in 1907.

His Lordship belonged to Hamilton before the high court plucked him away from mountain and mountaineers. He was mayor of the Ambitious Centre in 1899 and 1890, and in the latter year he contested a Federal seat there in the Liberal interest.

Mr. Justice Teetzel plays golf and rides a horse. He is a member of the Toronto Club, the Hamilton Club, and the Toronto Golf Club.

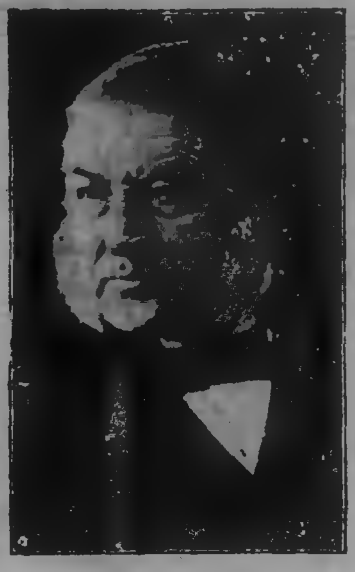
There comes a time in a woman's life when all her pet theories fall flat and useless and when every idol she has worshipped is demolished.

CANADA'S SONS

CANADA'S GRAND OLD MAN

It takes a big man to command interest from the whole nation fifteen years after retiring from active political life. That is Sir Charles Tupper's record. Although he now spends most of his time in England, no one follows the trend of political affairs in Canada with a keener eye. At ninety years of age his occasional contributions to the press show the same fire which enlivened politics in the early nineties. "Age cannot dim," as one man lately discovered when the doughty Knight corrected the Finance Minister's memory on several points.

Recently an event of special interest took place in London when a tablet was unveiled to commemorate where the articles of Confederation were drawn up. It was Sir Charles Tupper's day. The gallant old man with his unabated willingness to take any adversary spoke vigorously, and well. He is the last survivor of the Fifteen of Confederation. It was a great thing to see him standing there and to hear him speak. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's tribute addressed to him of "Well done, good and faithful servant" was hailed as one of the Canadian Premier's happy inspirations. He had said the right thing at the right time.



SIR CHAS. TUPPER, Bart.

HON. WALTER SCOTT.

Walter Scott, printer's devil, compositor, publisher, politician and premier of his province. It is not an exceptional story for Canada offers to every youth the opportunity to ascend. Mr. Scott, who was recently elected for a second term to the highest office in the gift of the people of Saskatchewan, can review a career that is an inspiration to any young man of ambition. To find the secret of his success one must know the man. If asked to name the qualities which led to the distinction, enjoyed so early in life, his friends would say that courage and stick-to-itiveness combined with an affable disposition were the predominant characteristics. It is not every boy who serves as an apprentice at a trade who has the determination to soar beyond the calling he had selected for life. No one would have dreamed that back in the early days of Regina, when it was a small town, its only claim to note being the headquarters of the Territorial Government, that the boy sweeping the office, pulling proofs and doing other chores in connection with a country weekly, would reach the honor of being the chief adviser of His Majesty in one of the principal provinces of this great commonwealth. In political warfare Mr. Scott is a hard hitter. He wouldn't thrive in the West unless he were. He never strikes below the belt but when it is necessary to make a charge he does it without resort to suggestion, or surmise. When Walter Scott says anything unpleasant it's generally uncomfortably definite. As a speaker, he cannot be classed as an orator. He is not prosaic, however, and is pleasing to listen to. He has a free, easy, conversational style and holds his audience without difficulty. He is not a man to trifle with as many an interrupter has learned to his chagrin.

Walter Scott was born in Ontario in 1867.

HON. WILLIAM SCOTT
Premier of Saskatchewan.

It's as hard for a girl to keep a secret as it is for her to keep her cloak buttoned over a new gown.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

GREAT RAILWAY MAGNATES

The men who have been instrumental in building the great railways of Canada which stretch from ocean to ocean across a continent, uniting the people of a large country, have performed a work which cannot be overestimated. First among these is Baron Mount Stephen, G.C.V.O., D.L. He was born in Scotland in 1829, and twenty years later came to settle in Canada. He was for some years connected with the Bank of Montreal, and later became President of the St. Paul, Minn., and Manitoba Railway. His chief work was in connection with the C. P. R., and it was largely through his efforts that this railway was built. It was for his services in this connection that he was created Baronet in 1886, and Baron in 1891. His generous donation towards founding the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, is well known.

LORD MOUNT STEPHEN

Sir William Cornelius Van Horne was given the title of K.C.M.G., in 1894. He was born and educated in the United States. At the age of fourteen he entered the railway office of his native town and steadily worked his way up through the various stages of railway service, until in 1874 he became General Manager of the Southern Minnesota Railway. For many years he filled supervising and managing positions on various railroads of the United States. Then, in 1881, he came to Canada and became General Manager of the C. P. R. Later he was made Vice-President of that Company, and in turn, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors, from which latter position he recently resigned. He has been connected with the C. P. R. since 1882. His thorough knowledge of railroad affairs is evidenced by the fact that he occupies positions of trust with several other railways. He is a Knight of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

SIR W. VAN HORNE

SIR ALAN BRISTOL AYLESWORTH

Between Edward Arthur Lancaster and Sir Alan Bristol Aylesworth there is a feud of long standing. Years before the Minister of Justice was tapped on the shoulder and told to "rise Sir Alan," the energetic lawyer from St Catharines was camping on his trail, and the mutual dislike sprang from the somewhat contemptuous treatment which the head of the country's legal department meted out to Mr. Lancaster's efforts to bring the railways to time in respect to the level crossing evil. It was under the circumstances a matter of astonishment to the House when Mr. Lancaster for the first time on record, agreed with the views of Sir Alan on the merits of a certain divorce bill discussed recently. The Minister of Justice had delivered a ponderous argument against granting relief to husband and wife on mere hearsay evidence, and after he was through, Mr. Lancaster rose and supported the contentions made by his old time enemy. Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, who acts as reporter for the Minister of Justice when his desk mate, George Graham, is not there, leaned over and in a stage whisper said:

"Lancaster is agreeing with you."

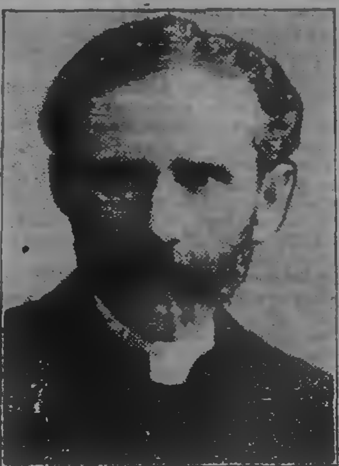
Quick as a flash came the return whisper of Sir Alan, loud enough to be heard all over the House, "In that case I must be wrong!"

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

REV. C. W. GORDON

Rev. Charles William Gordon, B.A., D.D., L.L.D., F.R.S.C., or as he is more widely known, Ralph Connor, was born in the country and it was his early training in the Indian Lands, Glengarry Co., Ont., which we see reproduced in the broad manly atmosphere of Ralph Connor's books. No city bred man would possibly warm the imagination, and make the reader yearn for the broad open country, the home of better things as does he.

The future Ralph Connor received his first smatterings of education at the Public School of Athol, Ont. One imagines however, that it was the careful tuition of his father, the Rev. Daniel Gordon which made him yearn to taste more of the fruit of education, rather than the village school. Still the impressions of his early days have always remained with him and we find them brought vividly before us in some of his masterpieces. After public school he was sent to the High School of St. Mary's, Ontario. From there he matriculated into the University of Toronto, graduating with the class of 1883. After taking his Arts course, the future author applied himself to the study of theology at Knox College. In order to obtain a broader and wider outlook on life Ralph Connor crossed the water, and studied at New College, Edinburgh for a year.



RALPH CONNOR

Before returning to take up his life work in Canada, he made, in company with five friends, a bicycle tour of the continent.

Upon his return to the Dominion he took up his task with grim determination to succeed. The now Rev. Mr. Gordon was sent as a missionary to the Rocky Mountains. He did his work thoroughly and labored for the spiritual good of the region with all his indomitable energy. The Rockies were inhabited by a rough and ready lot, yet the youthful divinity graduate shouldered his task and came out with flying colours.

The impressions he received were indelibly stamped on his mind and they make some of the most thrilling passages in his books. Since 1894 the Rev. Dr. Gordon has been in charge of St. Stephen's Church Winnipeg.

He has labored not alone for the moral betterment of his own congregation, but for the whole West. Dr. Gordon takes a vital interest in the improvement and purification of municipal politics and in the lot of the working man. On this account he was chosen as a member of the Coal Striker's Arbitration Board. Above all Ralph Connor's influence has been felt from Coast to Coast through the medium of such books as the "Man from Glengarry" the Prospector, etc. Canada needs more men of his stamp and more books of the same calibre as his. They have a farther reaching effect towards moral upliftment than any amount of sermons against the prevalent vices.

SIR JAMES GRANT

Sir James Alexander Grant, K.C. M.G., M.D., F.R.S.C., who while in politics introduced the Pacific Railway Bill, is principally distinguished for his medical and scientific work. He has published works on Organic Heart Disease, and numerous essays on various medical and scientific subjects. He was President of the Royal Society of Canada in 1903.

Sir James was born in Inverness, Scotland, in 1831 and received his education at Queen's College, Kingston, Ont., London and Edinburgh. He first entered parliament as member for Co. of Russell in 1863.

Inconsistency goes as far towards making life attractive as its pleasures do towards spoiling it.

CANADA'S SONS

SIR WILLIAM MACKENZIE

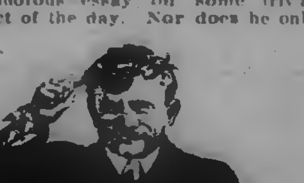
When William Mackenzie first saw the light in the little village of Kirkfield, Ont., in 1849, his proud mother in her wildest dreams about her boy's future could not foresee the great career that William planned out for himself.

On finishing his education at the Lindsay Grammar School he commenced life as a school teacher, then kept a store, and contracted on the G. T. R.; went West and became a contractor on the C. P. R., doing much work in the Rocky Mountains. He really commenced doing things with the formation in 1886 of the firm of Mackenzie, Mann & Co. Ltd. They built a number of railroads before building for themselves, — bit by bit as money came in that marvellous network of railroads — the Canadian Northern System, — remarkable in two ways — that the Great Northern is probably the only large railroad system in the world controlled only by two men, and that Sir William obtained the money in London at the lowest rates ever paid by a railway.

SIR WILLIAM MACKENZIE
President Canadian Northern

STEPHEN LEACOCK

Prof. Stephen Leacock, B.A. Ph d. is a man of complex accomplishments. His gifts are very varied and in each he excels. His realm of thought embraces topics ranging from the serious to the humorous. Prof. Leacock can write with equal facility and success an article on the most obscure point in Political Science or a humorous essay on some trivial subject of the day. Nor does he only interest himself in academic and literary pursuits. He uses his talents towards the development of his country, by means of direct personal appeals to the people. Dr. Leacock is a real orator. His personality is magnetic and this coupled with his fine, clear, voice, his flow of English, and his logic, combine to make his speeches convincing even to the skeptic and to rouse his own adherents to enthusiasm.



Dr. STEPHEN LEACOCK

It is as a Professor that he is best known. His students are all enthusiastic. He is able by means of his humour to infuse life into and to make interesting even the dry elements of Economics as they were explained by John Stuart Mill. It is in Political Science, however that the professor really excels. Here he is on his own ground and it indeed needs an erudite opponent to question or argue a point with him on this, his hobby subject. He is the author of an invaluable little book on the subject entitled, "Elements of Political Science." So lucidly is it written, that even the layman, through its perusal may get a comprehensive grasp of the more salient points of the subject.

In 1907 Dr. Leacock was chosen by the Cecil Rhodes Trust to tour the British Empire, delivering lectures on Imperial Problems. He was everywhere received with much enthusiasm and accomplished his mission with signal success.

Dr. Stephen Butler Leacock was born at Swanmoor, Hant, Eng., in 1869. He came to Canada in 1876. He received his primary education at Upper Canada College and from there entered Toronto University. After receiving his degree Dr. Leacock taught at his old school, Upper Canada College. He then took his Ph. D at the graduate school of Chicago University, receiving it in 1902.

CANADIAN PHILANTHROPHY

Prominent as a philanthropist is Sir William Christopher Macdonald, Kt., who recently presented a valuable piece of ground to McGill. He is a Governor of McGill University, and of the Montreal General Hospital, to the former of which he has given large endowments. He has established and endowed the Macdonald Agricultural College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, at a cost of $5,000,000.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

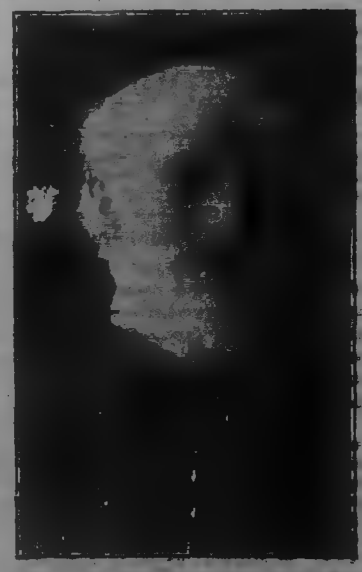
SIR HENRY M. PELLATT

Imperialism has been the key to all Sir Henry M. Pellatt's public activities. He is an ardent believer in the connection of Canada and the Mother Country being as close as possible. It was an act of splendid patriotism for him to take over his regiment the Queen's Own Rifles from Toronto to England. Nothing could have created a more friendly feeling. The regiment was a means of fostering better relations between the great mass of the people of Great Britain and those of Canada. An appeal to these is much stronger than to the cold minds of lawyers and parliamentarians. It is from the middle and lower classes in England, that Canada draws her best class of settlers. The way to get them into the Dominion is to interest them in Canadians and Canadian Institutions. There is no stronger means of attracting notice than by means of soldiery. Sir Henry Pellatt realized this. He has aided Canada more than if he had personally brought over a thousand of the most desirable of British settlers. To-day he is Commandant of his regiment after having successively passed through each of the commissioned ranks. There is no stronger supporter of the militia in Canada than Sir Henry Pellatt. He has always shown a keen interest in all their activities. In 1897 he went over to England as Major of the Queen Victoria's Jubilee Contingent and acted as Commander of the Canadian Contingent at the Coronation of the late King. At this period he took over with him to the Old Country the Bugle Band of the Queen's Own at his own expense.

SIR HENRY M. PELLATT

It is stated that Sir Henry will be the next Canadian High Commissioner in London, — a post for which he is highly fitted.

Col. Sir Henry Pellatt was born in Toronto in 1860. He attended Upper Canada College in that city. A professional life did not appeal to him. Therefore at fifteen years of age he entered the employment of his father. Later he formed a partnership with him, the firm name being Pellatt & Pellatt. Sir Henry has always interested himself largely in financial and industrial corporations. At present he is the executive of many large companies including the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., Toronto Electric Light Co., etc.



SIR SANFORD FLEMING

Sir Sanford Fleming, K.C.M.G., LL. D., M.I.C.E., and Chancellor of Queen's University, has achieved fame as an engineer. He constructed the Intercolonial Railway through the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Quebec, and was for some years Engineer-in-Chief of the C. P. R. He has taken a special interest in the movement for establishing the Pacific Cable, and a Pan-Britanic Telegraph Service. He has published several articles on The New Time Reckoning.

Dr. Grenfell's Appointment.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell has been appointed medical adviser to the Hudson Bay Company. This is taken to mean that in future the Northern fishermen are to be treated more fairly in their trade relations. Dr. Grenfell has now brought his co-operative stores into touch with English business houses, so that goods for his people in Labrador will be brought at a saving of middleman's profits, and English fish merchants are to take their supplies direct.

COPENHAGEN'S FRESH FISH

Brought to One's Door Swimming About in Tanks of Water.

When a person buys fresh fish in Copenhagen he really gets it. More than that he gets uncontaminated fish. The sewers used to empty into the sea at the nearest convenient points. Now the sewage is collected into a main trunk line and carried two kilometers out to sea before it is released.

Thus there is longer any contamination of the harbor or the sea front. They not only puts an end to the nuisances that used to arise, says the 'Lancet,' but enables boats full of live fish to come close to shore and right into the town by means of the salt water canals.

In the manner at least the smaller fish are kept alive until the moment they are sold. Any number of wooden boats are pierced with holes and filled with fish; these boats just float on the surface of the water, and the living fish is taken out of them when wanted.

But as every one cannot go to the water's edge to buy fish there are water tanks on wheels and the live fish are brought to the doors of the people's houses. The principal fish market was built by the municipality and is let to a wholesale fish salesman.

It is delight to see how clean and bright these premises are kept. There is no spreading the fish on slabs so that dust and dirt may settle on them. Very pretty tessellated tanks are filled with running water, and here the smaller fish swim about. The larger fish such as cod or halibut, are too cumbersome to keep alive, and are therefore placed in the cold storage rooms.

Not only are the fish fresh, but they are generally very well, sometimes even artistically cooked. At Copenhagen the domestic servants' trade unionists instituted a school where members of the union are taught how to be clean and neat, how to sew, to wash and starch, and above all how to cook. A little restaurant is attached to this school where any one can have a cheap meal, thus giving the pupils an opportunity of exercising their art.

The trade union, while insisting that a good servant shall earn from 25 to 30 kromer (a kromer equals 1s. 2d.) a month and pay half a kromer subscription to the union, does at the same time endeavor to render her fully competent to accomplish her work. Also by providing sleeping accommodation it helps to prevent servant girls falling into bad company or suffering undue hardships when out of employment.

In the same way there is an old frigate moored in a canal close to the most fashionable centre of the town. Here there is a school for ships' cooks. On board a ship with the limited space such as prevails at sea young folks try their 'prentice hands at making dishes such as are served to passengers on sea voyages. There is an awningon the deck, tables are laid out, and numerous inhabitants of Copenhagen take their meals there; for they are both varied and inexpensive. Thus fully qualified cooks are being prepared for the sea.

Multiplying on the Fingers

We shall never be in danger of forgetting that our ancestors did their sums on their fingers so long as arithmetic retains the word 'digits.' But modern civilization knows nothing of the elaborate development of this method. It takes a Wallachian peasant to multiply 8 by 9 on his hands. This is how he does it. The fingers of either hand, beginning with the thumb, stand for the numbers from 6 to 10. So the ring finger of the one hand and the middle finger of the other are struck out to represent 8 and 9. Counting the fingers remaining on the side furthest from the thumbs he finds them 1 and 2 respectively, and 1 multiplied by 2 gives him the units of his product—2. Then he counts from the thumbs to the struck out fingers inclusive, finds them 3 and 4, adds these and gets 7 for his tens. Answer—72. All this to avoid knowing the multiplication table beyond four times four! Try it as a game.

PREVENTION OF FOREST FIRES

That it is only by observance of the utmost care that forest fire outbreaks can now be avoided in certain dangerous districts, is pointed out by Commissioner W. C. Gladwin, of British Columbia:

"In some districts," says the Commissioner, "the conditions existing at present are such that, should a fire originate, it will only be with the greatest difficulty that great loss will be prevented. The department, of course, has a considerable force of rangers out patrolling the various districts night and day, but one careless individual may cause all their efforts to count for naught and start a fire occasioning heavy loss in lives and property."

"This fact cannot be too frequently impressed upon the public mind, particularly in the dry season of midsummer," he adds.

Royalty In a 'Bus.

In these democratic days, when a royal personage, as I once heard a country girl say of the late King, 'walks about just like a gentleman'—or a lady, it is interesting to note a quaint little story in the current number of that useful magazine, 'National Health.' Referring to the desirability of travellers by tube railways and other popular means of conveyance being particular about cleanliness in their dress and habits, the writer says:

'Lords and laborers must travel side by side. Not very long since we ourselves saw the Duchess of Argyll riding in a Hammersmith bus, and her Royal Highness was so familiar with such conveyance that when she reached Kensington Palace, the conductor being engaged in collecting fares, she herself gave the correct pull to the bell to notify the driver to

J. J. Turner & Sons' Fame is Spreading Quickly

That the fame of Turner's tents and Canadian boats is widespread is indicated by a letter received by Messrs J. J. The letter remarks that Germany is seemingly behind in these things, and must look to Canada for ideas and help. Herr Savor is apparently ready to buy small craft from Canada to show the natives on the Rhine how to do things.

HEAVY FINE OF $100 WAS IMPOSED ON LOCAL DRUGGIST

Was Found Guilty of Selling Alcohol Without Doctor's Certificate From Purchaser

A local druggist was fined $100 and costs this morning by Magistrate Dumble for selling an eight ounce bottle of alcohol to a man named Herbert Johnston on Sunday, September 24th, contrary to the provisions of the Liquor Act. The charge was laid by License Inspector Stewart, who was forced to bring the case into court to settle, and any of a similar nature which might in future arise. The matter was threshed out very thoroughly, and while there appeared to be considerable variety of opinion existing among the contending parties, it was shown that the druggist had undoubtedly violated the liquor act clause governing such acts. He was allowed ten days in which to pay the fine.

W. H. Moore, K.C., assisted in the prosecution, together with the license inspector, while Mr. Basil D. Hall, of Hall, Hayes and Hall, conducted the defence. The case and its discussion aroused great interest among other drug dealers in the city, the majority of whom were interested listeners of the trial.

The facts of the offence are that on Sunday, Sept. 24th, a man named Herbert Johnston, who is addicted to the use of liquor, went into the drug store in question and bought an eight ounce bottle of alcohol from the proprietor, paying 50 cents, and stating it was for external application. The purchaser did not have a doctor's certificate. According to Johnston's own evidence, he was slightly under the influence of liquor at the time, but not enough to prevent him from being perfectly aware of what he was doing. The druggist sold it to him without any questions. Johnston went home that night about nine o'clock, after drinking the alcohol adulterated with water, and his brother, E. G. Johnston, with whom he lives, found the bottle in his pocket bearing the druggist's label and name. The brother saw the druggist about it on Monday, the next day, and asked him if he had sold such a bottle to a man who answered the description of his brother. The reply was that he could not be positive, as he had sold several bottles to different people, but that in future it was his intention not to sell any more without a doctor's certificate. The brother then went down and had License Inspector Stewart place his brother Herb on the blacklist.

Herb Johnston, the man who bought the alcohol, in the witness box stated that he was not positive, however, that it was the proprietor who had sold him the alcohol.

Mr. Hall, counsel for the defendant, called as witnesses Mr. Madill and Mr. Nugent in the effort to prove that alcohol is not considered an intoxicant under the provisions and as understood in the liquor act. His arguments were overruled, however, by his Worship.

The magistrate read the act, which is given below, and which proved conclusively that the defendant was in the wrong. It is as follows:

It shall be the duty of such chemist or druggist, to record in a book to be kept for that purpose, every sale or other disposal by him of liquor sold under and forming an ingredient in such prescriptions; and such record shall show as to every such sale or disposal, the time when and the person to whom the same was made, the quantity sold and the prescription, when one is required of such medical practictioner; and in default of such sale or disposal being so placed on record, every such sale shall be held to be in contravention of the provisions contained in said section 49 and 50 of this act.

At this stage the defendant who, up till then, had not made any statement, took the witness stand. He stated that alcohol was sold by druggists throughout the province, at least by 80 per cent. of them without their demanding the certificate required by law. He furthermore said that to his knowledge there had never been a prosecution for doing it.

Mr. Moore here remarked that it was becoming a common practice now with those men who could not procure liquor at hotels to buy it at the drug stores, and that it was a habit that ought to be effectually blocked.

The discussion, which occupied some time, brought up some rather fine points, which will likely result in the case being taken into a higher court where a decision will be given that will act as a standard judgment in case of similar offences.

The conditions in future by which those must abide who wish to purchase alcohol in any form at a drug store, are that they must present a duly signed medical man's certificate every time they make a purchase. It does not matter for what purpose the alcohol is required, even if it is only for any of the minor and numerous uses it serves, such as dissolving camphor or for outward application to the body. The certificate costs one dollar. From the evidence submitted in the case this morning it would seem that the above rule has not been strictly enforced.

U. S. ONCE HAD WAR ON TRIPOLI

Something About History of the "Bone of Contention"

Tripoli was conquered by the Turks in the middle of the sixteenth century. After this it became a beat of Barbary pirates. In 1711 it secured its independence from Turkey, a Moorish chief establishing himself as Bey. His descendants ruled the country for over 121 years when the Turks resumed their authority (1835.) In the days when it was independent, a war broke out between the United States and Tripoli, and lasted from 1801 to 1805. War was declared by Tripoli in 1801, because the United States refused to increase the annual tribute of $83 000 which it had paid over for five years to secure immunity from the depredations of the Tripolitan Corsairs. The United States expecting that war would be declared had taken the precaution of sending a squadron to the Mediterranean. In October, 1803 the United States frigate Philadelphia, while chasing a corsair into the harbor of Tripoli, struck a sunken rock and was captured by the enemy. In July, 1804, Commodore, Edward Preble began a series of only partially successful attacks on the harbor fortifications. William Eaton, an American officer and adventurer, who had been consul at Tunis, 1799-1803, and was subsequently appointed United States Naval Agent to the Barbary States, organised during the war a movement among the natives to restore Hamet, (the brother of the reigning Pasha, Yussuf Caramalli,) who had agreed to accede to the American demands. Eaton, at the head of a motley troop of 500 men, marched across the desert from Alexandria, and with the assistance of the American squadron he took Derne, in 1805, and was about to march on Tripoli, when peace was concluded between the United States and the reigning Pasha.

In 1816, the British sent a force to Tripoli and compelled the Bey to renounce piracy and agree to treat all future prisoners according to the usages of civilized nations. Though Tripoli is a dependency of the Ottoman Empire, the Bey enters into treaties with foreign powers without consulting any superior.

WAR WILL BE SHORTEST AND MOST BLOODLESS IN HISTORY

End of the Squabble Seems to be at Hand—Germany Trying to Act as Peace-Maker in the Matter—Trouble in the Balkans.

Special to the Review.

Rome, Oct. 3.—An official announcement was made here to-day that the Italian fleet was bombarding Tripoli city to-day. This seems to bear out the statement that the bombardment was delayed in the hope that Turkey would come to terms. The Turks will suffer little as most of them have withdrawn to the interior.

TURKEY ASKS FOR INTERVENTION

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—Turkey to-day issued a third appeal to the powers for intervention, declaring that it had postponed retaliatory measures in the hope that the war would be ended, in the interests of justice and equity,

London, Oct 3.—From present appearances the Turco-Italian war promises to be the shortest and most bloodless war in history. Thus far its distinguishing characteristic has been the absence of fighting, and with Germany acting as peacemaker, it may be ended before fighting occurs.

It is concluded that no mediation will be accepted by Italy until she has accomplished the military occupation of the Tripolitan coast.

After that negotiations will be much easier and are likely to be successful, if Turkey will accept a money indemnity for allowing Italy to establish herself in Tripoli, as Great Britain did in Egypt.

The news filtering in from various points continues to be of a negative kind. Evidently Tripoli has not been bombarded, and is not likely to be, if the Turks do not oppose the Italian landing.

The warlike operations are confined to a blockade and the capture on either side of a few small vessels.

It is now admitted from the Turkish side that Prevesa, in European Turkey, is not occupied. Italy's announcement that she has no intention to carry the war into European Turkey, will do much to allay apprehension [illegible] the Balkan [illegible] complications.

Turkey's ministerial difficulties have not been solved, but generally the situation looks more hopeful.

No Bombarding Before To-day.

Rome, Oct. 3.—A despatch to The Tribuna from Malta, says that a steamer, which arrived here at six o'clock yesterday evening, brought the news that the Turkish transport Derna had been shelled and sunk in the harbor of Tripoli. It confirmed the other advices that the bombardment would not begin until Tuesday—this in order to give the population time to withdraw to a place of safety.

Keep Hands Off Balkan Peninsula.

London, Oct. 3.—A despatch received here by a news agency from Vienna, says that Count Von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, has informed the Italian ambassador that any further action by the Italians on the Albanian coast will make it necessary for Austria to despatch warships thither.

Count Von Aehrenthal asked the ambassador how he reconciled Italy's naval movements in the vicinity of Albania with her declarations that she was keeping her hands off the Balkan Peninsula.

GRAHAM WAS A SUICIDE

Investigation Clears up the Hamilton Death Mystery

Hamilton, Oct. 3.—What at first appeared to be another mysterious murder, but which investigation proved to be a clear case of suicide, was the drowning in Hamilton Bay Sunday night of Thomas Graham, a cab driver, 21 years of age, who lived with his widowed mother at 63 Napier street.

Blood on Graham's coat and a large lump on the back of his head suggested foul play, but after tracing the man's movement Sunday night, the police and Coroner Dickson reached the conclusion that the wound on the head was the result of Graham's own actions and that he had deliberately committed suicide. No inquest will be held in the matter.

Ship Under Arrest.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—The case of the six seamen of the steamship Melville, who were arrested for desertion, entered upon a new phase yesterday when all six consolidated their claims for wages against the owners of the ship, and, headed by a man called Gragan, visited the Admiralty Court swore out a warrant and had the ship put under arrest.

Their claims for wages amount to about $350. The case will come up in the civil courts.

Entombed Men Rescued.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Oct. 3.—The fourteen men who were entombed at the Shakespere Mine, on Dome Creek, were rescued yesterday, none the worse for their confinement of 84 hours.

A drill hole, through which they had been provisioned, was enlarged by thawing until it was big enough to permit the body of a man to pass.

Then the imprisoned miners were pulled one after another to the surface of the ground, 1,274 feet above.

Child Burned to Death.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Aime Forger, aged 4 1-2 years, living in St. Henri, was burned to death at eight o'clock yesterday morning. The little boy's mother had left him playing in the kitchen when she heard him crying, and rushing to the room, found him enveloped in flames.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER MAY BE OFFERED A HAGUE POSITION

Montreal Newspaper Says He Might Become President of the Tribunal.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—The Herald (Liberal) last night publishes the following in large type on the front page:

"It was given out yesterday morning by a man prominent in the counsels and friendship of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that the ex-Premier would be offered the position of president of The Hague Peace Tribunal very soon, being the unanimous choice of President Taft and the English authorities. Both great nations had expressed their confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and commissioned Lord Strathcona to offer the ex-Premier the position, and this commission is the mission of Lord Strathcona's visit."

Addresses to Earl Grey.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Three farewell addresses were presented to Their Excellencies, Earl and Countess Grey, and their family at Government House yesterday.

The civic farewell was presented by Mayor Hopewell, six ex-mayors and a number of other officials.

For the Halifax Canadian Club, the address was read by Sir Sandford Fleming, while Lieut-Col. Renouf of Montreal, presented one on behalf of the Canadian Artillery Association.

Earl Grey spoke in feeling terms of his relations with the Canadian people, and predicted a great future for the Dominion.

PASSENGERS EMBARKING AT BADEN BADEN

Fitted with a restaurant and other conveniences that make journeys in it as comfortable as trips taken in a Pullman car, the Schwaben, the latest of the Zeppelin dirigibles, of which photographs are herewith presented, has been beset by persons anxious for a ride in the air ever since her maiden trip was made on June 26 last. With American travellers on the Continent these trips have been particularly popular.

Mr. Alexander H. Revell, the Chicago merchant, in describing a trip which he made last July on the Schwaben, wrote:—

"During the journey the passengers felt, and I really believe were, as safe as on board one of the largest ocean steamships. Four Germans, two Englishmen and four Americans assured me they, like myself, had not the slightest feeling of illness or uneasiness

FAMINE ON IN DUBLIN

Hospitals are Compelled to Bake Own Bread

Dublin, Oct. 3.—The strike of the bakers here is causing starvation. The situation is aggravated by the closing of the small branch bakery shops in the poverty-stricken areas.

On Saturday afternoon a small army of men and women marched up and down the streets in front of some bakers' shops shouting, "We want bread, and we'll have it!" Later a bread van was attacked and broken, its contents scattered in the street and picked up by hungry women, who carried the bread off.

A hospital surgeon said in an interview:

"I am told by women visitors that children they visit are sometimes so ravenous that when food is brought to them they tear the loaf to pieces before the visitors' eyes. In many houses, I am assured, there is hardly a stick of furniture or any bedclothing. Everything has been sold with the object of sustaining life during this terrible time of strikes."

The Master of the Rotunda Hospital said:

"To-morrow we shall have no bread for either the patients or the staff."

The Maternity Hospital, after a bad day without supplies, got its own ovens to work and baked bread.

At the Mercers' Hospital, too, bread was baked by the nurses and sisters. The superintendent of Butler's Hospital said that on Sunday the bread supply at the hospital was completely cut off.

Signs of a Hard Winter.

Whitby, Oct. 3.—Farmers in Ontario County are preparing for a hard and long winter, because the red squirrels and chipmunks have become very busy laying in their winter food store, even going to the extent of collecting green chestnut burrs, breaking them open and hiding away for future use the unripe chestnuts. The natives declare they never before knew the squirrels to open green chestnut burrs or to begin storing food so early in the fall.

Royalists In Portugal.

Electrocuted at His Work.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—An electric shock while he was at work in the pipe mill of the Montreal Steel Works at St. Henri on Saturday afternoon is supposed to have caused the death of George Burdon, an electrician, whose dead body was found in the mill at noon Sunday.

Burdon had only started to work in the mill on Friday as an oiler. The body was found stretched out on the bridge, close to the motor, an oil can beside him. He had evidently been killed while oiling the machinery of the crane.

RESIGNATIONS MAY GET ANOTHER HOIST

Sir Thomas Tait Mentioned as Head of N. T. R.—Borden's Cabinet.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—The resignation of the Laurier Government, which was to have taken place on Wednesday, goes over for another day.

The reason is that the Governor-General will be in Montreal on Wednesday saying good-bye to the Mount Royal Club.

The delay means that the Borden Ministry will not be sworn into office till Thursday or Friday. In the meantime, every day produces new Cabinet possibilities.

It is stated to-day that Dr. Roche's chances for a western portfolio have slumped and that on the other hand George H. Perley, chief Conservative whip, has signified his desire to be left out of the new Government.

One of the most interesting reports circulated yesterday was that the chairmanship of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission would be turned over to Sir Thomas Tait, formerly of the C.P.R., and more recently of the Australian Government railways.

Yesterday's arrivals included A. E. Kemp, Major Currie, Major Sam Sharpe, and H. B. Ames. Mr. Borden had a lengthy conference with the Governor-General last night.

The only Laurier Minister who survived in Ontario is in danger of losing his seat. The election of Hon. Charles Murphy in Russell is likely to be protested. A meeting of 200 workers was held yesterday and charges of corruption in the election are plentiful.

Another protracted Cabinet council was held last night. The big item under consideration is said to have been the letting of the contract for the extensive harbor works at St. John, N.B. The right of the defeated Government to let these contracts is denied.

There is some talk of the Borden Cabinet journeying to Quebec to be sworn in by Lord Grey on Oct. 12. This would be His Excellency's last official act.

Graham For Glengarry?

Montreal, Oct. 3.—It is stated in Liberal circles that Mr. McMullin, the Liberal member-elect for Glengarry, who carried the county by over two hundred majority, will soon resign his seat, and the Opposition will bring forward the Hon. George Graham, defeated in Brockville on the 21st. It is understood that if the ex-Minister of Railways will accept the nomination, Mr. Duncan McMarvin, who was the Conservative candidate, will not run again.

Never Again, Says Berthiaume.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Hon. T. Berthiaume, proprietor of La Presse, in a statement, denied that he had in an interview stated that Sir Wilfrid could never be resuscitated as a successful leader.

He claims that he was misinterpreted and states that he was asked what effect he considered the recent election would have on Sir Wilfrid's future; to which query he replied that Canada could not expect to see another French-Canadian again at the head of the Government.

These words were interpreted, he states, as having particular reference to Sir Wilfrid.

JOHN STANFIELD, M.P.,
Of Colchester, N. S., who may get a Cabinet position.

Charge Now Manslaughter.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—O. Lefebvre may be charged with manslaughter as the result of a fight in which he took part a couple of weeks ago, when, it is alleged, he knocked Patrick O'Hanley down on Clarence street, causing him to break his leg. He has been in Water Street Hospital ever since, and last Saturday died as a result of his injuries. The prisoner was yesterday morning remanded for a week.

Man Dies of Glanders.

New Haven, Oct. 3.—Medical specialists are puzzled at the death by glanders of Dr. James H. Kelly, a leading veterinarian. Cases of humans being afflicted with the disease are rare.

Dr. Kelly undoubtedly became infected through attending a horse afflicted with the disease.

Colonial Office Changes.

London, Oct. 3.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that Sir Charles Lucas, head of the Dominion Department of the Colonial Office, who retired yesterday, is to be succeeded by Sir H. W. Just, Chief Secretary of the Imperial Conference, who made an extensive tour of Canada last spring.

He was born in 1864, and was educated at Bristol Grammar School and Corpus Christi College, Oxford. His ripe experience in colonial affairs eminently fit him for his new office.

Clothing of Jas. McCarney Shows Evidence of Poison

Wiarton, Oct. 3.—Traces of Paris green have been found on the clothing of James McCarney, whose mysterious death is puzzling the authorities. Although the case may be one of suicide, the theory of murder has not been disproved.

"GIVE US OUR DEAD" IS CRY OF STRICKEN AUSTIN PEOPLE

Terrible Scenes Enacted in the Work of Rescue—Dozens of Bodies Mingled in the Debris—150 Dead.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 3.—Twenty-four known dead, eighty-six missing and believed to be buried beneath the debris, is the official census last night of Austin's loss of life in the flood of Saturday. It is conceded, however, that several, if not indeed many, visitors and strangers were in town that day, and undoubtedly perished. Including them and allowing for inevitable errors in compilation, the total of the dead will probably reach 150. Twenty-one of the bodies recovered from the ruins have been identified and of the missing hope is entertained that some may yet be accounted for.

The problem of the hour in Austin last night is to recover her dead from the thousands of tons of debris choking the narrow valley. To do so before it becomes necessary to burn the ruins and save the living from an epidemic an army of laborers must reach the town within the next 36 hours, officials say. Otherwise the torch may transform the wreckage into a pyre of most of these who have perished.

The single line of wire swinging between Austin and the outside world carried an urgent plea for workmen to the mayors of Buffalo, Pittsburg and Philadelphia. Samuel C. Dixon, state commissioner of health, supreme in command at Austin, voiced the appeal.

Encouraging responses are hoped for.

"Give us our dead," is Austin's cry, voiced by State Senator F. E. Baldwin, who lost father, mother, sister and other relatives. Only the body of his father, John E. Baldwin, had been recovered up to this morning. The others are locked in the ruins.

The nine-mile line of railroad leading here from Keating's Summit was given over yesterday to the cause of rescue and relief. Locked cars pulled out of the Summit for the scene of the disaster. When they reached the terminus here, the workers detrained; the drones, kept aboard, were sent back.

Every man on Austin's streets except the newspaper men were conscripted in the service, but despite the vigilance of the authorities only 360 were working at sunset.

Smouldering flames in the debris burst forth anew in the lower end of the wreckage yesterday afternoon, but it is not believed that the timbers shielded any of the dead.

Austin stands to a man against the suggestion that it may be necessary to put a torch to her ruins. Feeling runs high and should the authorities be forced to, there is no forecasting the result. The iron grip of the Pennsylvania State Constabulary holds the town in its grasp, however, and the troopers will remain here until Commissioner Dixon gives the word to go.

Eight men charged with looting the ruins were arraigned last night before Magistrate Johnson and committed to the Coudersport Jail for grand jury action. One man, a boarding-house-keeper, complained yesterday that his home had been robbed of $2,800; another, a storekeeper, declared that thieves had smashed his cash registers and stolen $300. A little girl entered a wrecked building and left with jewelry valued at several hundred dollars. She was stopped and relieved by the state police of her loot.

Hopes to Unseat Verville.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—The announcement was made yesterday by Mr. E. W. Villeneuve, the defeated candidate in Maisonneuve, that the recount which is to be made was only the preliminary to a contestation, by means of which he hopes to unseat Mr. Verville. He also charges that the ballot boxes have been left open since last Tuesday; that the returning officers have been opening envelopes containing the register of voters, and that they have been filling in omissions made before voting.

Returning Officer Gingras declared yesterday that these charges were groundless; not one envelope containing the ballots had been opened and proper care had been taken of the boxes ever since the elections.

Brockville Man's Sudden Death.

Brockville, Oct. 3.—Hote Wyckware, aged about 60 years, while dining at the home of a friend last evening fell forward in his chair and expired instantly of heart failure. Wyckware was a lifelong resident of Brockville and vicinity. He leaves two daughters and two sons. The latter are: Dr. B. Wyckware of the civil service of Ottawa, and Dr. Buzz, Lehigh, of the staff of the Mimico Asylum.

Schooner Was Disabled.

City Island, N.Y., Oct. 3.—The British schooner Neva, from Perth Amboy for Bear River, N.S., which sailed from here Oct. 1, returned and reports when off Middle Ground, Long Island Sound at 4 a.m., yesterday, during a heavy northeast wind her foresail was carried away. She will make repairs here.

Lady Drummond's Illness.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—The condition of Lady Drummond, who is seriously ill with appendicitis in the Royal Victoria Hospital, yesterday showed a slight improvement. Her state is such that only her son is allowed see her.

CHEATED THE U.S. CUSTOMS

Importer in New York Gets Four Months in Jail.

New York, Oct 3.—Abraham Lichtenstein, president of the Lichtenstein Millinery Co. on Fifth avenue, yesterday pleaded guilty to being concerned in a conspiracy to undervalue goods imported to this country and was sentenced to serve four months in the penitentiary.

In sentencing the man Judge Hough said he believed the defendant to belong to a class who have been corrupting business methods in the United States for many years, and that smuggling for profit must be stopped. Lichtenstein made a settlement with the Government after his arrest for $120,000.

Another Airman Dies.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 3.—Cromwell Dixon, who aviated across the Rocky Mountains last Saturday, fell 100 feet in the Interstate Fair grounds here and received injuries which caused his death.

Children Burned to Death.

Indian, Pa., Oct. 3.—Eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Dias, of Heshbon, near here, ranging in age from thirteen years to three months, were burned to death early Sunday, when fire destroyed the family home.

The parents, after discovering the flames, left the children in their beds and went to the first floor, where they made an attempt to extinguish the fire.

The blaze spread rapidly, however, and they were unable to return to rescue the little ones.

FRENCH BARON WHO ONCE HAD WEALTH, DIES IN POVERTY

Came to America After German War, and Started a Newspaper in Montreal.

New York, Oct. 3.—Leon Le Metayer Masselin, Baron De Guichainville, died Sunday night at Bellevue Hospital of injuries received when he was run down by a trolley car. The baron, who was 81 years of age, lived with a blind daughter and a son, in the basement of an apartment house on West Seventeenth street.

The French Consul-General will take charge of the old nobleman's body, for he died in poverty, after having eked out a living for years by odd jobs for coin dealers. When he came to America, soon after the close of the Franco-Prussian war, De Guichainville was a man of wealth, and established a newspaper in Montreal.

Want "Rush" Abolished.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—The abolishment of the McGill "rush," a species of "free fight," between sophomores and freshmen, which for years past has been a regular incident of the university opening, is being agitated by members of the science faculty and others. The college authorities are opposed to the present "rush" and will exert all efforts to have it abolished. Every year there has been increased opposition owing to the injuries sustained by participants.

Stiff Breeze Grounds Schooner.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Oct. 3.—A stiff northeasterly gale yesterday compelled the Bangor schooner Anne Lord to put into this harbor, where she was grounded.

PROBABILITIES

Strong breezes to moderate local gales, easterly to southerly. Fair today. Showers late to-night and on Wednesday, with local thunderstorms.

Boasted of Burglary.

Prince Rupert, B.C., Oct. 3.—A man using the names of Alexander Johnson and William Wheeler was arrested here yesterday as a suspect in the New Westminster bank robbery. He had attracted attention from the police by displaying large sums of money at various amusement resorts. He at first boasted that the money was part of the $250,000 stolen from the bank. Later he said the money was received from the sale of a Montana ranch. When searched by the police, $900 in United States bank notes was found in his possession. He is also said to have deposited $10,000 in banks since arriving here.

Not a Wall Street Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 3.—The Men and Religions Forward Movement, which is to be country-wide, was inaugurated here Sunday by the opening of an eight-day campaign, to serve as a pattern for those to be conducted in seventy-five of the largest cities in Canada and the United States.

Thirty meetings were addressed by specialists in boys' work, Bible study, missions, social service, evangelism and community extension.

It was vigorously denied that the movement is financed by Wall street capitalists for the purpose of quieting labor.

Catarrh and Bronchitis

The Bane of Thousands, and has Hitherto Baffled the Skill of Medical Science.

Catarrhozone

Dry air treatment is the one treatment that will cure these diseases.

What stomach medicine has ever been known to cure Catarrh or Bronchitis?

Catarrhozone is not a stomach medicine, but an air medicine, that carries to the remotest parts of the throat, lungs, and air cells little drops of healing so curative that whenever it touches germ life it kills and eradicates them from the system.

Thousands of doctors and patients have been disappointed by using stomach medicines for coughs and colds. Have you not found it a rather roundabout way to reach the diseased portion of the throat and lungs?

Why not use Catarrhozone, which is breathed to the very root of the disease and heals so quickly and perfectly that every spot is rebuilt with new healthy tissue?

Catarrhozone is the only medicine that will cure. Thousands have testified.

Think for a moment. Is it not sense? Little drops of healing—the air carries them just where disease exists. That is why

THE HARRIMAN STRIKE

The strike on what are known as the Harriman railroads, the chief of which are the Illinois Central, the Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific and the Oregon short line, promises to develop into one of the most serious transportation strikes in the history of the continent. There are now about 15,000 men on strike involving eight or nine trades; and when the strike comes to a more acute stage, the men involved will undoubtedly number 25,000 or 30,000.

The situation facing the managements of the railroads is serious, and it would seem that they had considerable justice on their side. The systems will soon become clogged through lack of a repairing and foundry force, and congestion of freight, through the operating forces are working as usual. The various trades concerned in the strike had agreements with the several railroads composing the Harriman system. These unions federated, and wanted the railroads to recognize the federation. The railroads held that the agreement should be made with and apply to the unions on each road separately, and that the grievances of the men on one road or in one section should not be made the occasion for tying up the whole system with a strike.

In addition to this, the strikers are demanding an eight hour instead of nine, and an increase in a pay proportionately, making a cost increase of 23 per cent. The unions are demanding that the physical examination instituted by the railroads be done away with, as that tended to bar the weak or unfit from the service. The railways are held liable for accidents, along with other large employers of labor, and of course seek to minimize the possibility of accidents by having selected employes. In addition to this the unions seek to force the companies to pay for the hospital care of men who are either hurt, or who are taken sick while in the employ of the companies, the sick or injured to remain in the hospital as long as they or the unions think necessary.

These are only some of the demands, and now that many of the United States railroads are showing signs of a big business depression, with decreasing receipts, and increasing expenses, it is doubtful whether the force of circumstances will admit the success the strikers. The strike would seem to the ordinary observer to be a little far-fetched at the present time.

"LAURIER IS FINISHED"

M. Berthiaume, the proprietor of La Presse, the big French daily of Montreal, says that Laurier is finished as a political leader—absolutely finished. Just why Mr. Berthiaume should make this announcement at this time is not certain, because in the campaign La Presse used schemes and tricks of the most conscienceless, immoral and turbid political machine hacks to get support for Laurier. It appealed to its French readers to save Laurier because he was French and a Roman Catholic—with unblushing effrontery used the race and religious cry as it has never been used in the annals of Canadian journalism.

Mr Berthiaume may be mistaken, however. Laurier is seventy years of age, but he came through the late campaign in better form than men many years his junior. Laurier would not object to retirement to enjoy a few years' rest, in the twilight of life, and in fact when he has put the Liberal house in order, that is what he probably will do. Sir Wilfrid is the only outstanding Liberal leader at present, and he personally has the admiration of Canadian generally, whatever his goverment has done in the way of shady transactions with political favorites. The long period of reconstruction which the Liberal party must undergo will bring out a new leader, and new lieutenants, and Sir Wilfrid's ability to "come back" will not be called into question. At the same time, it is odd that the fiercely pro-Laurier sheet, La Presse, should tell its little tin god that his day is done.

REDISTRIBUTION

Toronto News.

The British North America Act requires that a redistribution of Parliamentary seats shall follow the decennial census, the results of which will shortly be made public. Incidentally it is to be hoped that the delay in giving the figures to the country does not indicate a disappointing growth in population during the last ten years. The task of adjusting Parliamentary representation to the changed conditions of settlement may be taken up in 1912 or in 1913. In any event certain prime considerations should be kept in view.

The western provinces with their extensive influx of new settlers must be given an adequate voice at Ottawa. We can afford to treat the west generously. In view of the fact that its population will grow rapidly for years to come we might allot it even a slightly larger representation than that to which the actual census figures would entitle it. This arrangement would prevent the prairie country and British Columbia from being under-represented during the last years of the present decade. New Ontario falls in the same category and should be treated in the same way. But while remembering the new areas of population it must not be forgotten that the great industrial centres have also been neglected.

Having doubled in population within a few years many Canadian cities have no longer anything like an adequate influence in the Federal Legislature. The Dominion has become a manufacturing as well as an agricultural nation, and all the elements of its citizenship are equally entitled to a full voice in the country's affairs. The contention used to be that many residents of cities were entitled by rural constituencies, and that, therefore, the centres themselves could not fairly demand representation by population. This is no longer the case. Witness the slaughter of Toronto lawyers by agricultural voters in the recent contest. As a rule country ridings have got into the habit of sending local men to Parliament, and this leaves the towns and cities entitled to an adequate delegation of their own in the House of Commons.

There are even special reasons why the workers and consumers in industrial centres should be as influential at Ottawa as the farmers of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. It may reasonably be contended that while the difficulties to be overcome on behalf of the agriculturists are largely common to the whole country, the problems to be solved by the large cities are various in character. These grow as civilization becomes more complex and as a result the more congested the population the more influential it requires to be in Parliament. Conditions have changed so completely that good grounds no longer exist for discriminating against any leading urban community.

The present complexion of the House of Commons leaves probably 1,500,000 city voters virtually disfranchised. This is not a fair application of the manhood suffrage principle. City people are quite as intelligent and they have quite as much at stake as country people and they should have as much to say in the conduct of public affairs. As the News said when it appeared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would readjust the Parliamentary representation a fair redistribution bill will give Toronto from 12 to 14 members instead of only five as now. Montreal should get a corresponding increase. Hamilton and Ottawa should have three members each. Fort William and Port Arthur between them should secure a member and Winnipeg have 5 or 6 members. Edmonton should become a single member constituency, and Calgary have two members. Vancouver should have four representatives in the House. Other rapidly growing young communities should also be given special consideration. The injustice of the present situation is too obvious to require further emphasis. During the last decade the great growth in population has been in the large industrial centres, in Northern Ontario and in the great country west of Lake Superior. The incoming Government is expected to treat urban and rural communities alike, and we have no doubt that after the next general election the people of Toronto as well as of the prairie country will be placed on a footing of equality with the rest of the country.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Judging by the character of the dispatches from the seat of war, the Winnipeg liar has moved himself thither for a season.

With Mr Perley in doubt as a cabinet minister, owing to a frail state of health, Ottawa won't have those Perley gates to make it resemble the place where St. Peter stands.

The latest is W. F. Maclean, of the Toronto World, as minister of agriculture. He surely is getting the appointment—if he does—on the strength of his reciprocity campaign argument on the price of beans. That would qualify him as a farmer any day.

Premier Whitney is the authority for the statement that there is no provincial election in prospect. Writs for the necessary bye-elections are being issued, but there is not a great deal of necessity for hurry with the Ontario elections. The result is a foregone conclusion.

It is definitely understood that Hon. Richard McBride will stay with the Provincial Government in British Columbia, and will not take a portfolio at Ottawa. He has evidently concluded, along with Sir James Whitney, that it better to be general in a small army than merely captain in a bigger one.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. W. J. Johnston bought for Gunns and paid $6.65 per cwt., fed and watered at the market.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Sept. 30, were 2850 cattle, 3600 sheep and lambs, 2675 hogs, and 525 calves. The supply on the market for sale consisted of 600 cattle, 1075 sheep and lambs, 1190 hogs and 400 calves.

There were only four loads of Manitoba domestic cattle on the market, some of which sold at $5.25 per cwt., for mixed steers and heifers, which averaged about 1075 pounds per head. Choice Ontario steers, weighing 1200 pounds each, sold at 6¼c; good, at 6c to 6⅛c; fairly good, at 5¼c to 5¾c; fair, at 5c to 5¼c, and common, at 4½c to 4¾c per lb., and packers paid three cents per lb. for bulls for canning.

There continues to be an easy feeling in the market for hogs and prices since this day week show a further decline of 5c to 10c per cwt., on account of the more liberal supplies coming forward. The demand was fairly good and sales of selected lots were made at $6.85 to $7 per cwt., weighed off the cars, and heavy hogs and sows sold for $1 per cwt. less than the above figures.

A good trade was done in sheep and lambs, and as the offerings were not in excess of the requirements a firm feeling prevailed in the market and prices showed no change. Lambs sold at 5¾c to 6c, and sheep, at 3¾c to 4c per lb. The demand for calves was good at prices ranging from $3 to $10, according to size and quality.

Cattle—Receipts, 32,000 head; market, weak. Beeves, $4.70 to $8.10; cows and heifers, $2 to $6.15; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $5.60; Texans, $4.25 to $6; calves, $6.75 to $9.25.

Sheep—Receipts, 65,000 head; market, weak; native, $2.25 to $3.90; westerns, $2.75 to $4, lambs, $4 to $5.90; western, $4.25 to $6.

MISTAKES I MADE

By a Young Wife

It is extraordinary how the "contradicting" habit grows on one. I made the mistake of letting it become chronic before I realized that I was suffering from it at all.

I began it just for the sake of an occasional friendly argument with Ned. It seemed so silly to be always agreeing; but in time I found that it was far sillier to be always disagreeing.

It is extraordinary how easy it is to take the other side whenever anything crops up which leads to discussion, and it is amasing what a disagreeable individual one becomes in the taking thereof. I found myself growing a positively quarrelsome person before I pulled myself up short; then I discovered that it is much more restful not to argue unnecessarily.

There is quite enough wear and tear in life without voluntarily adding to it in this way.

Rural Dean Ridley, of Trinity Anglican church, Galt, yesterday, celebrated the 25th anniversary of his installation.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A small broom made of stiff wire is very convenient for cleaning frying-pans.

If the hands are thoroughly greased with vaseline after using dyes, the stain will be prevented from penetrating the skin.

To prevent thread from knotting when sewing by hand, always make the knot in the end last broken from the spool, then stretch the thread, taking the ends and giving several quick pulls, threading the needle with the unbroken end.

The white of a raw egg makes a most excellent paste. Papers used for covering jam or jelly, if brushed over on the inside with the egg in this form will hold securely and be quite air-tight.

Gilt frames or mouldings, when soiled by fly specks or other causes, can be cleaned with the white of an egg applied with a camel's-hair brush.

In short, the finest beauty recipe in the world is:

Content	5 parts.
Hope	2 parts.
Carelessness	1 part.
Patience	2 parts.

Give that bottle a shake, ladies, and tell me how it goes.

LITTLE TEMPERS

I do not believe anything spoils the happiness and serenity of home so much as "little tempers," says a writer in Horner's Weekly. It frequently happens that the person who indulges in them is warm-hearted, and ready to help, and gives little or no thought to the failing which mars an otherwise sweet nature. You will frequently hear people say, with a smile, "I have a quick temper." It is really a serious defect, all the same. A man has something to disturb him at his work, or he misses his train, and comes home in a "little temper." He won't answer his wife civilly; he turns on the children and the cat, and takes his food in moody silence. That man creates a desert of discomfort around him. The peace and comfort of home depend upon the temper of those who dwell there, to a very large degree. What pleasure is there in the clean home and nicely prepared food, if "mother is in a temper"? What joy is there in the pretty house and nice clothes father's care provides, if he is cross and grumpy? To try to make things go well and smoothly when there is a member of the household whose temper is uncertain, is like trying to run a machine with one part of it rusty, or gritty with dust. If, when we feel irritable, as we all do at times, we would hold ourselves in for even ten minutes, how many a quarrel, how many a heartache, how many a mortification, how many a disgrace to our religious profession would be spared us!

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A Good Idea to Keep Lime in the Pantry

Flour absorbs all odors, so keep it closely covered.

A Small Box of Lime kept in the pantry will help to make the air quite dry and pure. It should be renewed occasionally.

Before putting Milk into the saucepan, boil rapidly a few spoonfuls of water (enough to just cover the bottom of the pan) and it will never burn, however fierce the fire.

Where there are several children constantly in need of new shoes, the one who has to provide them will do well to try this: Cover soles of shoes with three or four coats of copal varnish, and they will never need resoling.

The Really Best Method of cleaning mirrors and windows is to rub them with a paste of whiting and water When this dries polish with dry chamois and remove the powder. A little alcohol in cold water also gives a brilliant polish. Soapsuds should never be used.

It is not generally known that slices of lemon put into the copper when boiling clothes will make them beautifully white and take all the stains out of pocket-handkerchiefs and children's aprons. Cut the lemon, with the rind, into slices, and let it remain in the boiler till the clothes are ready to come out.

In Spite of all the remedies offered for driving away ants from the house, the only sure way seems to be to catch and kill them. Set in the closets plates coated thick with soft lard, with little sticks leaning against them for the ants to climb. When filled, drop into a pan of boiling water, and then set the plate as before.

To remove Grease or oil spots from clothing, especially light suits as worn by cyclists and tourists, mix a little fuller's earth into a paste, spread it over the affected part and allow the same to dry thoroughly. In doing so it draws and absorbs the grease. Then take a stiff brush, which will quickly remove the dried earth, and the result will be pleasing, and far more satisfactory than most other methods.

Painted Wood, panellings, and wainscoting can be rapidly and effectually cleaned with potato-water. Put half a dozen tubers into a pail, having previously peeled, washed and grated them. oPur a gallon or two of fresh water over them and let them stand for half an hour; then strain and use with a house flannel. No scrubbing will be needed, but another flannel with clean water must be used for rinsing purposes. This is good for any kind of wood.

A BEAUTY HINT

If you want to make your face look thinner, arrange the hair loosely, but not allowing it to flop forward. This is much better than straining it back. Do not cover the head with curls, as this only increases the size. A neat, close arrangement of the hair at the back is better.

A DRESS HINT

Always have some arrangement on your dress to give length by a downward line. For instance, if you make yourself one of the little seamless blouses, have a piece of perpendicular embroidery let into the front, or slit the blouse a little on one side and insert one of those pretty white muslin frills. Never have a blouse and skirt of different colors. This is a most important rule if you want to look slimmer. Blouse, skirt and waistbelt should always be the same shade.

A BACHELOR'S WISDOM

A perfect duty is to exercise gentleness and cheerfulness.

The sweetest music of all is the sound of a voice when it speaks words of tenderness and comfort to a friend.

True wealth is of the heart, not of the hand.

We would all do well to perform kindnesses when they are needed, and not to put them off until they are of no use.

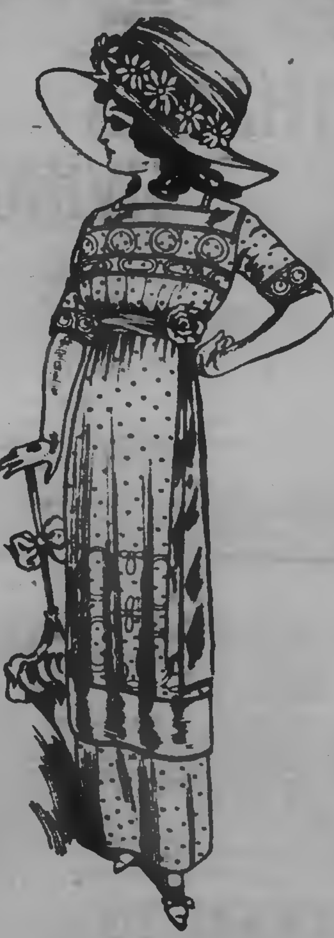
Those in search of bright rays in the midst of storm and stress usually find them .

Strive to be what you would have your friends become.

Marking time leaves no mark on time.

Never let the burdens of to-morrow break the back of to-day.

Hamilton's building permits last month aggregated $504,725.



PINK AND WHITE ROBE

What could be daintier for a young girl than a frock of white dotted swiss with embroidered designs in pink? Above model shows the way of construction with the girdle and rosette of pink satin ribbon. These daintily embroidered robe frocks come in all the pretty light colors and are surprisingly reasonable in price.

FIGHTING THE FLIES

How to Minimize the Nuisance These Pests Cause

A recent issue of The Woman's World gives a list of rules for dealing with the nuisance that it would be well if all householders would read, use, and remember. The list is as follows:

Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sick-room His body is covered with disease germs.

Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.

All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation, such as bedding straw, paper waste and vegetable matter, should be disposed of or covered with lime or kerosene oil.

Screen all food.

Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil or lime.

Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime, oil, or other cheap preparation.

See that your sewage system is in good order, that it does not leak, is up to date, and not exposed to flies.

Pour kerosene into the drains.

Screen all food exposed for sale.

Screen all windows and doors, especially the kitchen and dining-room.

Burn pyrethrum powder in the house to kill the flies.

Don't forget, if you see flies, their breeding place is nearby filth. It may be behind the door, under the table or in the cuspidor.

If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies.

If there is a nuisance in the neighborhood, write at once to the health department.

It is far better that the beauty of the carpet should fade than that your face should bear the marks of a sympathetic wear and tear. You can easily buy a new carpet when one of your good husband's numerous ships comes in in the near future, but you cannot buy a new face.

A PLEASANT KITCHEN

Loveliness Should Not be Banished From this Much-Used Room

Instead of "pleasant," the word "pretty" would have been used if there had been no fear of arousing the scorn of the housewife who prides herself on being above all things strictly practical. But as a matter of fact there is nothing to prevent the pretty kitchen from being as "practical" as anyone can wish. Indeed, it is likely to be far more convenient than is the average kitchen, where everything not considered "good enough" for other rooms is allowed to collect.

As the kitchen is the room in which most housewives spend the greater part of their time, why should all loveliness be banished from it? Practically considered, it ought to be among the chief rooms to receive careful attention both as to decoration and furnishing.

The first consideration, of course, is exquisite cleanliness. For this reason a washable paper should be chosen, and as it is washable there is no reason for selecting a dark one on even the brightest morning. A tile pattern in cream and bright green is amongst the most suitable, though cream and scarlet adds notably to cheeriness of aspect. If the latter is chosen then oak-grain paint looks well, and also wears well; with green paper, paint to match is more effective. Instead of a bluey-white wash for the ceiling, a cream-tinted one lasts longer, and is also less suggestive of out-buildings. Carpet in the kitchen is very inadvisable, and a pleasant, not to say pretty kitchen never contains oddments of carpets from all parts of the house. Instead, a substantial linoleum of quiet pattern and harmonising with the wall-paper should entirely cover the floor, the only matting allowed being a bright-hued hearth-rug, which should be taken up during cooking operations. The best ornaments for the kitchen are brightly-polished pots and pans, and, it may be added, a neat row of enamelled canisters duly lettered, containing various dry goods. Nicely-framed little pictures are so inexpensive nowadays that there is little excuse for plastering the kitchen walls with staring almanacks.

HOW TO CURE HICCOUGHS

Children are often troubled with hiccough, as the result of eating or drinking too fast. If the attack is a mild one, it can generally be cured by giving the child a lump of sugar to suck, or making him drink slowly half a dozen sips of cold water. But in case of a very bad attack, which will not yield to these simple remdies, the best thing to do is to wet a sponge in very cold water and lay it on the back of the neck. If a sponge is not at hand, any cold substance, such as a key, slipped down the back under the clothes will generally give relief.

Hiccough should not be allowed to continue without treatment, for it sometimes gives rise to vomiting and sickness.

THE HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Series of Lectures Arranged for—Hon. Adam Beck Coming

Questions have been asked from time to time through the press why the Health Association did not make its existence known. This was a reasonable request and we will now try to answer it. The Peterborough Health Association was formed last spring and we were sorry to note the very indifferent spirit that was evinced towards the work by the public. However, the work was progressed with and an association was formed and we think we may say an organization fairly representative of the city was launched.

The following gentlemen consented to act as officers:—W. H. Moore, Esq., K.C.; J. W. Bennett, Esq., E. A. Peck, Esq., Rev. W. J. McColl, Dr. R. P. Boucher, Dr. G. Stewart Cameron, Dr. A. W. McPherson, Dr. F. P. McNulty, Dr. J. T. I. Halliday, Dr. Frank Neal, T. F. Matthews, Esq., E. C. McLeod, Esq., R. C. Braund, Esq., His Honour E. C. S. Huycke and William G. Morrow, Esq.

At the last public meeting held it was decided to incorporate the association under the name of the Peterborough Health Association. This, after some delay was accomplished. The officers were then prepared to go ahead with the work, but the long summer vacation was just coming on and as a number of people would be away it was thought better to delay active operations until the autumn. The month of September would have seen some public work begun, but as everyone knows, it was practically impossible to attract the attention of either men or women unless the association was prepared to discuss some phases of the political issues then before the country. However, the executive met and decided to first of all begin a campaign of advertising and education, and with this end in view set about arranging a series of public lectures on health subjects during the present winter by gentlemen well qualified to speak in their various departments. The first of these lectures will be held on October 26th and will be addressed by Hon. Adam Beck and his subject will be "The cure of tuberculosis." The public generally are invited, in fact, urged to remember this date and show their interest by turning out in large numbers.

The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the Collegiate Institute.

ALD. BULLER ASKS ABOUT POWER

Some Small Items of Business Transacted by Council

Ald. Buller ere the Council adjourned made a hurried cry for some information on the city's power situation. The committee were to see Hon Adam Beck, and make a report. This had not been made. He hoped somebody would get busy for he was sure the city could get dam No. 4.

No explanation was forthcoming.

The Peterboro Canoe Co., in a communication asked in regard to a lease by them for property on the river front for a lumber yard. The Finance committee will deal with the request

R. C. Braund and other ratepayers complained about a ditch and rubbish which affected their property. This complaint, with the request of a concrete walk, was referred to the Board of Works, as was also a suggestion that a crossing be constructed from the Central Park path on Murray street across to the new church.

Jas A. Bell and others asked for a crossing on Hunter street to Driscoll Terrace. This was sent to the Board of Works.

Chief Health Officer, Dr. McCullough wrote an enquiry as to what steps the city was taking in regard to the proper treatment of sewage in connection with the Otonabee river. The communication will come before the committee of the whole Council

The Board of Works will make an inspection before the city agrees to the diversion of Romaine street by the C.P.R. The company will give the city a portion of their property for that given by the city to the company. The roadbed will be narrowed to 40 feet.

Ald. Anderson wanted a clause of the Board of Works report changed, so that if Mr. Bartlett would not take the foremanship of the new sewer gang, another man could be given the position. He wanted sewer work done in East city. Ald. Metheral answered that it was not the intention of the Board to pay a man $3 per day if a sufficiently large gang of men could not be secured. Just as soon as a good gang was made up, the work would proceed.

Ald. Edgar asked for another hydrant on Bonaccord street. The Mayor was asked to interview the water commissioners.

A settlement has been made with John H. Briggs, who was injured by being knocked down by a hose nozzle while the firemen were practicing. He accepts $40.

PASSION PLAY

To-night and to-morrow night at the Crystal Theatre at 8.15 p.m., Miss Angela Henry will deliver her Illustrated Lecture on the above.

OCTOBER BERRIES

Raspberries Are Picked at Highland Home Farm

The fruit garden of Mr. Fred Andersen, "Highland Home," farm, lot 2, con 2, South Monaghan, probably has the distinction of being the only place in this vicinity where raspberries ripen in October.

While Mr. Anderson was preparing his berry bushes for the winter, tearing away the old stocks, etc., a few days ago, he noticed some blossoms on a branch. He did not disturb the bush in any way, but watched the progress of the fruit day by day and was surprised to note that the berries were ripening.

This morning Mrs. Anderson came to the city and brought a branch with berries on it to the Review office. The sprouts on which the berries grew were covered with leaves which probably protected the blossoms until they matured as the fully developed berries were found beneath these leaves.

The matured berries appeared to be of the ordinary size and color, but they were not so pleasing to the taste as those in season.

THANKS GIVING

Movement for Proper Observance of the Day in This City

Rev Canon Davidson and Rev. Jas. Rollins waited upon the city council last night to suggest that the council co-operate with the Ministerial Association with a view of holding a public meeting in the armories on Thanksgiving day.

The council will take up the matter at an early date.

Canon Davidson offered, on behalf of the Ministerial Association, that a mass meeting be held in the armories, in which all classes and denominations could take part. Such was the proposition suggested by a body of citizens to the association. Some program should be arranged whereby the 57th band and Salvation Army band, and the clergy and the local societies could take part.

Rev. Mr. Rollins in his remarks referred to the significance of the day, it being an occasion at which gratitude to the Giver of all Good Things should be made. The Roman Catholics and all denominations would be asked to take part.

AWARD TO PLAINTIFF

He Asked $12 But Court Gave Him $6 15

Edward Tighe left the police court in a very unsatisfied mood this morning. Edward's discontent was caused by his failure to win judgment in his favor for $7 from Joseph Gray, a contractor with whom he had been employed. Tighe at first claimed $12, but found later that his wife had received $5 of the sum, leaving $7 which he still claimed was due him. He was given judgment for $6.15. The difference of 85 cents was disputed, Gray saying that Tighe had not worked on one Saturday morning. Tighe claimed that he had. As neither had their original time records in court, his worship gave judgment in favor of Gray in the 85 cents item.

CORONATION MUSIC ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Solo Organist and King George's Trumpeter Coming Oct. 12

Such a remarkable attraction as the visit of Gatty Sellars, solo organist at the Queen's Hall concerts, London, and King George's Trumpeter, Willie Short, principal trumpeter to the King's private and state concerts, Buckingham Palace, cannot fail to cause much speculation as to what the program will consist of. The coronation music, which they are to perform, includes the coronation marches of Sir Edward Elgar, Frederick Cliffe, and the special trumpet fanfares arranged by Sir Frederick Bridge and Dr. Borland for the coronation. Also the chorales sung at the coronation service. In addition to the trumpet and the full resources of the organ, a set of cathedral chimes will be used in conjunction with the instruments just mentioned at the coming performance. Needless to say, with such a combination a magnificent ensemble will be produced. They have had immense receptions in Europe, whilst the King's trumpeter before the coronation crowded out Australia's largest halls, the organist having also filled to excess with overflowing audiences United States cathedrals on his last tour there. Canada, therefore, is not likely to be behind hand in this respect and a great reception will doubtless be awaiting England's famous musicians in the city. Tickets are procurable from members of the St. Paul's choir or at the Dominion Bank.

Yale-Cariboo is the largest constituency in Canada. It contains 107,000 square miles.

FORGERY CHARGED

Young Man Finds Himself in Serious Position—Made no Plea

A nineteen year old youth named Edward Kane was arraigned in police court this morning before Police Magistrate Dumble on a charge of forging the name of John Kane to a note the amount of which was $91.50 Mr. John Kane to fishery inspector.

G.N. Gordon, who appeared for the youth did not plead or elect as to how the prisoner would be tried. The case was remanded until next Monday, October 9th.

It is alleged that Kane received news in some manner that a government cheque for the amount mentioned was in the post office for Mr. John Kane. He went to the post office it is said, and procured the letter. Taking the cheque from it, he presented it at the bank representing himself as the brother of John Kane. The deception was discovered and the young man arrested.

Mr Gordon asked to have the prisoner liberated on bail, which will be done if a surety for $1000 is forthcoming.

CITY MILK BY-LAW GETS BUMPED AGAIN; T'WILL BE FURTHER CONSIDERED BY COUNCIL

Bottling Law Stands Over for Two More Months—Mr. J. Carlisle Speaks for the People and Milkmen Are Also Heard—The M. H. O. Refuses to Back Down.

A further discussion on the milk by-law by the city council last night brought results.

The mandate has been in force since September 27 and the milkmen could have been prosecuted for failure to abide by the rules and regulations by not delivering the milk in air tight bottles. But the axe did not fall, and as a result of last night's meeting the vendors are safe until December 27. In the meantime the by-law is sidetracked to allow the city dads holding a further conference as to its merits and demerits.

MILKMEN WERE THERE.

A deputation of twenty or more milkmen were at the meeting and several of the members expressed their views, which were to the effect that the "bottling law" was not fair to the milkmen, neither was it necessary. The speakers were unanimous that proper sanitary conditions should exist and were willing that the by-law should be carried out to that extent.

One milkman, however, couldn't see his way clear to keep his milk at a temperature of 55 degrees as is called for Another pointed out that the plant for sterilizing the bottles would mean an outlay for the milkmen of $500, and if they were forced to deliver in bottles the price of their goods would increase from 8 to 9 cents per quart.

MR. CARLISLE SPEAKS.

Mr. John Carlisle was also present and undertook in his remarks to give the opinion of what he said was 98 per cent of the people. Incidentally, he brought in references to real estate and several other matters which 98 per cent. of the people or the council were not interested in. He championed the cause of the poor man.

SHOULD BE OPTIONAL.

His opinion was that the question of bottling should be optional, so that the poor man should he desire it, should have his milk delivered in the cans, and, on the other hand, if the rich man wanted his milk in bottles, let him get it that way.

There was a great danger, he held, in the bottling system, because the bottles would pass into the possession of all classes of people, some of whom might have infectious diseases in their homes. Mr. Carlisle also informed the council that he had telegraphed to Woodstock and London, where it had been stated, a similar milk by-law was in force. The answer he received was to the effect that "bottling" was not compulsory. He concluded with an appeal on behalf of the widows, poor men, etc.

"Make it optional," urged Ald. Morgan when the council resumed the discussion.

"Cut out the red tape," suggested the people's candidate. Ald. Buller and Graham moved that the clause be struck out.

Ald. Bradburn moved that the by-law be sent back to the committee for further consideration. He said that in view of some statements made, there might be a reason for making some changes.

Ald Anderson held that no good object was to be attained by the bottling order. It should be optional. Some milkmen were clean, and others not so. Therefore, no process of bottling would make the milk pure and wholesome.

Ald Metheral couldn't see why there was any need for a rush. The by-law could be further considered by the council.

It was pointed out by his worship that the by-law was in force and the milkmen liable to a fine.

M H O WAS FIRM.

The M.H.O. was asked to give his opinion. He said he was decidedly in favor of bottling the milk, and it should not be optional. Taking up Ald. Anderson's statement regarding the cleanliness of the milkmen, he remarked that the by-law was to protect the people from the milkmen who do not handle the milk under proper conditions. The bottling system had the support of the Milk Commission, the medical profession, the city of Toronto and the medical men in the city of Peterborough, who all said it was a step in the right direction. He had not heard a single person, outside of those at the meeting who was against the bottling of milk. It was a protection to babies and invalids and persons susceptible to disease. It might affect some milkmen, but that was nothing to be compared to the health of the people. As to the price of milk advancing, it was due to go up in any event. As to cleaning the bottles, the people could be compelled to do this work.

As Dr McPherson concluded, Ald. Buller said that he was going to have the cans, even if he was the only one in favor of it. The bottling idea was all bosh.

Ald. Morgan suggested that the question be optional for six months and then enforce the more rigid law, if necessary.

Finally it was decided to prolong the date of enforcement for two months, and that in the meantime the council again look over the by-law.

PETERBORO RESPONDS TO ROLL CALL WITH 2377 INCREASE, POPULATION IS NOW 19,300

The city assessors, Messrs. W. J. Henry and W H. Thompson, in handing in their rolls yesterday, made known the fact that Peterborough has now population of 19,300. This is an increase over 1910 of 2,377. And the increase is the greatest in its history.

CITY GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

Ald. Edgar Brings This Matter Before the Council

That he would move at the next meeting of the city council that the city of Peterborough be governed by commission, was the announcement made by Ald. Edgar last night.

This question has been considered in a public way before, but no material progress was made.

HAVE A LOOK AT FAYE'S COMET

It Can be Seen Near Handle of Dipper

Anyone wishing to have a glimpse of the Faye comet can do so to-night by casting their optics skyward in the direction of the big dipper. The comet can readily be discerned by the naked eye, but a telescope or glass is preferable. Just below the end of the dipper's handle the heavenly visitor is to be seen. It was discovered in 1843 and only makes its appearance every seven or eight years. About nine o'clock is the best time to view it so the Review is informed by Mr. Wm. Carveth, who takes a considerable interest in astronomical observations.

No trace has yet been found of the money stolen from the Canadian Express Co. at Hamilton.

POLICE COURT

One Drunk Fined $2—Wages Case for 85 Cents

James Tierney pleaded guilty to being drunk in police court to-day. He has been on remand since last Monday.

His excuse was that he forgot himself. It was the usual $2 fine.

Charles James claims 85 cents wages from Edward Hayes. The defendant was not present in court, and the case was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

John Copp also claims wages from Hayes.

The New York State Senate has passed the direct nominations bills.

Which Do You Prefer?

Those who engage in the Optical business as a profession, who for years have made the eye a special study and are fully qualified and equipped to correct all errors of refraction?

Those who have a permanent place of business and an up-to-date Optical Parlor, with every modern convenience for accurate sight testing?

Those who guarantee their work and who are in the city 365 days in the year to back up that guarantee...

OR,

Those who are in it simply for the money they can get out of it. The travelling peddler, who makes it a practice of remaining a few days in a place and by all kinds of fake advertising tries to persuade you to buy glasses after a few apparent tests much in the same way as you would buy any other kind of merchandise. That is to say, he attempts to fit glasses with practically no knowledge as to how it should be done.

HILL AND LIPSETT SMASH RECORDS IN THE JUMPS

Senior Champion Has Good Chance to Repeat—Stellar Work by Art Lipsett.

Unless something unexpected happens, Harold Hill will again win the trophy, emblematic of the senior athletic championship of the Collegiate Institute. He got off to a good start yesterday afternoon at Riverside in the jumps, when he won three firsts and a second, and smashing two records.

The standing broad jump was the first to fall. He won from the other competitors easily, and took an extra jump in an attempt to beat 8 ft 7 1-4 ins., made by Michael O'Brien, when he won the championship two years ago. Hill raised it to 8ft 7 1-2 ins.

The running hop step and jump record, 3 ft 6 1-2, he beat by 5 1-2 inches

Some of the running events, the 100 yards dash and quarter mile, for instance look like Hill's. He is likely to set a new record for each of these. The fastest time in the 100 yards dash is 11 1-5 sec. and Harold can do a great deal better than that. The quarter mile time at something over 58 sec. will also be easy money for him if the track is good.

JUNIOR RECORD

Only one record was broken in the Junior events, and that by Arthur Lipsett, who made such a good showing last Friday evening in the road race in which he was second.

The running broad jump was the event he so neatly tucked under his belt. It stood at 14ft 6 inch, and he went one inch better.

Arthur is only a small youngster but he is a promising youth, and has a bright athletic career in view. He is a comer, and in a few years may give Hill's records a brush. He now has a substantial lead for the Junior championship.

THE EVENTS

The following were the winners yesterday

Standing Broad Jump—Hill 8' 7 1-2 Huycke, Gilbert.

Standing Broad Jump, Junior— L. Anderson, A. Huycke, C. Stewart.

Running Broad jump, senior— G. Read, H. Hill and M. Huycke.

Running Broad Jump, Junior— A. Lipsett, 14' 7", A. Huycke, C. Stewart.

Running Hop Step and Jump, senior—H. Hill, 37' 7 1-2"; G. Read, M. Huycke.

Running Hop Step and Jump, junior —A. Lipsett, A. Huycke, May.

Running High Jump, senior —H. Hill, G. Read, M. Huycke.

The officials were—

Judges—Messrs. Pettit, Harvey and Ferguson.

Scorer—Mr. Jamieson.

Quite a number witnessed the contests and a large crowd is expected out on Thursday afternoon when the remainder of the events are to be run off. There are a couple of added events for the girls this year and there will also be a suitable trophy for the girls' championship.

TENNIS

Boston, Oct 2—Miss Florence Sutton, of the famous Sutton family of women tennis players may go to Australia to try her skill with the racquet against the leading women players of the Antipodes.

The skilled wielder of the racquet has already made a reputation that is beginning to assume the proportions of her sister, Miss May Sutton, and she is now looked upon as one of the best tennis players of her sex yet produced in the United States.

Arrangements for her trip to Australia have not been made as yet, but there is much talk of it, and as some of the other leading tennis players are going there it is not doubted but what Miss Sutton may accompany another of her sisters on the trip.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

LOCAL HOCKEY

Material for Good Team is Available--Denison To Stay

How is hockey?

Too early yet.

Nix, now is the time to get busy. Will Peterborough have a good team?

Yes.

As good as last season?

Yes.

Better?

Yes

The man on the inside refused to be pumped further.

Peterborough fans are wondering what kind of a hockey bill of fare will be served up this season. Brock street rink sheltered a first-class aggregation last winter, but four members of the team have since departed. Leo Derocher is wearing a skull cracker at St. Michael's, while Frank Heffernan performs a similar stunt at Ottawa College, and also finds time to startle his brother collegiates with his athletic ability. Charlie Roy has gone to McGill at Montreal, and Sarels, too, is missing. "Muggie" McMillan's headquarters are at Toronto. Laj., however, ere he departed from our midst, remarked that he would be only too pleased to come to Peterborough for games this season if the local management wanted him. But that hockey gent. whose absence brought about that memorable defeat at Belleville when the players toiled on into the midnight hour, will be sticking around for sure. Denison has made a name for himself as a cover point of first calibre, and it is said that he has hooked up with a real good point man. Wouldn't that tickle you? And when there are any good vacancies Jack Patterson's home address is Peterborough, Ont. Park will be available, and the same can be said of Jerry Coughlin, who has turned down an offer to go to Chicago. And Bud Kealy likes the town so well, he, too, is staying. Then there are Cyril Giroux, Bill Shortt, Pete Weatherston and the "dark horses," which have yet to be properly labelled.

FRONTENACS AS SENIORS

Sutherland's Pets Will Have Most of Last Season's Team

Toronto, Oct 3.—The Kingston Frontenac junior hockey team—Jim Sutherland's junior world's champions—will jump into senior ranks this year.

The move has been definitely decided upon.

The Frontenacs will have these members of the old team out again:—Goal, Marchand; point, Davidson; cover, McLammond, rover, Brouse. Hunt may go to Queen's, but if he doesn't he will play on the wing. Millan has gone to Ottawa College. To fill in the forward line the team is counting on Crawford, of the 14th Regiment team, Dumphey Grattan, and Nicholson, three Kingston City League stars; Boyer of the junior Frontenacs, and Geo. Richardson—certainly a formidable looking outfit.

SIGNAL PRACTICE OF RUGBY TEAM

All Players Wanted at Central Park This Evening

The W.E.A.C. pigskin chasers had a signal practice in front of the Armories last-night. "Doc" McPherson was on the coaching line, assisted by Chubby Connors. Dr. McPherson will be out at every practice for a couple of weeks at least.

It was at first expected that the opening game would be Saturday, Oct 14, when Parkdale would come here but in the revised Junior O.R.F.U. grouping Peterborough and Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, are to play home and home games points to count. The date of the first game therefore depends upon the arrangements made with the Toronto team.

A signal practice is called for tonight at Central Park.

BASEBALL

Is the leading pitcher in the National league one of the greatest left handers that the game ever produced

Made his debut with New York when Covaleskie broke into the big game with the Phillies and set the league afire. Covaleskie went back while Marquard had just arrived.

Won the pennant for the Indianapolis team of the American Association. Came to New York and made a dismal failure of it. It has taken him nearly three years to "arrive."

Was purchased for $11,000, the biggest price up to that time ever paid for a minor league pitcher. For three years he was considered a gold brick by baseball men.

Is only 22 years of age, and experts say that he has not reached his prime yet.

Has taken the place that Mathewson held with the New York team and his great work this season has been mainly responsible this year for McGraw's outfit securing the lead.

Should the Giants win the pennant he will be McGraw's main reliance in the struggle for a world's championship.

Peaches are being successfully grown in Kaigo Gardens, B.C.

THE BEST SHOTS OF THE EMPIRE

In view of Private Clifford's capture of the King's Prize at Bisley a few words about some of the more famous marksmen who have won the $1,250 and the premier prize of shooting in past years at Bisley will be of interest:

Lieutenant W. T. Davies, of the 6th Welsh Regiment, is one of the two or three men who have won the medal twice. His last occasion was in 1903, and his former one in 1893. Moreover, in 1897 he ran the actual winner very close; and in 1903, besides winning the $1,250 and the gold medal, he tied for the silver one with three other shooters. He is a Llanelly man, and, owing to his striking success, may almost be regarded as the finest marksman who has taken part in the great contest, or at any rate, the most consistent one.

Lance-Corporal Ommundsen's name is one well known at Bisley, where he has taken prize after prize for years. He is of Scandinavian descent, as his name implies, and he was the hero in 1901 of one of the most sensational finishes in the records of shooting. Everybody was already congratulating Sergeant-Major Burr, of the Hants Regiment, on being the winner, for it seemed as if he must carry off the prize. But he was so upset with their congratulations and the excitement of the moment that he missed the target altogether with his last shot, and thus finished equal with Ommundsen. In firing off the tie Ommundsen easily beat his rival, scoring two bulls to the latter's two magpies; and so he came out a most sensational winner of the blue ribbon of marksmanship.

We have also Private George Gray, who astounded everybody in 1908 by bearing away the premier honors of the classic struggle, though less than twenty-one years of age at the time! George Gray belongs to the 5th Scottish Rifles, had only been shooting for three years ere he won the $1,250, and is in business with his father at Glasgow. When asked how he came to be such a first-class shot, the Caledonian George Gray replied, naively, "By practising with a miniature rifle in my father's back garden at Helensburgh!"

Lieutenant Addison, who is a South Australian, was another noted winner. For his father won the Queen's Prize in Australia in 1884; the son followed up this by taking the King's Prize at Adelaide in 1902, and again in 1904. This double feat was very clever, when one remembers how finely Australian troopers shoot as a rule. But the lieutenant's supreme performance was when he came off first at Bisley in 1907, amid the plaudits of the Antipodes, who had waited eagerly to learn how her best representative would succeed against the Mother Country's picked marksmen. Addison, then thirty-two years old, fully justified their confidence.

Rennie, of Glasgow, bears a name well known to most good shots. Curiously enough, when asked how he came to be such a marksman as to be able to beat all comers at Bisley for the $1,250, he put it down to a coal strike! This strike was in 1894, and it threw him out of employment for the time being.

"Having nothing to do, owing to the strike, I simply lived on the range, in order to pass the time usefully." Mr. Rennie said "I was always practising shooting, and this undoubtedly made me so proficient that in my great year of success at Bisley I won no less than $1,800 in hard cash, besides several medals."

Sergeant Reid is another frequent attendant at camp, and a shot whom all intending winners of the chief prize have to watch closely. He carried off the chief event in 1889, and is in the General Post Office. He lives at Ealing, and he can boast of what few noted marksmen can—viz., that he has during his career as a shooter carried off no fewer than 600 valuable prizes as mementoes (very useful and solid ones, too!) of his success. The sergeant has other claims to special fame in the competition, for he was the last winner under the old regime, when the shooting took place on Wimbledon Common. Moreover, he had made the record score up to that time with the Martini-Henry.

Major Thompson has a unique boast. He can claim that his name has appeared six times in the last hundred for the great prize, and of these four were in consecutive years. It is questionable if any other marksman but Thompson has ever done this. As a striking example of his consistent shooting, we may mention that in 1895 he was eighth, in 1896 he was first, and in 1897 he was second, only beaten on the post by Ward, a Devonian who made a most remarkable succession of bull's-eyes right at the last minute.

The major's fatal position, he avers, is second; for he tells how, in the year he won the $1,250 and the gold medal, he was second for the silver medal, second for the bronze medal, second for the Barlow Cup, and second for the Volunteers' best aggregate! As if this were not enough, the major has also on three separate occasions been second for the Caledonian Shield and the Championship of Scotland. So no wonder he regards "No. 2" as his fateful number on these occasions.—Tit-Bits.

FAST CYCLING

At Winnipeg, W. Findlay, with his motor cycle covered a mile in 1 minute, 21 4-5 seconds, and he was followed by little Joe Baribeau, who lowered the figure to 1.17¾. Hughson, on the Flying Merkel, who followed, could not better Joe's figures, making the distance in 1.20 1-5.

Some Peculiar Coincidences in the Cricket Field

Many curious cases may be quoted to show that the god coincidence reigns over the cricket-field. For instance, when Charlie Bannerman, in a test match at Melbourne in 1877, scored 165 runs, a collection was made for him amongst the vast crowd. Coins of every size and value were contributed. The result showed a total of £165, or one sovereign per run, neither a halfpenny more nor less!

In 1900 a remarkable feat was accomplished at Lord's. The Players were set the stupendous task of getting 501 runs in the last innings of the match, yet they won by two wickets. One of the opposing side—R. E. Foster—was making his first appearance in a Gents v. Players match, and he scored a century in each innings. Four years later, in precisely the same match, the Gentlemen were set the task, which no one dreamt they would accomplish, of scoring 11 in the last innings, yet they won by two wickets. And a member of the opposite side—King, of Leicestershire—was making his first appearance in such a match, and he scored a century in each innings.

Mention of Leicestershire recalls a curious coincidence in which that county was concerned. In 1900 Tunnicliffe created a record by bein the first cricketer, other than a wicket-keeper, to bring off seven catches in one match. It was against Leicestershire. In 1901 Lilley brought off the best feat of his wicket-keeping career by making seven catches. It was against Leicestershire. In 1902 Humphries achieved the same feat against Leicestershire.

It is not a little remarkable that, when Yorkshire were at the zenith of their power, the only county that could lower their colors was one of the lowliest—namely, Somersetshire. Indeed, throughout three seasons the latter was absolutely the only county to achieve that considerable feat. There was also a period when the cider county was similarly a thorn in the side of Surrey. But Yorkshire have achieved something of a reputation for dismissing teams for small scores. In 1878 they got Sussex out for 24; ten years later they got Notts out for 24; and only a few years ago they got Worcestershire out for 24. There must be some fascination in the figure for Yorkshiremen, however, for on at least three occasions in first-class cricket Rhodes has taken seven wickets for exactly 24 runs! He has also taken six for 24 and nine for 24.

But if you were casually to remark to a Huddersfield man that it seemed a remarkable coincidence for his town to turn out the three famous cricketers, Rhodes, Hirst, and Haigh, who created the wonderful record of securing over 1,000 runs and 100 wickets each in the same season, he would probably reply: "It's no coincidence. We trained 'em!"

In 1888, when Australian teams with the homely names of Mooroobark and Mullindillingong played a match, the latter were dismissed without scoring one run in the first innings; they were dismissed without scoring in the second; and, not to be outdone, Mooroobark were also dismissed without notching a single run in their second venture. A coincidence that mean's a duck's egg for thirty-three batsmen one after the other is obviously too much of a good thing.—Answers.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

BRIGHT MEETING FOR LEAGUERS

Young People of Charlotte Street Had Consecration Meeting

Everything looks bright for an encouraging and prosperous season's work by the Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church. Last evening their meeting took the form of a consecration service, and the renewing of pledges by the members. Several present were received into the league, all announcing their willingness to work as much as possible for the success of the organization.

Mr. James McBain acted as chairman, and after the usual opening devotional exercises, a thoughtful and inspiring paper was read by Miss L. Thomas. She also quoted a number of parts of verses, which fitted in with the theme of her paper most appropriately.

Several important matters of business were discussed after the meeting. The most important, perhaps, related to the providing of a reception to the Normal students, and the league executive plan to extend the hand of fellowship to the visitors on the evening of October 16th. A firstclass program is being arranged for, and an enjoyable evening is anticipated.

RUNAWAY ON THE MAIN PIKE

Innis' Delivery Horse Took Jaunt by Himself

The pedestrians on George street received a few thrills about 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, when one of the horses of Mr. Innis, the expressman, came tearing down the road with a wagon loaded with parcels.

A couple of men ran out to catch the runaway, but it dodged cleverly and was getting clear again when a young man named Ingram pulled himself into the box from behind, and going quickly to the front, where the lines were fastened to the seat, he gradually brought the frightened animals to a walk.

The driver came along soon after and explained that the horse had left him at Brock street while he was delivering a parcel.

HOW GOVERNMENT REVENUE IS RAISED

GOOD AND BAD TAXES.

The Dominion of Canada raised during the year 1910 the sum of $60,156,124 in the form of customs duties, and the sum of $15,253,353 in the form of excise. Few people realise the importance of this fact. We are so much accustomed to think of the tariff in terms of the well-worn controversy between free trade and protection, and to hear it spoken of as a form of particular privilege in favor of the manufacturing classes, that we are apt to lose out of sight the larger or fiscal aspect of the tariff system. Take for instance, some of the items: In the year 1910 the duty paid on machines and machinery (a charge which, by the way, came largely out of the pockets of the manufacturers themselves), amounted to $3,084,067. The importing jewellers paid to the government $447,870. The duty collected on fancy goods amounted to $1,077,361. Electrical apparatus contributed a revenue of $909,482. Drugs and chemicals contributed $604,313.

We see here the broad contrast that there is between direct and indirect taxation. Indirect taxation is the name given to such charges as customs and excise, which are paid in the first place, not by the consumer himself but by the importer or manufacturer.

Direct taxation includes such charges as property taxes, income taxes, poll taxes, and so forth, which are levied directly upon the citizen in respect to the property which he actually owns.

How the Tariff Helps the Provincial Revenue.

Now, public revenue has got to be raised in one fashion or another. If we do not raise it by means of the tariff we must fall back upon direct taxation. If Canada were to abolish the whole of its tariff system to-morrow, we should have to raise some sixty or seventy million dollars by some other plan. More than that,—and the fact is not generally appreciated,—our Canadian provinces, though they levy no customs duties, in reality draw a very heavy revenue out of the proceeds of the national tariff system. In our plan of government the Dominion of Canada distributes to the different provinces each year very large sums which practically come out of the proceeds of this indirect taxation. In the year 1910 the government paid out $9,361,388 in this fashion. Evidently, then, if the Dominion government had not its tariff system on which to rely for this money, the provinces would have to raise it as best they could for themselves, and the only way in which this could be done, would be by having recourse, to a greater or less extent, to direct taxation of the citizens.

The Rigor of Direct Taxation.

Now, no doubt direct taxation is not without its advantages. The citizen who has to confess to the tax gatherer exactly what is the value of his property and then pay a percentage on it, or who must make a sworn statement of his year's income and pay an annual tax on that, is at any rate in a position to see at first hand just what an expensive thing government is, and he learns to watch the progress of public expenditure with a vigilant and interested eye.

Its Inequalities.

But, perhaps, the difficulty with the direct tax goes even deeper than this. Whatever may be its merits in theory, it is extremely difficult in practice to apportion and levy any such charge in a just and equitable manner. Direct taxes in theory ought to fall on all forms of property alike. In practice, some kinds of property suffer much more than others. Property which is visible and tangible, as for instance, farm lands and buildings and live stock, cannot possibly escape. Property such as balances in the bank or the earnings of professional men readily slips through the net thus held out by the tax gatherer, and, of course, the more one kind of property escapes, the more heavily do other of property contribute.

Direct Taxation in the United States.

If one wishes to see the difficulties encountered in direct taxation, one has only to turn to the existing situation in the different States of the American Union. They receive no subsidy as our provinces do from the customs receipts of the Federal government. The state, county, and township authorities draw a very large proportion, in the case of the two latter practically all, of their financial support from the proceeds of a direct tax laid on all forms of property. The tax applies both to real and personal property—land, houses, buildings, horses, carriages, furniture, stock and shares, mortgages, bonds, etc. At its origination it seemed eminently reasonable. The States were forbidden to levy import and export duties, and to levy excise duties would tend to drive out manufacturers to a more favored locality; they therefore, of necessity, fell back on direct taxes. And of all such, a single tax, laid on all forms of property alike, seemed to commend itself as the most uniform and equitable. In practice it has shown itself to be distressingly inequitable.

The Distribution of the Tax.

This is due in part to the manner of the assessment, which is made as follows: The State authorities compute the amount of the direct tax needed for their purposes, and divide it among the counties in the proportion of the value of assessed property in each. To the sum thus called for each county adds the amount needed for its own use and then distributes it in like manner among its townships, again according to the proportional value of the assessed property in each. To this sum the township adds what is needed for its own purposes, usually the largest amount of all. The total thus reached is distributed among all the property holders of the township according to their proportion of assessed property; in other words, the total of the assessed property is divided by the total tax to be collected, and a tax rate is thus obtained, which is levied on all property. If, for example, the total of the property was worth $5,000,000 and the total tax to be collected was $100,000, then the rate tax would be put at one-fiftieth, or two per cent. Under such a system, then, everything turns on the assessment. If one county has been assessed for very much less property than it actually has, then the amount of the tax assigned to it by the state will be very much less than it should be, but at the expense of the other counties, for the rate all round will need to be higher in order to supply the fixed quantity of money asked for. Or again let us suppose that in one of the townships the property is assessed for very much less than it is worth. Then, the township in which the assessment is too low is given less than its share of the county tax, but always at the expense of the other townships, on account of the rate being of necessity higher than would be needed if the assessment were larger. Finally, within the township itself, precisely the same thing happens among individuals.

The Honest Man Suffers.

Anyone whose property is put at too low a valuation, or not valued at all, escapes, at the expense of his neighbors; and the more the property in general escapes assessment and remains invisible, the higher becomes the tax rate. Hence has arisen what is called competitive under-assessment. The assessors, moreover, being elective officers, elected in most cases for a very short term, are personally interested in not making the total property of their area stand at too high a figure.

The upshot has been that while the system was originally devised as the most equitable form of universal taxation possible, in its actual operation nothing could be more vicious and inequitable. For it is to be observed that it in reality discriminates most unfairly between different kinds of property. Real estate, for example (lands and buildings), is much less easy to conceal than such forms of property as shares in bank stock, bonds, debentures, etc. In illustration of this it may be mentioned that in the assessment of property in Brooklyn in 1895, real estate constituted over ninety-eight per cent of the total values. Some years ago (1884), a tax commission in West Virginia reported in reference to personal property. "Things have come to such a condition in West Virginia, that as regards paying taxes on this class of property, it is almost as voluntary, and is considered pretty much in the same light, as donations to the nighbborhouring Church or Sunday school."

A School for Perjury.

In addition to this, a premium is put upon dishonesty, since people of a pliable conscience will find it easier to dodge the assessment than those of a more uncompromising morality. Even some of the measures intended to prevent this, as, for example, the adoption of a schedule of property made out and sworn to by the owner, and the penalties (legal and spiritual) for perjury, etc., accentuate the evil rather than lighten it. The worst feature of all is that, when underassessment once sets in, it moves forward at an accelerated pace. For the higher the rate rises, the more imperative does it become for each individual to understate his property. But the more the property is understated, the higher the rate rises, and thus the worse the situation is, the worse it tends to become. In some cases the rate becomes so high that to tell the literal truth, and pay the full rate tax, would mean absolute ruin. Thus in some of the "towns" of Chicago, previous to the reform of the assessment system a few years ago, the rate stood as high as eight and nine per cent. Now, it must be remembered that this means, not the contribution of eight per cent. of one's income, but eight per cent. of one's capital property. To actually pay this and continue in business would not, for ordinary enterprises, be found possible. The result is that both the assessors and the assessed adopt a rough scale of depreciation, accepting as accurate a figure that is perhaps one-fifth or one-tenth of the probable actual value of the property concerned. Meanwhile, the incentive to dishonesty remains, and a vast amount of property escapes untaxed.

Direct Property Tax Condemned.

Throughout the entire United States opinion is agreed as to the inefficiency and iniquitousness of the general property tax. It has been condemned by a long series of state tax commissions held within the last forty years, and by all the highest authorities on the subject of public finance. "Instead of being a tax on personal property,' said the New York commissioners of 1872, "it has in effect become a tax upon ignorance and honesty. That is to say its imposition is restricted to those who are not informed of the means of evasion, or, knowing the means, are restricted, by a nice sense of honour from resorting to them." The Illinois commission of 1886, spoke of it as 'a school for perjury, promoted by law?" The New York report of 1893 says: "It puts a premium on perjury and a penalty on integrity." The recent industrial commission in its final report (vol. xix), quotes as illustrative of the general feeling, the words of a special committee on taxation which reported to the California senate in 1901: "From Maine to Texas and from Florida to California, there is but one opinion as to the workings of the present system. That is, that it is inequitable, unfair and positively unjust. Theoretically all property is called upon to bear a share of the public burdens in exact proportion to its present value. In practice, that end is admittedly not even approached. Scarcely a fractional part of the property in any commonwealth is brought to the tax rolls."

TABULATING MACHINE

Unique Device for Compiling the Census Returns

The Dominion Government in tabulating the census statistics which were taken in June last will use a machine which was used only once before, and that by the United States after its last census. Chas. W. Spicer is the inventor of the tabulator, and when it was shown that the machine satisfactorily handled the statistics of the last American census the Canadian Government bought outright from the patentee the use of the patent in Canada. The Government then decided to have three of the machines built, and, with this end in view Dr. Blue and Mr. O'Halloran inspected a number of shops in different cities in Canada and called for tenders. Joseph P. Cleat, of 243 Macdonell Avenue, Toronto, was awarded the contract. Mr. Cleat immediately set to work, and by the aid of a few suggestions at different times from the patentee, his mechanical engineer, Mr. R. A. Scragg, has carried the work through. The statistics to be tabulated are first entered on census cards by means of perforations, and the tabulator then collects all this information from the cards as they go through the machine at the rate of two hundred per minute. The census cards are seven inches long by three inches wide, and are fed into the machine by an automatic feeder. When the machine is adjusted for the required information the cards are fed over a cylinder, and through the openings a magnetic contact is made which operates a series of chutes of the same thickness as the cards and stops the series so that the card enters the proper chute. When the card is in its proper chute a series of fingers on an endless chain carries it from the chutes along two wires, which are about seven inches apart, to the proper compartment. When the card drops from the ends of the wires into the compartment the count is made by an electrical device. There are fourteen different compartments, and by running the cards through fourteen times all this information may be tabulated. By making other adjustments the information indicated by forty-two perforations may be tabulated. The making of the chutes requires the most accurate workmanship, and it is for this reason that the price is as high as $2,000. Mr. Cleat has made the machines throughout with the exception of the motors. These machines will be used in the statistical work of the Department of Agriculture after the census work is completed.

How to Remove Oily Marks From the Wall Paper

Hang Meat in a cool, airy place, but not in a draught, for that makes it dry and, consequently, hard.

To Remove Paint from the glass of a window is quite a simple matter. A cloth dipped in hot vinegar will do it.

Rugs should not be shaken, but instead hang them on a clothes-line and beat them with a cane beater kept for the purpose.

Milk Glasses should always be rinsed in cold water previous to washing in hot soap-suds if you wish them to be clean and bright.

To Prevent Cheese getting mouldy, wrap it in a cloth that has been dipped in vinegar and wrung as dry as possible. Keep in a cool place.

If a Cloth is Stained with tea it should be taken off at once, and boiling water poured through it. This will take the stain out completely.

Dishes that have become brown and burnt from constant baking may be easily cleaned after they have been steeped for a while in borax and water.

To Clean Tiled Floors warm water and soap will be found best, then dry with a soft cloth, and finish with a little linseed oil on an old silk handkerchief.

Should You Be bothered with mice, try putting mint down near their holes. They have a strong objection to the smell, and will seldom come anywhere near it.

It is Not Generally known that wringing out a cloth in hot water and wiping the furniture before putting on furniture cream will result in a very high polish that will not finger-mark.

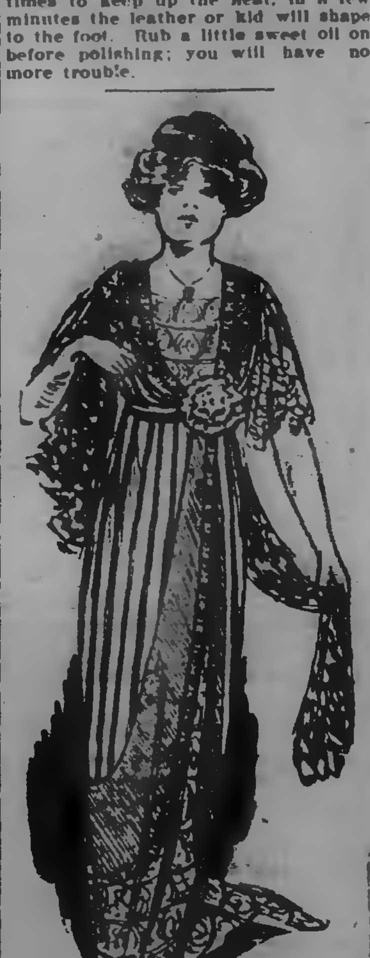
Oily Marks on the Paper which defy the crumb cure may be got rid of by mixing a little pipe-clay into a cream, painting this mixture over the spot, allowing it to dry thoroughly, and then wiping it off.

Damp Towels should never be put into a clothes basket or bag and left there for days before being sent to the wash. Mildew is almost sure to result. Before being put into the basket towels should be carefully dried.

If Soot has Fallen upon a carpet the worst course is to try to brush it off. Leave it until you have thoroughly dried in the oven a double handful of salt. Spread this upon the soot and then sweep. No black smear will remain.

A Good Way to whiten clothes which have become a bad color is to put two or three slices of lemon in the copper with the clothes. The rind should be left on. They will make the clothes much whiter, and will remove all the stains from pocket-handkerchiefs, children's pinafores, etc.

If You Are at any time compelled to wear a shoe that pinches, it may be of value to know that a folded cloth dipped in hot water and laid over the offending part will at once afford relief. By changing the cloth a few times to keep up the heat, in a few minutes the leather or kid will shape to the foot. Rub a little sweet oil on before polishing; you will have no more trouble.



MODISH EVENING GOWN

Oyster white lace was used for the skirt of the charming evening gown shown above. Over the lace skirt was a tunic of black and white striped chiffon voile edged with a band of plain violet silk, which in turn was bordered with a band of jet embroidery. The bodice was attractively put together with the same materials in surplice fashion, a rosette of narrow lace hiding the meeting of surplice pieces at waist line. The sleeves were made from one deep flounce of lace.

MENDING WOOLLEN GARMENTS

When mending a sweater or other knitted article that has a rib, do not darn in the usual way. Instead, take yarn and run stitches across the rent, then begin at the top left hand side, and chain-stitch down the row of cross threads, taking into a thread at every stitch. These chain-stitches have the same effect as the knitted rib, and if the yarn matches, the darn will not be noticed.

LAWRENCE D'ORSAY IS A TYPE ON THE STAGE ALL BY HIMSELF

What Toronto Saturday Night Says About His Delicious Mannerisms—A Versatile Actor and Deservedly Popular in All Sections.

The following article in Saturday Night in regard to the appearance of Lawrence D'Orsay as the "Earl of Pawtucket" which was given at the Royal Alexandra in Toronto, will be of interest to Peterborough theatre-goers:

"Though he is associated in the public mind with a certain type of part, that of the "heavy swell," and possesses marked and definite limitations, the career of Lawrence D'orsay, which has extended over thirty-four years, has embraced many parts, in drama, farce, and musical comedy. Though he has been a prominent figure on the continent for only a decade, the records show that it is a quarter of a century since he first visited America as one of the company of Minnie Palmer, when she used to play "My Sweetheart." In looking over the list of parts he has played one finds that he is capable of rendering such character roles as that of Alderman Ingot in "David Garrick" and that at one time he was the understudy of Sir John Hare, whose personality is quite diverse from that which Mr. D'Orsay has built up for himself in the public mind. One has his word for it in the charming curtain speech which he makes in one of the entr'actes of "The Earl of Pawtucket" that in this play he is playing himself, and one is quite sure that if this is the case not one will wish him to play anything else. While the farce is one of the most felicitous of the lighter essays of that most skilful of American playwrights, Mr. Augustus Thomas, it is assuredly the personality of D'Orsay that counts for most in the production. The London stage is rich in comedians who can play the 'heavy swell' or the "silly awss,' which ever the reader chooses to call him. Leonard Boyne for instance, and Wilfred Draycott, who was seen here recently in "The Seven Sisters."

But none has impressed himself so much on the affections of the public on this side of the water as Mr. D'Orsay. Underneath the mannerism he affects, and the humorous exaggerations that he indulges in, there is something fit, who could had habitual in the personality of the man that make his acting peculiarly exhilarating. America has always shown a great deal of affection for the "silly awss" on the stage. For years it adored the elder Sothern in the role of Lord Dundreary, and even when Mr. E. H. Sothern revived the part it proved profitable to him even though the piece was far beneath his latter day abilities and ambitions. For these reasons the revival of "The Earl of Pawtuckket" with D'Orsay in his original part was a happy idea. It is worth while analyzing the manner in which the fun arises in this piece. Its general framework is very familiar and has been used in a hundred farces. A man takes another man's name; their identities became mixed, and countless perplexities ensue. In using the familiar scheme, however, Mr. Thomas contrived to give it a certain amount of distinction by satirizing both English and American social peculiarities. In the ordinary farce, however, if it is artistically played the fun arises through the dead seriousness of all the characters. While they are tearing their hair with anguish over the complications which arise the audience is having its fun out of their troubles. In this farce, however, the mirth is evokked by the absolute imperturbability of the central figure in all the perplexities with which he is confronted, by the insouciance with which he evades the difficulties as they arise. It is perhaps because other playwrights have not studies the subtle methods by which Mr. Thomas has obtained his effects in his piece that managers have for several years back failed to find a piece for Mr. D'Orsay which could take the place of "The Earl of Pawtucket.' The acting of the minor roles in this revival is for the most part good, and in the case of Mr. Elton, who plays the valet, is capital. Mr. Robert Smiley, familiar to playgoers as a members of the Percy Haswell Stock Company for two summers, who also has a congenial role.

The "Earl of Pawtucket" will be at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening, October 6th. Plan now open.

Nothing of an objectionable character is introduced, said or done throughout the entire performance. The company travel in their own Pullman palace car, carry a full band and orchestra. ABOUT COAL

What Local Dealer Has to Say on The Subject

The Review had a conversation today with a local coal and wood dealer in reference to the price outlook for these fuel necessities during the coming winter. The dealer stated that it would be impossible to say whether the price would jump higher than the usual fall and winter prices which prevail now, and which went into effect Sept. 1st. Egg and stove coal is now $7.50 per ton and nut coal $7.75 as will be seen by the coal dealers advertisements in the Review.

Of course the price is governed by the local conditions he said, but it is remarkable that the two commodities, coal and wood, are the only materials that have not changed in price for the past eight years. This is more remarkable, when the fact is considered that the coal business is being run on a much narrower basis every year, and that a very small percentage on the original outlay is realized by local dealers during a winter season. The Review's informant stated that all they made last year was four per cent.

The Pennsylvania coal fields, is where all the local coal dealers get their supply.

WORKING MAN vs. COAL COMBINE

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—When are we going to be liberated from the tyranny of the coal combines, which squeeze the hard earned wage from the downtrodden workingman, who could at his own will keep the price of coal at a reasonable price, by forming a co-operative society, which as many of your readers know, is a great boom to the British working class. The only way I see to get this society is by letting our members of parliament know we are expecting something from them which will benefit us, not to be dictated by a few merchants. They are not in parliament to make laws to suit a few.

They are put there by the masses to act accordingly for their interest. But did they last year? No. Well, we must remind them this year that the workingmen of the country want the right to form a co-operative society, and parliament must give us the right.

I would like someone else to write who is better acquainted with the workings of the co-operative society so as to arouse our fellow workmates to the need of such a society. We are asleep, when shall we awake from our slumber.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

Yours truly,

A WORKINGMAN.

STREET SEWER TROUBLE

To The Editor of The Review.

As a ratepayer I would ask, as have done many others, is the Romaine street sewer worth its cost. Is the city, under present conditions, justified in its great expenditure? It has been contended by experts that a part of this sewer is wrong and that a part of the public money spent therein might just as well have been thrown into the lake. Yesterday, I am given to understand, that when the boards sustaining the side wall of the sewer were removed, that the bottom under pressure of the side walls, from natural conditions, rose. As one gentleman present, when the City Engineer arrived, remarked "the bottom of this sewer and the pipes, tried to play an aeroplane game. In fact, the pipes discounted some aeroplanes which do not rise. The pipes however did rise and soared heavenward with the pressure from beneath.

To the casual observer, yesterday, the sewer at the pumping station resembled a cross between the Newmarket Canal and an everglade swamp. The pipes seem to rise in silent protest against the present system of construction

SHOULD COUNCILLOR CONTRACT

To The Editor of The Review.

I have always understood that no member of the Council may supply the city with goods of any kind. Along this argument has a city father a right to contract on work for which the city pays? I understand that one of the local aldermen has the contract for the Protestant Home, for which the city pays and supplies the land on which it will stand.

SIGN IN THE RIGHT PLACE

The advertising sign for the city has been erected by J. J. Turner & Sons, on a small island just above the C.P.R bridge. It bears the information that Peterboro has cheap electric power, superior shipping facilities factory location. For permission to erect the large sign, which also includes a Turner advertisement, the firm presented the city's share free of cost. The wording is prominent from the bridge and the sign at once catches the eye of the travelling public.

The mangled body of an unknown man was found on the railway tracks near Brantford. A ticket for Paris, $10 and a bank book were in the pockets.

ITALIAN FLEET NOW BOMBARDING THE TOWN OF PREVESA ON ADRIATIC SEA

MILAN DISPATCH SAYS THE ITALIANS DEMAND SURRENDER OF TURK WARSHIPS

Two Transports Flying British Flag Are Captured—Italian Cruisers Now in Tripoli Harbor, and Landing is Made.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW.

Paris, Oct. 4.—The Turks at Prevesa have ignored the demand of the Italian commander for the surrender of three Turkish warships in the harbor. The Italian fleet under the Duc de Abruzzi, is bombarding the city to-day, according to a Milan dispatch.

TWO TRANSPORTS CAPTURED

London, Oct. 4.—Two Turkish transports flying the British flag have been captured by an Italian cruiser near Prevesa.

London, Oct. 4.—The last official word from Tripoli comes from Vice-Admiral Faravelli, who notified the Italian Government that he had given the Turkish commander until noon Tuesday to surrender.

A special edition of The Rome Tribuna publishes the statement that the Italian cruisers entered the harbor of Tripoli Tuesday afternoon, bombarded the forts and the governor's castle, made a landing and hoisted the Italian flag.

The most important naval capture of the war so far is that of the Turkish transport Sabah, with a Turkish general, a large contingent of troops and much ammunition aboard.

Corfu reports that the Duke of Abruzzi, in command of a torpedo flotilla off Prevesa, threatens a bombardment of that place.

The Porte's appeal to the powers has been answered by the powers to the effect that they cannot offer mediation until a basis of settlement is suggested on the lines of the Italian demands.

Late reports from Constantinople say that the new Cabinet has been nominated and that it will continue the policy looking to mediation.

The Turkish battleships and a cruiser have been sent to reinforce the squadron in the Dardanelles. Turkey, it is stated, has troops aboard two Russian steamers now held up at Suez. This tends to confirm the Vienna report that Turkey has ordered the Yemon expeditionary force to occupy the coast of the Italian colony of Eitrirea, with the support of a squadron of warships.

No Further Development.

London, Oct. 4.—The lapse of another day leaves the Turco-Italian war without further development. There is no confirmation of the alleged bombardment of Tripoli, which appears unlikely to have happened, as it will yet be several days before the expeditionary force is ready to leave Italian shores.

Apparently the Italian Government is apprehensive that the Turkish fleet may be able to hamper the passage of transports, and great precautions are being taken. The expedition will be started from ports in two seas, rather than from South Italy and Sicily, in order to minimize that danger, and evidently Italy is in no hurry to get the expedition on the way.

Another reason for the delay of warlike operations is the continuence of the Turkish Cabinet crisis. Clearly, the old Ministers are remaining in office against their will and are unable to formulate or agree upon any definite line of action. It is even reported that the Minister of Marine has resigned on account of flagrant disobedience of his orders to the fleet.

Meanwhile the pour parleurs of the Powers continue without intermission. It is said that Russia is now supporting Germany in her efforts to bring about peace.

A report comes from Agosta that the Turkish transport Derna changed her name to "Eitel Frederich" and flew the German flag while running the blockade at Tripoli, and that her officers were proud of eluding pursuit.

But, it is pointed out in the report she might have been captured two hundred miles from Tripoli, had not the Italians wanted her arrival at Tripoli and the landing of arms as a pretext to declare war.

Duke Turns Fierce.

Corfu, Oct. 4.—Vice-Admiral the Duke of Abruzzi has sent an ultimatum to the vali of Prevesa threatening a bombardment unless he surrenders the Turkish warships which have taken refuge in the harbor.

Turkey's Other Cheek Slapped.

Constantinople, Oct. 4.—Replies to the Porte's appeal have been received from most of the powers, but, as was expected, they afford little satisfaction. In effect the powers say they will be unable to offer mediation until the Porte offers a basis of settlement along the lines of the Italian demands set forth in the ultimatum.

The Austrian ambassador had a long interview with the grand vizier yesterday afternoon, and it is announced that the Russian ambassador will visit him to-day, but it is questionable whether Said Pasha will be able to remain in office another day.

Halil Pasha, the Minister of the Interior, insists upon the acceptance of his resignation, but the grand vizier wishes him to accept another portfolio. French efforts have been made to prevail upon Hilmi Pasha to take the Ministry of the Interior.

Turkish telegrams report that an Italian warship has sunk two motor boats near Hadeida, a seaport on the Red Sea, and pursued the Turkish destroyer Peikishevket.

Big Tank Falls.

Hamilton, Oct. 4.—A big tank containing about 15,000 gallons of water fell from the roof of George E. Bristol & Co.'s warehouse on Macnab street, north, yesterday afternoon, and crashed through three floors into the cellar of the John E. Brown building, immediately north. The falling of the tank was accompanied with a deafening report and the keenest apprehension as to the results of the accident existed until it was discovered that no one had been injured.

FOUND IN GAS FILLED ROOM

Two Witnesses Nearly Dead from the Fumes

Toronto, Oct 4.—Mary McDonald and Lizzie Walsh, who held the position of waitresses in the Colonial restaurant, were found this morning in a room filled with gas. Both are in a critical condition as they were still unconscious this afternoon.

McGUIGAN GETS CONTRACT FOR MONTREAL CIVIC PLANT

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Three tenders for the prefilter of the filtration plant, varying in amount from $485,000 to $584,000, were opened yesterday by the Board of Control. The tenderers were: F. H. McGuigan, Toronto, $485,000; Haney, Quinlan & Robertson, $554,000, and Laurin & Leach, $584,000.

A letter was read from Mr. Janin, chief engineer, recommending that no more than $500,000 be paid for this contract, saying that the city could construct the plant for that sum.

This is taken to indicate that the Torono firm will secure the contract.

Wiley In Full Charge.

Washington, Oct. 4.—In a sudden succession of orders, an initial move in the expected reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, Solicitor G. P. McCabe, yesterday was retired from the pure food and drug board. Associated Chemist F. L. Dunlap, closely identified with McCabe, was allowed leave of absence until the President's return, and Chemist Harvey W. Wiley left apparently in supreme command of the board. Dr. R. E. Doolittle of New York, was temporarily appointed to the board to succeed Mr. McCabe.

Striker Killed By Breakers.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 4.—E. H. Montgomery, a striker, is fatally injured and a number of other persons more or less seriously hurt as a result of a pitched battle which occurred following the arrival of a special train loaded with strike-breakers at McComb City, Miss., late yesterday. Pistols were fired, clubs and stones used. The three carloads of strikebreakers were arrested.

Starving Ship and Crew.

Kingston, Jamaica, Oct. 4.—The Haitien gunboat Le Centenaire has been lying in the harbor here for many months, abandoned by her Government. A majority of the members of her crew are without money or food and are practically starving.

No More Men Needed.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—No more men will be hired at present to fill the places of strikers on the Illinois Central Railroad, according to a statement issued last night from the office of Vice-President Park.

FIREMAN LOSES LIFE IN BLAZE

Sensational Scenes at Quebec Holocaust

Quebec, Oct. 4.—Buried in the debris, the body of Fireman Labarre of No. 4 station was taken out by his companies last night at 10.30 from the ruins of No. 5 fire station, which was utterly wrecked by fire which broke out shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The blaze was attended with a number of sensational incidents, the fire spreading so rapidly that the whole station was a mass of flames within a few minutes, and the occupants in the upper stories were cut off by the blaze. Mrs. Savard, the widow of Fireman Savard, who was buried Monday, had to jump from the third storey to save herself, and sustained injuries which may prove fatal, and Mrs. Lemelin and Messrs. Louis Lanouette and Telespore Savard, who also jumped, were more or less seriously injured.

While the firemen were at work the floors suddenly collapsed and four men were hurled into the cellar. All managed to escape except Labarre, who was pinned under a heavy beam, and covered with the falling debris.

The occupants of the upper stories of the building had narrow escapes from death. The two women who jumped in an endeavor to catch the ladder, which was a storey below them, were badly injured, but at latest accounts from the hospital were doing well. Mrs. Savard was caught in the rungs of the ladder and remained suspended head downward struggling for some time in the midst of the flames which were bursting out of the windows.

The fire is supposed to have started in the stables.

Crushed Between Cars.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 4.—On his fourth trip since entering railroad's service, Harry Webb, brakeman, Buffalo, was killed while leaving the Falls for Buffalo yesterday. He was crushed between two cars.

Report current here last night that a permanent appraiser will be appointed to local customs service before Laurier relinquishes power. Dr. Pursel is acting appraiser. Collector Boyle said he did not think there was any truth to the report.

For the second time since being rebuilt, the Clifton Hotel closed for the winter season yesterday. Keeping the hotel open during the winter proved unsuccessful.

TON OF RADIUM COULD PROPEL A BIG SHIP FOR THIRTY YEARS

TWO OF THE BIGGEST COAL-CONSUMING CULPRITS OF THE PRESENT DAY

COALING UP THE MAURETANIA FOR A TRANSATLANTIC VOYAGE

7,000 TONS OF COAL PER VOYAGE

Sir William Ramsay pointed out at the recent Parliament of Science in Portsmouth, England, that if radium could be turned to mechanical use a ton of the marvellous substance would suffice to propel a ship of 15,000 tons, with engines of 15,000-horse power, at the rate of fifteen knots for thirty years. He added by comparison that such a ship would require 1,500,000 tons of coal to get the same results. The Mauretania and the Lusitania consume about 7,000 tons of coal each for every voyage of five and one-half days.

METHODISTS ARE GATHERING FOR THE BIG CONFERENCE

Ecumenical Gathering in Toronto Represents 30,000,000 Methodists From all Corners of the Earth—Eight Hundred Delegates.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—With the drop of the gavel this morning at 10 o'clock, in the hands of the president, Rev. A. Carman, D.D., in the Metropolitan Methodist Church in Toronto, the Ecumenical Conference of Methodism for the fourth time, was in full swing, and will go down in history as one of the greatest and most important religious gatherings ever brought together in the world's history, representing 30,000,000 adherents and with delegates present from every part of the inhabited world. The word "ecumenical," derived from the Greek, means "from all the earth," and is well chosen for this representative body.

At the opening of the conference this morning, the official sermon was preached by Rev. Henry Haigh of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, president of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference. The morning session concluded with the administering of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, by Bishop J. M. Walden, D.D., Bishop A. W. Wilson, D.D., Bishop B. F. Lee, D.D., Rev. Henry Haigh, Rev. Edwin Dalton and Rev. George Packer. Bishop A. W. Wilson, D.D., of Baltimore, bishop of M. E. Church South, for thirty years, will preach at the afternoon session, beginning at 2.30. After devotional services by Rev. J. E. Dickey, D.D., will follow the election of officers on nomination of business committee.

Addresses of welcome were delivered by Rev. Wm. Briggs, D.D., Bishop J. W. Hamilton, D.D., Bishop H. B. Parks, D.D., and Bishop E. E. Hass, D.D., and will be responded to by Rev. Henry Haigh, Rev. S. S. Henshaw, Sir Robert W. Perks, Bart., and Mr. R. W. Essex, M.P.

The ecumenical conference meets once in every ten years, and this meeting is the second one to be held on this side of the Atlantic, the first, which was the second ever held, was in Washington, D.C.

Two hundred of the five hundred delegates present represent the eastern section, which includes all who cross the ocean, while the other three hundred represent the western section, comprising the whole of the American continent.

There is installed for the convenience of the delegates a branch of the postoffice in the church, where mail will be delivered and despatched to all parts of the world.

Among the many social events which will take place during the conference, which lasts from Oct. 4 to 17, will be a reception at the City Hall to-morrow at 4.30 p.m, and on Saturday afternoon his honor the Lieutenant-Governor will give a garden party on the grounds of the Government House. Covers will be laid for 800 at a banquet to be given the delegates in Massey Hall by the Methodist Social Union, on Friday evening.

A party of 35 or 40 English delegates who have been enjoying the scenery of the mountains, arrived last night on a special train, in charge of Rev. Blackburn Fitzgerald of Leeds, and are enthusiastic in their praise for Canada and her wonderful resources. Fifty-one colored delegates will be in attendance, representing the African Methodist Episcopal Church, African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church. Many addresses will be made during the conference, covering every feature of religious work and new departments proposed by some of the brightest minds of Methodism, and much valuable information will be derived by those in attendance.

Taft Is Bold.

Denver, Oct. 4.—In a speech to the Public Lands Convention here yesterday, President Taft flatly disagreed with the sentiment of that convention in regard to the leasing of public lands by the Federal Government expressed in resolutions adopted Monday. The President declared that the west needed capital to develop its public lands, and said that only through a federal leasing system could such capital be induced to come west.

LEFT BABE TO STARVE TO DEATH

Desertion of Infant Under Cruel Circumstances

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Left two days in a room without food, an infant six weeks old died yesterday morning at St. Justin Hospital from the effects of starvation.

The circumstances show a man and woman, who were probably the parents of the child, went to a house on Sanquinet street two or three days ago and hired a room for a month. The occupant of the house did not notice that they had a baby with them. They occupied the room for an hour or so and then went out.

At the end of two days, as they had not returned, the landlord went to the door of the room to see if it was locked, when he was astounded to hear a faint cry inside. He entered and found the baby, dying from hunger. It was taken at once to the hospital, but its life could not be saved.

Tailor Nearly Smothered.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—Fire caused by gas tailor's irons imprisoned Philip Cohen, in the cellar of his tailor shop at 504 West Queen street, yesterday morning. The blaze did $1,200 damage to the premises.

Cohen lit the irons at 7 o'clock in the morning and then went into the cellar. When he went to go up he found his way blocked with smoke and flames. So much smoke found its way into the cellar that he was unconscious when a window which he had been unable to break had been driven in and he was carried out.

Really Rather Premature.

Providence, R.I., Oct. 4.—Having raised $1,000 for the purpose of celebrating Columbus Day by an exhibition of fireworks, the Italian Professional and Business Men's Association decided yesterday to donate the money to the Red Cross Fund to be used in the care of Italian soldiers in the present war.

Church Union In New York.

New York, Oct. 4.—Steps toward a federation of the Presbyterian Reformed, Congregational, United Presbyterian, and the Reformed Episcopal churches in New York city and vicinity are being taken here under the direction of the Presbytery of New York.

The plan as outlined provides that the denominations, "while maintaining their present position as integral elements of their respective communions, shall unite loyally and pray, plan and work together as one church in the city."

Best in the World.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—The Senators and members of Parliament for the Island of Montreal and representatives of the councils of the Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association were taken for a tour of the harbor on the harbor commission's tug, Sir Hugh Allan, at noon yesterday.

About seventy business men of the city accepted the invitation of the commissioners.

The tour was in conformity to the plan of the harbor board to enable the business leaders of the city to understand what is being done to develop the harbor and river.

Chairman George W. Stephens said the commissioners' ambition was to make the harbor the best in the world.

CLEANING UP DAY

Army of 600 Laborers Busy at Austin Wreck

Austin, Pa., Oct. 4.—With six bodies recovered from the flood wreckage here yesterday, the face of another, and a skull so badly charred that neither the sex nor the approximate age of the victim could be determined, the total number of known dead in the catastrophe that almost obliterated this community last Saturday, now stands at 38. All but one of the bodies were identified.

Although the expected number of laborers have not come in, there were approximately 600 at work clearing up the wreckage yesterday, and the chaotic appearance of the village is fast being changed. Several families were enabled, with official permission, to take out what was of use of their household goods.

With the almost hourly revision of the list of missing it is impossible to make an accurate statement of the dead. The feeling is expressed that a number of the dead will never be found. Those not having been consumed in the fire, it is believed, will have lost any semblance to a human body before being discovered, so deeply have they been buried in the wreckage, which frightfully tore and mangled the bodies that have been recovered.

The body of Arthur Ainsworth, one of those recovered yesterday, was found pinned down to what was the sidewalk by a heavy sign that marked his legal office. Ainsworth was a former district attorney of Potter County. The position of the body and conditions surrounding indicate that he had been buried in the avalanche of debris while leaving his office.

The body of Mrs. A. C. Brown, recovered last Monday, was found by Capt. Schell and Sergt. Simmons of the State Constabulary, who had gone out to select a site for a tent in which to house some of the laborers. The men stepped on some loose planks, which yielded, and upon lifting them they found the body.

Resists Arrest to Death.

Jonesville, Va., Oct. 4.—In a fight between a sheriff's posse and kinsmen of a young woman wanted as a murder trial witness at Gibson's Station, Va., yesterday, a deputy sheriff was killed and two other officers wounded, one fatally.

The posse was beaten off, and another has been organised here to regain the bodies of the victims and arrest the men who did the shooting.

The posse, headed by James Collins, went to the house of George Smith, near Gibson's Station, Va., to arrest Mrs. Ziralda Denny Barnett, as a material witness against her brother, Charles Denny, accused of murder.

Mrs. Barnett was willing to go with the officers, but her kinsmen, the Smiths, fired on them.

Earl Grey In Montreal.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Their Excellencies Earl and Countess Grey and the Ladies Sybil and Evelyn Grey arrived in Montreal last evening. Last night they attended a reception at the Mount Royal Club.

This morning His Excellency officially unveiled the statue in memory of the late John Young, who did so much for the development of the port, and will then take a trip around the harbor in one of the harbor commissioner's tugs.

In the evening a banquet will be tendered His Excellency at the Windsor Hotel.

TRYING TO STAMP OUT THE LAST OF MEXICAN REBELLION

Killed His Own Son.

New York, Oct. 4.—"Stop! You have killed your boy," was the cry which yesterday informed Percy Greeley, a truck driver, that he had crushed his three-year-old son to death.

Greeley rushed back, and, picking up his son's body, wept over it until a patrolman arrived and took him to the nearest police station.

Greeley, employed by a blacksmith firm, was starting out at noon with a load of iron when a hoop which was rolling along the sidewalk dropped into the street. His boy reached between the wheels for it and his head was crushed by the rear wheel.

The father drove on, unaware of the accident, until stopped by a shout from a witness of the tragedy.

GRAIN SMUGGLING SCHEME NIPPED

Two Arrests Made in Dakota Over Affair

Special to The Review

Minot, N. D., Oct. 4.—Two arrests have been made in connection with an extensive scheme for the smuggling of grain from Canada to the Minneapolis mills. The grain was taken across the border during the night and sold to the farmers. The barley smuggled yielded a profit of forty cents per bushel, [illegible]

Force is Dispatched While the Presidential Elections Are on.

Mexico City, Oct. 4.—While the Mexican civil authorities are trying to solve the problem of the vice-presidential election held last Sunday, federal troops, under Romulo Figueroa, are making a vigorous campaign to wipe out the rebels, headed by Gen. Zapata, in accordance with the Government's decision to give them no quarter.

A battle occurred on Monday near Santa Barbara, at the junction of the States of Puebla, Guerrero and Oaxaca. Zapata's force of 800 men was routed, with considerable loss. The federals captured six chiefs, and many rebels were made prisoners. Zapata escaped.

A clash between the federal troops and the people of Tehuantepec, in the State of Oaxaca, resulted in a number of persons being killed.

Assassin a Shop Clerk.

Helsingfors, Finland, Oct. 4.—The self-slain assassin Monday of M. Von Hellen, president of the High Court of Justice at Abo, was identified yesterday as a shop clerk named Loefdahls, who was 24 years of age. The authorities state that the motive for the crime was undoubtedly political.

The victim for a short time in 1905 was procurator general. He was leaving his home late Monday night when Loefdahls, who had hidden behind the outer door, fired two shots. The fatal wound was in the heart. The second bullet entered the left arm.

HORSE'S LEG SWELLED

Animal Was Too Sore and Lame to Work—Quickly Cured by "Nerviline."

"I have had a long experience in treating horses, and I can safely say that I know of no liniment for strains, sprains, and swelling that is so useful around the stable as Nerviline." Thus writes Mr. Joshua E. Murchison, from his home, Crofts Hill P. O. I had a fine young mare that wrenched her right fore leg, and from the shoulder down she was stiff, sore, and swollen. I applied Nerviline, and it worked like a charm; in fact, that mare was in shape to work a day after I used Nerviline.

Nerviline is a Trusty Liniment

"We have used Nerviline on our farm for twenty-five years and never found it wanting. For man or beast it is a wonderful liniment."

We have received nearly five thousand letters, recommending Nerviline as a general household liniment, as an all-round cure for aches and pains. One million bottles used each year. Try it yourself. Large bottles of Nerviline 50c; trial size, 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

DEATH-BED CONTRACTS

It is rather surprising, to say the least, that the dying administration should award contracts amounting to millions of dollars for public works, in the face of the fact that the Borden Cabinet will be sworn in, in a couple of days. The awarding of the contracts by the Laurier administration is a breach of constitutional practice and precedent, and cannot be too strongly condemned. When a government is swept from office like the Laurier administration has been, indicating a lack of public confidence in it, surely it should have the common decency to let go the reins of office without trying to have one last taste of the power of patronage.

The contracts involved are those for the Quebec terminal, the St. John, N.B., dredging contracts, amounting to some millions of dollars, $5,000,000 of which has been voted; and Intercolonial extensions that involve large sums of money.

It is probable that the new government will repudiate these deathbed contracts, which is as it should be. These contracts were prepared in the face of the election when the ministers knew that they were going to probable defeat, and it is one of the most eloquent pointers as to the calibre of the whole administration, and a justification of the expressed will of the people, that it should thus defy constitutional precedent and ordinary political morality.

THE ITALIAN ATTACK

The newspaper comment on the Italian attack on Turkey is singularly contradictory. Many of the newspapers seem to have strong ideas on the rank injustice of the position assumed by Italy, and pushed to a successful conclusion, while others regard the war game as being justified, as a natural part of the process of dismembering Turkey.

There is little real justice in the position assumed by Italy, it is quite true. The Italian interests in Tripoli were not suffering particularly under the nominal rule of the Bey, and the interests of other of the more powerful nations were not particularly in danger. Indeed, no one heard of Tripoli until Italy forwarded her demand that she be allowed to take peaceful possession of the port. Turkey has given no offence whatever, of late, and as far as outward indications go, there was no thought of Italy attempting to gobble up Tripoli until the late unpleasantness occurred in Morocco, when Germany sent the Panther into Agadir.

Poor old Turkey is the water-melon patch of Europe. Whenever the powers get a little thirsty for some more territory, they quietly step on to the field, and rot out a watermelon, and the Sultan can only gnash his teeth and submit. If it were not for the jealousy of three or four first-class powers, Turkey would have taken unto herself various other names some time ago. The integrity of the Ottoman is only assured because one great power is afraid that another might gain some advantage in a general slicing up.

The attacks on Italy's high-handed course may be outwardly justified, but according to the best information available, it is only one move on the big checkerboard of international politics. The seizure of Tripoli, after a joke war, is no more important, intrinsically, than was the seizure of Agadir by Germany. The real difference is that the seizure of Tripoli was accomplished only after Turkey had made at least some attemp at resistance, while Morocco of course, was a non-entity. The game of real and absorbing interest, however, is not in the development of hostilities, but in the diplomatic moves that lie behind this sudden action of Italy. Who moved Italy's arm in this matter? Was it the crafty Kaiser, or was it the reliable old John Bull? The fact that Germany and Austria are so angry at their partner in the Triple Alliance, and Germany is now so busy in attempting to restore the status quo, might lead one to think that a game had been turned on the Kaiser which has made him real mad. Was the seizure of Tripoli made by Italy to stop the spread of German aggression in the Mediterranean?

PETERBOROUGH'S GROWTH

According to the assessors' returns published yesterday, Peterborough now has a population of 19,300, an increase of 2,300 over the best previous figures. This is very encouraging, and should lead the citizens generally to wake up to the fact that Peterborough can become a city of very considerable commercial importance—more than it is now—by a systematic effort to build up the city.

There are only a few ways by which the natural growth of the city can be stimulated and facilitated. In the first place, the basis of the city's growth is its industrial strength. When it has dozens of factories working overtime, and a big demand for workingmen, the population will take care of itself. The necessity of Peterborough forging ahead with new factories is so apparent, that the general disposition to let matters lie as they are, is surprising. Peterborough had a publicity commissioner not so very long ago, but he was not satisfactory for several reasons, and his work was not effective. That this experiment was somewhat of a failure, due to peculiar conditions, should not deter the citizens from again trying to boost the city ahead. If everyone around Peterborough would join in to boost, this progressive and lively city would go ahead very fast. But candidly, the broader a people grow in their views, and the less prone they are to pitch into each other over things that are trifles in themselves, the quicker and more easily progress can be made. Peterborough has had some trying experiences in industrial matters, but it has missed some plums through its determination not to give concessions to good factories that other municipalities, of wider view, have given, and thus succeeded in building themselves up.

EDITORIAL NOTES

At the coffinside of her dead husband, an Indianapolis woman made a funeral oration. "As in life, so shall it be in death."

In two or three days more the grand guessing contest as to who will be in that cabinet, will come to an end. And won't there be some surprised guessers.

In five years' time Peterborough should have a population of nearly 30,000. Let the work go on of building up the city and its industries, for they are what make the city.

Peterborough has a population of 19,300 according to the assessor. This is most encouraging. Peterborough is keeping pace in growth with the other cities of the province. Hamilton with a population of 75,000 last year now has 82,000, or an increase of 11 per cent. Peterborough's increase of 2,306 is an increase of 14 per cent. And Hamilton is one of the fastest growing cities in Ontario.

Ald Edgar is ready to ask the city fathers to take up the question of a commission form of government. He will move at the next meeting of the council that the question be submitted to the people. The commission form of government has many good points, and in the case of Peterborough we think it would probably be very beneficial, in saving some of the muddling done through the changing of the personnel of the council.

Those English newspapers which are attempting to take a fall out of British Ambassador Bryce because he "assisted" at the work of preparing the reciprocity agreement, might be engaged in more profitable work. Ambassador Bryce, whatever his personal views may have been on the subject of trade relations between Canada and the United States, would take part in the negotiations only as the representative of the British crown at Washington, and as assisting the Canadian government in a diplomatic negotiation of some difficulty, being in no wise responsible for either the terms or provisions of the agreement. The blame, if any, was on the shoulders of the Canadian government, and the Canadian electorate judged it according to its need—seven ministers being sent into oblivion. Ambassador Bryce merely performed his ambassadorial functions.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Promise of bright weather northwest had much to do with making the wheat market to-day swing to a lower level. The change from continued storms would mean a removal of delay to threshing and forwarding a large part of the spring crop. In consequence, the close showed a declines of 1-4c to 3-8c from last night. The end of trade left corn 3-8c and 1-2c down; oats off 1-4c to 1-4c and 3-8c, and hog products either unaltered or varying to 15c lower.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ¼d higher to ¼d lower than yesterday on wheat, and ¾d higher on corn. Paris wheat closed ¼c to ⅜c lower; Berlin unchanged.

Montreal Man So Ill With Dyspepsia Thought He Would Die.

No more convincing evidence was ever put on paper than the following letter from one of Montreal's well-known citizens, Mr. D. R. Larose, of 338 Joliette street.

"Permit me to write you a few words concerning Dr Hamilton's Pills. I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment after having read your advertisement in the paper. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend them to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette st., Montreal, P.Q.

Let all who have weak stomachs and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, billiousness, know they can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Successfully used for many years, mild and safe, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS IN CANADA

With the enormous growth of Canada in the last twenty-five years, with its increase of population, of trade, of industrial development and of municipal and individual wealth, there has been a corresponding growth of public spirit and a universal determination that Canada shall have as finely-equipped public institutions for education, moral, physical and intellectual as any in the world.

To recall some distinguished Canadian names is to associate them immediately with princely benefactions to the country. In Montreal, to take one instance out of many, there is the Royal Victoria Hospital founded sixteen years ago by the Right Hon. Lord Mount Stephen and the Right Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, a magnificent building in which an invaluable work is carried on.

"It is wiser and less expensive to save children than to punish criminals," is the motto of the Children's Aid Society of Toronto, whose president is the Hon. J. K. MacDonald. The objects and aims of the Society are: to attend the trial of children in the police-courts, to receive complaints and investigate cases of alleged cruelty to children, to take charge of destitute children and to find good foster-homes for them. Since 1891, 17,458 cases have come under its supervision.

The Toronto Hospital for Sick Children established thirty-five years ago, is a charity that makes instant appeal to everyone for who can look unmoved upon the sufferings of a child? Since its foundation the Hospital has treated within its walls 16,-837 In-Patients and 100,959 Out-Patients. The Toronto Corporation gives $18,000 a year to it, and the citizens $8,000, and it owes an immense debt of gratitude to its Board of Trustees. The Hospital is admirably equipped in every way; it has an orthopaedic department which turns out all kinds of apparatus for correcting deformities, a gymnasium in which various defects are treated, and a school-room where children from four to fourteen who are well enough for lessons are taught. And on the Island is the beautiful Lakeside Home for convalescents.

No more terrible scourge afflicts humanity to-day than what is known as the White Plague, though since the discovery of the open-air treatment, we have ceased to look upon the disease with the eyes of hopeless resignation of former generations. There are many sanatoria for the treatment of consumption established throughout Canada, Lake Edward, the Cottage Hospital at Ottawa in which Her Excellency Lady Grey is much interested, Gravenhurst, Kamloops, etc., but the Royal Edward Institute of Montreal for the study, prevention and cure of tuberculosis, takes up the crusade against this insidious enemy upon rather different lines and in what is proving to be a less expensive and more permanently effective way. The Institute was founded by Colonel Jeffrey H. Burland, and his sisters, Mrs. Henry M. Ami and Mrs. E. V. Cathagne, as a memorial to their parents, and is primarily a dispensary. Its principal work is the examination and treatment of out-door patients who attend every morning at eleven o'clock. 773 patients have been on the visiting list during the year. Another important feature of the work is the instruction, control and care of the patients in their own homes. This is carried out by the regular visits of the Instructor and nurses. The patient in the sanatorium follows a new and strict routine of life and after a longer or shorter period is perhaps discharged as cured, and returns to exactly the same conditions which occasioned or aggregate his disease. The patient treated by the dispensary is taught how to take care of himself, learns the value of fresh air and the necessity of obedience to hygienic laws, so that his home surroundings are permanently bettered. There is no doubt that the home treatment of tuberculosis when possible, is of greater lasting benefit. Very often too, incipient cases in the patient's family are discovered, and cured without difficulty. Day patients are taken on the fine glass-enclosed balconies of the Institute. Necessities of all kinds, milk, egs, medicine, etc., are supplied to the patients, and seventeen needy cases received money as well, for rent, coals, etc., during the year.

LT.-COL. J. H. BURLAND. Founder of the Royal Edward Institute.

The Victorian Order of Nurses co-operate with the Royal Edward Institute to the extent of supplying and paying two nurses who visit the homes of advanced cases, and extra nurses for cases needing constant attention. Owing to the work of the Institute and of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the deaths from tuberculosis in Montreal have decreased 10 per cent in a year.

The Winnipeg General Hospital organized in 1872 and incorporated three years later, is one of the finest institutions now in Canada, and when the proposed new buildings are erected it will be equal to any hospital on this continent. During the year 1909, the daily average of patients in the wards was 297.7, a very high percentage for a hospital containing 328 beds. The new additions will have a capacity of 320 beds, and will enable the trustees to re-arrange the available space in the entire hospital and provide various new and essential departments. A warm regard exists in the hearts of the citizens for the Winnipeg General and the well-known generous Western spirit has found adequate expression in the voluntary contributions by which it is mainly supported. For this reason it exerts a strong and wholesome influence for charitable effort on behalf of the poor. Including the 291 infants born in the institution, last year over 955 children were cared for by it. A clinic for tubercular patients is held three times a week; some of the case are admitted to the Hospital, the remainder are attended at their own homes. The various nationalities represented by the patients is interesting: Canadians are of course largely in the majority, then come English, Scotch, Irish, Germans, Italians, Galicians, Poles, Danes, and what seems curious a large number from Iceland.

The Margaret Scott Nursing Mission of Winnipeg does an excellent and much-needed work in the poorest homes of the City.

The official report for the year ending April, 1910, showed for 3,000 sailings of different vessels-steamships and sailing-ships—from the port of St. John, indicating an immense number of men requiring to be looked after while ashore. When we consider the enormous danger and hardship of the life of these faithful servants of our commerce, we feel how great a debt the country owes them. The Seamen's Mission of St. John, N. B., now in its eighteenth year is an inestimable benefit to the sailors visiting the port. They have the free use of reading, writing, and recreation rooms, a fine hall for entertainments, religious services, and so on. Concerts are held, vessels visited, magazines and papers sent out, paper and envelopes provided free, medicine supplied, money exchanged and received for safe keeping, etc. Special care is given to sick sailors and a few rooms in the Institute are kept for any emergency occasioned by wrecks. The work is of course undenominational and seamen dying in port are buried from the Mission attended by clergymen of their own faith. This work is well-known to passengers who cross the Ocean by Canadian lines and deserves all possible support.

The Kingston General Hospital deserves special mention, not only on account of its standing and valuable services to the community, but also because of the Strange and St. George's Medical 67th year. The main building consists of the Strange and St. George's Medical Wards for Women, and the Yates and Sampson Medical Wards for Men. The Watkins Wing contains accommodation for private and semi-private patients, and a charming ward for children. The Nickle Wing is entirely isolated and is used only for infectious diseases. The Kingston General Hospital is exceptionally fortunate in its medical staff, and in the many citizens warmly interested in its welfare.

A memorial to the distinguished Canadian statesman Sir Oliver Mowat, in the form of a tuberculosis sanatorium is shortly to be added to the Hospital.

At Lindsay, Ont., a very beautiful hospital has lately been erected by Mr. James Ross of Montreal, as a memorial to his mother.

There is less suffering from poverty in the West, but each city has its own hospital, and its own method of meeting the special needs of the community. Victoria, B. C. is justly proud of its splendid Jubilee Hospital, The Vancouver General Hospital can hold its own well among the other City hospitals, Lethbridge, Regina, Calgary, Prince Rupert—most rapidly growing and go-ahead of Western towns—all have hospitals of their own on a smaller scale, and othr neded charities.

Much might be said of the splendid work done by the Christian Associations in their various branches scattered throughout Canada, and of the many Fresh Air Societies which send sick people and little city children for a country holiday—a most delightful and appealing form of charity—and a great deal of diversified philanthropy outside of anything mentioned above is of course being carried on, but enough has been said to show that a wide-spread sympathy for the poor and unfortunate is finding practical expression everywhere in our land. The work that is being done is making our land better, happier and healthier. To further this aim every citizen should contribute to the support of hospitals to all that his purse can possibly afford.

$4 Worth of Father Morriscy's "No. 7" Cured Her of Inflammatory Rheumatism.

Mrs. Agnes Edgar, of Grand Falls, N.B., had a terrible time with Inflammatory Rheumatism. Anyone who has had this most painful disease will understand her suffering—and her joy when she found Father Morriscy's "No. 7" had cured her. She says:

"I took Father Morriscy's Prescription for Inflammatory Rheumatism. I had suffered everything with it, but in three weeks after starting Father Morriscy's Prescription I was able to do my work, and after taking four dollars worth of medicine I was well. I highly recommend it any sufferer with Rheumatism."

Rheumatism comes from bad kidneys. The poisonous Uric Acid which they should remove stays in the blood, accumulates in joints and muscles, and causes agony. Father Morriscy's "No. 7" puts the kidneys right, removes the Uric Acid from the blood and the whole system, and cures the Rheumatism. 50c. a box at your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co. Experiments Prove That Silage Has Great Advantage Over Roots as Economical Feed.

The Dominion Experimental Farm is showing its worth to farmers by its practical experiments and even more so than its recent trials in stock food.

In a series of experiments conducted for two years under the direction of J H Grisdale, director of the Dominion Experimental Farm, it has been found that silage has a great advantage over roots as an economical sheep feed. Duplicating the experiment of the preceding year twenty-seven lambs of uniform weight were divided into three groups of nine each and fed different rations, from which to form a basis of the experiment. No. 1 group was fed on clover hay, meal and turnips; lot No. 2 on clover hay, meal and silage, the latter replacing the turnips, and No. 3 group was fed on clover hay, meal, turnips and ensilage mixed.

CARE OF PEACH TREES.

Selection Determined by Locality.

The varieties of peach trees selected must be largely determined by the locality in which they are to be grown, as some varieties thrive better in some localities than others. If convenient to market in many cases the earlier varieties are the most profitable, provided, of course, they are of good quality, but with peaches as with almost every variety of fruit, if an extra fine quality is grown, there is no difficulty in selling at a good price.

When grown more especially for home consumption select varieties that will give a supply through the longest season. Peaches are particularly a fresh fruit, and are best in season, and little or no effort is usually made to keep them any longer.

Peaches need a reasonably loose soil and will not thrive if grown in sod for any considerable length of time. The soil should be prepared in good time by ploughing and harrowing.

Peaches are so often injured by severe cold, freezing weather, that in a majority of cases spring planting is preferable to fall, but it is an item to make all the preparation possible in advance so that at the first favorable opportunity in the spring planting can be done.

WATCHFUL PARENTS

Make Home Attractive to the Children and Welcome Their Friends

Mothers should realize that it will not do to permit a daughter to go where she will at her own discretion, to seek her associates where she may. They must know what her amusements are, whose company she cultivates, where she spends her leisure. Mothers, retrace your steps, stand at her side, be her age, think her thoughts, commune with youth, learn again its lessons, share its blessed hopes, lead it around the pitfalls by gentle counsel, persuasive reason, says Woman's World.

Do not make it necessary for the young people to go away from home for their good times. Make home attractive, their friends welcome. Make deceit unnecessary. When they go elsewhere find out where they spend the time, with whom they spend it, in what manner they spend it. Precaution often saves a heartache by-and-by. Many a brand has been snatched from the burning by a knowledge that came in time. Many a mother's heart has been bowed in shame and sorrow by a lesson learned too late.

Parents cannot afford to trust too much, to expect too much, to be indifferent, compaisant, neglectful. When the time of payment comes, their house will be left unto them desolate.

Is your home a home? Do your sons and daughters come in to meals and to sleep, go out at will and no questions asked, no interest manifested? Do they keep irregular hours? Are they practically under their own entire control? It is not easy to see how any mother can sit at ease, hearing the door close behind son or daughter going out for an evening, not knowing to a certainty how and where it is to be passed. It is not easy to see how she can bear to feel them going away from her into companionship and among influences of which she is ignorant; how she can so far forget her stewardship; how she can quiet her conscience. No gambler takes such chances or plays for such high stakes as the woman who holds a child in trust.

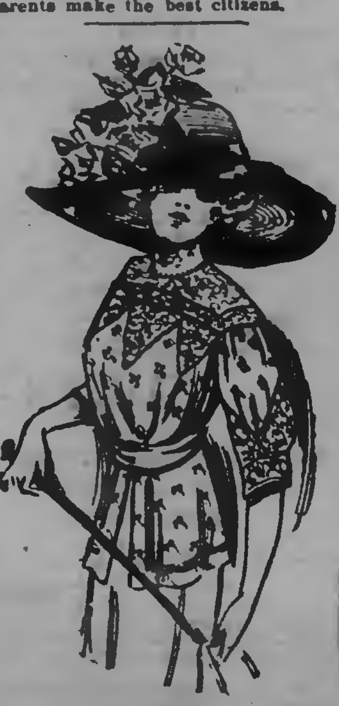
A case that holds an enormous power for evil recently came to note, however. In a nicely-furnished flat lived a young couple with their two small children.

But the son and daughter took advantage sometimes of their parents' absence, and had the wrong kinds of friends in to amuse them. This, however, was put a stop to by their father and mother when they learnt the facts. Soon all was altered, and things went happily again.

Vigilance is necessary on the part of all parents who want their sons and daughters to grow up uncontaminated.

Loving care and thought for one's children must be accompanied by a firm hand to guide them.

Children who love to obey their parents make the best citizens.



SUGGESTION FOR FLOWERED MATERIAL

Just over from Paris is a blouse made from flowered dimity, in which lace plays an important role. A yoke of allover lace is bordered with a band of insertion, below which are three deep lace points, front and back. The cuff on sleeve is a band of lace insertion topped with two lace points. The newest feature of this blouse, however, is the peplum, which has an inset band of insertion all around. The joining to blouse is made under a girdle of black satin.

WHY NOT?

Let the little ones get up early during the hot weather—as early as they want to—and have a scamper before breakfast. The best part of a summer's day is the early morning; let the children enjoy it. They will benefit more from an hour in the open air then than from two later in the day.

To keep a strong, healthy child in bed until seven or half-past may be positive cruelty. A child is like a bird; the moment he wakes he wants to be out.

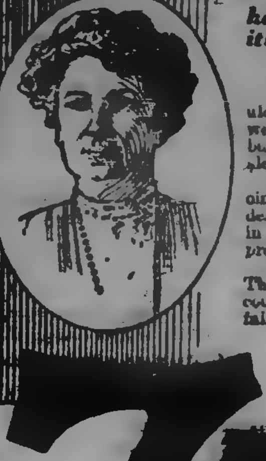
HOME-MADE SOAP

An excellent way of using up waste dripping, fat skimmings, etc., is to make scouring soap of them. The fat need not be fresh, but it must be first melted down and strained. To every pound of fat allow one pound of red ash, two ounces of resin, and one gallon of water. Boil from five to six hours, according to the quantity, stirring frequently during the time. If it becomes too thick, add more water. The resin is not added until five minutes before the soap is lifted, and a handful of salt is added at the same time.

Brantford's population is 21,084, an increase of 1,012 and the assessment $15,551,930.

IT ENDS PAIN!

Have you a sore place? Have you any skin disease, old sore or obstinate wound, that has defied all efforts at healing? If so, apply Zam-Buk and prove its merits.



A Woman's Message to Women.

Mrs. James Elsworth, 902 Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg, Man., says:—"Four and a half years ago ulcers started on my left ankle, and spread until the top of my foot and limb, to the knee, was well-nigh covered. I used ointment after ointment, until everything I knew of had been tried, but I received little or no benefit. I was laid up in bed for a long time, and had no rest or sleep, night after night, from the acute pain and irritation.

"I consulted doctors, until I had taken treatment from at least five. After using their ointments and preparations until I was positive I could get no cure, I almost gave up in despair. I was next persuaded to try a course of treatment supplied by a company operating in this city, paying as much as thirteen dollars and a half in one week for ointments, which proved of no use whatever.

"One day a sample of Zam-Buk was left at the house. This seemed to soothe the pain almost instantly, and encouraged me to get a supply from the druggist and give it a fair trial. Zam-Buk had a wonderful effect in a very short time. The irritation and the pain were quickly relieved, and gradually the ulcers were cleansed of all poisonous matter. The discharging then ceased, and the ulcers began to show signs of healing. I kept on using Zam-Buk until every ulcer had been completely healed."

THE IDEAL WIFE

Some Qualifications Which Go to Make the Perfect Woman

Coming to the present era of wonderful woman, we find a modern, ancient (superannuated) philosopher defining the qualifications of an ideal wife. He specifies, amongst other delightful attributes, these:—

Great good-nature and a prudent generosity.

A lively look, a proper spirit and a cheerful disposition.

A good face and figure, but not greatly beautiful; a moderate height, a good complexion, rather brown.

Young by all means; old by no means.

Well, but not critically, skilled in her own tongue.

In spelling, a little becoming deficiency; by no means conversant with punctuation.

A more than tolerably good voice, and a little ear for music; a capability of singing (in company), but no peculiar and intimate acquaintance with crochets and quavers.

Not always in the drawing-room, but sometimes in the kitchen; yet more skilled in the theory than in the practice of cooking.

Not entirely devoted to bridge, but a little given to chess.

Fond of lawn tennis, but ignorant of hockey and golf.

In conversation, a little of the lisp, but not of the stammer.—Vanity Fair.

Dough-Nuts

Mix three cupfuls of flour, two cupfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, a few drops of essence of lemon. Beat up three eggs, and make all into a stiff dough, using a little milk if required. Make into balls the size of a walnut, fry them a nice brown in plenty of smoking hot fat, then drain them on paper. Have ready another saucepan, in which you have boiled one pound of castor sugar and half a cupful of water. Dip the dough-nuts into the mixture, and put into a cool place to dry.

A Good Investment

It is a wise plan, when buying vests for children, to get "ladies' size." There is very little difference in the cost, but they will last almost double the time. Children's vests are usually disposed of, not because they are worn out, but because they have shrunk so much. By getting the longer ones at first this difficulty is overcome, and you will find it true economy.

Save the Washing

If a blouse needs washing before a skirt, as is often the case with the one-piece morning-gowns, try this plan. Cut the skirt from the waist at the belt-line, and put a piece of embroidered beading on each part. Run them together with a wash-ribbon or tape. Each part may then be washed separately; and it gives the further advantage of being able to wear the blouse and skirt separately.

YOU ARE SICK

YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

Which Do You Prefer?

Those who engage in the Optical business as a profession, who for years have made the eye a special study and are fully qualified and equipped to correct all errors of refraction?

Those who have a permanent place of business and an up-to-date Optical Parlor with every modern convenience for accurate sight testing?

Those who guarantee their work and who are in the city 365 days in the year to back up that guarantee.

OR,

Those who are in it simply for the money they can get out of it. The travelling pedler, who makes it a practice of remaining a few days in a place and by all kinds of fake advertising tries to persuade you to buy glasses after a few apparent tests much in the same way as you would buy any other kind of merchandise. That is to say, he attempts to fit glasses with practically no knowledge as to how it should be done.

WEDDING BELLS

CRAPP—DAVIS

A very interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. James Crapp Smith township on Wednesday, Sept. 27, when his eldest daughter, Edith, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Davis, also of Smith. The Rev. Mr. Coons, of Lakefield, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed in cream de chene, trimmed with tucked net and satin. Her sister Miss Phoebe Crapp, who was bridesmaid, was dressed in pale blue mull trimmed with val lace, and insertion. Mr. Albert Nichols of Bridgenorth supported the groom.

After the wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Davis drove to their new home in Smith, where they will reside.

GLOVER—LaPLANTE

Miss Armene LaPlante, youngest daughter of Mr. Thomas LaPlante, Rubidge street, was united in marriage to Mr. R. M. Glover, son of Mr. Peter Glover, Mark street, East City, this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover took the 7.10 G.T.R. train for western points; and on returning to the city will reside on Maitland Avenue.

Many valuable and useful gifts were received by the bride and groom, evidencing the high esteem in which they are held by their numerous friends. Among the gifts was a grandfather's clock, from the employes of the Examiner Printing Co., of which the groom is managing director. Heartiest congratulations and best wishes will be extended to the bride and groom.

POLICE COURT

Costly Drunk for Blacklister With Big Roll

A man named Hugh Gibbs was arrested last night in an intoxicated state. He is also on the blacklist.

On his person was found a very large sum of money which he told the Magistrate this morning, he had drawn from the bank. His Worship gave him a stern lecture on his folly in carrying around such a pile of money and getting drunk. His capital was reduced $13.75 by a fine. The culprit promised to put the money back in the bank and keep sober.

Another man, who has been steady for a long time, succumbed to the craving for a drink yesterday, which resulted in his taking too much. He pleaded rheumatism as an excuse. His Worship allowed him to go on his promise to get back to the straight route.

A wages case was also settled this morning between Hugh Swarts and the National Hotel.

LEADS AMERICA AND CANADA

Sometimes a private citizen does more to advertise the city he lives in than the general public know about. There is one man in Peterborough who has been the means of circulating the name of Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, in every town and city from the Gulf of Mexico to Vancouver, B. C., and from Halifax, N.S., to California. We refer to Mr. Rothwell, Superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. He was showing us a paper published by his company giving the leaders in securing new business in the country, and his district, known as the Peterborough District, has been leading entire America and Canada for the whole of this year. Every employee of this company, and there are over Four Thousand of them, and nearly every policy holder they collect from, and there are Eleven Million of them, will have heard of Peterborough, Canada. What a splendid free ad for Peterborough.

ROMANCE OF GEOGRAPHY

Subject of Lecture For the School Teachers

The annual convention of the teachers of the city and county of Peterborough will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The combined associations have arranged for a public meeting in the Collegiate Institute Assembly hall, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, at which Prof. Morison, of Queen's University, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Romance of Geography—a Student of Great Discoveries." Miss Chalmers and Mr. Wilson will supply the musical part of the program. The public is cordially invited to hear Prof. Morison, who is one of the most popular professors of the university and has won a name as a pleasing and forcible lecturer. There will be no charge for admission.

ROLLIE GLOVER WAS BANQUETED

By His Companions in the Echo Camp Club

An informal banquet was tendered to "Rollie" Glover last evening by the members of the "Echo" camp club, in Hooper's palm parlors.

Mr. Glover was the recipient of warm and hearty wishes for a happy future, and several witty and popular speeches were given by his boon companions in the club. "Rollie" suitably replied, thanking his hosts for the kind expressions of their good will.

TIN AND ENAMEL WARE SHOWER

Young People Surprised Mr. and Mrs. Trussle

It Was Tenth Anniversary of Their Wedding

A number of young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Trussler, Wescott street, surprised them on Monday evening by invading their home and presenting the celebrants of their tenth wedding aniversary with a tin and enamelware shower.

The evening was pleasantly spent in various games interspersed with some enjoyable selections on the gramophone. Lunch was afterwards served and the party dispersed shortly after midnight.

IS ON THE WATCH

Information having come to Mr. Farnham that attempts were being made by interested parties to secure transfers of water privileges and powers along the river before the old government gives up the ghost, he wired Mr. Borden this morning, concerning this information and requesting the new premier to take immediate steps to prevent anything that would prejudice the city or public in general in this respect. More than the usual scramble is being made by the Laurier departments to feed their favorites all over the Dominion, and possibly Peterboro is no exception.

TO EXPROPROPRIATE SITE FOR THE NEW EAST CITY SCHOOL

Estimated Cost of Two New Schools Between $80,000 and 85,000

The main item of business transacted by the Board of Education at their monthly meeting last night, consisted in the examination of the plans submitted by the chairman of the building committee Dr. Morrison, for the proposed new schools in the East and West Wards. In regard to them the following report of the building committee explains the present stage of operations.

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Building Committee for the East and West Wards beg to report, that they have plans completed for new schools in the East and West Wards, and have instructed the solicitor to proceed to expropriate a site in East City. We have an option on a site for the West Ward.

Our plans are for twelve room schools in each case, the buildings to be two stories. The estimated cost will be in the neighborhood of from $80,000 to $85,000 for the two buildings complete. We would recommend that the Board wait on the City Council as soon as possible and ask for an appropriation so that contracts can be let and the buildings proceeded with on the opening of spring.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. A. MORRISON,
Chairman.

The expectation of the committee is that they will realize sufficient from the sale of the present East and West schools together with the grounds, to enable them to purchase sites for the new buildings. The above report explains the rest, including the necessity of the Board to wait upon the city fathers to secure their acquiescence for the submittal of a by-law to the ratepayers before authorizing the erection of the schools on the proposed sites.

AN INSTANT SUCCESS SAYS OTTAWA JOURNAL

Brilliant Presentations of "With Edged Tools" at the Russel in Ottawa by Fine English Company—At the Grand Saturday Next, Matinee and Night.

"The audience at the Russell Theatre last evening enjoyed a brilliant presentation of "With Edged Tools," by the original English company, a company that for excellence in every role does not yield the palm to a Willard or any other English company which has been seen in Ottawa. Ottawans will have another opprotunity to-night to see this sterling attraction.

"If children play with edged tools they are bound to cut themselves sooner or later," is the old adage upon which the famous novel by Henry Seton Merriman and the play taken from that novel are founded. With Edged Tools comes to us with a reputation as a fine play, it comes with a record of one thousand and seventy-nine performances to its credit, and it has come to stay. Henry Seton Merriman's works are always strong, distinguished and brilliantly witty, and the play With Edged Tools retains all the sparkle of the Merriman style. It adheres closely to the book, and is a fine, moving tale of love and adventure. Two scenes are so dramatically strong as to lift the audience right out of themselves, and the Mayfair boudoir scenes in which the delicate intrigues unfold themselves conversationally are masterpieces of style and epigrammatic brilliance. With Edged Tools is safe for a niche in the affections of Canadian playgoers.

Of the whole rare company which has been brought over from England fresh from its success there, it is impossible to speak in words of too great praise, as it would be invidious to particularise. Campbell Goldsmid as the treacherous half-caste Durnovo stands out as one of the strongest characters. His enactment of the sleeping sickness scene, beautifully done, and artistically accomplished stamps him as an artist of great individuality. The Jack Meredith of Hamilton Deane, in which he uses his fine presence and beautiful voice to great advantage, was in the true spirit of Merriman, and was what one would expect of a cultured English gentleman. Stanley Bedwell's was a fine, manly performance of the great hearted big game hunting Oscard, and Charles Hartopp gave a good rendering of the weak, vacillating Maurice Gordon. Miss Marie Leonhard as Jocelyn Gordon was a beautiful picture at all times, and her performance was marked by great restraint and sweetness, while the rendering of Millicent Chyne by Miss Marguerite Collier shows her to be an actress of great ability and power. An exceedingly good character study was the pathetic figure of Marie, the native girl, played by Miss Dulhunty and the chatterbox Lady Herries was well given by Miss Craigie. Special mention should be given to Mr. Richard Hicks for a consummate study of old Sir John Meredith the sardonically humorous, witty diplomat, of the old school, who emerges from his retirement to fight the battles of his son. Every action and tone of voice showed a perfect command and a profound knowledge of the character as drawn so exquisitely by Merriman. Indeed, the whole combination was in every way perfect, and the mounting of the play was in every sense of the word beautiful."

The seat sale for "With Edged Tools," is now open. At the Grand, Saturday matinee and night.

THE PASSION PLAY AT THE CRYSTAL

Splendid Pictures With Instructive Lecture by Miss Henry

The life, travels and the scenes of the Saviour's fine sacrifice on the cross, were accurately and beautifully delineated at the Crystal Theatre last evening, with the aid of illustrating pictures by Miss Angela Henry a former Peterboro young lady, but now on the editorial staff of the Buffalo Express.

The distinctly refined, and elevating evening should have attracted a much larger attendance, as the lecture was made surprisingly entertaining and instructive by Miss Henry, who revealed unmistakable and well cultivated talents as an interpreter of the famous scenes of the immortal passion play.

Miss Henry is eminently capable of describing the historic scenes and places mentioned in scripture as being closely associated with Christ's sojourn on earth, having personally visited every famous spot in Europe and Oriental countries, in the interests of a syndicate of American journals. Over 200 beautifully colored panoramic slides pictured on canvas supplemented her lecture last evening, every one of which is correct, and portraying most realistically the places and scenes of the Saviour's visitation. Those who were wise enough to patronize the lecture last night were greatly impressed by the fluent and interesting manner in which the talented lecturer presented her subject and in such a way as to even thrill her audience with the meaning of the great atonement offered up on Calvary. Her lecture will be repeated this evening.

Miss Henry left Peterboro about twenty-five years ago, and during that period has been home but once. She has had a successful career as a lady journalist on American papers, and it was in their interests that she toured Europe and the Holy Land. She is a cousin of Mr. Miles L. Henry, 201 Brock street.

RUGBYISTS WANTED OUT TO SIGNAL PRACTICE TO-NIGHT

At Central Park—Team Goes to Port Hope on Saturday to Play T.C.S.

The local rugbyists have practically decided to go to Port Hope on Saturday next to play T.C.S. They had a good signal practice at Central Park last night under "Doc" McPherson's direction. Hogan was given a try on the half back line and he may be able to make good. He is a little slow in starting, though with practice he may come around. Corkery, Johnston and Hayes will likely hold down the other positions on the back division.

The captain has not been elected yet though it is apparent at the practices that someone should have charge. The wing line is slow in picking up the signals, but after a little practice will brighten up.

Gilbert and Langley will probably make the outside wings with Davidson and Kirn the middle positions.

Every player who wants a place is wanted out in uniform to-night. There will only be a couple more practices before the Port Hope game.

A captain may be elected to-night.

A. HUYCKE WON JUNIOR JUMP

Field Day of Collegiate at Riverside Park To-morrow

The junior high jump in connection with the annual Field Day of the Collegiate Institute was run off at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon, the standing being as follows—

1st, A Huycke; 2nd., J. May; 3rd., C. Stewart.

The remainder of the competitions will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, at Riverside, if the weather is unfavorable, a postponment will be made.

MORE HONOR FOR BEN SIMPSON

Is Honorary President of New Rugby Club

Ben Simpson, the old Hamilton Tiger captain, has been honored by being elected honorary president of a newly organized Rugby team in Winnipeg. Ben received his membership card on Monday, which is indeed a novel one. It is printed in yellow and black, and the design is a football surrounded by a big tiger. The club is known as the Tigers, although it is not a Hamilton old boys' affair, or anything like that.

BIG ENTRY LIST IS IN

For Competitions at Riverside Park Saturday Afternoon

The entries for the city athletic championships have been coming in very fast the last few days, especially for the "Peck" and "Huycke" trophies, which are for boys under 14 and under 16 years of age. The "Eastwood Trophy" for boys under 18 years of age, and the "Howden Cup" for seniors.

The events are almost the same in each competition, except that the runs in the younger boys competition are shorter.

With fine weather on Saturday and the Riverside Park track in good condition, some of the records will likely go by the boards. A. Canniff and N. Phalen, the holders of the "Howden" and "Eastwood" trophys, will both be contenders for the handsome trophies again. It is rather difficult to say who will be the first winners of the new trophy.

RIFLE RANGE FOR LOCAL REGIMENT

Department Will Consider Matter With Senior Officer

In reply to the representation made to Mr. Burnham that the question of a rifle range for Peterboro had been sidetracked so long that it had become a public scandal, and certainly ridiculous that a regiment should have a drill hall and parade grounds, and no rifle range. Mr. Burnham thereupon asked the department to begin the question all over again, and to place the matter in the hands of the senior officers of the regiment Mr. Burnham has now been advised that this course will be adopted in accordance with his request. The final decision of course rests with the department, and the department expresses the hopes that some satisfactory arrangement for the construction of the new range will result. This matter is being pursued with all diligence

THE MILK BY-LAW.

To the Editor of the Review

Sir,—Under this milk by-law soon to be enforced in our city, those who keep cows and sell their milk to their neighbors, will be prevented from doing so nay more. It will leave them liable to be fined for selling milk unless they sell it in sterilized bottles with air tight corks, &c., and if they cannot pay the fine, they will be liable to be imprisoned It is plain to be seen that the manufacturers of milk bottles and milk vendors' supplies are back in this whole business. They must be a demand created for their wares, even if it costs the people double the price for their milk The people are getting suspicious, Mr. Editor, that it is not the health of the people the promoters of these new-fangled schemes are after. It is their hard earned dollars they want

IMMIGRATION SCENES

Many Races Mingle in Station at Winnipeg—Pictures of Various Nationalities

There were two hundred new comers housed at the Winnipeg Immigration hall one evening a short time ago. They proceeded the next day to various points. The guests were of six or seven different nationalities French peasants of Alsace, Ruthenians, Poles, Hollanders, Russian Germans, and Germans. The rotunda of the C.P.R. was a place of many nations and several races. Within a radius of thirty feet were represented the white, yellow and black races. On one seat a big, pleasant-faced negro sat amid his luggage; a little way off, two Galicians, in their odd hats with beehive crowns and turned-up brims, nodded and gesticulated; and, on a bench facing these, were a row of Chinamen, cloth caps tilted forward over their braided and knotted queues, in their eyes a curious, blank look, like gawky schoolboys.

Five races were seen, cheek by jowl, on one short bench. At one end, a black haired Assyrian sat alone, his hat tilted forward, his hands in his pockets, and his legs stretched disconsolately out before him; before him an Alsatian wrote laboriously on a piece of note-paper spread on the back of the seat; next to him two Polanders talked animatedly; next these again a fat mulatto woman lolled sleepy eyed, her bundle in her lap; and, at the other end of the bench, a Swiss boy and girl sat side by side. Many stepped to look at the last two, for there were tears in the girl's eyes and the boy ceaselessly and tenderly pressed her hand, holding it against his cheek. "They are brother and sister," said the linguist from the Immigration offices, "family attachment was very strong among the Swiss."

DROWNED IN THE WEST

A Leaky Boat Responsible for the Death of W. Thompson

Mr. R. E. Young, superintendent of the Railway Lands branch of the Department of the Interior, has received word from Athabasca Landing, Alberta, of the drowning at Fort McMurray of William Thompson, a member of Frank P. Clean's exploring party. Thompson, who was only 20 years of age, was crossing the Athabasca River in a leaky boat, along with Crawford Gigot, another member of the party. The boat began to sink, and its occupants plunged into the water in an attempt to swim to the shore. Both Thompson and Gigot were poor swimmers. Thompson finally became exhausted and sank. Gigot was finally rescued by men who had witnessed the plight of the two men from the shore, and put out in a boat.

TONS OF MEAT

Bread, Pies, Butter, Coffee, Tea, Milk and Ice Cream Galore

There were four permanent restaurants, and 35 other lunch and refreshment booths on the Toronto Exhibition grounds. These supplied about 40,000 meals, at an average price of 33c., making the food bill paid by hungry sightseers some $13,200 a day. For the two weeks of the Fair, the public paid over $150,000.

How much food was eaten? Here is the estimated list, based on careful investigation:—

Meats, 100,000 lbs.
Bread, 98,000 loaves.
Pies, 80,000.
Butter, 20,000 lbs.
Coffee, 70,000 gals.
Tea, 60,000 gals.
Milk, 65,000 gals.

Of course, this does not include the countless sandwiches, rolls and other light refreshments eaten simply because they're offered for sale. Nor the thousands of bananas, peaches, pears and other fruits which were piled high on the stands, and disappeared as snow banks before a hot sun. To estimate these would need the ability of a Finance Minister at least. Then the ice cream cones. "You eat them as you walk along," said the man with the cast-iron lungs, and nearly everyone took his advice. With an attendance of 80,000 on one day, over 100,000 cones were handed over the counters of the different stands. At that rate nearly a million cones of ice cream found their way down the thirsty throats of Toronto's citizens during the two weeks.

Taken altogether, over $450,000 left the pockets of visitors at the Fair and found ther way into the tills and cash registers of the vendors. Quite a tidy sum.

COW LEADS THE WORLD

Remarkable Milk Production of a Cow in Eastern Canada

A two-year-old Ayrshire heifer, Milkmaid 7th, owned by McRae & Sons, East Royalty, P.E.I., has, in a test qualified with a milk production for the year of 11,696 lbs., having an average percentage of fat of over 4.4. This is said to be the world's record, the distinction having been formerly held by "Hazel of Sandhill," owned by Carr & Son, Almonte, N.Y. This animal in one year gave 11,078 lbs. of milk, thus the McRaes' heifer has a lead of 618 lbs.

The heifer Milkmaid 7th is remarkable for her persistency as a milker more than for any great flow of milk in any one day. Her largest record for a month was in September, 1910, when she gave 1,090 lbs. On the last day of her test (Aug. 7th) she gave 20 lbs. At the beginning of her test (Aug.8, 1910), she was two years, 295 days old. The Canadian record has been held by "Speck of Springbank," owned by A. S. Turner & Son, of Ryckman's Corners, Ont. She commenced her test on September 8, 1909, and was then two years, 319 days old; she gave in the year 10,353½ lbs. milk, with an average per cent. of fat of 4.29.

HUMOROUS CONFUSION

A humorous feature occurred at a recent banquet of the International Veterinary Association in Toronto in the response to the toasts to the King and to the President of the United States, which, according to the programme, were to have been followed by the singing of the National Anthem of each country. It happened, unfortunately, that there were not enough Canadians present to carry "God Save the King" to a success, and the American visitors for the most part remained silent during the attempt that was made. Then when the gathering stood to burst forth in "The Star-Spangled Banner," the orchestra, evidently of a strictly Canadian make-up, did not render the musical number expected, and chaos followed the second endeavor to do glory to country by song.

A "PEACE" BRIDGE

A "national committee on the celebration of 100 years of peace among English-speaking peoples" has been formed, with Andrew Carnegie as its executive chairman. Foremost among the propaganda of this powerful organization is the building of a monumental structure across Niagara River—one that will serve as an educator to all ages of the fact that English-speaking peoples are of the same blood, and that therefore, that hundred years of peace since the war of 1812 should be but the beginning of many centuries of amity.

NOTES FROM THE AIR

Snap-Shots About the Most Dangerous of All Sports

People go in for flying for a variety of reasons; but probably Lieut. F. Hetherington, of the 18th Hussars, who has just taken his certificate, is the first to fly for the sake of health.

Two of the competitors in the great flying race in Europe used a new motor called the Isaacson. Discussing its merits the other day at Brooklands one of the aviators remarked: "There is one thing about the Isaacson. Your aeroplane doesn't fly with its tail down; the nose is too heavy."

The futility of Mr. Churchill's Aeronautics Bill was exemplified recently by the flight of an aeroplane at a great height over the West End of London. Nobody—least of all the authorities—has the faintest notion who the culprit was. How is one ever to learn the identity of the airman who, starting from one of the aerodromes, circles London at a great height? Unless he is actually seen to make a landing it will be impossible to track him down, until the police are able to give chase in a biplane of their own. And that is not yet.

Lieut. H. E. Watkins, who is accompanying, Mr. Douglas Lawson to the South Pole in the capacity of aeroplane pilot, is practising on a specially constructed monoplane. The machine, with the exception of the chassis and skids, is built entirely of steel to withstand the rough treatment to which it will be put, and has been found extraordinarily steady in a gusty wind. The monoplane will be used for crossing crevasses and for mapping out the surrounding country, which, from a height of a few hundred feet, will be seen over a very large area.

Ballooning and flying are extraordinarily exhilarating—the former suitable for quite feeble invalids, and aviation rather for the robust man suffering from a lack of tone. Ask any flyer who has had to leave off flying—and in England there are a couple of dozen who having learned to fly cannot afford to run their own machine—and they will tell you that the effect of the deprivation is most depressing.—London Opinion.

GOOD MANNERS

It is the greatest mistake to think that manners are only for society, and are to be set aside with our outdoor garments when we come home. If manners are meant to hide the unsightly side of human nature, to clothe the nakedness which shocks our highly-cultivated sense of what is fitting, it is surely at home that this primitive aspect is most likely to obtrude, and it is just as shocking when displayed at our own fireside as to the world at large. If parents taught the sons of the house to be polite to their sisters, and if they themselves were polite to each other, there would be fewer unhappy homes. Boys often think that manners are only meant for girls, but they would be none the worse or less manly for knowing how to behave; while it the greatest help to a girl when she goes out in the world to be able to feel at ease in society, to enter and leave a room gracefully, and to find the right thing to say when her mother's friends speak to her.

Mildew

If linen is mildewed, rub the spots with brown soap, then apply a paste of chalk-and-water, and put the article in the sun. After two or three applications the mildew will be bleached out; the article should then be washed thoroughly all over.

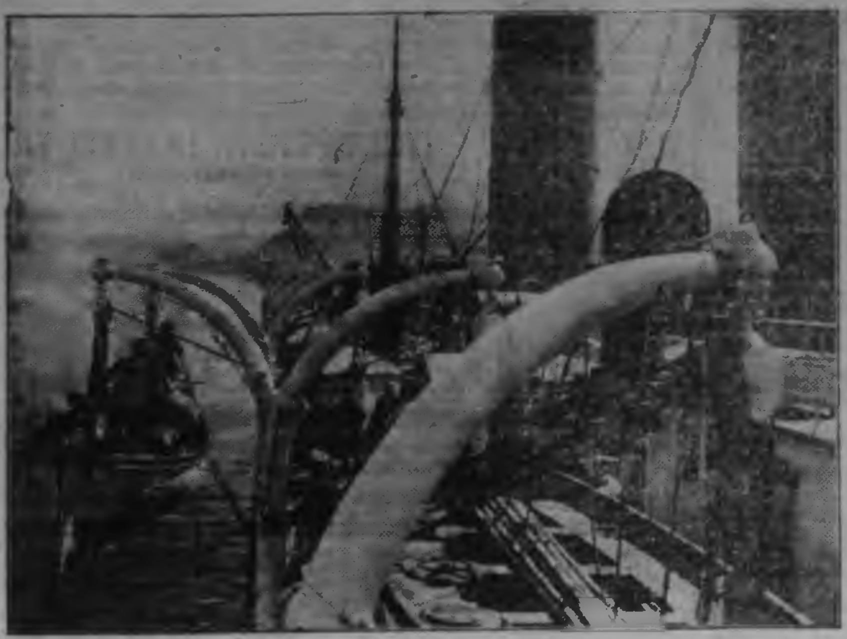
METHODS OF CANADIAN STEAMSHIP OWNERS TO SECURE SAFETY OF PASSENGERS

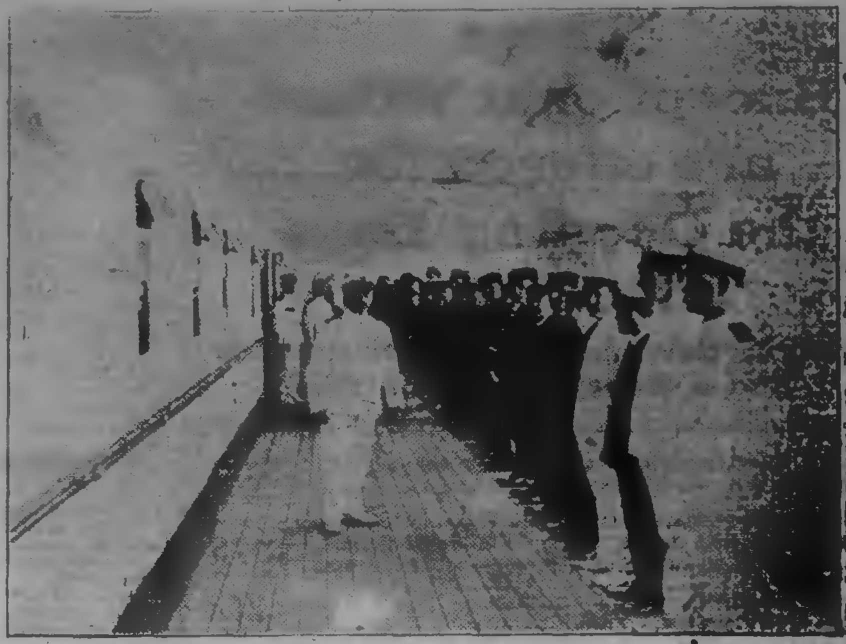
SAVING LIFE AT SEA.

BY WILLIAM P. BROWN.

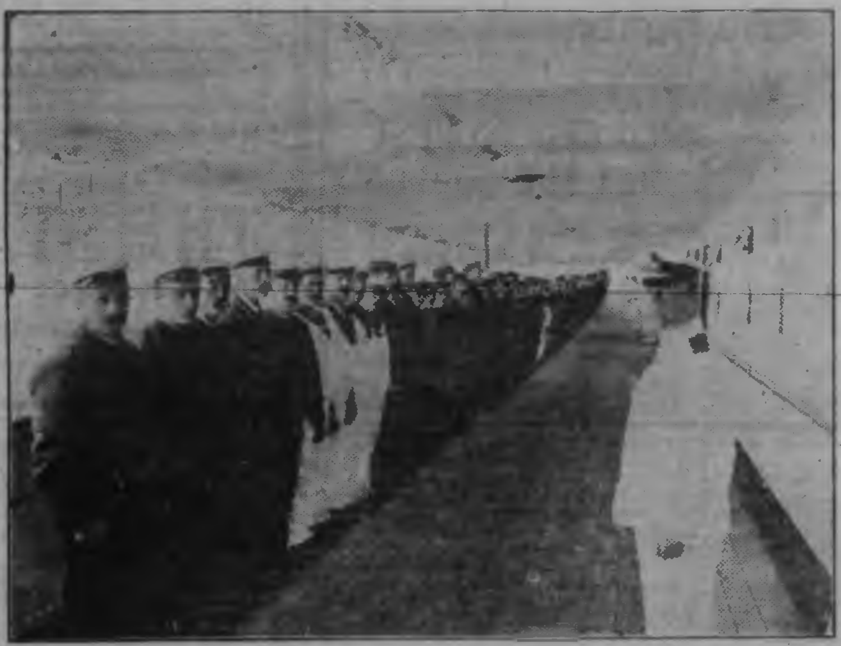


Lowering and Manning Life Boat.

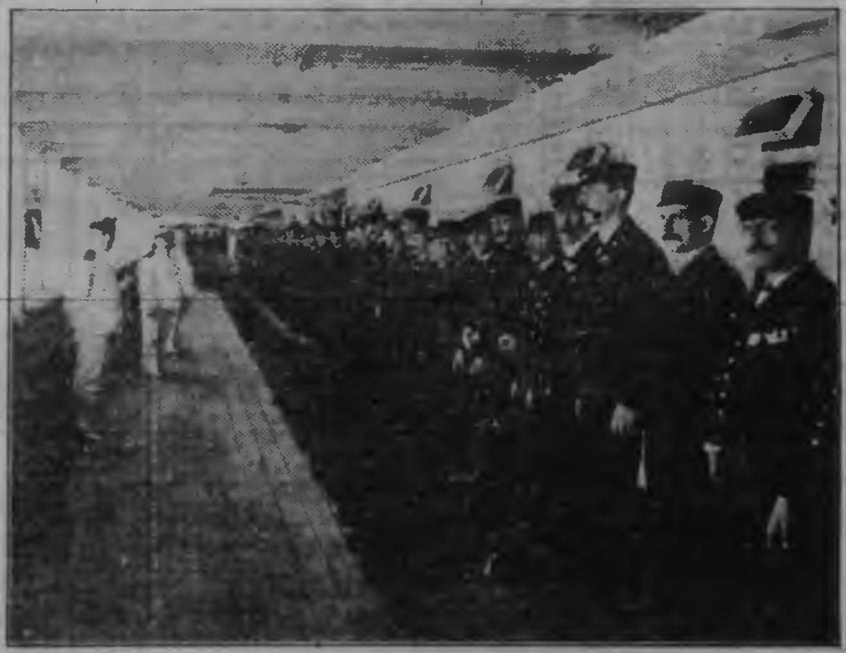
Empress Crew at Boat Stations.



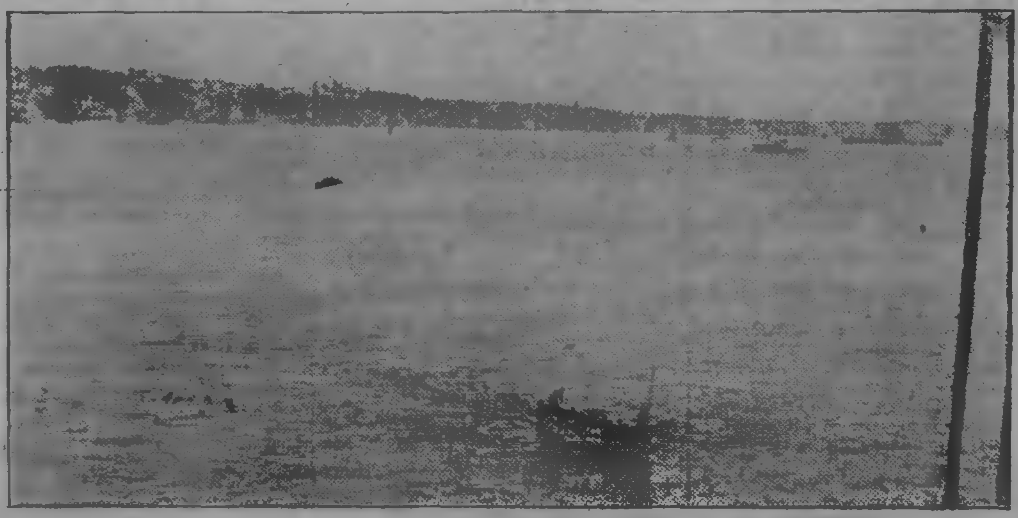
Commander Inspecting Steward's Crew.



Waiting for Inspection.



Deck Crew Mustered for Inspection.



Life Boat Returning to Ship.

In the following article the writer gives a vivid pen picture of the up-to-date methods taken by Canadian steamship owners to secure the safety of their passengers on the Great Lakes as well as on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. It has been well said that passengers in Canadian bottoms are as safe at sea as in their own homes. (Ed.)

In the old days on the high seas, the merchant ship could be distinguished from the man of war if by nothing else than the lack of discipline among the crew. Of course, there was a certain amount of discipline existing owing to the superiority of rank, but there was not that distinctive orderliness in the work of the crew which is now a noticeable part of almost every ship. Since the time when men first went down to the sea in ships, the science of seamanship has been developing, and one of the lessons learned is that discipline among the crew is all important. Go aboard a modern ocean steamship and you will see the crew handled on almost the same lines as on board a Dreadnought. This is the general rule with all the larger steamship companies, and especially is it so with British lines, who insist that their ships be run on almost military lines, for the protection of their passengers. In all cases, the matter has received particular attention, largely because some of the ships have been designed for use in case of war if necessary. Many of the ocean limits are so built, that with a few days' notice they can be fully equipped with guns and other fighting equipment. Being big, speedy boats, they could easily be made to be very formidable in time of war, and this along with the fact that the crews of the ships are largely composed of Royal Naval Reserve men has given their decks a martial air that has spread throughout the whole of the great merchant fleets. Go on board one of the C. P. R. Empresses as it leaves Quebec for Liverpool or across the three thousand miles of continent to the Pacific Coast and board the Empresses of India, Japan or China, and you will at once be struck with the general air of orderliness and discipline. Everything is "spic and span." There is a place for everything and everything is in its place. The decks are as clean as a ball room floor and untidyness is not tolerated. When an order is given there is no hesitation on the part of the crew before obeying the order. Every man understands just what is expected of him, and each man is drilled and instructed in his individual duties until the whole crew work together like a piece of well-oiled machinery. If such were not the case it would be practically impossible for the steamship companies to handle the large passenger traffic that they now do. Take for instance the Atlantic traffic that has developed between Liverpool and these shores. Practically every boat landing at St. John, Quebec and Montreal during the last three months has brought with it at least 1,600 passengers, and the safe handling of such a heavy traffic would be impossible were it not for the precautions taken to ensure that the crew is always ready to meet any emergency that may arise.

On board the same steamships these precautions take the form of drills among the crews, and by constant practise, a high state of efficiency has been attained among the men. Every Thursday afternoon, proceeding the sailing of a boat from either end of its route, general muster and inspection of the crew is held by the Commander and his staff. On the Atlantic ocean, most steamers "spend a week in port after each trip and as it takes approximately seven days to cross the "Big Water," it follows that these inspections and musters are held every three weeks. These inspections perform a threefold function. First of all, they ensure that the vessel will not sail from the port short-handed as during the inspection it is an easy matter to locate any missing men afterwards to promise substitutes. Then too, the commanding officers know that the ship is in good shape to receive her passengers and that everything is clean and in good order, and finally, it ensures that every man knows his proper place, and what to do in the event of any of the emergencies arising, which are incidental to a voyage at sea. This latter item is all important as without an individual knowledge of what is expected of him, a man cannot intellegently act in unison with the rest of the crew. Every possible accident that can be thought of is supposed to be taking place on board the ship and they are all ably met by various parts of the crew. Everything is done with the utmost regularity and accuracy. The drills are performed smartly and aptly and the whole crew which is composed of something over four hundred men takes part.

On board mail boats the inspections take place at two o'clock in the afternoons of the Thursday before sailing. With the ship's buglers in attendance the "General Assembly" is sounded and the whole of the ship's company fall in for inspection on the upper promenade deck. The several departments of the deck, engine room, and stewards, fall in their appointed places, all arranged according to rank. Everyone of the crew, including even the twelve stewardesses, must be present, with uniform neat and tidy and with his boat badge which indicates his exact position on the life boat to which he would be assigned in the event of its being necessary to leave the ship. The importance of the part played by these badge numbers in the boat drills can be readily understood as it is essential that in the bustle and confusion attending a hurried departure from the ship that no time shall be lost owing to a lack of knowledge as to just where each man is expected to be at a given moment, after the signal to leave the ships has been given. With each man having his own distinctive number corresponding with a placo in a boat, he knows at once just what is expected of him and as a result much valuable time is saved.

After the Commander has inspected the crew, they all march past him in order, and then to the sound of the bugle they fall in in their proper order around the life boats in the positions indicated by their badges. One life boat, which is picked out without notice, is then swung out, lowered into the water, and the crews start off on a short criuse around the ship. Each man is provided with a life preserver and these they fit on in quick order. Finally the crews return to the ship and the boats are hoisted back into place. By picking the boat which is to take part in these exercises indiscriminately, it provides that all the crews will be ready to perform their duties when called upon. The men are very keen on this part of the drill and there is considerable rivalry among the various crews as to which will do the work in the shortest possible time, and at the same time in a smart and seamanlike manner.

While this boat is being lowered into the water and put on board again, another portion of the crew is told off to lower the collision mat to cover an imaginary hole in the hull of the ship. The position of this imaginary hole is determined by the Commander, and a different part of the ship is designated each time so that the men learn how to handle the mat under all sorts of difficulties. For the spectator this is one of the most interesting of the many drills. The crew take a mat of heavy canvas, pass it over the bow of the boat and then pull it along until it covers the imaginary hole, and is then made fast. The mat being held up tight, against the side of the vessel [illegible] the heavy rush of water and prevents the vessel floundering while a more secure patch is being put on from the inside. This operation is completed in a wonderfully short time considering the difficulties to be overcome.

Then comes the spectacular feature of the inspection. After the boat drill, the fire alarm is sounded, and on the instant each man of the crew springs to his special station. The fire hose at the particular point indicated is put into service, and soon a number of heavy streams of water playing into the waters around the ship. A certain portion of the stewards of the crew are told off to carry buckets and blankets for use in smothering the fire, and a number of others are told off to attend to the provisioning of the boats in case the fire should go in such a hold that it would be necessary to leave the ship, and take to the life boats. All details are carefully considered, nothing is left to chance and as a result so systematic is the drill that an observer is led to aver that such organization would make short work of a fire, should one break out during a voyage. Every man of the crew, except those engagd in running the boat at the time has some duty to fulfill in case of fire, and by these practises he is taught to do it thoroughly and effectively.

After fire drill is completed and the Commander and his various officers see that everybody understands their position and their duties in the event of these emergencies arising, the passenger quarters of the vessel, are then carefully inspected in detail, in order to see that the rooms are clean and tidy, beds properly made, electric bells, lights, fans, etc., all in proper working order. In the course of this part of the inspection the watertight doors, which divide the vessels into compartments, with a view to confining leakage to one small section, are closed and opened by signal to show that they are not only in proper working order but that the men whose duty it is to attend to these matters, are in their stations and understand the signals, when they are given. Every hole and corner of the ship is carefully gone over, from the first class dining saloon to the steerage lavatories and hospitals.

These emergency drills and the inspection usually occupy from one and a half to two hour's time, and if everything is found to be satisfactory, the men are generally rewarded with a half holiday. This is not only much appreciated by the men, but has a tendency to keep them up to the mark in carrying out these requirements of the company.

CANADA'S NAVY

How to Tell a Naval Officer's Rank.

Two stripes indicate a lieutenant, an engineer-lieutenant, a surgon, or a paymaster — always having regard to the gold circle on the uppermost stripe for the lieutenant, or the purple, red, or white cloth between the stripes, and no circle, for the other branches. Three stripes, of which the middle one is only half the thickness of the other two, indicate a senior lieutenant or senior engineer, a staff-surgon, or a staff-paymaster; while three stripes all of the same thickness denote a commander, a fleet-surgeon, or a fleet-paymaster.

A captain has four stripes. Officers of admiral's rank have always one broad gold stripe nearest the cuff, and from one to four thinner gold stripes above it. Thus, a rear-admiral has the broad stripe and one stripe above it; a vice-admiral has two above, an admiral has three, while an admiral of the fleet — of whom there are only five on the active list, one of whom is King George — has four. An admiral always wears aiguillettes, as do the officers on his staff, such as his flag-lieutenant or his secretary.

Midshipmen have no stripes, as they are not commissioned officers; but they have a small square of white cloth on the front of the collars of their coats.

Further census returns show that there are 1,178,317 females in excess of males in Great Britain. The figures however, would be greatly reduced if the soldiers and sailors abroad were counted. Females continue to increase faster than males, as they have consistently since 1821.

Life wouldn't be so uncertain if it wasn't for the sure things.

ELEPHANT HUNTING.

Took Only Half an Hour to Shoot $2,500 Worth of Ivory.

W. Buckley, the great English elephant shot, in talking of his favorite game says:

"There are three curious things about the elephant.

"First, although he is the biggest animal in the world, he is the hardest to see, for he is the same color as the forest.

"Second, for all his vast area there is little more than a square foot of him that is vulnerable to a bullet.

"Third, all elephants are "left handed," as is proved by the fact that the left tusk is always shorter, being worn away with work.

"My biggest bag of elephants in one day was ten, but the most profitable was a day when I shot eight, and their tusks weighed 766 pounds. It took me half an hour to shoot them, and the ivory was worth $2,500. Of course that was an exceptionally good day.

"The tusks of the biggest elephant weighed 282 pounds —the right tusk 147 pounds, the left 135 pounds.

"The elephant is a very blind animal. From tests carried out he cannot see further than 170 yards, but he can scent a man for half a mile, and can distinguish between a white man and a black man. When he charges he always makes for the white man."

A Portrait of Cerbantes found

What is believed to be an authentic portrait of Cerbantes, painted by Juan De Jauregin, has been found at Niéco. It is a panel, and is dated 1600. The features are quite different from those of tho familiar picture of the Spanish writer.

ROYAL TASTES IN DRESS.

Kaiserin dresses more fashionable than Queen Mary.

It was noticeable during the visit of the German royalties to London that the Kaiserin did not share the prejudices of Queen Mary in regard to certain styles. The two ladies drove everywhere together and always Queen Mary wore the modest little toques of which she approves, while the German Empress favored large and much plumed headgear of the sort which Queen Mary has declared against.

Princess Victoria also revelled in large hats and even wore fairly tight skirts, not of the hobble variety but much skimpier and more clinging than those England's Queen considers suitable for court wear. One good old fashion all three ladies clung to, and that was a pocket in place of the bag which women carry nowadays.

Queen Mary always has capacious pockets in her skirts and underskirts, even her coronation gown had a pocket concealed in the panel down the front, and it was noted that the German Empress and her daughter dived down into a side recess of their skirts when they sought handkerchiefs, small change, etc., during their expeditions around London.

Opium Trafic to End in 1917.

The Chino-British agreement provides for gradual extinction of opium culture and traffic in both China and India, to become complete in 1917.

Sheftet Pasha has issud a proclamation promising amnesty to the Albanian revolters if they will lay down their arms within ten days.

FORESTRY IN JAPAN.

Authorities Believe in Conservation—Been planting for 1200 years.

Japan has longer than any other country practiced technical forestry. With extraordinary skill and absolute success the authorities have for 1,200 years planted and cared for the forest trees. "The results," writes a correspondent, "have been really wonderful, for through the extremely sedulous management and the knowledge of skill by degrees attained the financial gains have been very large, indeed. Not a twig is ever wasted. The trees are regarded as almost sacred property, and not a particle of any one of them is regarded as rubbish, so close is the utilization. Thinning and all departments of arboreal culture are very carefully conducted. At the end of 13 years from planting a wood lot is thinned by experts, and then every five years the process is repeated for 120 years, the average period of the cultivation of a set of trees.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Lula Westlake Haines, who met her sad death by drowning in Mortimer Lake, Cavendish, Saturday, Sept. 23, at 12 o'clock.

One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is stilled;
The place made vacant in our home,
Can never more be filled.

Our Father in His wisdom called,
The boon His love had given;
And though in earth the body lies
The soul is safe in Heaven.

Children Burned to Death.

Indian, Pa., Oct. 3.—Eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Dias, of Heshbon, near here, ranging in age from thirteen years to three months, were burned to death early Sunday, when fire destroyed the family home.

The parents, after discovering the flames, left the children in their beds and went to the first floor, where they made an attempt to extinguish the fire.

The blaze spread rapidly, however, and they were unable to return to rescue the little ones.

ITALIANS LAND AT TRIPOLI; THE FORTS ARE IN RUINS AND THE CITY DESERTED

THE TURKISH FLEET REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN CAPTURED OR SUNK IN GREAT NAVAL BATTLE OFF MITYLENE

ITALIANS REPULSED IN ATTEMPT TO FORCE LANDING AT PREVESA

Details of the Bombardment of Tripoli—City Population Takes to the Desert—Cruiser is Reported as Having Been Blown up by a Mine.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW.

Rome, Oct. 5.—Confirmation has been received of the news of the landing of the Italians at Tripoli, after the bombardment. In the ruins of the outer batteries, three dead artillerymen were found, and the forts were deserted, and the city practically so. The landing was made without any opposition. The Turks of the garrison and the inhabitants of the city have withdrawn into the interior.

ITALIAN CRUISER SUNK AT TRIPOLI

London, Oct. 5.—A Constantinople dispatch says that the Italian cruiser Cavour was sunk by a mine in the Tripoli harbor. The Italians are reported to have bombarded and to have occupied Mitylene.

TURKISH FLEET SAID TO BE CAPTURED

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—The Turkish fleet is reported to have been captured or destroyed in a great naval battle off Mitylene. Dispatches are very meagre, but the report is given considerable credence here.

ITALIANS DRIVEN OFF AT PREVESA

London, Oct. 5.—According to dispatches received here, in attempting to land at Prevesa the Italians suffered the first reverse of the war, being driven off with the loss of fifteen men.

Djerba, Tunis, Oct. 5.—Tripoli has been bombarded twice by the Italian fleet. The first shot was fired shortly after three o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Shelling was resumed early yesterday morning after a quiet night.

There was a steady but slow fire from the warships until dusk Tuesday evening, and shots also came from the forts in the town.

The French steamer Tafana took a delegation from Djerba out to the scene of hostilities. Among the party was the French consul-general, M. Leon, who made several unsuccessful attempts to land. The Tafana was stopped by the cruiser Varase when about two miles from shore. She was ordered to return, but she remained for more than an hour, even creeping in closer to the blockaded town.

From the distance the white buildings of Tripoli could be plainly seen and the whole field of operations was unfolded before the eyes of the watchers. The officers of the Varase kindly explained that the battle had been delayed because Admiral Augrey, commander of the Italian fleet, had received a request from the Tripoli garrison for another day of grace after the expiration of the three days' notice to surrender. The admiral gave the garrison a few extra hours.

The battleship Benedetto Brin and the armored cruisers Giuseppe Garibaldi and Francesco Ferrucio drew up in line opposite the harbor. There were no small craft in the battle line and the Varase stood off to keep back intruders.

There was no sign of life in the city, which appeared as though deserted, but the Turkish flag flew from the castle and forts. The first shots were directed toward Charchatti fort, and later Kerkereche fort was shelled.

No sooner did the first shells burst over Tripoli than the garrison seemed to awake. It returned the fire with vigor and energy. A heavy cannonade was kept up on both sides for a few minutes, and then firing became desultory. So far as could be seen no warship was hit.

Vice-Admiral Faravelli, at 4 o'clock, ordered his ships to cease firing to permit the town to surrender, but no sign of surrender was given, and after the lapse of a few minutes, the ships began again. This time great havoc was wrought.

Fortifications were rased to the ground, the forts suffered severely, the lighthouse to the northwest was destroyed by shells from the Garibaldi. There was no means of knowing what the loss of life was in Tripoli—But ample opportunity was given to the defenders to escape.

When the Tafana left the scene of operations, no landing had been attempted on the part of the Italians and it was feared that during the night the town would be pillaged by nomad Arabs, who had been hovering in the vicinity for some days. The admiral knew of the hasty removal of arms and ammunition into the interior.

Again, at an early hour yesterday morning, the first division of the Italian fleet under Admiral Faravelli, resumed the bombardment. The Turkish garrison still occupied a position behind the forts and responded with a few shells, which fell short.

Rome, Oct. 5.—The bombardment of Tripoli was resumed yesterday morning with the object of completing the destruction of the batteries. Up to six o'clock last evening no official confirmation of the surrender of Tripoli could be obtained.

London, Oct. 5.—A Rome despatch from Tripoli says that it is believed that the garrison has suffered very heavy losses and that the governor is wounded. It appears that even after the demolition of the forts the Turkish gunners continued to serve such guns as were available.

It became necessary for the war ships to train their guns upon the ruins. Several private houses were destroyed by fire, but none were struck by shells. The town has been entirely deserted by the inhabitants.

Deadlock at Sublime Porte.

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—Political difficulties within the capital are multiplying and it seems impossible to form a Cabinet. Members of the committee of union and progress are unwilling to take office, as they do not wish to assume responsibility for recent events, while the elder statesmen refuse to undertake the task of Government unless the committee retires from the field and dissolves.

A deadlock practically has been reached, and the only solution to serve the best interests of the country is held to be dissolution of the committee and the ending of the war without delay on the best terms that can be obtained.

The note says, "This is the end of a dope fiend."

RELIGIOUS TEACHING IN SCHOOLS

According to information in the Orange Sentinel, Hon. Dr. Pyne has made a change in the public school regulations with regard to religious teaching that may go a long way toward the removing of the cause of complaint in many school sections that the schools were being made a medium for the teaching of the Roman Catholic faith to both Roman Catholic and Protestant children. The regulations have given to any church the power to appoint an agent to conduct religious teaching once a week, after school hours. Under the new regulation, this power of appointing an agent has been done away with, and if there is to be religious teaching, it must be done by the clergy themselves

This means that where the teacher in a public school section is a Roman Catholic, that she may not conduct religious teaching even for the Roman Catholic children after hours, but the priest himself must conduct it, if it is to be done. So that in the rural schools where this may be done, the parents of the Protestant children attending are given the responsibility of seeing that their children do not attend. The elimination of the regular teacher as a factor in the religious instruction is a great step towards preventing any possible abuse of the powers given by the regulations for the religious instruction of the children.

PINKERTON COUNSEL TELLS OF RUSSELL'S ECCENTRICITIES

Russell's Former Secretary on the Stand to Tell of Russell's Idea He was Being Plotted Against—An Interesting Trial.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—An outline of the case for the defence in the now famous Russell suit against the Pinkertons was given by Mr. Geoffrion yesterday when he showed that the efforts of counsel for the Pinkertons were directed towards proving that there had been sufficient eccentricity in Mr. Russell's actions to justify his friends in taking the steps they had and in seriously discussing his sanity. These steps, he claimed, were not to have Mr. Russell incarcerated in an asylum, as the plaintiff alleged, but merely to have him examined as to his mental condition.

In support of this the main witness called was Siegfried Bush, Mr. Russell's ex-secretary, who stated that on various trips with Mr. Russell, the latter seemed to have been under the impression that he was being plotted against and that he was continuously talking about plots against him and taking all sorts of precautions to avoid being poisoned or knocked on the head.

Chief Carpenter was on the stand nearly all day, his evidence occupying almost the entire afternoon session. Mr. Greenshields, whom Mr. Russell suspected of being behind the series of alleged plots, on account of a million-dollar land suit which Mr. Russell has against him, was on the stand in the morning and denied all connection with the case.

The testimony of Chief Carpenter and of Detective Gorman, who was also on the stand, cleared up somewhat the question of the mysterious telegrams produced at the opening of the trial. The telegrams referring to the revolver and taking "the bullets from the gun," addressed to "G." were in reference to the gun given Russell by Carpenter and were sent to Detective Gorman, who was sleeping near Mr. Russell's room to protect him against supposed conspirators after Chief Carpenter had been brought to believe that Russell was mentally deranged.

Should Pay Wives.

London, Oct. 5.—That husbands should pay wages to their wives is the newest proposition submitted to the Yorkshire Women's Liberal Association.

Many women made bitter complaint at a meeting of the association that wives do not even know how much their husbands earn. These women said that in the marriage service husbands promised to endow their wives with all their worldly goods, yet fail to do so and do not intend to do so while they are promising to.

A delegate at the meeting proposed to substitute in the marriage service the words, "the husband shall render unto the wife due benevolence and also the wife unto the husband." The delegates generally agreed that wives should be paid. The association will ask Parliament to make a law providing how a wife's wages shall be fixed and set aside by her husband.

SOCIAL REVOLT IS AGAINST PRIVILEGE, THE FOE OF SERVICE

Rev. Henry Haigh Makes Striking Address at the Ecumenical Conference—Address of Liberalism.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—It was really a thanksgiving service at the Metropolitan Church yesterday when the fourth Ecumenical Methodist Conference opened its first session. There were thanksgiving and praise on the one hand, and prayer and exhortation for greater efficiency on the other. One might almost have said that a Wesleyan revival had burst over the gathering of all peoples from all climes. Never was the note of unity more definitely struck in Methodism, and at the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, when people from the four quarters of the globe, from the islands of the sea and the Orient gathered around the rail.

Rev. Henry Haigh, president of the Wesleyan Conference, gave the lesson. It was the story of the harvest; the harvest was ready. The sermon was a call to work, it breathed liberalism and toleration. Criticism was the spirit of seeking for truth. The preacher called for greater brotherhood among mankind, and said the revolt against the social system was against privilege that was separate from character and service. Co-operation must supplant competition, and the church must show wider sympathies.

Fittingly, the afternoon service was a manifestation of the spirit of brotherhood. The delegates were welcomed by four representatives of different branches of the church in America, and four from Great Britain replied. Rev. Dr. Briggs was first, and in well-chosen words he bade the visitors welcome, and told them in picturesque fashion of the country they had come to. The speakers for the southern conferences paid tribute to the memory and worth of Britain's great Queen, and Sir Robert Perks spoke glowingly of the present ruler of the Empire. The conference was advised to get down to work. The delegates had not traveled far for nothing, and a plea was made by Mr. R. W. Essex for consideration of spiritual rather than material things. "Let us deal with the 'mystical—the spiritual,'" he said.

Now that the conference has organzied and opened its sessions, hard discussions will follow. To-day will be devoted to Ecumenical Methodism.

Will Join Royal Navy.

London, Oct. 5.—Pursuant to the policy decided upon at the Imperial Conference, the following Canadian officers have been appointed to the flagship Dreadnought: Acting Instructor Allen, and Midshipmen Nelles, German, Bird, Barrow, Dale and Brodeur.

McBride Will Stay.

DUKE'S HORSES, MOTOR CARS AND PARAPHERNALIA READY

Connaught's Sailing To-morrow by the Empress of Ireland For Canada.

London, Oct. 5. Elaborate preparations have been made for the sailing of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, to take up their residence in Canada, on Friday of this week.

Special arrangements to ensure their comfort and convenience while on board the Empress of Ireland have been made. The entire alley on the chief deck has been reserved for the exclusive use of the royal party and suite. The royal party will, however, dine in the general dining saloon.

King George has ordered that the royal standard shall be flown from the Empress of Ireland at the moment of the duke's arrival on the ship.

Enormous quantities of luggage have already been moved forward to Liverpool, including the duke's own horses and equipment and his motor cars.

Woman Was Pardoned.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Responding to a woman's appeal for immediate release or the privilege of remaining in jail several months after her sentence expires in order to escape the hardships which surely would follow the termination of her imprisonment in the dead of winter in Alaska, President Taft has pardoned Lottie Burns, convicted at Nome of selling liquor without a license. Her sentence of one year would have expired in February, but she will be released at once with the opportunity to gather food and fuel for the winter.

Government Dredge Adrift.

Halifax, Oct. 5.—The Government dredge New Brunswick is adrift in the Bay of Fundy, if not sunk to the bottom or piled upon the coast. She was abandoned yesterday afternoon while being towed from Digby, N.S., to this port. Three tugs left Digby with her early yesterday and ran into a very heavy southwester. In the afternoon they found it impossible in the great seas to make port and the crew of the dredge was taken off. The tugs came here. The dredge is said to be worth $35,000.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

WALLS FELL IN

Italian While at Work in Sewer Was Asphyxiated

Campbellford, Oct. 4.—An Italian who was working in a sewer along the line of the Trent canal near Grand Road at the south end of the town, met with a horrible death yesterday morning about 8 o'clock. The sewer was about ten feet deep and the sides caved in, causing death by asphyxiation. Immediate help was given and he was soon taken out, but nothing could be done owing to the presence of sand and foreign particles in the lungs. He died shortly after he was taken out of the trench.

Another Robbery.

Hamilton, Oct. 5.—Another mysterious robbery, involving the sum of $450, has been put up to the local police for solution.

John McDonough, 133 Young street, is the loser of the sum mentioned. Preparatory to removing to Chicago, McDonough had sold his furniture, and while it was being taken away from the Young street house yesterday morning, under the supervision of Mrs. McDonough, the money disappeared.

The money was at first thought to have been misplaced, but when it could not be found after diligent search, the police were notified, and Sergt. Bainbridge, with Constables Blakely, Herkimer and Holland, were sent to the house to investigate the matter.

The officers were unable to find any trace of the money, and after carefully enquiring into the circumstances, it was decided to arrest a man named Cohen, who had been employed to remove the furniture from the house. Cohen maintains his innocence, and no clue to the whereabouts of the money has been obtained.

Elections Were Peaceful.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Assurances from American consuls throughout Mexico, the latest coming yesterday from Monterey, that the Mexican Presidential and vice-presidential elections were characterized by the utmost good order and feeling, make the officials very skeptical as to the accuracy of the report that Gen. Reyes is about to head another junta at San Antonio, Texas, to foment a revolutionary movement against Madero when he assumes office.

The department has no word from any of its agents of any such project, but the Department of Justice and the War Department are fully prepared to enforce the neutrality laws with the utmost vigor, if any attempt is made to hatch a revolution on Texas soil.

EARL GREY DEALS WITH THE GREAT PROBLEM OF RACIALISM

Pays Compliment to the French Loyalty in Quebec — Cannot Attain Ascendancy.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—His Excellency Earl Grey was tendered a banquet at the Windsor Hotel last night by the leading citizens of Montreal. Some 500 business and professional men attended. The most notable speech of the evening was made by the guest of honor, who on rising to respond to the toast to himself was received with rounds of applause.

He paid a compliment to the Canadians of French descent, so largely in the majority in this province.

"It will be vain for the minority of French descent, should they even desire to do so, to dream of ever establishing a racial ascendancy on this side of the Atlantic; but it is equally obvious that the right they possess to regulate their own development, unchecked by any outside interference, a right which will be enjoyed by the Province of Quebec and by every self-governing portion of the British Empire, so long as the British Empire endures, will always be respected," he said.

"As Governor-General I have no politics. I am the constitutional mouthpiece of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and of Mr. R. L. Borden the next. But as Governor-General I have a standing quarrel with anyone whose policy it is to stir up racial differences."

The speaker added that he regarded the inhabitants of the Province of Quebec as the most loyal subjects of the crown.

Steamer Burned at Sea.

Batavia, Dutch East Indies, Oct. 5.—The Dutch steamer Izion, bound from this port for Liverpool, has been destroyed by fire near Engano, an island off the west coast of Sumatra.

The steamer's crew, numbering 25, took to the boats, but have not yet been reported as having landed on any point off the Sumatra coast.

LAURIER WILL RESIGN TO-MORROW

Cabinet Slate Will be Announced in a Few Days

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—The Laurier Cabinet sat till a late hour last night and will resign to-day or to-morrow, if Earl Grey is back from Montreal in time. Mr. Borden will in all likelihood be sent for Friday afternoon, but will announce his Cabinet several days after that.

The announcement when made will break every slate that has been made to date. At least half a dozen of the men now prominently mentioned for portfolios will not get them. It appears to be assured that the militia portfolio will go to a civilian.

Hector McInnes, K.C., of Halifax, and W. T. White of Toronto, who arrived yesterday and were in conference with Mr. Borden, are regarded as sure for the justice and finance portfolios.

Catarrhal Deafness

Successfully Treated By Catarrhozone

Deafness is not so common as blindness, yet thousands are more or less afflicted by it, and their comfort seriously interfered with.

Catarrhal deafness manifests itself but slowly, yet it must be acknowledged that the great majority of those who become totally deaf might have averted this unfortunate condition if they had treated the catarrhal inflammation at its beginning.

The only remedy that can be safely employed for all forms of catarrhal deafness is Catarrhozone. You simply charge the air you breathe with this healing, soothing agent, and by forcing it gently through the ears destroy the germ life which keeps up the inflammation, and at the same time by the soothing healing action it heals the inflamed surfaces of the middle ear.

CATARRHOZONE, to those who are just a little deaf, and are growing increasingly deaf, is an agent capable of affording the utmost satisfaction, and its use is attended without danger, and as the treatment can be carried on at home no person threatened with the affliction of deafness should postpone one moment in beginning its use.

From every part of the Dominion glowing accounts of the beneficial action it exerts upon catarrhal conditions of the middle ear have been sent in, and you will be resorting to the only method of cure, and the simplest method too, if you try Catarrhozone. Dealers everywhere sell it, 25c, 50c, and $1.00. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, OCT. 5, 1911.

A PETERBORO' SENATORSHIP

After the rush of the business of forming a new government, getting the machinery to run smoothly, and the first session disposed of, Mr. Borden will probably be able to settle down to a calm survey of the political field. When the big matters of the day are being adjusted and handled by the proper department and authority, the question of the disposal of the senate will undoubtedly come up.

While in opposition Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed himself repeatedly in favor of the abolition of the senate, as a superfluous and useless body. When he got into power, Sir Wilfrid Laurier not only failed to "reform" the senate, but in the course of fifteen years made it as strongly Liberal as it was Conservative when he took office. We do not know whether Mr. Borden will continue the senate as at present, filling the vacancies as they occur, in accordance with the time-honored policy of rewarding those who have worked hard for the party and are of sufficient calibre, with senatorships. If the policy of appointing to senatorships those who have been prominent in the support of the Conservative cause is maintained, The Review submits that Peterborough is entitled to a senatorship. It is years and years almost beyond memory, since Peterborough has had more than her representative in parliament. As the centre of a big district, which can be counted on as strongly Bordenite, Peterborough should be entitled from every viewpoint, to this recognition. There is no one in Peterborough who has done more for the Conservative cause, whose labors have extended through long years of parliamentary strife, and also in private life, than Mr. James Kendry. The appointment of Mr. Kendry to a senatorship would be very pleasing to all the loyal supporters of the Borden government in this district, as an honor fully deserved and well placed. Let us keep this in mind, and when the proper time comes, see that Mr. Kendry's long and active political service in the cause is fittingly urged on Mr. Borden's attention.

"KIDDING" BILLY MACLEAN

The Toronto Star and the Toronto World have considerable fun with each other, but the latest piece of "kidding" by the Star as to what Billy Maclean would do if he were minister of agriculture is really rich, and worth while reproducing. If the Globe could only forget itself for a while and come out of the gloom and imitate the Star's philosophical attitude, readers of the Globe would not have to shake themselves after reading it, to get rid of the depressing sensation. The Star says:

Several Conservative newspapers seem to expect that Mr. W. F. Maclean M.P., will be made Minister of Agriculture in Mr. Borden's Cabinet.

There may be something in it. Mr. Maclean's newspaper has been comporting itself since the elections with a dignity altogether new to it. The propriety of its recent conduct is extremely significent. That the World has something on its mind, which may be a portfolio, or which may develop into one, all the symptoms indicate. No other diagnosis is possible.

It has pleasant words for everybody. It [illegible] for Sir James Whitney, for Hon. Frank Cochrane, for Hon. Robert Rogers, for Mr. Perley, for all those who may be future colleagues of Mr. Maclean, or who may help Mr Maclean to be a future colleague of theirs. Never before had the World the kindly beaming eye, the expectant smile, the gentle word, which distinguish it now and impart to its face a homely attractiveness more pleasing than mere beauty could ever be.

If Mr. Maclean becomes Minister of Agriculture we may confidently expect the industry of farming to be energized. Many men have left the farm: Mr. Maclean went to it. Some men are born farmers; Mr. Maclean became one from choice, and we submit that a man may be a sounder, a more convinced farmer, if his intellect led him to adopt the industry, than if he had become one merely because the stork dropped him down a farmhouse chimney in his helpless infancy.

There is a great deal that Mr. Maclean would do for agriculture that your born farmer would not even think of it. It was said that Dr. Montague, when Minister of Agriculture, was attempting an experiment which failed owing to the defeat of the Conservative Ministry in 1896. They said that he was of the opinion that by crossing the Cochin China hen with the jack-rabbit a breed of fowl could be raised which would lay fur-covered eggs specially suited to the severities of our northern climate. It must be confessed that for fifteen years under a Liberal Administration all such experiments have been neglected.

If Mr. Maclean takes hold of the department we may fairly expect that human ingenuity will again be applied to all such promising problems. For instance, we may expect to see the milking machine come into general use. Its possibilities he would be sure to test. Already he is on record as advocating the application of electricity to the operation of the milking machine. If the cows of Ontario could be milked by electricity instead of by steam, the saving in coal alone would as he says, be an important item. Nor is there anything impossible in his claim that cows can be called from the most distant pasture by wireless. So many things have come to pass which were, a generation ago, considered impossible, that no sensible man should say that any of these things which Mr Maclean advocates are impossible. They may have other things wrong with them, but not that.

When he is Minister of Agriculture Mr Maclean will see that every farm house has a telephone, a railway station of its own, and that each township owns enough steam plows to do all the plowing required in the municipality. There shall be free rural postal delivery on every concession and sideline, but the great revolution will be caused by electricity, which will do nearly all the work now done clumsily by horses. If a field is not producing a good crop Hon. Mr. Maclean will teach the farmer how to bring out his syringe and give the soil an electric injection which will delight and astonish it into luxuriant fertility. He will show the farmer how every barbed wire on a fence should be used by a farmer in telephoning to his hired men, while grafting—how little our agriculturists as yet know about this—any kind of tree can be made to grow apples, peaches, but more especially plums.

Much of the discontent which now exists on the farm will, no doubt, be removed if Mr. Maclean is made Minister of Agriculture. His idea that the farm should appeal to the aesthetic taste is a sound one. It is true that unsightly stumps disfigure many a rural scene, and it cannot be denied that if the tops of these stumps were hollowed out, filled with earth, and planted with some flowering vine, the result in summer would be pleasing to the eye of automobilists.

However, if Mr. Maclean gets his portfolio, time will show which of his ideas are sound and which visionary.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Labrador is said to be a richer gold field than the Klondyke. And will Labrador have its Service also?

The selection of Calgary for the C.P.R. shops has been made, and this fine western city, will receive a great impetus industrially. The decision means a great deal to Calgary, and there is little doubt but that it will be the Winnipeg of the far West.

The Turkish secretary of state says that the Turks will fight Italy to the last man. According to the reports of flying warships, it would be well for the secretary to say that Turkey would fight to the last warship. The men don't count very much in this case.

The West will be given increased representation in the Borden cabinet, having three portfolios. Mr. Borden will do well to recognize the growing importance of the west. In fact, if the Conservatives can hold Ontario as strongly as at present, and gain strength in the west, with the increased representation, they have little to fear from Quebec, or the Maritime provinces, as the latter will probably continue to give a Liberal majority for years. It is the west which is the rising star on the political horizon.

The attention of the Review as well as of others has been called to the fact that Mr. Stratton has stored half a dozen vehicles, belonging to his horse show turnouts that have given Peterborough such fine advertisement, in one end of the armory building. The vehicles have been stored there for a week or more, and though they are not at present particularly in the way, yet Mr. Stratton, by using a public building for private purposes, does not do justice to the wisdom and foresight which he possesses.

The western provinces now have thirty-five members, and under redistribution will be entitled to about seventy. Twenty more years at this rate of growth will make the west the dominating factor in Canadian politics. But the big Ontario cities are just as much entitled to representation by population as the rural constituencies. Toronto, for instance, instead of having five members is entitled to thirteen or fourteen. Hamilton and Ottawa are entitled to three each. Even Peterborough will be entitled to a member all to itself when it reaches about the 30,000 mark, for, it is not likely that the standard of population will change materially owing to Quebec remaining stationary in the matter of population.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. Half a century ago, before Confederation, they were on sale in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Rheumatism and Kidney and Liver Troubles. To-day they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better has yet been devised to

Cure Common Ills

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Kindness Pays

Kindness pays. This is not the best reason for practising it, but nothing is more certain than that it is true The cow beaten with the milking stool will lessen her supply of milk perhaps without having any choice in the matter; the horse teased when young and ready to form habits will soon develop vices which will cut down his price; the team overworked at the binder and the plow will undoubtedly depreciate in value more than they gain by the overwork.

Some years ago an experiment was carried out to ascertain if Sunday labor paid in the case of the horse Two horses as nearly alike in all respects as possible were broken in as colts, put to very similar work, and treated exactly alike for the rest of their lives, except that one rested on Sundays and the other didn't. The one that knew not Sunday was worn out many years before his more fortunate brother.

A Long Walk

A university professor, who had greatly endeared himself to his students on account of his kindheartedness, has one particular failing — that of absent-mindedness. He visited his married nephew a few days ago, and had listened to the young wife's praise of her first-born. The gentleman felt that he must say something to give the impression that he was interested. "Can the dear little fellow walk?" he inquired quietly. "Walk!" shouted the mother. "Why, he has been walking for five months!" "Dear me!" exclaimed the professor, lapsing again into abstraction. "What a long way he must have got!"

World's Wettest Spot

There is much interest for most people at the moment — though, perhaps, no particular comfort — in the announcement that the rainfall of a village among the hills of Assam, during the ten weeks from May 1 to July 9 this year, was 250 inches. The village is Cherrapunji, the rainiest spot in Asia, and presumably in the world. Its annual rainfall is something over 450 inches. Cherrapunji stands on a plateau, overlooking the plain of Sylhet, and it is 4455 feet above sea-level.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

CHAPTER I.

A Chapter of Introductions.

Who Florence Kearney was and what his motive for becoming a "filibuster" the reader shall be told without much tediousness of detail.

Some six months before the opening of this story he had landed from a Liverpool cotton ship on the levee of New Orleans. A gentleman by birth and a soldier-scholar by education, he had gone to the new world with the design to complete his boyhood's training by a course of travel. That this travel should be westward, over fresh untrodden fields, instead of along the hackneyed highways of the European tourist, was partly due to the counsels of a tutor—who had himself visited the new world—and partly to his own natural inclinations.

In the course of his college studies he had read the romantic history of Cortez's conquest, and his mind had become deeply imbued with the picturesqueness of Mexican scenes; so that among the fancies of his youthful life one of the pleasantest was that of some day visiting the land of Anahuac, and its ancient capital, Tenochtitlan. After leaving college, the dream had grown into a determination, and was now in the act of being realized. In New Orleans he was so far on his way. He came thither expecting to obtain passage in a coasting vessel to some Mexican seaport—Tampico or Vera Cruz.

Why he had not at once continued his journey thither was due to no difficulty in finding such a vessel. There were schooners sailing every week to either of the above ports that would have accommodated him, yet still he lingered in New Orleans. His reason for thus delaying was one far from uncommon—this being a lady with whom he had fallen in love.

At first detention had been due to a more sensible cause. Not speaking the Spanish language, which is also that of Mexico, he knew that while traveling through the latter country he would have to go as one dumb. In New Orleans he might easily obtain a teacher, and having sought soon found one, in the person of Don Ignacio Valverde—a refugee Mexican gentleman, a victim of the tyrant Santa Anna, who, banished from his country, had been for several years resident in the states as an exile. And an exile in straitened circumstances, one of the hardest conditions of life. Once, in his own country, a wealthy landowner, Don Ignacio was now compelled to give lessons in Spanish to such stray pupils as might chance to present themselves. Among the rest, by chance came Florence Kearney, to whom he had commenced teaching it.

But while the latter was making himself master of the Andalusian tongue, he had also learned to love one who spoke it as purely and far more sweetly than Don Ignacio. That was Don Ignacio's daughter.

With this subject to lead his thoughts into an oblivion of his surroundings, the young man was walking along the levee when his attention was arrested by a flaming poster on which was printed in conspicuous letters the words:

"VOLUNTEERS FOR TEXAS!"

Underneath, in smaller type, was a proclamation setting forth the treachery of Santa Anna and the whole Mexican nation, recalling in strong terms the massacre of Fanning, the butchery of Alamo and other like atrocities, ending in an appeal to all patriots and lovers of freedom to arm, take the field and fight against the tyrant of Mexico and his myrmidons.

"I'll go!' said the young man, after carefully reading the printed statement; then, more deliberately rereading it, he repeated the words with an emphasis that told of his being in earnest.

The poster also gave intimation of a meeting to be held the same evening at a certain rendezvous in Poydras-st.

He only lingered to make note of the address, which was the name of a noted cafe. Having done this he was turning to continue his walk when his path was barred by a specimen of humanity, who stood full six foot six in a pair of alligator leather boots, on the banquette by his side.

"So ye'er goin', air ye?" was the half-interrogative speech that proceeded from the individual thus confronting him.

What's that to you?" bluntly demanded the young fellow, his temper a little ruffled by what appeared an impertinent obstruction on the part of some swaggering bully.

"More'n you may think", answered the booted Colossus, still standing square in the way; "more'n you may think, seein' it's through me that bit o' paper's been put upon that 'ere wall."

"You're a bill-sticker, I suppose?" was the retort.

"Ha! ha! ha!" laughed the giant, with a cachinnation that resembled the neighing of a horse. "A bill-sticker, eh. Wal; I like that. An' I like your grit, too, young feller, for all ye are so sassy. But ye needn't git riled, an' I reckon ye won't, when I tell ye who I am."

"And who are you, pray?"

"Maybe ye've heard o' Cris Rock?"

"What' Cris Rock, of Texas? He who at Fanning's——"

Yes," said the interrogator, whose exclamation referred to the almost miraculous escape of one of the betrayed victims of the Goliad butchery.

"Jess so, young feller, and as ye 'pear to know somethin 'bout me, I needn't tell ye I ain't no bill-sticker, nor why I 'peared to show impartinence by putting in my jaw when I heard ye sing out, 'I'll go.' I tho't it wouldn't need much introduction to one as I soon hope to call comrade. Yer comin' to the rendyvoo the night, ain't ye?"

"Yes; I've already resolved to do that."

"Wal, I'll be there myself; an' if ye'll only look high enough I reck'n ye kin sight me among the crowd. 'Tain't like to be the shortest there,' he added, with a smile that bespoke pride in his superior stature, "tho' ye'll see some tall 'uns, too. Anyhow, jest look out for Cris Rock, and, when found, he may be of some service to ye."

"I shall do so," rejoined the other, whose good humor had become quite restored.

About to bid goodby, Rock held out a hand, broad as the blade of a canoe paddle. It was freely taken by the stranger, who, while shaking it, saw that be was being examined from head to foot.

"Look here!" pursued the Colossus, as if struck by some thought which a closer scrutiny of the young man's person had suggested, "have ye ever done any sogerin'? Ye've got the look o' it.'

"I was educated in a military school—that's all."

"Where? In the States?"

"No. I am from the other side of the Atlantic."

"Oh! A Britisher. Wal, that don't make no difference in Texas. There's all sorts there. English ain't ye?"

"No," promptly answered the stranger, with a slight curling of the lip; "I'm an Irishman, and not one of those who deny it."

"All the better for that. There's a bit of the same blood somewhere in my own veins—from a grandmother, I believe, who came over the mountains into Kentucky 'long wi Dan Boone an' his lot. So ye-ve been educated at a milintary school, then? D'ye understand anything about the trainin' o' sogers?"

"Certainly I do."

"Dog-goned, ef you ain't the man we want! How'd ye like to be an officer? I reck'n ye're best fit for that."

"Of course I should like it, but as a stranger among you, I shouldn't stand much chance of being elected. You choose your officers, don t you?"

"Sartin, we 'lect e'm, an' we're goin' to hold the 'lections this very night. Lookee here, young feller, I like yer looks, an' I've seen proof ye've got the stuff in ye. Now, I want to tell ye somethin' ye oughter know. I belong to this company that's jest formin', and there's a feller settin' hisself up to be its captain. He's a sort o' half Spanish half French Creole, o' Noo-Orleans here, an' we old Texans don't think much o' him. But there's only a few o' us; while 'mong the Orleans city fellers as are goin out hes got a big pop'larity by standin' no end o' drinks. He ain't a bad lookin' sort for sogerin' and he has seen milintary service, they say. F'r all that, there's a hangdog glint 'bout his eyes I don't like; neither do some o' the others. So, young un, if you'll come down to the rendyvoo in good time an' make a speech—you kin speechify, can't ye?"

"Oh, I suppose I could say something."

"Wal, you stump it, an' I'll put in a word or two, an then we'll propose ye for captain, an' who knows we might git the majority after all? You're willin' to try, ain't you?'

"I will, if you wish it."

"All square them" returned the Texan, once more taking his protege by the hand and giving it a squeeze like the grip of a grizzly bear. "I'll be on the lookout for ye. Meanwhile, there's six hours to the good yet afore sundown. So go and prepar' yer speech, while I slide roun' among the fellers an' do a leetle for ye in the line o' canvassin'.'

After a final bruin-like pressure o' the hand the giant started away when he came again to a halt, uttering a loud "Hiloo!"

"What is it?" inquired the young Irishman.

"It seems that Cris Rock air' bout one o' the biggest numskulls in all Noo-Orleans. Only to think! I was about startin' to take the stump for a candidate i'thout knowin' the fiat letter o his name. How wur ye crissened, young feller?"

"Kearney—Florence Kearney."

"Florence, ye say? Ain't that a woman's name?"

"True; but in Ireland many men bear it."

"Wal, it do seem a little curious, but it'll do right slick, and the Kearney part soun's well. I've hern speak o' Kate Kearney; there's a song 'bout the girl. Are ye be any connection o' hern?"

The Pope and His Sisters

The Pope's sisters live in an unpretentious flat in Rome. They once told a visitor, who asked them how they addressed their brother, that when other people were present they used the formal term Your Holiness, but when they were alone with him they called him Giuseppe and sometimes Beppe or Beppino. The Pope's name, Giuseppe Sarto, is the Italian for Joseph Taylor, and the endearing [illegible] by his sisters are the humble Joe and Joey. Sisters of a Pope are usually created countesses. Pius X thought it unsuitable to confer this rank on his sisters, and they themselves prefer to remain simple peasant women rather than assume a rank to which birth has not entitled them.

The C.P.R. Pacific liner, Empress of China, which went ashore in the Orient in July, is a total loss.

HEART DISEASE CURED

Kingston Girl Saved by "Fruit-a-tives"

Heart Weakness and Heart Irritation are the common outgrowth of Indigestion. Gas is formed in the stomach and this accumulation of gas bulges out the walls of the stomach and presses against the heart. Palpitation, pain over the heart, and sometimes a feeling of smothering and dizziness, all are caused by the stomach and not because of any organic heart disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always cure this weak, irritated condition of the heart by curing the stomach.

91 CLERGY ST., KINGSTON, ONT.

"I suffered for some years with a dangerous form of Heart Trouble. My heart beat violently, and I had pain over the heart and down the arms. I also suffered with Constipation and Indigestion. I was treated by physicians and took many remedies, but nothing did me any good. Then I began taking "Fruit-a-tives", and this medicine completely cured me of all the heart trouble, constipation and indigestion, and gave me back perfect health." (Miss) MABLE TODD.

THE GOLDEN RULE

Not Too Much Strict Letter of the Law, but Do to Others What Will Bring Most Happiness.

The Golden Rule should not be interpreted too literally, for at times to do to another what you would like him to do to you is to incur his undying enmity. The spirit of the law breeds happiness but the strict letter of it has the power to cause trouble of no trivial sort.

It is told of a man who for a whole winter took a girl every week to see a vaudeville show and prided himself on being a most generous and attentive cavalier. He was fond of vaudeville himself and presumed that she ought to be, for be turned a deaf ear to any suggestion that they go to see any good things in legitimate drama, of which he knew she was fond.

In the narrow confines of domestic life one sees it often, this too literal translation of the Golden Rule. One sees the wife work and toil over meals and the keeping of the house, all for her husband's good as she fondly believes, when what he really wants most is a smile and a song. Again the husband thinks he is doing all in his power to make his wife happy when he provides well for her and gives her presents of as great value as he can afford. He cannot comprehend that what she wants is to be teased and kissed, and when he is away from home a letter every day is of far more worth than if he brings home a Paris frock or a pearl necklace. Do unto others what will give them the most happiness even if it looks like foolishness.

Togo and the Suffragettes

Admiral Togo recently gave his views on the Suffragist question to a woman interviewer. "I am not a Suffragist,' he said. "I believe woman is harmed by any movement that takes her mind off her home and children I believe in the higher education of women, but to me the highest education a woman can have is that which makes her believe that her greatest usefulness is at home and her greatest duty towards the States is the giving to the nation children — the future citizens. What does a woman [illegible] given to men? In our country women have a lower grade of education than men — that is, where the outside political, and practical things are considered — but she gets all the education she needs. The women of my country send their husbands, and brothers and sons out to the battle field with a courage as great as that possessed by the soldiers themselves That is where woman shows her strength and splendid citizenship and patriotism."

A Sudden Change!

"Florida in the late winter and early spring is a delightful place to visit," said John Jacob Astor, at tea beneath a palm at Palm Beach.

"But," said Mr. Astor, "some people think that in any Florida town for $1.50 a day they will get the luxury that we find here, or in St. Augustine or in Miami.

"I know a man who, arriving at a kind of 'busted boom' resort in the hammock lands of Orange County said to the hotel clerk with a sarcastic smile:

"'It's wonderfu' what havoc time makes.'

"'Yes?' said the clerk, politely.

"'Yes, I was thinking,' explained my friend, 'what a magnificent building this hotel was in the circular I saw before leaving New York yesterday—and, alas! look at it now.'"

Realism in Art

Actors frequently receive unexpected proof of the realism of their art. Not long ago, on the occasion of the performance of "Hamlet" by a distinguished English player, there were no more interested and absorbed spectators than two newsies in the gallery

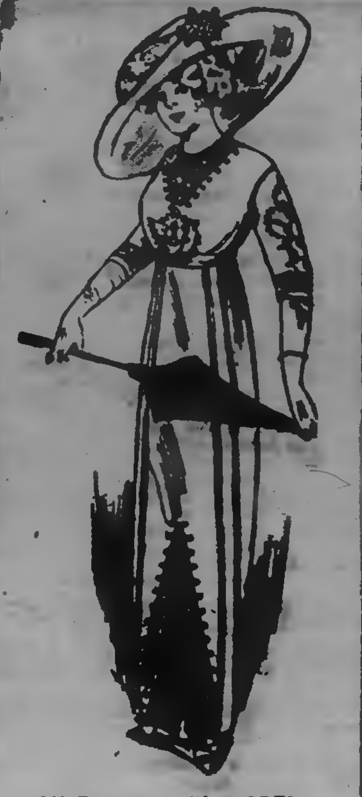
The boys had been watching the performance with breathless interest The last act was drawing to a close The duel almost dragged the lads from their seats.

Before their eyes the Queen was poisoned, Laertes killed, the King killed, Hamlet killed. On the final tragedy the curtain started down The audience was spellbound.

In the gallery there was a clatter and a crash as one of the boys mentioned started for the door.

"Come on, Tommy," he shouted back to his companion. "Hustle! Dere'll be extras out on dis!"

Joseph Mills, a Hamilton civic employe is missing.



AN EARLY FALL MODEL

The above cut was made from a recent importation of frock to be worn during the late summer and early fall, and shows the new sleeve. The magyar or kimono waist has lost favor and is not seen on any of the newest gowns. This model was developed in cashmere de soie, with insets of velvet and trimmings of soutache braid and velvet-covered buttons. Note the treatment of sleeve; it is set in with a piping of velvet.

GERMAN GIRL OF TO-DAY

In Leisure Time She Cultivates Some Special Taste

According to Madame Ola Alsen, who writes in a German weekly, alterations have taken place in the standard of taste of the young girl of to-day. While there exists, in Germany as elsewhere, a large number of young women whose inclinations must, perforce, be turned to wage-earning, there is a large number of girls of leisure who have time to cultivate their tastes, and opportunities of doing so, for the mere sake of the pleasure to be derived therefrom. Not every girl is compelled to spend her life in the rush and bustle of a business or a profession; luxury provides them with just as good chances of developing their individuality as wage-earning. Thus, the girl whose taste leans to sport may make that the aim of her life. She plays tennis, and delights in the fact that she is queen of the realm, enclosed within certain lines marked with white chalk on a court. That, however, is not sufficient for her; she goes, in due season, to climb mountains, to show her prowess with the skis, to gain the reputation of one who can manage the sails of a yacht with seamanlike skill. In the lecture-rooms there are girls who do not make culture a means to an end, who never dream of emulating the teaching women, the lecturers, or those who earn a living by the pen. They enjoy a special study for its own sake, and for the joy it brings to them. They travel alone in certain districts, but they do not go without chaperons into fashionable resorts. In couples earnest girls study painting in Rome, Florence, Holland, Brittany, etc., or listen to music at festivals at Bayreuth or elsewhere.

If the outside of bright steamers and pans be greased before placing on the fire, all the soot and dirt which adheres is very easily washed off. This saves much scouring annd cleaning.

Aid to Plants

Plants will grow more quickly if a few drops of ammonia be added once a week to the water with which they are watered. The water should be lukewarm, not colder than the atmosphere, and the leaves of the plants should be kept free from dust by being sponged or syringed.

Too Much Self-Flattery

[illegible] awful speed!" said a motorist, who was relating a strange experience with a dog and its mistress. "I didn't see the dog, but I heard this 'Ki-yi,' so I ordered the chauffeur to stop. Going back we found an irate lady standing over her dead dog — one of the ugliest dogs you ever saw! She met us with a tirade of abuse, telling us in no uncertain manner what she thought of us and motorists in general, and finishing up by calling us the murderers of her dog. It was then that I thought I would pacify her. 'Madam,' I said, 'I will replace your dog.' 'Sir,' she said, in a freezing tone, 'you flatter yourself!'"

IF YOU ARE SICK

YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you go the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

Which Do You Prefer?

Those who engage in the Optical business as a profession, who for years have made the eye a special study and are fully qualified and equipped to correct all errors of refraction?

Those who have a permanent place of business and an up-to-date Optical Parlor, with every modern convenience for accurate sight testing?

Those who guarantee their work and who are in the city 365 days in the year to back up that guarantee.

OR,

Those who are in it simply for the money they can get out of it. The travelling pedler, who makes it a practice of remaining a few days in a place and by all kinds of fake advertising tries to persuade you to buy glasses after a few apparent tests much in the same way as you would buy any other kind of merchandise. That is to say, he attempts to fit glasses with practically no knowledge as to how it should be done.

ARMS BURNED BY SULPHURIC ACID

Painful Injuries Sustained by Miss Katie McNichol

Miss Katie McNichol, who is employed as assistant in the dental office of Dr. M. A. Morrison, sustained rather painful, though not serious injuries this week while engaged in some compounding in the laboratory. As a result Miss McNichol is suffering from two badly burned arms, the right one bein particularly painful.

The young lady had the misfortune to accidentally upset a bottle of sulphuric acid from a shelf, and the stopper coming off, the liquid spread over the flesh on both arms.

Dr. Galvin attended to the wounds, and while Miss McNichol is able to be at the office, she feels the effects of the scalding quite acutely.

MISSION TALK AT ST. LUKE'S

Rev. Montague Beauchamp Spoke of Work in China

Those who heard Rev. Montague Beauchamp at St. Luke's church last night greatly enjoyed his interesting and profitable address on missionary work in China.

Rev. Mr. Montague went to that country some twenty five years ago and worked for a considerable period in North China, and afterwards was transferred to West China. He is one of the members of the great Chinese Inland Mission, founded by Rev. J. Hudson Taylor.

This mission has seen much success. It asks for a certain number of missionaries and they are sent to do certain missionary work. There is no regular method of financing the work but the request for assistance for assistance to carry the Gospel has always met with an extensive affirmative answer. Rev. Mr. Beauchamp has been in that territory recently visited by uprising, but was not there when the trouble was on. At the meeting last night he gave a short account of the foundation of the mission and the great faith of its founder.

PORT HOPE MAN CAUGHT LIVE WIRE

Was Knocked Unconscious and Severely Burned on Hand

Port Hope Guide—Mr. Clarke Greenaway, butcher, Walton street, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning. Mr. Greenaway noticed that an electric light wire at the corner of Baldwin and Church streets was down, and fearing that the school children might come in contact with it, he went over to remove it. As soon as he picked it up he was given a severe shock and was unable to drop it. He was thrown to the ground and before help arrived became unconscious.

Mrs. Greenaway was the first to render assistance, but she, too, received a bad shock and was unable to remove the wire from Mr. Greenaway's hand. Mr. William Kirkland happened along and he fastened Mrs. Greenaway's apron about the wire and by a sudden sharp pull, freed Mr. Greenaway. Mr. Greenaway's hand was badly burned and Mrs. Greenaway is suffering slightly from shock.

PIE SOCIAL

On Tuesday evening a pleasant social took place in Coldsprings Sunday school hall when the Young Men's club of that thriving little village gave an enjoyable pie social. The attendance was very fair, despite the gloomy weather which prevailed that evening.

A splendid musical program was given. Mr. H. Peters presided and introduced the contributors to the program.

After the chairman's opening address a charming dialogue took place between several boys and girls entitled, "Lady Audley's Secret." The next was a vocal solo by Thomas Williams named "Carrying my Father's Tea." George O'Neill gave a recitation and song, which was followed by another solo by Thomas Williams.

The pie sale was the concluding feature of the evening which proved to be a most sociable event. The gathering broke up with the singing of the National Anthem.

WEDDING TINGED WITH ROMANCE

Bride and Groom Separated by Many Years

An interesting wedding ceremony occurred on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock at the home of Mr. E. J. Leavis, corner of Hunter and Sheridan streets, about which a shadow of romance might be said to cling, owing to the wide difference in the ages of the contracting parties.

The groom was Mr. John Doig, who is well known in the city, and who is well past middle age. His future partner is Miss Mary Annie Foster, a pretty young lady of not more than eighteen summers.

The wedding was witnessed by the immediate friends of the principals, who extended warm congratulations.

They left the city on the 4.28 C.P.R. on a brief honeymoon tour and on their return will reside on Antrim street.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. W. F. Skitch was in Lindsay yesterday.

Miss Mamie McCarthy has returned from Toronto, after several months' study under Mr. J. W. L. Forster, Canada's noted portrait painter. Classes will be resumed on October 10th.

Mr. D. Walker, Principal of the Normal school, left the city for Lanark, to attend a Teachers' Convention, in that place. Dr. Park, of the Normal school staff is also attending a similar convention at Bancroft.

Mr. John Harstone expects to leave on Saturday for Winnipeg, Man.

WILL VOTE ON BY-LAW

Campbellford Ratepayers Will Pass on Mr. Bogue's Claim

Campbellford Herald.—At the council meeting on Monday night it was decided to submit a by-law to the people of the town on Friday, Oct. 27th, to raise the sum of $13,500 in order to settle the claims of Mr. James Bogue against the town.

The case is well known to every ratepayer. It has been on the tapis a long time. Bogue's original claim was something like $26,000, but he has now intimated through his solicitor that he will accept $13,000. The people will have a chance to say whether it is better to accept the proposition or reject it and let Mr. Bogue take what the court allows him. No doubt the council will take every means to enlighten the people as to the details of the case so that an intelligent decision may be arrived at. The debentures will be drawn for thirty years and the annual sum to be raised by taxes, should the agreement carry, is something less than $900.

A Unique Program

The program is quite unique in the musical annals of America, this being probably the first time the State Trumpeter of England has ever visited America. Unusual excitement is being aroused in this tour, seeing that he is to come direct from the coronation in Westminster Abbey, and perform the same fanfares and historical trumpet calls that he renders at the coronation before probably the greatest assembly of royalty the world has known, whilst also playing standard works for the trumpet and organ. The program will include masterpieces for the organ and such orchestral arrangements as the "Introduction to the third act of Lohengrin" (Wagner), Tschaikowsky's "Cherubim Hymn" and fanfare of trumpets, original descriptive pieces new to this country and popular trumpet solos. St. Paul's church Thursday, Oct. 12.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. Derry and family wish to thank their friends and neighbors for the kindness shown them during their sad bereavement.

St. John's Choir

St. John's choir will meet in the church for practice at 8 p.m.

Boys assemble at 7.30.

All choristers are requested to be present.

MEETING HELD AT OMEMEE

Annual Meeting of W.M.S of Methodist Church

Special to the Review.

Omemee, Oct. 5.—The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church of the district of Lindsay, was held yesterday in the Methodist church. The afternoon session opened at ten o'clock with the singing of the doxology, followed by prayer. Mrs. M. E. Wilson, of Pontypool, who is district organizer, was voted to the chair. The ordinary procedure of business was followed and considerable discussion punctuated this part of the convention. Miss Laidley of Dunsford was appointed secretary and Mrs. Morrison of Lindsay, press representative. An interesting and instructive paper was given by Miss Flavelle on the subject of Mission Band Work, the chief aim which the speaker emphasized was the inculcation of the love of mission work rather than the procuring of monetary results. There was a spirited and thoughtful discussion followed.

Mrs. (Dr.) Irvine, of Lindsay, contributed a vocal solo in a pleasing and appreciative style.

Mrs. Feir, of Cambray, read a paper on "How to increase our membership." The paper bristled with plans that were practical and progressive.

Greetings were extended from the local sister organizations by Mrs. N. Clarke for the Anglicans and Mrs. Kelley for the Presbyterians.

After the singing of a hymn nominations were in order for a district organizer and the name of Mrs. M. E. Wilson was the only one presented and she was unanimously re-elected by acclamation.

The consecration service following was led by Mrs. W. W. Jones, of Janetville, and was full of inspiration.

The afternoon services concluded with devotional services. The visiting delegates were entertained to tea by the local ladies in the basement. A balmy breath of weather invited many to attend the afternoon session which was a marked success.

The evening session began at eight o'clock. The Rev. R. Burns was chairman, Hymn 715 was sung and prayer offered. The secretary read the report of the afternoon's session, which was approved. It showed an afternoon collection of $4.10. The chairman's address was the next order, but Rev. Burns limited his remarks in order to make way for the speaker of the evening. Mrs. Wilson was heard in a vocal solo that was much appreciated.

Miss Chase, of Waota, Alberta, missionary, dressed in the costume of the Austrians, among whom she labors near Edmonton, gave a lengthy and interesting account of her life's work in that western province. Her address was full of information, and hope. It was not lacking in the humorous delineation and was listened to with wrapt attention. The choir of the church contributed an anthem. Mrs. R. J. Mulligan presented a glowing report of the W. F. M. S. After a hearty handclap of appreciation to Miss Chase, the singing of a hymn and prayer, the very successful meeting concluded.

Some of the visiting delegates were: From Lindsay—Mrs. (Dr.) Irvine, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Widdess, Mrs. Balfour, Miss Miller, Miss Flavelle, Mrs. Sutcliffe.

From Cambray—Mrs. Cullis, Mrs. Mrs. Feir.

From Dunsford—Miss Laidley, Mrs. Thurston.

From Janetville—Mrs. Jones.

WEDDING BELLS

LUNNEY—SKITCH

Lindsay Post—This afternoon a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lunney, Adelaide street, when their daughter, Olivia, Lavinia, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Percy Harold Skitch of Toronto, formerly of Lindsay. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the Cambridge street Methodist church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a dress of cream duchess silk with lace and pearl trimmings, and carrying a shower of cream roses and lily of the valley. Her travelling dress was a tailored navy blue serge, black beaver hat with touches of green

Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Joy Richardson. Miss Marie Bryden was the flower girl, and was dressed in white, with blue trimmings During the signing of the register, solos were rendered by Mr. W. F. Skitch of Peterboro, and Miss Joy Richardson.

BRUMWELL—HOSKEN.

At St Andrew's manse on Wednesday, Oct 4th, Miss Lauretta Hosken, daughter of Mr. Henry Hosken, Sherbrooke street, city, and Mr. Ernest E. Brumwell were united in holy wedlock by Rev. Jas. Rollins, B.A. The bride and groom were unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Brumwell will reside on Hilliard street, and will be at home to their friends after Oct. 23rd.

POOR SEASON FOR WILD DUCKS

The duck shooting around Rice Lake is very poor this season, as it is also at the back lakes. Mr. "Jim" Dixon, of Keene, one of the lake's oldest and most redoubtable hunters, says that the rice crop is light and the black ducks are going to other fields.

The red heads feed on wild celery and are just beginning to come to these parts. They are more plentiful than the black variety, which breed here.

There are very few reports of successful shooting.

ONE OF THE HOTTEST COONS IN DIXIE STRUCK HOT PLACE

Brought to Police Court on Charge Laid by Manager of Company.

One of "the hottest coons in Dixie" was brought before Magistrate Dumble in police court to-day on the complaint of the manager of the company. His name was Brown, and it appears that he was found sleeping in the private car of the company this morning. The manager told Chief of Police Thompson that Brown was stage manager for a time, but through drunkenness he had to be dismissed, since then he has persisted in annoying the company and in other ways made himself objectionable.

His Worship dismissed the defendant on the ground that as he had been found sleeping in the company's private car, he had no authority in the matter. The disputed was one to be settled by the manager of the company and the prisoner.

In appearance Brown looks like another White hope. He seemed to be thankful for his Wroship's leniency and lost no time in gathering up his belongings and decamping. Whether he will join the company or not is not known, as the remainder of the troupe left this morning for Campbellford, Ont.

STILL LEADING

For the past thirty-eight years Guy Brothers' famous Minstrels have been continuously on the road playing to crowded houses and pleasing hundreds of people every night, a record that no other company can claim. Mr. George R. Guy, the proprietor and manager of this company, is always assured of good business, as the theatre-goers are sure to witness a clean, wholesome and refined production. Never has a single word been uttered or anything acted on the stage to offend man, woman or child. Guy Bros.' Minstrels always please and will continue to do so this season. Thirty-five people are carried to make the company complete, and every man and act in the show are of the best, as no time or money was spared in gathering together this large company. The band and orchestra, which has always attained the very highest standard, is without a doubt the best on the road to-day. Don't miss hearing it next Monday on the main street, and secure your seats early for the Grand theatre. Remember the date, Monday, Oct. 9th, and see the only minstrel show to play here this season.

"The Earl of Pawtucket"

John Sort, under whose management Lawrence D'Orsay is starring this season is an elaborate revival of "The Earl of Pawtucket," will present Mr. D'Orsay and his company of merry players at the Grand, to-morrow Friday, evening. D'Orsay in the title role is a worthy exponent of the type of stage Englishmen exemplified in Lord Dundreary and Lord Chumley. The Picadilly patois and drawl of D'Orsay as Lord Cardington, is infectious and the comedy is brilliant with humor.

GIRLS ARE AT TENNIS GAME

Tournament Arranged for the Girls of the Collegiate

The Girls' Athletic Association of the Collegiate Institute has arranged for a tennis tournament to be held on the Collegiate courts.

The girls are very enthusiastic over the prospects. The schedule has been drawn up and several of the games have been played off already. Last season the city champion in the ladies' singles, was a collegiate girl, Miss K. Barnett, and another champion is likely to be developed by the tournament which is in progress.

Some time ago the Board of Education gave permission for the grounds near the Collegiate to be used as a tennis court.

PETERBORO HAS THE FIRST GAME

In Junior Series With Toronto Central Y. M. C. A.

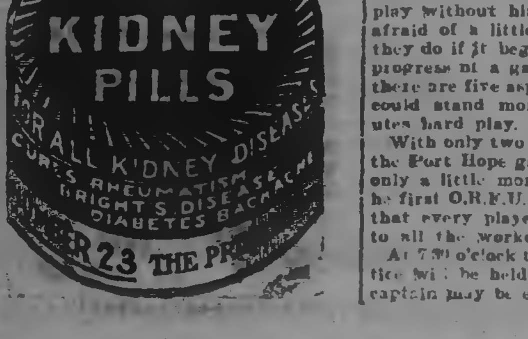
Peterboro gets the first game in their series with the Toronto Centrals Y.M.C.A. fourteen and the contest is billed for Riverside Park one week from this coming Saturday.

It is necessary that all players attend as many of the practices as possible. Another workout will be held to-night.

RUGBY

Smith, the R.M.C. half-back, was worked out on the wing by Argos last night while back division consisted of Mallett, Lockhart, Binkley, and Murphy.—Mail & Empire.

John F. Longan has devoted $1,000 toward establishing a museum at St. Thomas.



LAWN TENNIS

The finals in the singles of the City Tennis Association tournament will not be played until next week as the contestants in the semi-finals cannot play off sooner than Saturday next.

Landry and Meyers play in the finals of Class A. while Butler and Canniff are left in Class B.

The winners of the two classes play off and the game will likely be one worth watching.

SPORT TALK

Murphy, who is locally known more for his hockey performances here, had his nose broken while out at practice with Toronto Argonaut rugby team last night.

It was up to Christy Mathewson to pitch the Giants to a win against the Brooklyn team yesterday and thereby win the National League championship.

This afternoon the students of the Collegiate Institute are demonstrating to their teachers, parents and friends, their ability to win honors on the athletic field. The students from Central Park may find time to develop their muscles as well as their minds, and in each pursuit, the results are most praiseworthy.

The way in which the W.E.A.C. pigskin chasers are turning out to practice does not indicate that they have very serious intentions about the championship. A little shower of rain stopped over half the aspirants last night when the signal practice was called in preparation for the T. C. S. game Saturday.

Condition is half the battle and the locals will be learning on the 14th, when they play their first O.R.F.U. game with Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, that rugby is not child's play. Either everyone is so confident in his abilities that he thinks the team could not play without him or the players are afraid of a little rain. What would they do if it began to rain during the progress of a game? It is doubtful if there are five aspirants at present who could stand more than fifteen minutes hard play.

With only two more practices before the Port Hope game on Saturday and only a little more than a week until he first O.R.F.U. game, it is necessary that every player be out in uniform to all the workouts.

At 7.30 o'clock to-night another practice will be held in Central Park. A captain may be elected.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HAUGHTON LENNOX, K.C.

To the average reader, Mr. Haughton Lennox, K.C., member of the lat House of Commons, will probably bulk more largely to date as the man who put up the strong fight behind his amendment to the Railway Act to prevent compa[illegible] themselves out of liability for dea[illegible] [illegible]ries to their employes. Mr. Lennox was is a native of Innisfil township, in Simcoe County, Ont., began the practice of law in 18[illegible] when he was twenty five years old and in course of an all round successful career has made his mark, with more than a local reputation, as a handler of criminal cases. In 1900 he hit the political trail as a candidate for House of Commons honors and came out on top, re-election following in 1904 and 1908.

Mr. J. F. MUNRO

Of whom Pembroke is proud

Mr. J. F. Munro, president of the Massey Lumber Company, with headquarters at Pembroke, and a candidate for parliamentary honors in North Renfrew is one of the many self-made men, men who have climbed high from a very lowly position round the roots of the tree, of whom Canada is so justly proud. Today numbered amongst the largest ratepayers of his own, Mr. Munro is not of those who take each and every opportunity to cover up the fact that he was not born amongst big bank bills and much gold. On the contrary he recalls with a degree of satisfaction that he began in the ranks of physical workers, and is not averse to pointing his friends the location where with pick and shovel he helped establish the Pembroke water system.

A native of Fitzroy harbor he migrated to Pembroke in 1890 when seventeen years old, and so determinedly did the farmer's boy set to work that ere many years had elapsed he emerged from the laboring level to that of an employer. That was not quite ten years ago, and today Mr. Munro is in the proud position of being head of the Massey Lumber concern, vice-president of Pembroke Woolen Mills Ltd., director of the Lee Manufacturing Co., and of the Pembroke Electric Lighting Co., and a stockholder in various other concerns of standing in the district. Mr. Munro is a Liberal and a strong supporter of the Georgian Canal scheme.

Mrs. E. L. JONES

The growth of the club movement is one of the outstanding features in connection with women's work in Canada at the present day, and the ladies in combination bid fair to exercise considerable influence in many directions for the general weal of the districts in which these clubs are located. Some indeed already aim at wider field. That of Winnipeg, for instance, of which Mrs. E. L. Jones is at once a charming and businesslike president, aims at securing from the Government, an expansion of the Homestead Act so as to recognise the right to its benefit of all British born women who have attained their twenty-first birthday. Such privilege is enjoyed south the line, and President Mrs. Jones argues with show of reason, that British women ought to be similarly circumstanced. It may be added that the Winnipeg club was the second formed in the Dominion.

NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES

ABANDONED RAILROADS

Timber States South of the Line are Dotted with Rusty Remains of Tracks, for Which there is no Traffic.

Recent reports show that in the United States there are eighty-one abandoned railroads, says the Railway Magazine. From eighteen the rails have been removed and thirty-four are described as "not in operation" or "operations suspended."

In regard to the first class, the franchises seem to have expired by disuse, but the tracks are still in evidence; in the second class the company had pulled up stakes and quit, in the third a variety of causes may have contributed to the stopping of wheels.

The shutting down of a railroad may simply mean that it has outlived its usefulness. The neighborhood served by the line may have developed in a fashion that the builders hardly contemplated and with which the rails and rolling stock are incapable of dealing.

Along comes capital and either gobbles up the little road altogether or puts it out of business by offering the travelling facilities and accommodations that it cannot attempt to rival. It is really prosperity that shuts down such a road.

Then there have been roads built on the basis of the anticipated boom of a resort, a town or a section. The hope of the boomers not being realized the line goes into the discard.

Again, the initial promises of a mining district are such that a line is built for its benefit. The district doesn't pan out or goes barren after a time and in consequence the road is abandoned.

The same is true of regions in which the natural resources are many or enticing, notably in those that yield oil. The disuse of lumber roads is inevitable also. The timber states are dotted with the remains of rusty rights of way and almost every year adds to their number.

Of course the list of derelict lines does not indicate that the judgment of modern railroad builders was in every case at fault but rather that the possibilities of the country are increasing, and with them the need for the larger facilities that the abandoned lines could not supply.

One of the smallest and perhaps most unprofitable railroads in the United States was the abandoned Kentucky Northern that ran from Simcoe, Ky., to a junction with the Louisville & Atlantic railroad a distance of eight miles. It was incorporated in May 1902. From the first it proved to be a drain on the pocketbooks of the stockholders. The surrounding population seems to have disliked the line. Not enough passenger tickets were sold and not enough freight was shipped to pay for the keeping of its one locomotive its lone passenger coach or its solitary flat car.

In the year ended June 1908, its operating expenses were $12,333, and its net earning $697.

Nasty Professor!

The student was handsome, easy, and self-possessed, but appeared to be utterly ignorant of the simplest phase of the subject. Professor W. put question after question to him, without receiving one intelligent reply. Finally, the student said, naively:—

"I am very unfortunate, Professor; you never ask me anything I know."

The professor said nothing, but gravely tore off a tiny piece of paper from a convenient pad.

"Here, Mr. B.," he said, handing it to the student, "write all you know. Take plenty of time — there's no hurry."

STREAM OF SUNS

Astronomers Sun and Star Theory of Creation Proves Scheme Without Evidence of a Beginning or Promise of an End.

There is in England at the present time a New Zealand university professor who is devoting the evening of his life to the establishment of what he believes to be an epoch making astronomical discovery. Prof. A. W Bickerton, of Christchurch, New Zealand, has for more than thirty years been working on his theory, and he has already gained for it a certain amount of recognition among scientific men.

It is well known that some hundred million stars can be photographed in the Milky Way. These stars are of all ages, young, mature and old. According to Prof. Bickerton the suns are travelling in two great streams in opposite directions. They attract each other as they pass and frequently come into collision, generally a partial impact or grazing collision.

When such a grazing collision occurs the parts coming into collision coalesce and form a new body. As the suns approach one another at the speed of hundreds of miles a second the graze does not stop them, though it alters their course. The coalesced third body possesses many wonderful properties: it spins, it sorts its atoms and it is abnormally hot: it has more energy than it can retain, therefore it explodes.

Thus a graze of suns produces three bodies, two revolving torn suns or variable stars and a third explosively hot body, which is a temporary star. This star appears suddenly, expands for a time and is finally dissipated into atomic dust. These atoms in their turn have their life history varied and complex.

Prof. Bickerton believes that the light atoms escape and form vast enspheriing shells, the atoms actually flying away into the empty parts of space, there to lay the foundations of other cosmic systems.

Solar impact then, according to Prof. Bickerton, is the key to the mystery of creation. The basic idea of his theory is the formation of the third body, which he maintains has been missed by the astronomers.

"My theory shows the scheme of creation as a whole as one that is infinite and immortal, without evidence of a beginning or promise of an end. A cyclic scheme which as a whole is deathless, birthless and flawless.

Queer Personal Adornments

The Langos, who inhabit a country to the east of the Victoria Nile and the Bahr El Gebel, about three degrees north of the equator, have several very remarkable ornaments. For example, bands of finely plaited grass are worn by the men round the abdomen. These suggest a tightly laced corset. Iron, or, more rarely brass, ornaments have place on the upper arm. These are put on when the man is young, and as the arms grow force the muscles of the biceps out below them. In one case, the girth at what should have been the broadest part of the biceps was only 8¼ inches over the wire; while lower down, just above the elbow, it was 15 inches. Lip ornaments are made of glass filed down from pieces of broken bottles, inserted a quarter of an inch below the lower lip.

The Humorous Elephant

The elephant is a humorist. The discovery has been made in a San Francisco paper, which tells the story of a keeper who was given thirteen oranges for his four elephants. Thrice the showman went down the line, and then he had one orange left. Every elephant fixed a greedy gaze upon that orange. It might have caused trouble to give it to any one of them. After a moment's reflection the showman decided that there was but one course to pursue. Accordingly he held up the orange so that all the phants might clearly see it, then calmly peeled and ate it himself. He asserts that the elephants nudged each other, and shook their ponderous sides, and otherwise gave evidence of their apprpeciation of the humour of the situation.

A Fortune on Guinea Pigs

The Pasteur Institute, of France spends annually a sum of $80,000 on guinea pigs, but there is a dearth of these little animals just now, hundreds of small purveyors in the South of France having decided to cease raising the little unwilling martyrs of science. Wherever the Institute applied latterly, it was told that no more guinea pigs were for sale. The Institute has had to rely principally on its own supply from its own guinea-pig farm at Garches, but the demand has been so great that the numbers have diminished. Something like 3,000 guinea pigs are kept on the ground permanently for breeding purposes.

A Black Outlook

"'Allo, Bill! You do look pale an' thin, Bill. Wot's wrong Bill? Been ill, Bill?"

Thus one jovial frequenter of the gutter to a friend he had not seen for weeks.

Bill passed a horny hand across his weary brow.

"No," he answered, "I ain't been ill—it's work! Work from ten in the mornin' till nine at night, and only one hour's rest. Think of it, mate — just think of it!"

"And where are yer workin'? 'Ow long 'ave yer been there?"

"I ain't been there yet," retorted Bill, with a groan. "I begin termorrer!"

ENJOYMENT OF LIFE

Claim is Made that Animals can Extract More Joys Than Man From Their Term of Life on Earth.

In reply to the question as to whether animals enjoy life more than men, it is pointed out that in many cases they have all man's advantages and some extra ones of their own as well.

It is naturally in matters connected with eating that we find most opportunity for comparing the possible relative pleasures of animals and man. One would imagine that man's power of heightening his enjoyment of meals by the arts of cookery would quite surpass all animal enjoyment possibilities. But as against that, the question arises whether the average animal would care about having its food cooked at all. The most underdone steak or chop, served with the spiciest of sauce would not suit a lion or a tiger half so well as venison "au naturel" with plenty of fresh hot blood to it. Most other animals no doubt consider their food just done to a turn as they find it, whether it be the cow's long-protracted meal of fresh green grass or the hasty lunch which the solan goose makes of a fine plump herring swallowed "all alive, O." Besides, the most refined cookery cannot yield pleasure anything approaching that of keen appetite, and that is a feeling which animals are more likely to experience than men. A lion cannot drop in at a restaurant and order a fresh killed deer—"And see that you bring me plenty warm blood with it, Jackall," as in the case of man and his waiter. Every animal has to search for its food, and that means being truly hungry when it gets it. Still, there is little doubt that most animals have their favourite things — little treats which they enjoy specially. However unkind it is to the sparrow, no one who has witnessed the painful spectacle of a live sparrow caught by a backgreen cat, and heard the low savage growl of the carnivorous animal tasting blood, can doubt the peculiar, intense satisfaction derived. What could the sweetest milk be to that cat in comparison? Similarly, in more modified form, every animal has its preference just as we have, and hunts high and low to find them to suit its palate.

Some animals, however, possess a pleasure quite apart from the inclination of the palate. That is the pleasure of "bolting" — a separate sensation apart from tasting. Most carnivorous animals will bolt when pressed for time, or liable to have their food taken from them; otherwise they prefer chewing and tasting. Most birds and all fish are bolters, but the bolter of bolters among them is the pike. Its only idea of enjoyment is bolting, and the harder a thing is to bolt the better it likes it. It will even try to bolt another pike of about its own size. Pike have been found dead in such peculiar entanglement as to give foundation for the surmise that each has been trying to swallow the other and that both have choked in the attempt.

Where the animals have a real advantage is in their freedom of action. They are at liberty to do as they like, and man is not. If a clinching illustration is wanted it is found in the undoubted pleasure of personal scratching, common to both man and animals. Whereas animals may, and do, scratch themselves where and when they choose, man may not. He consequently has to control himself with great effort at times, even in cases where the desire is created by the keen and unlicensed enjoyment on the part of some inconspicuous marauder.

THE CARE OF LAMPS

In places where electric light or gas are not available if lamps be good and have proper attention, one cannot wish for a more satisfactory light; but if badly cared for they will be a source of much discomfort. The great secret of having lamps in good working order is to keep them clean and to use good oil. Have a regular place and time for trimming the lamps. Put a folded newspaper on the table so that any stray bits of burned wick and drops of oil may fall upon it. Wash and wipe the chimneys and shades. Now take off all loose parts of the burner, washing them in hot soap-suds and wiping with a clean soft cloth. Trim the wicks and turn them quite low. With a soft, wet cloth, well soaped, wipe the burner thoroughly, working the cloth as much as possible inside the burner, to get off every particle of the charred wick. Now fill the lamps within about one inch of the top, and wipe with a damp towel and then a dry one. Adjust all the parts and return them to their proper places. Whenever a new wick is required in a lamp wash and scald the burner before putting in the wick. With a student lamp, the receptacle for waste oil, which is screwed on the bottom of the burner, should be taken off at least once a week and washed. Sometimes a wick will get very dark and dirty before it is half consumed. It is not economy to try to burn it; replace it with a fresh one. The trouble and expense are slight and the increase in clearness and brilliancy will repay the extra care. When a lamp is lighted it should not at once be turned up to the full height; wait until the chimney is heated. Beautiful shades are often cracked or broken by having hot chimneys rest against them. Now, when lighting a lamp be careful that the chimney is set perfectly straight and does not touch the shade at any point. The shade should be placed on the lamp as soon as it is lighted, that it may heat gradually.

Boys with chestnut hair, it is said, are likely to be more clever than any others, and will generally be found at the head of the class, and in like manner girls with fair hair are likely to be far more studious and bright than girls with dark hair.

The creed that can be stereotyped is not worth running through the presses.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl." —Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

ABOUT BURGLARS

Amongst the More Novel Protections Against the Burglar is That Provided by Persons Who Take Fresh Air Cure.

Every renter has his own idea of what constitutes a desirable neighbourhood," said the renting agent. "A tenant hung back from signing a lease for six hours the other day because I could not tell him whether anybody in the block was taking the fresh-air cure. He was so insistent that I finally made inquiry and learned from the janitor at No. 225 that a man on the third floor of his building sleeps every night with his head stuck out of the window, and then the tenant signed the lease.

"His precaution was due to fear of burglars. He has learned, he says, that the best burglar alarm ever invented is the fresh-air cure. Not even the doctors who advise it know so well as the second-story men how many people sleep with their heads out of the window. They know because the habit interferes with their business. Whole blocks that used to be profitable hunting grounds for burglars are now so much waste space because two or three persons in the block go to bed with the upper half of the body protruding beyond the window sill. Outdoor sleepers may sleep comfortably, but they sleep lightly. The second-story man cannot make a noise half a block away without waking them and giving the alarm."

Get Busy, Keep Busy

Lord Strathcona, the famous Canadian, who left Scotland 73 years ago bearing the name of Donald Alexander Smith, holds peculiar views about the qualities necessary to promote success in life. During a recent speech he said: 'Do not despise what you are. Be satisfied for the time, not grumbling and finding fault. Do the work yourself; don't wait for friends to use their influence on your behalf; don't depend on the help of others. Apart from what we call genius, I believe one man is able to do as well as any other, provided the opportunity presents itself, and he is blessed with good health. Much of what I would advise young men to do is contained in the old counsel, 'Trust in God and keep your powder dry.'"

Had Lord Strathcona been inclined to fret or worry over disappointments he would certainly not have lived to the old age of 91 years which he has attained.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

HON. E. L. WETMORE

When the Habeas Corpus Act was extended to the North West Territories in 1887, Hon. Edward L. Wetmore was chosen one of the judges called for to fill the seats of power in the five judicial districts then created to form the Supreme Court of the Territories and filling that post to the satisfaction of all lovers of law and order, there came, in 1907 the higher honor of appointment as Chief Justice of Saskatchewan.

Born at Fredericton, N.B., in 1841 young Wetmore got the ground work of his education at the local grammar school, following on to King's College there, now the University of New Brunswick, and at the early age of 23 was called to the bar. This was a particularly good beginning and the townsmen and other admirers who took the liberty of prognosticating, were, as results proved in no way rash when they scheduled for the youthful son of Fredericton, many honors under the legal banner, to arrive well in advance of the average retiral stage. Following on a number of years duty as deputy clerk of the Crown, Mr. Wetmore became a Queen's Council in 1881; was president of the New Brunswick Barristers' Society in 1886-87; and for the same term acted as representative of Alumni Association in the University Senate. In 1883 he took the field as an active politician with designs on a seat in the New Brunswick Legislature. An interesting campaign resulted in his being chosen representative for York County, and during the session that followed he made a very acceptable leader of the opposition. The North West called him in 1887, and since then, in addition to the honors already referred to, the Honorable gentleman was selected Chancellor of the Saskatchewan University in 1907, and chairman of the Committee for the consolidation of the laws of the province that same year. Amidst his multitudinous legal and social calls, Mr. Wetmore finds some spare hours to devote to fishing and shooting, and has put up some good records under both headings. He is also a strong admirer of the game of cricket, and from the earlier days brings the honor of being able to hold up a strong wicket.

HON. EDWARD L. WETMORE
Chief Justice Saskatchewan

Mr. F. W. G. HAULTAIN, K.C.

Son of Lieut.-Col. W. F. Haultain, R.A., and born at Woolwich, Eng., in November of 1857, Mr. F. W. G. Haultain of the Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly, was an atom in the Dominion census returns while yet too young to take anything like a live interest in the proceedings, his youthful school days being spent at the Montreal High. In course of time the young man passed on to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and subsequently to Toronto University with inclinations towards law, and in 1882 was called to the Toronto bar at the age of twenty-five. Very early his interests centred on things political and half a dozen years later his friends — and they are by no means few — were able to congratulate him as member of the North-West Assembly, where he remained until its dissolution, occupying the Premier's chair from 1897 until the division of the old North West Territory into two new provinces. At the first general election following (1905) Mr. Haultain was returned to the Saskatchewan Legislature, and followed on from the general election of 1908. He represented the North West Territories at the Coronation of His Majesty in 1902.

INCLEMENT WEATHER PULLS DOWN KEENE FAIR ATTENDANCE

Orillia Belle and Silver Dick Won the Races on Heavy Track.

The annual exhibition of the Otonabee Agricultural Society at Keene yesterday was not up to the usual mark owing to the heavy rain of Tuesday night and the following dull weather. The attendance was not so large as last year and the exhibit list not so heavy though the quality of the exhibits was of a very high order. The class of horses shown was especially good. The horse races were a disappointment to many as the track was so muddy that several of the owners did not start their horses and there were only two entries in each race.

The midway lacked the familiar sounds of "Hoop-la," etc., but the visitors confined their attentions to viewing the exhibits and to the races. The Alderville Brass Band was present and rendered a program throughout the afternoon. This band is composed entirely of Indian musicians from the vicinity of Roseneath and they acquit themselves very creditably.

FOOT RACES.

William Smoke, cousin of his namesake at Chemong, won the footrace from a field of four. John Fletcher, a Keene lad, came in second and the other two competitors dropped out after they had ambled about one-third of a mile. Smoke is a promising runner. The track was in poor condition and he was not timed as he could not be expected to cover the ground with near his usual speed.

HORSE RACES.

No time was kept on the horse races either. In the open race "Orillia Bell" and "Tom Tariff" were started and "Orillia Bell" won all three heats. The race was fairly well contested but the winner always had enough sprint left and knocking hem down to carry her under the wire in the lead

"Silver Dick" won all three heats in the green race from "Jim Hall." Mr. A. Elmhirst is handling "Silver Dick" and Mr. Fred Spiers "Jim Hall." "Orillia Bell" was driven by Mr. H. Elmhirst and "Tom Tariff" by Mr. C. Fife.

The judges of the races were Messrs. R. N. Munro and H. Winch, both of Peterborough.

THE EXHIBITS

As mentioned above the class of horses was exceptionally pleasing. A noticeable fact was the absence of Peterborough horses, in fact there were very few local exhibitors in any class. The prospects Tuesday pointed to a record exhibit list, but no doubt the rain kept quite a number away. The other classes of live stock were up to the mark in quality, but not in quantity.

There were the usual large turnips, mangolds, squash, etc., for which the township of Otonabee is noted, but there were very few potatoes in evidence, probably owing to the fact that the crop in that vicinity is not up to the usual standard. The fruit was not very plentiful either.

PRIZE DONORS

Among the donors of special prizes were Messrs. J. H. Burnham, M.P.-elect, J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., J. J. Thompson, M.P.P., Grafton & Co., H. LeBrun & Co., J. T. C. Laing & Co., The Geo. Matthews Co., Peter Hamilton Co., and R. Hall & Son.

GRAFTON & CO. EXHIBIT

Grafton & Co., the enterprising clothiers had a large tent on the grounds in which were exhibited samples of the goods carried by the firm.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Messrs. E. S. Hopkins and J. P. Sackville, the representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in this district, were present with a large tent. To demonstrate the value of spraying and pruning fruit trees they had apples grown on trees pruned and sprayed and others from those which did not receive this attention on exhibit.

A three year old spruce seedling, which stood about one foot high and which had been grown and was growing in sand, was shown to demonstrate to the public how the reforesting of the waste land was being carried on. Mr. Sackville explained to a Review representative that, in the vicinity of Norwood, on the farm of Mr. Greenback there was a piece of land which had been reforested in this manner as an experiment.

Fertilizers and drainage plans were also shown, and bulletins were distributed among the agriculturists present.

A light shower of rain hastened the breaking up of the Fair, which took place about 4 o'clock.

CONCERT IN TOWN HALL.

The town hall was filled to capacity in the evening, when a grand concert was given under the auspices of the Improvement Society of the village.

Mr. "Billy" White, of Toronto, the humorist, was assisted by Miss Ada Davis soprano vocalist, also of Toronto, while Miss Margaret Bryce, of Keene, was the accompanist of the evening.

The program was a very acceptable one and was highly appreciated by the enthusiastic audience. Mr. White is a splendid entertainer, and Miss Davis, the soloist, has a beautiful voice. She was encored at every appearance, and responded unselfishly. Mr. White also had a busy evening. His merry witticisms kept the large audience in good humor all the time, and when he attempted to leave the stage he was repeatedly called back.

The Improvement Society is doing good work in beautifying the village. From the proceeds of concerts and concerts they have had cement side walks laid on two streets and trees planted. The society deserves the support of the residents.

BENSFORT BRIEFS

Special Correspondence.

Bensfort, Oct. 4.—The Lorenz writer in last week's issue was somewhat abusive to all the sections of this community from which correspondence had appeared. While we again agree with him as to the non-existence of Lakeview and Douglasville, he did not state that a gate had to be opened in order to reach Lorenz, and in view of this fact we consider Bensfort has the only just claim. He also insinuated that Bensfort and Lakeview should not disagree as regards telling the truth best. We have taken exception to some of the statements of the Lakeview writer, and if the Lorenz writer wishes to repudiate any of our statements we are open for such criticism, and on our part we hope that the Lorenz writer may be as truthful as we have been.

CUPID THRIVES AT INDIAN RIVER

Mr. Robert Tedford of Warsaw shipped a mixed car of cattle and sheep from here to Toronto, Monday last.

A few attended the Keene Fair Wednesday, but the majority of people are holding other spare cash for Norwood, the last fair, but not the least of the season.

It is rather complimentary to the girls of Indian River that the Peterborough boys have to come out here to find life partners. Two within a week have been removed to the city. Our bachelors of this district should not allow it, and there are a few of them here too.

Mr. Maurice Firzgerald lost a foal last week.

Mr. Joseph Whibbs, Peterborough visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Whibbs over Sunday. Thos. Whibbs of the G.T.R. and Miss Mae, Peterborough are home for a week.

WOODHALL—TOUCHBURN.

The marriage of Elva Eloise, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Touchburne, Cavan, to Dr. Frank Woodhall, of Binbrook, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Woodhall, of Hamilton, took place very quietly at St. John's church, Cavan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Allen. The bride who was given away by her father, wore a blue tailored suit with hat to match. After the ceremony a reception was held at "Pinehurst," the home of the bride's parents. Dr. and Mrs. Woodhall left on the 4.38 train for New York and other points. On their return they will reside at Binbrook, Ont.

MINISTER IS HOT ON IT

Reciprocity Gets Pastor Into Some Trouble

Montreal, Oct. 5.—An interesting visitor to Montreal this week is Rev. J. J. McCaskill, the Presbyterian clergyman of St. John, N.B., whose action in taking the stump for reciprocity during the recent campaign brought strong criticism from his presbytery and a request for his resignation from the trustees of his church.

Rev. Mr. McCaskill is not taking his church difficulties seriously, and despite the trouble which his position caused, continues to discuss politics as freely as ever. He still believes in reciprocity.

"What was it moved you to this breach with your church and associates?" Mr McCaskill was asked.

"Simply," he said, "because the importance to the country of the issue of free trade in natural products dwarfs any question of the personal relation of a clergyman to the ecclesiastic organization or of a pastor to his congregation.

"The Presbytery has criticized me for my action in the matter. Their criticism might be just if the issue were not so serious."

DROWNED IN DUST

Five Men Lose Their Lives in Coal Mines

Freeland, Pa., Oct. 5.—Five men, all foreigners with families, lost their lives at a Lehigh Valley Coal Co. mine at Drifton Tuesday night in a most unusual accident. Two other men had narrow escapes.

The laborers were working on a huge culm bank, repairing a drag line attached to an apparatus that carries refuse from the mines to the top of the culm heap. Near them was a large wooden stack, connected with an air shaft running into the mine. The stack suddenly collapsed, and the fine coal refuse started to run into the mine, opening like quicksand, drew the men into a vortex, precipitated them 70 feet into the mine, and covered them with tons of dust.

FIFTEEN TURKS ARE KILLED AT TRIPOLI

Taking of City More Like an Execution Than a Fight---Great Britain Urges a Compromise Over Tripoli.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW.

Rome, Oct. 6.—The occupation of Tripoli by the Italian troops was officially announced to-day. Admiral Aubrey telegraphed that fifteen Turks were killed and twenty fatally wounded by the bombardment.

London, Oct. 6.—The Italian flag floats over Sultana fort at Tripoli, which is occupied by landing parties. Part of the fleet is anchored in the harbor and the other warships lie a short distance from the dismantled fortifications. Few bodies of Turks have been found among the ruins of the forts, and apparently no great number of Turks were killed by the bombardment.

According to a Constantinople report, not yet confirmed, the Italian warships yesterday bombarded Benghazi and Derna. Various rumors concerning a naval engagement in Turkish waters, an attack against Mytileno and the blowing up of the Italian battleship Conte di Cavour at Tripoli have not been confirmed from any quarter.

An interesting report is current from Constantinople that while Germany favors the adoption of the Italian ultimatum as the basis of peace negotiations, Great Britain proposes that Tripoli shall become a privileged tributary Turkish vilayet under joint Turco-Italian administration, thus retaining the suzerainty of the Sultan.

Volunteer For Service.

Rome, Oct. 6.—Five thousand soldiers, natives of Erythraea, the Italian protectorate in Africa, have offered themselves for service in Tripoli.

Senator the Duke Carafa d'Andio has re-entered the army as a captain of cavalry.

Prince Prospero Coloma, who was formerly mayor of Rome, and is now a senator, has returned to the service as a major of cavalry.

The Giornale d'Italia says that detachments of marines have been landed at Tripoli to protect the consulate, the Italian church and hospital.

Aviators To Be Sent.

Naples, Oct. 6.—Nine military aviators with eight monoplanes and two biplanes will be sent to Tripoli. The aviators will be commanded by Capt. Piazza, who won the air race from Bologne to Venice.

To Mobilize Reserves.

Athens, Oct. 6.—Besides calling out the reservists in Epirus on Oct. 3, the Government proposes to mobilise part of the reserves in Thessaly. The number will be limited to a few thousand—sufficient to protect the frontier against any attempted coup on the part of Turkey. A circular will be sent to the Powers.

Changes His Mind.

Corfu, Oct. 6.—The ultimatum of Vice-Admiral, the Duke of Abruzzi, threatening to bombard Prevesa, has been withdrawn.

Italians Landing.

Malta, Oct. 6.—Fugitives from Tripoli who arrived last night, say that small parties of Italians are landing all along the coast from Tripoli to Berghazi. It is believed, however, that there will be no landing in force until the main expedition arrives. Small bodies of Arabs skirmished with the landing parties.

Called From Switzerland.

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 6.—Six thousand Italians living in Switzerland have been called to the reserves, but a large proportion of them have refused to go. Meetings of protest have been held, and some hundreds have declared that they will renounce their nationality and become Swiss subjects, rather than serve under the colors.

GEO. BURY TO SUCCEED WHITE

Announcement of Managership of Western Lines

Montreal, Oct. 6.—It was definitely announced from Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters yesterday morning that Mr. George Bury, general manager of western lines, had been appointed vice-president and general manager of the western lines, in succession to Sir William Whyte, recently retired.

Mr. Bury, who has had 28 years in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, started his railway career as a clerk in the purchasing department of that company.

From February, 1904, to March, 1908, Mr. Bury was general superintendent of the central division at Winnipeg, and in March, 1908, was made general manager of the western lines.

C. P. R.'s New Steamer.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—A cablegram received at the Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters announces that their new Canadian Pacific steamship "The Princess Alice" arrived at St. Vincent on its way to Vancouver, on Tuesday. This is the new steamship that the C.P.R. had built for their triangular Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run.

Russell and the Pinkertons.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—Pinkerton detectives were much in evidence at yesterday's session of the Russell conspiracy case trial. The entire afternoon was taken up with the testimony of Allan Pinkerton himself, Supt. Doughtery, head of the Pinkerton New York office during the time in which the alleged conspiracy against Mr. Russell was being planned, and Mr. McNamara, Montreal manager.

Most of the evidence consisted in straight denials of the charges of conspiracy. All the Pinkerton men denied any knowledge of any conspiracy and the only other feature was Mr. Dougherty's description of the Plaza conference, to which frequent reference has been made during the trial.

Fell In With Thieves.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—George Bisson, 72 years of age, who told the police here that he came from Saranac, Clinton County N.Y., arrived in the city Tuesday night, coming here to look for his son, George Bisson. He went along Windsor street asking all the people he met if they knew the young man.

After having asked twenty or more persons, he met a couple of men who pretended to know his son, and took him to a house where they relieved him of his money and a gold watch. The police are looking for the thieves and will do all in their power to help the old gentleman find his son.

ARTHUR SHERIDAN WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER OF FORD

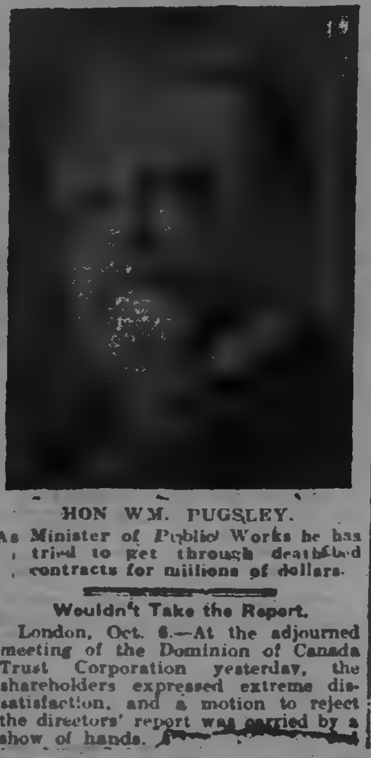
Trial Next Week Will Bring on Stand Twenty-Five Witnesses.

Orillia, Oct. 6.—The trial of Arthur Sheridan, charged with the murder of Ross Ford, will take place at Barrie next week at the Fall Assizes, before Chancellor Boyd. The assizes open on Tuesday.

The trial will occupy two or three days. The crown will present over 25 new witnesses, in addition to those who testified at the preliminary trial here, and will endeavor to disprove that Sheridan killed Ford in self-defence, as Sheridan claims. Sheridan will be defended by J. T. Mulcahy of Orillia, while Crown Attorney Cotter will prosecute.

The tragedy occurred on the night of August 9, at a country dance held at George Duff's, about four miles north of this town. They had been on bad terms, but left Duff's together, coming down the road towards Orillia. About 100 yards from Duff's gate Sheridan stabbed Ford several times with a knife. Sheridan walked up the road, and meeting others coming down, said, "Come quick, I have killed Ford." They found Ford lying on his face in a pool of blood, still alive. When asked if he was dying, Ford replied, "No. Sheridan stabbed me. Send for a doctor." He expired in less than five minutes.

Sheridan made an effort to escape, but was captured after a chase lasting 36 hours. He claims Ford attacked him first, hitting him in the eye and knocking him down.



HON WM. PUGSLEY.

As Minister of Public Works he has tried to get through deathbed contracts for millions of dollars.

Wouldn't Take the Report.

London, Oct. 6.—At the adjourned meeting of the Dominion of Canada Trust Corporation yesterday, the shareholders expressed extreme dissatisfaction, and a motion to reject the directors' report was carried by a show of hands.

Police Court Hearing of Charge Against Brown.

Morden, Man., Oct. 6.—The postponed preliminary hearing of the case against George Brown held at the provincial jail here, charged with attempted rape on the person of Mrs. Frank Patterson, formerly Miss Gladys Price, the Riverdale school teacher, and also the attempted murder of William Adams, the Snowflake hotel proprietor, came up before Police Magistrate Lake at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Patterson gave a clear and vivid description of her connection with the case, never faltering throughout her evidence.

Charles McMillan, who followed Mrs. Patterson on the stand, and to whom it was first reported the prisoner had confessed when arrested at Hannah, N.D., stated what the prisoner had told him, practically corroborating the evidence given by Miss Price and conclusively showing that the prisoner had had no improper connection with the former witness.

Magistrate Lake, after summing up the evidence of the abduction case, committed the prisoner to stand trial at the fall assizes, which are to be held here on the twenty-fourth of October. The case of attempted murder was then dealt with. William Adams, the first witness, in giving his evidence, stated that he could not identify the prisoner as the party who shot him during the time of the man-hunt in the Snowflake district, but he gave a description of what occurred during the night of the shooting.

The magistrate, after hearing the evidence in the shooting case, directed that the prisoner be sent upon the shooting case as well as that of attempted rape and that he be confined in the local jail until the assizes.

Couldn't Stand Criticism.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Owing to the criticism directed at him because of the fatal accident at Syracuse, Lee Oldfield announced last night that he had decided not to participate in the 200-mile Fairmount Park motor race on Saturday. Oldfield was engaged to pilot a 90-horsepower Fiat, owned by F. S. Hodson of this city. When he appeared for the first practice spin at the course yesterday he heard a number of criticisms and became so unnerved that he decided to withdraw.

Big Freighters Grounded.

Winnipeg, Oct. 6.—A despatch from Fort William, Ont., says the steamer Rosedale, of the Inland Line, and the Plummer, of the Merchants Mutual Line, are on the rocks at Iroquois Point, near the Soo.

FOUND FIVE MORE BODIES

Work of Searching Austin Wreck Continues

Wreckage is Drawn Away When Buildings Fall

Austin, Pa., Oct. 6.—In a day's work of overhauling the wreckage here, due to the breaking of the dam last Saturday, and the resultant flood, five additional bodies were accounted for yesterday. Four complete bodies and the nether limbs of an adult female, supposed to have weighed about 200 pounds, are in the morgue, in such condition that their immediate disposition has been ordered. The dead recovered to date number 50, with about 25 more to be accounted for, according to the more or less accurate census by which the casualties are checked off.

Of the bodies recovered yesterday three were children, one a two-year-old boy with white hair, and Clarence Barnes, aged 5, and Herbert Reese, aged 3 years. The only adult found was Mrs. Ann Fitzgerald. All had been washed some distance below the village, down the valley toward Costello.

Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon last night received notification from Philadelphia that the Pennsylvania Railroad has sent out a circular to all its representatives and agents to accept and forward without charge all goods directed or consigned to the relief committee at Austin.

All day long yesterday the crush of falling buildings resounded over the debris-strewn plain where Austin stood before it was swept by the disastrous flood of Saturday. As fast as the buildings fell or were torn apart sledges or drays were piled to their capacity and the wreckage drawn away. One of the worst obstacles is the thousands of cords of hemlock slabs or pulpwood that were swept down from the Bayless Pulp & Paper Mill, where the dam that gave way and caused the flood, was located.

METHODISTS SEEK A CAUSE FOR THE DECLINE IN VIGOR

More Work for the Welfare of the Artisan—Net Loss in Work in Great Britain Causes Considerable Concern.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—After the spiritual uplift and fraternizing of the opening day the sessions of the fourth Ecumenical Methodist Conference yesterday were devoted strictly to business. It was a time of stock-taking, and the progress of Methodism in the world in the last ten years was compiled and reviewed, along with the place of Methodism in the Church Universal.

Speaking for the western section in the morning, Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, and for the eastern section in the afternoon, Rev. Simpson Johnson, London, pointed to a decline in the growth of the church. For the first five years of the last decade there had been a splendid gain in numbers, but at the end in America the progress had fallen below that of the previous decade; in Great Britain the net result was a loss. This was not due, as Mr. Johnson pointed out, to a lack of equipment or organization, and the church was on its mettle to find the real cause. There was a call for a great spiritual awakening, a return to the old principles of Methodism with an application to new conditions.

The serious nature of the discussion developed in the afternoon, when objection was made to a disposal of the subject when a motion to adjourn was made on account of the civic reception. "This is too important to let go," was the invariable comment. Before the discussion was closed Rev. C. Ensors Walters pointed out the significance of the social unrest in England. The great mass meetings of workingmen on Sundays called for attention. This affected the life of the church. While these meetings are not held in the name of Jesus Christ, they reflect His spirit. This has demonstrated that the mass of the artisans may be gathered in Methodist halls in the interests of the Master. "I know of no more hopeful view in Great Britain to-day than this," he said, "that on Sunday afternoons you can find hard-headed, intelligent workingmen meeting together who are interested in the Kingdom of God."

Another feature of equal importance was the statement of Rev. Dr. Mason, who pointed to the control which the negro had exercised in the face of injustice. He voiced a loud protest against industrial or higher education. "What the negro wants, what the negro must have," he declared, "is ethical and moral training. To be given fair play as a man."

Two Indian delegates faced the large audience in the evening to give their brief testimony to the spread of the Gospel among their race.

Bank Manager Transferred.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 6.—Charles Dobin, for two years manager of the Niagara Falls Centre branch of the Royal Bank, yesterday received notice of his appointment to a responsible position at the bank's head office, which he will assume next week.

When the derrick on the Canadian Niagara Power Co.'s construction work collapsed yesterday afternoon, two men were injured. Thomas Sullivan sustained a broken arm. W. Levan was slightly injured, but was able to resume work shortly after.

Beresford Hurrying Home.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 6.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, owing to the political situation created by the declaration of hostilities between Italy and Turkey will shorten his stay in Canada. Instead of leaving Nov. 3, he sails from Quebec on Oct. 20. He expects to take a share in the debate in the House of Commons, as naval matters are sure to demand much attention.

Sloop Almost Foundered.

Kingston, Oct. 6.—The sloop Ariadne owned by Capt. Burnside this city, who was in charge, was struck by a heavy gale at the gap and almost went down. She was stripped of her masts when a passing steamer towed her to shelter. She was grain-laden on the way to Belleville.

The steamer Pellatt, ashore near Iroquois for two weeks, was released after two bargeloads of freight were taken off.

Had Disputed His Father's Will, After Being Disinherited.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—Oswald Grosser, a man who is serving ten years' imprisonment for shooting the clerk of the Supreme Court at Leipzig, and wounding one of the judges in 1908, has become a multi-millionaire through the suicide of his brother, Dr. Grosser, of Bonn, who felt that he could not survive the death of his wife.

Oswald Grosser was the black sheep of the family, and was totally disinherited by his father, a Berlin millionaire. He went to America as a pauper, and many years afterwards disputed his father's will. When he finally lost the case he drew two revolvers and fired blindly at the judge's bench. Now he inherits the vast fortune and magnificent villa left by his brother.

Heirs to $85,000,000?

New York, Oct. 6—The missing heirs of the so-called Churchill estate in Newfoundland, said to be worth $85,000,000 are believed to have been found, according to a New York attorney. For almost a hundred years these heirs, known as the Halfyards, have been sought for. Mrs. Elizabeth Halfyard was the daughter of John Churchill, whose descendants, it is contended, own all the City of St. John's and other properties on the island.

A woman of sixty years of age, and of evident refinement, has just arrived in New York with the announcement that she is Mrs. R. B. Stevens, nee Halfyard. With her is a niece, Edith Halfyard, the daughter of Samuel Halfyard. They come from Montreal.

AUTO RAN AMUCK

Oshawa Woman Killed on Toronto Street

Toronto, Oct. 6.—Owing to the sudden and unaccountable shearing through of a tiny pin which controls the feed of gasoline and, therefore, the speed of the car, a motor car driven by Roy F. Brintnell, ran amuck on Yonge street at 5.40 last night, striking Mrs. Elizabeth Salter of Oshawa, who had come to Toronto with her husband for a day's shopping, and was walking in the street with him. Mrs. Salter died a few minutes later in the hospital. John Skerrett, a passerby, was severely shaken.

The account of the accident given by Mr. Britnell and by several witnesses who told of it to the police differ.

Mr. Britnell says that he was driving south and was running at a safe and sane rate, when suddenly the pin controlling this sheared through and his heavy touring car leaped forward almost upon a wagon which was being driven directly in front of him. He says that he immediately applied the emergency brakes and that this swerved his car to the curb, where it struck a post and came to a stop.

Mrs. Salter, he says, was struck as she stepped into the roadway and the boy whose wheel was destroyed was riding close to the curb.

The motor car drove away almost immediately after the accident, but both Mr. Britnell and the young man who was with him in the car turned up at the General Hospital shortly after the woman's arrival there. There Britnell was taken into custody and a charge of manslaughter was laid. He was later bailed out by his father upon a $2,000 bond.

Acting County Crown Attorney Monahan was notified and the matter was referred to Coroner J. M. Cotton, who will open an inquest at the morgue this afternoon, where the body was removed last night.

The boy who was struck was not severely injured, but his bicycle was demolished.

Labor Wins West Australia.

Perth, West Australia, Oct. 6.—Hon. Frank Wilson's Ministry has been defeated in the state elections, present returns showing a labor majority of six.

This is another triumph for labor in Australia, the party having last year regained power in the Commonwealth Parliament by a majority over all of eleven.

The Legislative Assembly of Western Australia contains fifty members elected for three years, the Council or Upper House having thirty members, elected for six years.

Premier Wilson assumed that office last year, having previously been Minister of Agriculture.

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

The change in the public school regulations made by Dr. Pyne, whereby the teacher is prevented from giving religious teaching to the children in a prescribed period after school hours is a wise and commendable move, and its justice cannot be disputed by any fair minded person. The existing right of any clergyman, be he a Roman Catholic or a Presbyterian or a Methodist, or a clerical representative of any other denomination to conduct a religious teaching after school hours to those children who are free to remain, is unimpaired. The regular teacher cannot take the place of any clergyman, however, or act as the agent of any church in conducting such teaching, and thus her peculiar influence with the pupils is not given a chance for exercise, in the promoting of the views of the church to which she herself adheres.

As a matter of fact we believe that the principle of permitting the use of the public schools for the furtherance of what in the end is purely denominational instruction— teaching the peculiar dogmas or tenets of a church—is entirely wrong. The public schools should be entirely secular in nature, with only the Bible reading and prayers as prescribed by the department. But among many people in Ontario there seems to be an idea prevalent that it is necessary to use every opportunity to inoculate the youthful system with the rudiments of religion, lest the golden opportunity be lost. This would be all right, were those rudiments of such a general character that when the youth came to the discretionary period, he had not developed the prejudices regarding minor points of belief that separate one denomination from another. But the teaching of youth in religious matters in nearly every case is not the broad Gospel of man's salvation, but the drilling into the youth of religious prejudice that narrows his vision even in the years of maturity and wisdom.

However, Dr. Pyne is absolutely right in preventing the public school teachers from giving religious instruction as the agents of any sect or denomination.

THE MARRIAGE VOW

Here we have a solution to all the marital troubles and difficulties that men and women experience. The removal from the marriage service of the word "obey" is necessary, and according to Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, a leading suffragist of Boston, the following substitution would cure many of the troubles of married life:

> I take thee to be my wedded husband, to have and to hold, etc., in sickness and in health, to love, honor and cherish, until death me do part.
>
> I promise to aid and assist my husband (or wife) in every way, and to help him (or her) to uphold his (or her) political views, and I agree to settle all marital difficulties out of court.

Miss Blackwell said: "The word 'obey' in the marriage service is now generally being objected to, and many women, whether believers in suffrage or not, refuse to repeat it in the marriage service. I think suffragists would very generally concur in advising its removal from the marriage ceremony.

"Many years ago there used to be a religious organization known as the 'Militia of Jesus Christ.' In their marriage ceremony each party to the contract agreed to do all that was possible to aid in the other's attempt to further the cause of Christianity.

"It was from this that I got the suggestion of putting in a slightly varied form for the use of believers in suffrage."

It will be noted that the suggestion calls for the husband and wife to support each other in their political views but what if they are different? Which one must do the flopping? And as to settling domestic difficulties out of court, what would be the method? Would it be the rolling pin or the kitchen poker, or the broom handle? If two people strongly disagree, how can they settle the trouble themselves?

CABINET GUESSES

In all the cabinet making that is going on, in the newspapers, there are many wild guesses given. The cabinet will probably be announced on Monday, and the Review offers a guess along with the others. Whether we will desire to forget this prediction on Monday or will present it as an evidence of political acumen, of course remains to be seen. This is merely a guess worth as much and nothing more, than the other guesses—for no one knows what surprises Mr. Borden has in store.

Hon Robert Rogers as minister of interior; Dr. Roche as Manitoba's representative; Hon. Frank Cochrane, Hon. J. D. Hazen, premier of New Brunswick; Mr. G. H. Perley (without portfolio), A. S. Goodeve, from British Columbia; Senator Lougheed, of Calgary, as Alberta's representative; T. W. Crothers, of St. Thomas; C. J. Doherty, of Montreal; T. Chase Casgrain, F. D. Monk, (if he will), Col. Hugh Clark, as minister of militia; C. A. Magrath, for whom a seat will be found; and possibly W. T. White, of Toronto, in the finance department. Hon. George E. Foster may get the Trade and Commerce department.

MR. BORDEN'S PLATFORM

Now that Mr. Borden is in power, and must redeem his pre-election pledges, which were of a very extensive character, it is very interesting to note his written platform. From the ten paragraphs in this platform it will be seen that if Mr. Borden is able to carry out these provisions, he is going to inaugurate the most radical and constructive period in Canada's political history. For instance, take the question of public highways. That is a provincial matter entirely, and the Laurier government has been content to let the provinces devote what resources they could spare towards the good roads movement. But if the Dominion government can assist the provincial governments in the good roads movement, what a blessing it will be to the farmers of Canada! The extension of the rural free mail delivery is another project for the modernising and brightening of life on the farm, bringing the farmer into closer and quicker touch with the world at large.

But the big promises are the government construction and operation of the Hudson's Bay railway, the granting of their natural resources to the prairie provinces, the government control and operation of terminal elevators, the chilled meat industry assistance. Many of these great constructive policies were ignored by the Liberals, but with Mr. Borden's coming we may look for an era of great expansion and development of the facilities to widen trade, and at the same time build up Canada for Canadians every time. It is a program of distinctive national development that Mr. Borden has promised to carry out. His platform was:

"1. A thorough reorganisation of the method by which public expenditure is supervised. The increase in what is known as ordinary controllable expenditure from $21,300,000 in 1896 to nearly $74,000,000 in 1911 is proof of extravagance beyond any possible denial.

"2. The granting of their natural resources to the Prairie Provinces.

"3. The construction of the Hudson Bay Railway and its operation by independent commission.

"4. The control and operation by the state of the terminal elevators.

"5. The necessary encouragement for establishing and carrying on the chilled meat industry.

"6. The establishment of a permanent tariff commission.

"7. The granting of substantial assistance towards the improvement of our public highways.

"8. The extension of free rural mail delivery.

"9. The extension of civil service reform.

"10. The granting of liberal assistance to the provinces for the purpose of supplementing and extending the work of agricultural education and for the improvement of agriculture.

"And lastly, we pledge ourselves to a course of policy and administration which will maintain independent and unimpaired the control of our own affairs by the parliament of Canada; a policy which, while affording no just cause of complaint to any foreign nation, will find its highest ideal in the autonomous development of Canada as a nation within the British Empire."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now that the Italians have got Tripoli, it is to be supposed that the object of the war has been accomplished, and that there will be no more pursuit of the sick man.

The laying of a cement walk across Central Park seems to be greatly delayed, for some reason. It should be done this fall, as the mud in the spring is something terrible to behold.

Whatever the Turks may be, they are no mean fighters when they get half a chance. The Moslem cares not for death, and strikes with fury against the Christian.

SANTAL-MIDY

MIDY

Britain was appealed to by Turkey as the greatest "Mohammedan power on earth." Which is true. The great sweep of British dominion and control is emphasized by this very fact. And Britain is probably the greatest of the Christian nations of the earth.

The correspondents at Tripoli were taken out of the town, on board the Italian warships, while the bombardment was taking place, and thus were "bottled up" effectually—they had no means of sending dispatches. Most have been a lot of cigarets smoked in that period of forced inaction.

The probable course of the government in the Farmers Bank case will be the appointment of a commission to investigate all conditions as to the rendering of the charter. This commission would not be appointed by the Laurier government, naturally, as the government did not want these matters raked up too closely, but there is no reason why the Borden administration should not probe into the matter for the sake of the people of Canada.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a. m. will now leave at 7.00 a. m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.30, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p. m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro' at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all Eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

Storm on Lake Ontario.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—All day yesterday Lake Ontario was agitated by one of the heaviest gales of the year, which paralyzed all navigation. A strong westerly wind was in evidence early in the morning and as the day progressed it steadily increased in velocity, till late in the afternoon the wind was blowing at the rate of 56 miles an hour and showed no signs of abating.

None of the passenger boats with the exception of the Macassa made a regular trip, and very few tugs or other boats attempted to weather the storm.

Paid For Smashed Motor.

Brantford, Oct. 5.—Pop Williams, owner of the Berlin Ball Club, in the high court here yesterday was awarded $1,250 damages for loss of a motor car smashed by a Grand Trunk train on Gilkinson street last August. Evidence showed a lack of proper protection on the rear of the train which was being backed down the street.

Red tag day here netted the Woman's Hospital Auxiliary $2,300, augmenting the fund for the proposed nurses' home to over $14,000. Work on the new building, which will cost $25,000, will be started this fall.

Big Stick For Coalers.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Attorney-General Wickersham yesterday by filing a brief in the Supreme Court of the United States began his fight before that tribunal to have the principal coal carrying railroads and coal owning companies in the anthracite coal region adjudicated to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. An entirely different attack was made on the corporations from that in Pennsylvania, where the Government lost on nearly every point.

McGill Freshmen Lectured.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—When the McGill freshmen, charged with obstructing the police and interfering with traffic Tuesday night, pleaded guilty yesterday morning, Recorder Weir advised them to stick to the plow and the snow shovel and not to delve into the higher arts.

Sentence was postponed till to-day to see whether the students' council will impose sufficient punishment without a court sentence.

The recount in Shefford Co., Quebec, only reduced the Liberal majority from 30 to 24.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—There was no improvement in the foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat, and as buyers and sellers continue considerably apart in their views as to prices, little or no business is doing. The local market for oats is firm under a fairly good demand for car lots.

A good business is passing in spring wheat flour for local account, but we hear that some large contracts have been made with bakers recently at a cut in prices of 20c per barrel, but this is by no means general. There is a good enquiry from foreign buyers, but the prices bid are little out of line. Demand for bran and shorts is good, which is still scarce and very firm.

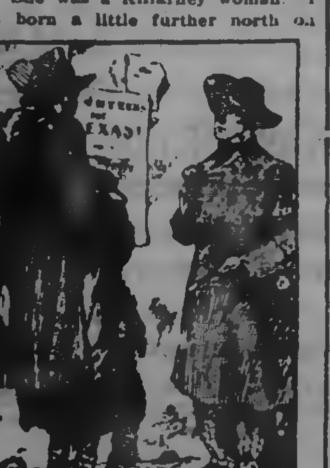
MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

"No, Mr. Rock; not that I'm aware of. She was a Killarney woman. I was born a little further north on the green island."



"SO YE'RE GOIN', AIR YE?"

"Wal, no matter what part o' it, you are welcome to Texas, I reck'n, or the States, either. Kearney—I like the name. It has a good ring, an' it'll sound all the better wi' captin' for a handle to 't—which it shall have afore 10 o'clock this night, if Cris Rock ain't astray in his recknin'. But come early to the readyvoo, so as to have time for a talk with the boys. There's somethin' in that, an' if ye'v got a $10.00 bill to spare stand treat all round. Thar's a good deal in that, too."

So saying, the Texan strode off, leaving Florence Kearney to reflect upon the counsel so opportunely extended.

CHAPTER II.

An Affair of the Heart.

"This is certainly rather odd," soliloquised Kearney, as he strode on. "Here am I going to fight for a country I care nothing about and against one with which I have no cause of quarrel. On the contrary, I have come 4,000 miles to visit it, as a peaceful, friendly traveler. Now I propose making entry into it, sword in hand, as an enemy and invader! Her native land, too! Bah!! What's the use of thinking about it, or about her? Luisa Valverde cares no more for me than the half score of others—these young Creole 'bloods, as they call themselves—who flit like butterflies around her. She's a sweet flower from which all of them would sip. Only one will succeed, and that's Carlos Santander. I hate the very sight of the man. I believe him to be a cheat and a scoundrel. No matter to her. The cheat she won't understand, and, if report speak true of her country and race, the scoundrel would scarcely disqualify him either. Merciful heavens! to think I should love this Mexican girl, warned as I've been about her countrywomen! 'Tis a fascination, and the sooner I get away from it and her presence, the better it may be for me. This Texas business offers a chance of escaping. If I find she cares not for me, it will be a sort of satisfaction to think that in fighting against her country I may in a way humiliate herself. Ah, Texas! If you find in me a defender, it will not be from patriotic love of you."

CHAPTER III.

Officering the Filibusters.

The volunteer rendezvous was in a tavern, better known by the name of "Coffee House," in the street called Poydras. The room which had been chartered for the occasion was of ample dimensions, capable of containing 300 men. Drawn together by the printed proclamation which had attracted the attention of the young Irishman two-thirds of the above number had collected, and of these at least one-half were determined upon proceeding to Texas.

Present in the hall were representatives of almost every civilized nation upon earth. Even some that could scarcely boast of civilisation, for among the faces seen around the room were many so covered with beards and so browned with sun, as to tell of long sojourn in savage parts, if not association with the savages themselves. In obedience to the counsel of the Texan, Florence Kearney—a candidate for command over this adventurous crew—made early appearance in their midst. Not so early as to find that, on entering the room, he was a stranger to its occupants. Cris Rock had been there before him, along with a half-score of his confreres—old Texans of the pure breed—who having taken part in most of the struggles of the young republic, had strayed back to New Orleans to recruit fresh comrades to aid them in propagating that principle which had first taken them to Texas—the "Monroe Doctrine."

To these the young Irishman was at once confidentially introduced and "stood treat" freely. He would have done so without care of what was to come of it; since it was but the habit of his generous nation.

As yet Kearney had not looked upon his competitor, and was even ignorant of his name. Soon, however, it was communicated to him, just as the man himself, escorted by a number of friends, made his appearance in the room. The surprise of the young Irishman may be imagined when he saw before him one already known and too well known—his rival in the affections of Luisa Valverde!

Yes; Carlos Santander was also a candidate for the command of the filibusters.

To Kearney the thing was a surprise, and something besides. He knew Santander to be on terms of very friendly and intimate relationship not only with Don Ignacio, but other Mexicans he had met at the exile's house. Strange that the Creole should be aspiring to the leadership of a band about to invade their country! For it was invasion the Texans now talked of, in retaliation for a late raid of the Mexicans to their capital, San Antonio. But these banished Mexicans being enemies of Santa Anna it was after all not so unnatural. By humiliating the Dictator, they would be aiding their own party to get back into power—even though the help came from their hereditary foemen, the squatters of Texas.

But he had no opportunty for indulging in conjectures—only time to exchange frowns at his rival and competitor, when a man in undress uniform—a Texan colonel—who acted as chairman of the meeting, mounting upon a table, cried "Silence!" and, after a short, pithy speech, proposed that the election of officers should at once proceed. The proposal was seconded, no one objecting, and, without further parley, the "balloting" began.

The election was conducted in the most primitive and simple fashion. The names of the candidates were written upon slips of paper and distributed throughout the room—only the members who had formed the organization having the right to vote. Each of them chose the slip bearing the name of him he intended to vote for, and dropped it into a hat carried round for the purpose.

When all had deposited their ballots the hat was capsized and the bits of paper shaken out upon the table. The chairman, assisted by two other men examined the votes and counted them. Then ensued a short interval of silence, broken only by an occasional word of direction from the chairman, with the murmuring hum of the examiners, and at length came in a clear, loud voice—that of the Texan colonel—"The votes are in favor of Kearney! Florence Kearney elected captain by a majority of 38."

A cheer greeted the announcement, in which something like a screech from Cris Rock could be heard above all voices; while the giant himself was seen rushing through the crowd to clasp the hand of his protege, whom he had voluntarily assisted in promoting to a rank above himself.

During the excitement the defeated candidate was observed to skulk out of the room. Those who saw him go could tell by his look of sullen disappointment he had no intention of returning, and that the filibustering cohort was not likely to have the name, "Carlos Santander," any longer on its roll.

He was soon forgotten. The lieutenants were yet to be chosen. One after another—first, second and brevet—was proposed, balloted for an elected in the same way as the captain.

Then there was a choice of sergeants and corporals, till the organization was pronounced complete. In fine, fell a shower of congratulations Patriotic speeches also, in the true "spread-eagle" style, with applauding cheers, and jokes about Santa Anna and his cork-leg; when the company at length separated.

CHAPTER IV.

An Invitation to Supper.

Florence Kearney, parting from his new friends, the filibusters, sauntered forth upon the street.

On reaching the nearest corner he came to a stop, as if undecided which way to turn.

"Don Ignacio, at least, will expect me—wish me to come, whether she does or not. I accepted his invitation, and cannot well—oh! had I known what I do now—seen what I saw this morning—— Bah! I shall return to the hotel and never more go near her!"

But he did not return to his hotel, instead, still stood irresolute, as if the thing were worth further considering.

What made the young man act thus? Simply a belief that Luisa Valverde did not love him, and therefore, would not care to have him as a companion at supper; for it was to supper her father had asked him. On the day before he had received the invitation, and had accepted it. But he had seen something since which had made him half repent having done so, a man, Carlos Santander, standing beside the woman he loved, bending over her till his lips almost touched her forehead whispering words that were heard, and, to all appearance, heeded. What the words were Florence Kearney knew not, but could easily guess their nature. They could only be of love, for he saw the carmine on her cheeks as she listened to them.

He had no right to call the young lady to account. During all his intercourse with Don Ignacio, he had seen the daughter scarce half a score times; then only while passing out and in—to or from his lessons. Now and then a few snatches of conversation had occurred between them upon any chance theme—the weather, the study he was prosecuting (how he wished she had been his teacher), and the peculiarities of the New Orleans life, to which they were both strangers. Only once had she appeared to be in less danger of losing his life than his heart.

To this he thought she had listened, or seemed to listen, with more than ordinary attention, looking pensive as she made reply.

"Yes, Don Florence! you will see much in Mexico likely to give you gratification. 'Tis true, indeed, that hers, telling her of his intention to do so. On this occasion he had ventured to speak of what he had heard about Mexican banditti; still more of the beauty of the Mexican ladies—naively adding that he would no geared to take more than an ordinary interest in his speech. This, when he talked of Mexico, and having come from his own far land, "Irlandesa," with an enthusiastic desire to visit many of my countrywomen are fair—some very fair. Among them you will soon forget——"

Kearney's heart beat wildly, hoping he would hear the monosyllable "me." But the word was not spoken. In its place the phrase "us poor exiles," with which somewhat commonplace remark the young Mexican concluded her speech.

All this had occurred at an interview he had with her only the day before, and, since, sweet thoughts and hopes were his. But on the same morning they were shattered—crushed out by the spectacle he had witnessed, and the interpretation of those whispered words he had failed to hear. It had chased all hope out of his heart and sent him in wild, aimless strides along the street, just in the right frame of mind for being caught by that call which had attracted his eyes on the poster, and so had entered among the filibustering band to be chosen its chief.

To the young Irishman it was a day of strange experiences, varying as the changes of a kaleidoscope, more like a dream than reality, and after reflecting upon it all, he interrogated himself—

"Shall I see her again or not? Why not? If she's lost, she cannot be worse lost by my having another interview with her. Nor could I feel worse than I do now. Ah! with this laurel fresh placed upon my brow! What if I tell her of it—tell her I am about to enter her native land a an invader? If she cares for her country, that would spite her, and if I find she cares not for me her spite would give me pleasure." lover contemplating a visit to his sweetheart. Still, natural enough under the circumstances, and Florence Kearney, wavering no longer turned his steps towards that part of the city where dwelt Don Ignacio Valverde.

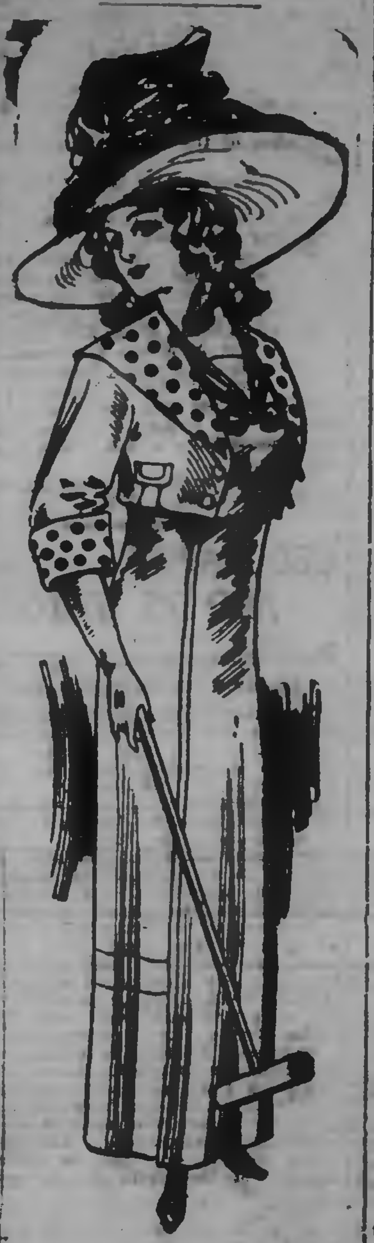
CHEAP FLOWER-POT COVERS

Take a piece of very stiff cardboard about twelve inches wide and twenty-four inches long, bend it gently until the ends meet, lap them over sufficiently, and fix together by tacking with needle and thread, or with some quick-drying glue. Cut some cretonne to fit the outside, and some plain sateen lining for the inside. Put these in place, and bind top and bottom over the edges of the cardboard with braid or ribbon. Attach a large rosette of baby ribbon to either side, and finish the edges top and bottom with cord. For smaller flower-pots, cut the cardboard according to size. These covers are very handy for slipping over unsightly pots, the pots being stood in saucers, which the covers will also hide.



WHITE SERGE COSTUME

Croquet seems to have returned to favor once more, judging by the interest shown in the game at several summer resorts, and some very attractive gowns are worn by the younger girls when playing. The one pictured above is a good example, and is made from a very lightweight serge, and employs the fashionable Eton jacket, with a deep shawl collar and turned cuffs of white-dotted apple green silk. The tie and bow in front are of black satin.

IN THE LAUNDRY

Black cotton fabrics should be washed in hot water. Use suds instead of rubbing with soap, and rinse in very blue water. When dry, dip in very thin black starch. Hang on the wrong side.

Fresh wine stains may be removed by dipping the stained part in a pan of milk boiling on the stove.

If you want a tablecloth to look like new every time it is washed, do not starch, but let it get perfectly dry, then dip it in hot water, and wring just so that it will not drip, lay it on the board, and iron it perfectly dry. It will take an hour to do it, but you can get a beautiful polish. Roll on a long, round stick, and you will have a polished lineless tablecloth.

IF YOU ARE SICK
YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST
WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees ?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

OR,

Those who are in it simply for the money they can get out of it. PRESENTATION BY THE LADIES' AID

To Mrs. L. Jackson of an Amethyst Brooch

At a meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. James church, held on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. L. Jackson, vice-president, was remembered by the members in a very pleasing way.

In behalf of the Aid, Mrs. A. Wilson presented her with an amethyst brooch, and Mrs. W. Robinson read the following address;

Dear Mrs. Jackson,—We the members of St. James' Ladies' Aid, have learned, with regret, of your departure from our midst and feel we could not let you go without in some small way conveying to you our appreciation of your work, not alone in the Aid, but in the Sunday school and in all branches of the church where help was needed.

Our earnest prayer is that you will long be spared to help on the good work of the Master in whatever field you may be placed.

We would ask you to accept this brooch as a small token of our esteem and when wearing it may you remember your old friends at St. James"

Signed on behalf of the Aid,

Mrs. A. Wilson, President.
Mrs. J. Palmer, Secretary,
Mrs. T. Brown, Treasurer.

Mrs Jackson was quite taken by surprise but responded suitably. Refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Mrs Jackson is leaving to join her husband in Auburn, N.Y.

GEOGRAPHY AND ITS HISTORY

Entertaining Lecture by Prof. Morison at Collegiate Hall

The Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute was packed to capacity last evening, to hear Prof. Morrison of Queen's University, lecture on "The Romance of Geography." The lecture was under the auspices of the Teachers' Association which is now in session, until Saturday.

Professor Morrison presented his subject in an entertaining manner, which he illustrated with the aid of views thrown on canvas.

Previous to his talk, a short musical program was given. Miss Mary Chalmers rendered a much appreciated solo and was compelled to respond. Master William Wilson gave two violin selections with great skill. Miss Julia Choate acted as accompanist.

Professor Morrison in commencing his remarks last night, stated that his lecture was particularly intended for teachers, but that he would strive to make it free from boredom and as entertaining as possible. The first half hour was occupied by a short outline of the origin of geography. "The subject is too commonly" he said, "one that we hear about at the age of 14 and never hear of afterwards." He traced geography from its very beginning, when little was known of the world at all, and when fairy tale like beliefs existed that there were other land across the seas. The lecturer had a large number of slides illustrating the gradual development in the discovery of new countries, until thorough explorations has resulted in the present day comprehensive maps being drawn. Professor Morrison also showed maps picturing what the world was supposed to resemble in the mythical era.

At the conclusion of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker to which he appropriately replied urging young people to take a deeper interest in the study of the past history of the countries of the world.

DANCING CLASSES.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Miriam Campbell

The death occurred this morning of Miriam Carr, relict of the late Wm. Campbell, at the residence of her sister, Mrs L. Bailey, 228 Park street.

The late Mrs. Campbell six years ago came from Colborne to Peterborough to reside with her sister, and two years later was seized with a paralytic stroke. This affliction, together with her advanced age, brought about her demise. Her husband passed away eight years ago. Two brothers, Messrs. Wm. Carr, of California, and Joseph Carr, of Detroit, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Bailey, survive. In religion the late Mrs. Campbell was an Anglican. The remains will be taken to Colborne to-morrow for interment.

A MISTAKE IN THE PRICE

In the advertisement of the Greene Music Co appearing in the Daily Review of Oct. 4th and 5th, an error occurs in stating the price of a fine "Stella" music box. The error is wholly that of the printer, who made the price read $1.00 instead of $100.00. The Greene Music Co. give at all times surprising good value for the money asked for their fine instruments and goods, but the price as previously printed exceeds even their best liberality in such respect. This morning a boy (all boys read the Daily Review) walked in and offered to buy the article. The Review apologises for the error and correctly states the price

MAKING READY FOR WINTER SHOW

Entries Already Sent to Peterboro Poultry Association

An an enthusiastic meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association last night business in connection with the annual winter show was discussed at some length. The members are working hard to promote the interests of the show and even better success than last year is the goal. Already entries have been received by Secretary Joe Kelly. Mr. Joe. Bennett has been secured to act as judge again, but so heavy is the task that a capable assistant will be provided for him. New features are to be added, and the 1912 exhibition in the market hall will no doubt set up a new record on behalf of the best poultry association in Ontario to-day.

CHANCE TO SELL WESTERN PROPERTY AT BIG PROFIT

Mr. George Evans Receives Tempting Offer by Wire From Calgary.

The recent decision of the Canadian Pacific railway to build theri western car shops at Calgary, has given a powerful stimulus to real estate activities in and around that thriving western city.

The boom is also having a local effect on holders of property in Calgary Mr George Evans, the Hunter street tailor, about a year ago purchased some property in the industrial section of Calgary, and to-day was highly elated at receiving by wire a flattering offer of over 100 per cent more than he orginally gave for the property Mr. Evans, however, thinks he will hold on to the property for a while longer.

Calgary undoubtedly will go ahead now with greater progress than ever Her growth is emphasized by her monthly figures. The vital statistics show a decrease in deaths and an increase in births. The custom returns are well over those for 1910, and the building permits show an increase of $180,000 over last September.

"WITH EDGED TOOLS" TO BE PERFORMED MATINEE AND NIGHT

When an all star English Company such as "With Edged Tools" makes a contract for a long run in any of the American cities, they are bound only to appear in that city, and residents of other places do not have the opportunity of seeing them except in the one theatre. As "With Edged Tools," had an extra week to put in before its appearance in Chicago, after their landing in Montreal, they arranged to give performances in five Canadian cities, Peterborough is therefore highly favored in having an opportunity of seeing this fine English company in their great comedy drama. The personnel of the cast is familiar to those who have been in the English theatres, and there will be a large number of these at the theatre here to-morrow.

There will be a matinee as well as an evening performance, and there has been a large demand already for seats for both appearances "With Edged Tools" is the best attraction that will be at the Opera House for some time and deserves large audiences.

FRED DENISON TO CAPTAIN LOCAL RUGBY FOURTEEN

Team Picked for Exhibition Game With Port Hope T.C.S. To-morrow.

Fred Denison is the captain of the W.E.A.C. rugby team, which represents Peterborough in the junior O.R.F.U. this season. At the workout in Central Park last night he was the unanimous choice. Fred will play quarter back. He is a consistent and heady player, and will be sure to get the best possible work from the players.

At the conclusion of the practice last night a team to play T.C.S. in Port Hope to-morrow was picked. This line-up is not by any means a regular team, so those who did not catch a place need not be discouraged as there is still a chance to make the fourteen before the O.R.F.U. series begins.

The club is very lucky in being able to get a game with such a fast aggregation as Trinity College team, as a good idea of how the boys are shaping up will be obtained. The game will develop some weak points on the team as well as strong ones, and there will likely be some changes before the game on Saturday, October 14, with Central Y.M.C.A., of Toronto.

The following fifteen players will play at Port Hope to-morrow:

Backs—Hayes, Craig, Johnston, Hogan.

Quarter—Denison.

Scrimmage—Bearss, Leahy, Stewart or Canniff.

Outside Wings—Turner, Ecclestone.

Middle Wings—Kirn, Davidson.

Outside Wings—Langley, Gilbert.

Everybody is requested to be out to signal practice at Central Park at 7.30 o'clock to-night. If it rains practice may be held in the armories.

DOPE ON THE WORLD'S SERIES

Says Hughey Jennings:—

"While I will not venture to pick a winner, I will say this; If McGraw's pitchers hold true to their best form, in my mind the chances are with the Giants. On the other hand, if Catchers Thomas and Lapp hold their opponents back with pegs to second and third, it seems that Mack's men have the better chance. As a betting proposition, it looks to be a pretty even thing. I think that the series will be the greatest exhibition of baseball talent the game has ever seen."

Manager Charles Dooin, of the Philadelphia National League team, is another player who says that the series is going to be close. Dooin is in a better position than Jennings to base an opinion for the teams' chances, for the reason that he has played against both combinations. Jennings may know more about the Athletics, but Dooin's information concerning the Giants is more extensive than the Tiger leader's. The Phillies manager always says what he thinks, and it takes only a short minute to draw an opinion from him. Just before the Quaker leader left to join the Phillies in Pittsburg several days ago he was approached on the world's series subject. Some one suggested that the series would be a repetition of the 1905 episode. Dooin smiled. Then his red hair bristled, probably because of his brotherly love for the Athletics, but at any rate he told his interviewer what what he thought. This was what he said:

"If you think that the Giants are going to run away with Mack's men, you are very much mistaken. In the last couple of weeks I had a chance to see just what kind of ball our neighbors play. While my leg was healing I watched the Athletics work. Two weeks of my time was spent at Shibe Park, and I tell you I saw a great ball team performed for Mr. Mack. They certainly deserve the title of champion. I've played against the Giants, and I know what their batters and pitchers can do. When anybody asks me who I would pick to win the world's series, I tell them that it looks like a pretty even thing to me.

"Now if I was a betting man I would bet on the team that gets the odds. That doesn't signify that it is the best. To me the series looks like a toss-up proposition, and on a bet of course money would count. Mack has the best bunch of swatters I have ever seen. My team can bat a lot when it gets to going, but without a doubt I don't believe there is a team in the world that can beat that bunch of Athletic swatters when they all hit together."

Mike Doolan has this to say:—

"Here's a little point that may appear trivial to the average ball fan, but it's a big thing to a ball player, and it may have a lot to do towards beating the Athletics. The new grandstands at the Polo Grounds throw a big shadow over the field and when you first play there the sun casts bewilder you. When speedy balls come shooting at you it's hard to keep track of them until you get used to the shadows. You have got to keep your eyes glued on every ball the pitchers throw to batters.

"I hear a lot of talk about McGraw's fast stealers. Well, he has a lot of good men in this respect, but I don't believe they will steal many on Ira Thomas. But Mack isn't relying solely on his catchers to check base pilferers. He expects Bender and Plank to do that. A smart pitcher knows how to chain base runners to the sacks, and when you prevent them from taking long leads their chances of stealing are mighty slim. Mack has a bunch of educated pitchers and is not worrying much about McGraw's base thieves. I think that Mack's boxmen will break up any scheme McGraw may devise to grab off sacks and thus beat the Athletics that way."

SPORT TALK

The half division on the W.E.A.C. team this year will be composed of young players, but they are fast and think quickly. This should offset anything lacking in age.

The wing line of the local team is fast rounding into shape. The boys there certainly have the weight to buck the team to victory.

Corkery will be unable to get away for the game with T.C.S. and Craig will play at left half. Ecclestone is taking Craig's place at inside. Stewart the P.C.I. boy, who has been showing good form in practice, will hold down right scrimmage for part of the game and Canniff may be given a try out along the wing line.

Bearss, who is to play in the scrimmage against T.C.S., is a good hockey player, and is expected to make the team this winter. He weighs over two hundred pounds and is built proportionately, standing about 6 ft 1 inch. is from Ingersoll.

Rain or sign, the rugbyists are wanted out to signal practice to-night. There are a few new signals to try out and it is necessary that everyone be on hand.

The W.E.A.C. team leaves on the 1.145 G.T.R. train to-morrow for Port Hope. The game is called for 2.15 p.m. so that the Peterborough boys may catch the return train.

Len Johnston, who was to have played centre half for the W.E.A.C. is complaining of a sore foot. The doctors think he has a broken bone in his ankle and he may have to drop out of the game for the season. He is having hard luck, as at the beginning of the season he had his knee injured.

SEVEN NEW RECORDS BY COLLEGIATE ATHLETES; FUSIE AND LIPSETT TOOK THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

A large number of parents and friends, as well as two representatives of the Board of Education, Messrs. John Crane and W. H. Hill, went to Riverside Park yesterday afternoon to witness the annual Field Day of Sports. Clarence Fusie won the H. S. McDonald cup, which is emblematic of the championship of the Collegiate and Arthur Lipsett, the plucky little fourteen year old youngster, won the right to retain for one year, the cup donated by His Worship, Mayor Morrow, and which is emblematic of the junior championship.

RECORDS MADE

Seven new records were made on the round and one equalled. They are as follows.—

Harold Hill, (three)—Standing broad jump, (senior) 8' 7 1-2"; running hop step and jump (senior) 37' 7 1-2"; 100 yards dash (senior) 11sec.

Clarence Fusie—440 yards (senior) 57' 5 sec.; 880 yards (senior) 2 min. 13 4-5 sec.

Arthur Lipsett, (junior)—Running broad jump, 14' 7".

HILL IN HARD LUCK

Harold Hill, who was second with twenty-three points. Fusie winning with thirty, was unfortunate enough to wrench a couple of tendons in his side, while doing the 100 yards dash. He was away in the lead for the championship but had to drop out. If he had been able to run in the 880 yards and 440 yards events, he would likely have put the standing records by the boards, as the track was in the best of shape and he has been hitting a fast clip this fall.

Harold will not be able to compete for the Eastwood trophy on Saturday next. He was looked upon as the probable winner. He surely is the 'hard luck' athlete of the city.

THE EVENTS

After the 100 yards senior, in which Hill was injured, the junior 100 yards dash was won by A. Lipsett from a field of ten contestants.

The jockey race was won by Horsfield and Brown, caused no little amusement. Fusie got the 120 yards hurdle, senior; and Lipsett won the junior. The time was not up to the usual mark.

GIRLS' POTATO RACE

About twenty five girls entered in the girls' potato race and it had to be run off in relays. Miss K. O'Brien was the first to finish gathering her potatoes in the final, but she put the last one in some other girl's basket, and was disqualified for her generosity. Miss McDonald was the winner. Miss McDonald thereby took the "Girls' Special" prize offered by Mr G. A. Ferguson. She had a goodly lead on her nearest competitor.

The events were—potato race; 50 yards dash; throwing the basketball throwing the baseball, and running backwards for thirty yards.

The time for the 220 yards, senior and junior was slow. Fusie won the senior and Lipsett the junior.

Fusie clipped 1' 3-5 sec. off the 440 yards record, and 5 3-5 sec. off the 880 yards run. Stewart beat the old record, 2 min. and 42 sec, by 3 min. in the junior.

Austin O'Brien in the junior pole vaulting equalled the record 6 ft. 1 in but could not better that figure.

OBSTACLE RACE

As usual, the obstacle race caused barrels of fun. The course was through a barrel at the start, through the rungs of a ladder, under a tennis net, back through the same course, and finishing at the tape a few yards from the starting place. Hopkins and O'Brien had a close race the former only winning by about two feet.

ONE MILE RACE

Fusie went into the mile to establish another record, but as it was the last event on the program he was not in very good shape and failed to lower the time.

INTER-FORM RELAY

The representatives of Form I A, Crowe, Eakins, C. Dixon and Brown with a handicap of 25 sec. over the two upper forms won the inter-form relay race.

Knapman, Wilson, McDonald and Howden, from form 2B, got second place. They had a handicap of 17 sec. over the upper forms and the seniors were unable to overcome the lead they drew.

FORM I C AHEAD

For having representatives whose total number of points was greater than that of any other form, I C, won the P.C.I. staff cup. Lipsett and Huycke belong to I C. and they were the heavy contributors.

The winners in all the events run off yesterday were as follows—

100 yards, junior—A. Lipsett, time 12 4-5 sec.; S. Hopkins, A. Huycke.

HAD BAD SORE FOUR YEARS

Zam-buk Has Healed It!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto says: "About four years ago, a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely and was most painful. I had it cauterised, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and to my delight before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co. Toronto for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c tablet.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

COL. "SAM" HUGHES

The brilliant Irish-Canadian Colonel needs little in the way of introduction to a Canadian audience. He is known of practically all men, either by personal contact or by tales of a somewhat lengthy roll of exciting and daring experiences, by flood, field and battleground.

When the Colonel was baptised in Darlington, Co. Durham, Ont., on 8 January 1853, he was of course plain "Sam", and with a familiar disregard of the military title to a very large proportion of his countrymen he still continues to be "Sam", and is likely to so remain to the end.

Col. Hughes

Col. Hughes comes of a good fighting stock, of a blend of several kinds of fighting progenitors indeed, and this may account for many things that have outcropped during his days on earth. For the father of the Colonel was a County Tyrone man while on the maternal side he has the advantage of a Scots-Irish-Huguenot descent, a combine that could not fail of good results. Educated at the public school, and following, in turn, to Toronto Model and Normal School, and Toronto University, he subsequently held until 1885 the position of Lecturer in English language, Literature and History in Toronto Collegiate Institute. This latter doubtless proved a trifle slow for a young man of his ancestry, and as the initial break for something of a more stirring nature — and usually a very sure one, — he waded into journalism, purchasing the Lindsay "Warder", which he engineered for a dozen years. But of course the Irish-Scots-Irish-Huguenot blood of him had not been content to remain at zero all these years. On the contrary the martial spirit was in outward evidence when he had reached the not very mature age of fourteen, at which time he became a member of the Active Militia. For a time, however, military honors do not seem to have appealed with any sort of conviction to soldier Hughes, for he turned down the offer of the office of Deputy Minister of Militia in 1891, and of Adjt.-General for Canada in 1896. But the fates were strongly in antagonism to the military abilities of Mr. Samuel Hughes being hidden away under the garb of an ordinary officer of Militia, and in 1891 he was prevailed upon to accept the appointment of Lt.-Col. commanding the 45th Battalion and took part shortly thereafter in the Queen's Jubilee celebrations. In course of a stirring life, the Col. has found time to be president of the Dominion Rifle Association; President of the Small Arms Committee, Chairman of the Board of Visitors for the Royal Military College at Kingston; Railway Intelligence officer on Headquarters' staff, and owns a medal won in active service during the Fenian raids in 1870.

The Colonel is not with those who would fain stand aloof from the military work of the Empire. On the contrary, as early as 1872, and on various occasions since, he has been a strong advocate, and has made repeated personal offers, of Colonial military assistance to the Empire in Imperial wars. Individually also, he made offer to raise a corps of capital Canadian fighting men for the Egyptian and Soudanese Campaign, the Afghan frontier war, and the Transvaal war, while in furtherance of his Imperial ideals, he, in 1897-98, visited Australia and New Zealand to help urge the assurance of a Colonial line-up when the old lion at home was threatened with attack. His activity in the South African war will be green in the memories of most Canadians, and the notable appointments during that strenuous campaign as Chief of the Intelligence Staff to Inspector General Settle and subsequently to General Sir Charles Warren, are eloquent testimony that the chiefs in Britains fighting line are ready to recognize ability.

Rather Burn Than Pay

Mr. Lindsey Laring, a millionaire Boston sportsman, has just burned his yacht Eelin rather than pay the new annual tonnage tax on foreign-built yachts. Mr. Laring, who is very fond of yachting, bought the Eelin years ago, but as she was built in England, she came under the law passed two years ago providing for an annual tax of seven dollars per gross ton on foreign-built yachts. The tax amounted to 511 dollars per year, and Mr. Laring declined to pay it. The tonnage tax on American-built yachts is only one dollar, and yachtsmen have been fighting the law as unconstitutional, being in fact nothing less than class legislaition. Alternatively they claimed that the Act should not apply to yachts purchased abroad by Americans before the passage of the bill. The Courts, however, held that the Act was retrospective and applied to foreign-built yachts regularly used in American waters, and Mr. Laring was one of those who lost their cases. Mr. Laring ordered his yacht to be burned, after removing the keel, masts, and rigging.

Almost any man is a match for the fellow who has money to burn.

CONQUEST OF THE AIR

Discovery and Progress of Airman's Art has Wonderful Possibilities in Connection with Public Services and Work of Exploration.

The fundamental principles of aerostatics was discovered by Archimedes and formulated as follows: "Everybody plunged into a fluid is subjected by this fluid, to a 'pressure' from below to above which is equal to the weight displaced by that body." The first application of this principle was to balloons, care being taken to produce a body whose total weight was less than that of the volume of air it displaced.

But although the principle was thus applied as far back as 1783, it was not until 1884 that the first balloon capable of being steered was produced by Col. Renard, who accomplished a circular flight in what deserved the title of a dirigible. The reason for this was that in order to steer a body floating in a fluid it is absolutely essential that this body should pousess an independent speed, to permit it to move in the fluid of its own accord. In 1885 Col. Renard succeeded in obtaining an electric motor of 8 horse-power, weighing only forty kilogrammes a horse-power and capable of great endurance.

To-day mechanicians have succeeded in perfecting motors especially designed for aviation of the almost incredibly light weight of two kilogrammes a horse-power and of such perfect action that they can start in an instant without preliminary preparation. Professor Berget explains clearly and briefly the mechanical difficulty of the problem and the scientific reasons why it took a century to discover how to guide the machine which the brothers Montgolfier launched into the air in 1783.

Next came the problems connected with the resistance of the air, which determine the shape of the envelope for a dirigible balloon. A spherical balloon cannot be propelled. So long ago as the beginning of the nineteenth century Marey-Monge predicted the necessity of adopting a shape, should an attempt be made to propel aerostats, which should have "the head of a cod and the tail of a mackerel."

The applications in civil life of locomotion in the air will be numerous and varied, and it will doubtless be possible to travel by public service or by private vehicles. The special use of the highway of the air which Prof. Berget foresees is by the post office with aeroplane messengers from city to city every hour, the service, interrupted only by heavy storms. The exploration of unknown regions in such difficult countries as Africa, the heart of Asia, Australia and South America, with accurate maps, is one of the important scientific uses to which the new ships may be put. The whole of Central Africa, for example, could be mapped from airships, acting under international sanction, with a ship over Timbuctu and the shores of Lake Tchad, in French territory; Leopoldville, for the Belgian Congo; Dongola and Lake Albert for the English stations.

Progress Comes by Death

One of the straight facts about living beings is that so far as this earth is concerned, they die, and the question is whether we can hope to find that this fact of death has a use for life. That would be a great discovery, for we are apt to think that death is useless and cruel.

Well, death certainly has a value for life — not for the life of the creature that dies, but for the lives of others. If there were no death there would be no parenthood and childhood, for plainly there would soon be no room for the introduction of new beings if those already there did not make room for them. Without parenthood and childhood, and all that they mean, no kind of life—human, animal, or vegetable — would be anything like what we know; and there would be no more progress, for that depends on new and higher kinds of life being born in the world. "Thus, without death, mankind could never have been produced.

The Parnell Monument

The elaborate Parnell monument in Dublin, which has been in course of construction for a long time past, at a cost of about $45,000, is now complete, and the unveiling will take place on October 1, when the ceremony will be performed by Mr. John Redmond, M.P. Parnell is represented standing in oratorical attitude, with his left hand resting on a table. The inscription, an extract from one of Parnell's own speeches, reads as follows:—"To Charles Stewart Parnell. 'No man has a right to fix a boundary to the march of a nation. No man has a right to say to his country, 'Thus far thou shalt go and no further.' We have never attempted to fix a ne plus ultra to the progress of Ireland's nationhood, and we never shall.'"

A Salutary Lesson

An artist, a barrister, and a doctor, motoring from Dijon to Chalon-sur-Saone together, devised a novel method of punishing an unprovoked act of aggression by a peasant who, out of sheer prejudice against motor cars, threw a large stone, which struck the artist on the chest. The occupants of the car pursued and captured their assailant, took him into the car, quietly divested him of his coat, watch, and money, and then, after proceeding at full speed for over 30 miles, set him down on a lonely roadside to walk home in the broiling sun. His clothes and other property they sent back to him subsequently.

He (to himself)—"You go right on. You can bet your hairpins I'm dead as long as this lasts."

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

LT.-COL. FRED. WHITE

Canada's Great North West has been settled without anything in the shape of the lawlessness that marked the dawn of white civilization in certain other sections of the American Continent Those who have "gone in" have, with possibly a few exceptions, been of a good breed, anxious to make their way, willing to abide by the law written and unwritten, and with determination to leave behind them a blazed trail that the follower-on would approve. This big family had, notwithstanding, a few to whom the law of self made stronger appeal than that of the general welfare; men with a cross in their temper and a gun on their hip. For such as these, arrangements had to made. And the North West Mounted Police came into being.

LIEUT.-COL. FREDERICK WHITE

With the administrative work in connection with the raising of this estimable body of peace-preservers and guardians-in-general of the inhabitants of these territories will ever be associated the name of Lieut.-Col. White, C.M.G., who has held the appointment of comptroller of the Royal North West Mounted Police since 1878 after a short term service as chief clerk.

Col. White saw the daylight at Birmingham, England, in February of 1847, and spent his alaphetical days there. The bigger latitudes and longtitudes of the Dominion attracted him in early manhood, however, and he "broke away" for the west Atlantic shores. Railroad life appealed to him, as it has to many thousands of lads from the old Country, and as a start-out on life's real business journey, White set his feet on the first rung of the ladder at Montreal by getting his name on the payroll of the Canadian Pacific Railroad Company. This did not hold him for any extended length of time however, for we find him at Ottawa in 1869, in which year he started in to hold down an appointment in the Department of Justice, and to such extent did he make good at the Capital, that the administrative work in the North West followed.

During the years 1880-82 White acted as private secretary to Sir John MacDonald, and in course of the following year was honored with the status of a Deputy Minister.

Col. White started on his career military while in Montreal, where he served in the ranks of the 3rd Victoria Rifles, and later held a commission in the Governor General's Foot Guards at Ottawa, in which he attained the rank of Captain. In recognition of his services in connection with the raising, and the equipment of a contingent to fight alongside the Brother Britons in South Africa Captain White was accorded the rank of Lt.-Colonel in the Canadian Militia in 1901, and the title of C.M.G. followed in 1902; that of Commissioner of the North West Territories being added three years later.

Mr. E. B. DEVLIN, K.C.

Mr. E. B. Devlin, K.C., who succeeded Sir Wilfrid Laurier as parliamentary representative for Wright County, Ont., is a native of Aylmer, and has for a matrimonial partner the daughter of a gentleman who was perhaps one of the closest political friends of Sir John A. MacDonald — Hon. Col. L. R. Masson, of Terrebonne who was minister of Militia, and for a period president of the Privy Council in the MacDonald Cabinet.

Mr. Devlin received his early education in St. Mary's College, Montreal, and subsequently attended college in Derbyshire, England. Returning to Canada, he took B.A. degree at Laval University, Montreal, his M.A. degree at Canisius University, Buffalo, and the degree of B.C.L. at the law school of McGill University in 1895.

In 1895 Mr. Devlin began the practice of law in Montreal, where he soon took his place as one of the leading criminal lawyers at the Quebec bar. He acquired a lucrative practice, and was a prominent figure at a number of important trials held in his native province. In 1900 Mr Devlin received the Liberal nomination for parliament in St. Anne's division, Montreal, but he withdrew from the contest before polling day. In 1901, he moved to Hull, where he has had a paying law practice ever since. He was appointed K.C. in 1907. Mr. Devlin is a brother of Hon. C. R. Devlin, minister of mines, fisheries and colonization in Sir Lomer Gouin's present Quebec cabinet, and a nephew of the late Bernard Devlin, Q.C., formerly M.P. for Montreal central division.

London ratepayers will vote in January on the question of adopting the commission form of government.

NA-DRU-CO Tasteless Cod Liver Oil Compound

There is no question as to the very high value of Cod Liver Oil, properly prepared and made digestible, as a "builder-up" for convalescents or those who are run-down.

Na-Dru-Co Tasteless Compound contains the valuable properties of the Cod Liver Oil without its disagreeable flavor. In fact, this preparation is decidedly pleasant to the taste. With Extract of Malt, Extract of Wild Cherry, and Hypophosphites of Lime, Soda, Potassium, Manganese and Iron added, it makes a combination that puts an edge on the appetite—aids digestion—invigorates the nerves—relieves and helps to cure affections of the throat and lungs — and generally builds up strength and restores health.

For puny, delicate children there is probably no better "builder-up" than Na-Dru-Co Tasteless Cod Liver Oil Compound. 102

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

Mr. JOHN STANFIELD.

In addition to being parliamentary representative for Colchester, in the late House of Commons, Mr. Stanfield is president, and guiding light of Stanfield's Limited, operating the concern formerly known as the Truro Knitting Mill & Company at the town of that name in Nova Scotia. The arduous duties in connection with this company does not, however, prevent his devoting the time on demand to help keep the ship of Dominion more or less before the wind, and like all good conservatives, he no doubt considers his influence on the handlers of the helm has been all the time for good. He is indeed generally recognised as the strongest representative of the sea-side province.

Born at Charlottetown, P. E. I., in the merry month of 1868, the future M. P. removed to Truro with his parents in early life, and had the ground work of his education laid there by men of mark in the four R's, — with some extra frills in scholastic work thrown in. At a bye-election in 1907 he won first Parliamentary honors, and at the general election of 1908 the voters of Colchester decided they had no good and sufficient reason in sight to try a change of representative. Mr. Stanfield is married and has a family of one son.

Dr. J. G. RUTHERFORD, C.M.G.

The Department of Agriculture loses a particularly capable outfit of brains in Dr. J. G. Rutherford, C.M.G., Veterinary Director-General and Live-Stock Commissioner of Canada, who leaves the Government service for work that will bring him more money and doubtless greater peace of mind. Dr. Rutherford knew his department work from A to Z. He had been a member of Parliament and knew what the people wanted. He had been a farmer and knew what the farmers wanted. He was trained as a veterinary surgeon in the thorough English school and knew what the animals wanted. When he took hold in 1902 he found nothing to his hand except an Act of Parliament which was so much waste paper. In nine years he had created a health-of-animals branch, a meat and food inspection service with a hundred inspectors, a biological laboratory with a staff of trained pathologists, and a live-stock branch that is doing much to promote friendly relations between breeders and their market. Quarantine work has been systematized and the importation of live stock into Canada is now thoroughly under the control of the department. Hog cholera has almost disappeared; glanders has been stamped out except in Saskatchewan; cattle mange, horse mange, sheep scab, and many other minor diseases have been effectively handled. Dr. Rutherford brought unusual powers of special investigation to his duties. For example, when an epidemic broke out among the cattle in Nova Scotia he discovered that it was due to a poisonous weed. He brought in sheep, that throve on the weed and put an end to the epidemic. As president of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Dr. Rutherford had the chief hand in forming the International Commission for the Control of Bovine Tuberculosis, whose good work has just begun.

The crew of the British tub Lady Napier, abandoned at sea 10 days ago, have reached Halifax.

THE ROGERS DAM

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—What is being done with the old Rogers dam?

CITIZEN.

As far as can be found out, the Government has secured the privilege from the Quaker Oats Company, of erecting a temporary portion of the old Rogers dam for a period of ten years. This will enable the Government at slight expense to provide water for lumbermen to move their logs in accordance with their immemorial rights, without undue waste as at present, and in accordance with the policy of conservation.

The dam may be removed by the Government at any time they see fit and would continue to belong to it. The erection is merely a temporary expenditure to serve a most necessary purpose.

Wants Husband Declared Insane.

Kingston, Oct. 6.—Johanna Goodfriend, Gananoque, has entered action against her husband, John P. Goodfriend, Howe Island, in which she is suing for restoration of conjugal rights, also an interim alimony of $8 per week, and, in addition, have him declared insane.

David Pottinger, chairman of the Intercolonial Railway Commission is in the city in connection with contracts awarded to the locomotive works for several new engines.

Hens in this district are on strike, and as a result, eggs are scarce, some dealers finding it very difficult to get a supply to meet demand.

Shots in the Reichsrath.

Vienna, Oct. 6.—Four shots were fired from the gallery in the Lower House of the Reichsrath yesterday in the direction of the Ministerial benches, where the Ministers of Justice and Education were seated. No one was injured. The man who fired the shots was arrested.

Dr. Adler, a social Democrat, was attacking the Minister of Justice, Herr Hochenburger, because of the severity of the sentences imposed upon those arrested during the recent fatal rioting, at meetings held in protest against the high cost of food, when the shooting occurred.

Elections Nov. 20?

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 6.—The Daily Record last night stated on what is declared to be excellent authority that it learned yesterday provincial elections would be held this fall, possibly Nov. 21.

Evan Fraser, M.P.P., in an interview last night said he did not think the elections would be on the day The Record stated, but might be the day before. He said they would be held some Monday this fall.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

OSWALD S. CROCKET, B.A., M.P.

As befits a man who carries the name, Mr. Oswald S. Crocket is an enthusiastic lover of Scotland's ploughman bard, an active member of the St. Andrews Society, and as chairman of the New Brunswick Burns Memorial Committee did much to help along the movement which resulted in the erection of a Burns monument in 1906. Mr. Crocket, both of whose parents were of the name by the way and both of Scotland, was born in 1868 at Chatham, N.B., his father, Mr. Wm. Crocket, LL.D. being for some time chief superintendent of Education for the province. After education at Fredericton Commercial and High Schools, he finished at the New Brunswick University, and was admitted an Attorney of the Supreme Court there at the early age of 23, and had Barrister to his name exactly one year later. Leanings towards things political also came in early life, and 1904 found him occupying a seat in the House of Commons for York, holding the representation of that constituency until recent events called a halt in Parliamentary doings for the time being. Mr. Crocket was latterly chairman of the publicity committee of the Conservative party and is generally recognised as one of the promising young men of his side. Mrs. Crocket is a daughter of the late Mr. Charles M. Stevenson, M.P., for Coaticook, Que.

Mr. WILLIAM PRICE,

Mr. Wm. Price, M.P., for Quebec west in the late Parliament, is one of the prominent lumber merchant of that city, and has been in it long enough to claim a solid knowledge of everything pertaining to timber. Born in Chili in 1867, young Price migrated to the colder latitudes of Canada in company with his parents, when he was eleven years of age, and promptly began to study the things scholastic that are calculated to lead on to success in life's battle. After some years spent with profit to himself and credit to his teachers at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., young Price crossed the Atlantic to complete his educational career at St. Mark's school in England, embarking on a business career in the old Capital soon after his return. At the age of 31, having, to his satisfaction, well-established himself commercially, Mr. Price allowed his mind to incline towards the higher things in political live, and, as stated, he succeeded in catching the eye and the vote of West-Quebec. In addition to being a politician, Mr. Price occupies seats of honor on the Boards of various commercial enterprises, including that of vice-president of the Union Bank and has also served as an officer in 8th Royal Rifles of Quebec. Mr. Price is married and has four sons and two daughters.

Treasured by Queen Victoria.

At Windsor Castle may be seen two objects of small intrinsic value, which Queen Victoria is said to have valued more highly than most of the costly gifts showered upon her during her long reign. The first is an old and much-worn Bible which Gen. Gordon carried with him throughout his great campaign in China. It was presented by Gordon's sister to Her Majesty, who had it preserved in a beautiful casket of crystal and enamel. The second object is a fitting companion to the first. It is the Koran formerly used by Gordon's murderer, the Mahdi. It was given to Queen Victoria by Lord Kitchener.

Important changes have been made in the extradition treaties between Canada and Belgium and Paraguay.

THREE HUNDRED TURKS ARE REPORTED KILLED IN NAVAL BATTLE IN ADRIATIC SEA

NAVAL ENGAGEMENTS HAVE TAKEN PLACE ON THE RED SEA AND THE ALBANIAN COAST--TURKISH GUNBOAT IS SUNK

TURKISH SOCIETIES ADDRESS AN APPEAL DIRECT TO KING GEORGE FOR INTERVENTION

More News From the Scene of Hostilities—A Land Battle Expected at Tripoli Before the Turks Will Give up the Ghost.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW.

London, Oct. 7—Dispatches from the war front indicate that a big naval engagement has taken place in the Adriatic sea, between the Abruzzi fleet and a Turkish fleet. The Turks lost 300 men, and two transports were sunk. No details are available.

CLOSED THE HOSPITALS

Constantinople, Oct 7.—The government has closed all Italian establishments in Turkey, including the sisters of charity hospitals.

MORE SEA-FIGHTING

Rome, Oct. 6.—An official statement issued this afternoon says: "Fire treacherously opened from San Giovanni di Medu, on the Albanian coast, upon an Italian vessel flying the white flag. The Italian destroyer Artiglieri, which was patrolling in the vicinity, replied, firing in order to protect the Italian vessel. The destroyer was slightly damaged and her commander was wounded in the foot. The damage to the enemy is unknown."

A wireless message from some portion of the Red Sea says the Italian warship Aretusa attacked and seriously damaged the fortifications of Hodeida, a seaport of Arabia. She also sank a Turkish gunboat. A score of the crew of the latter were killed. Many others plunged into the sea and were rescued by boats from the Aretusa.

Constantinople, Oct. 7.—At a meeting held yesterday in the Mosque of St. Sophia a telegram of protest against Italy's declaration of war on Turkey was formulated and sent to all the Parliaments of the world, peace and arbitration societies, universities, Socialist organizations and The Hague Peace Trbunal.

The telegram says the occupation of Tripoli is unjustified and that Italy is unworthy of a place among the great Powers. It asks whether western civilization has considered the effect upon the eastern mind of Italy's brigandage.

The meeting also sent the following message to King George of England.

"How can a power like England, ruling between 60,000,000 and 90,000,000 of Moslems, regard wih complaisant silence the declaration of war against the Ottoman nation and the blockade of Tripoli? Is such policy in harmony with the present and future interests of England."

Annoy the Italian Officers.

Rome, via Frontier, Oct. 7.—Rear Admiral Borea d'Olmo, who has been appointed Italian governor of Tripoli, is a distinguished naval officer and son of the master of ceremonies at His Majesty's court. He commanded the cruiser Elba, which participated in the blockade of Venezuela and witnessed the battle off Chemulpo during the Russo-Japanese war when he rescued 200 Russian sailors after their cruiser Variag was destroyed.

Captain Umberto Cagni, who was made commandant of the landing parties, is president of the international polar commission and was a companion of the Duke of Abruzzi on the latter's Alaskan and North Pole exhibition. He was one of the few officers at Messina at the time of the great earthquake, who remained calm when others lost their heads.

The intention of the Italian Government to avoid further incidents on the Albanian coast was frustrated either because Captain Biscaretti, in command of a section of the torpedo boat flotilla had not received the instructions on this point, or being provoked by the Turks assumed responsibility for his action.

"In order to avoid a repetition of such an occurrence, the Admiralty Office, upon the suggestion of Vice-Admiral the Duke of the Abruzzi has recalled all the ships cruising along the Albanian coast and adopted another plan to protect Italian steamers from attacks by the Turks. This plan is kept secret.

It is understood that Rear Admiral Aubrey is manoeuvring in the Aegean Sea, intending to have his warships so placed that he can capture without destroying the whole Turkish fleet if it dares to emerge from its hiding place.

How the Turks Were Fooled.

Syracuse, Italy, Oct. 7.—The Italian battleship San Marco arrived here yesterday from Tripoli. She steamed throughout the night without lights, in order to avoid detection by Turkish torpedo boats, which are still cruising with surprising audacity, about the Italian fleet. During the trip the San Marco stopped a steamer, which proved to be British-owned. It was allowed to proceed.

The officers of the battleship described the bombardment of Tripoli as having been arranged with great care in order to spare the enemy as much as possible. At the last moment Vice-Admiral Faravelli decided not to bombard even the palace and so the governor was left undisturbed, though the batteries adjacent were silenced.

The Turkish soldiers gave proof of extraordinary courage. Frequently they exposed themselves unnecessarily. It appears from statements made by prisoners taken that the Turks did not at first realize their inferiority. The Government of Constantinople and the local authorities had instilled in them the conviction that Italy was an insignificant country and weaker than Greece.

When they saw the imposing fleet assembled off the coast they were assured by their officers that the vessels were not Italian, but British warships, which had been ordered to Tripoli to prevent its occupancy by the Italians. Notwithstanding this deception and the subsequent disillusionment the Turkish gunners responded bravely to the attack and made a good fight considering the equipment at their disposal.

FRENCH FLAG RAISED OVER AGADIR, ON MOROCCAN SOIL

International Complications Threatened— Government Disavows Action.

Berlin, Oct. 7.—A group of Frenchmen hoisted a French flag over the fort at Agadir, Morocco, threatening grave international complications. It was announced that France had proclaimed a protectorate and that a French cruiser was en route for Agadir.

The French Government immediately disavowed the action and as it is not represented at Agadir, instructed the French consul at Mogador to ask the Moroccan authorities to take measures to remove the flag and end the incident.

According to the latest advices the Frenchmen were defying the local Calif of Agadir, who on his own responsibility had ordered the French colors lowered.

Agadir is the seaport on the Atlantic coast of Morocco where the German gunboat Panther and the German cruiser Berlin landed men to the surprise of France, which was engaged in putting down a revolt of the natives end which incident caused the recent Moroccan crisis.

Municipal Clean-Up.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—Warrants for the arrest of Director of Public Safety Henry Clay, City Architect Carl B. Zilenziger, John R. Wiggins, a contractor and builder, and Treasurer Wall, of the latter's firm, were issued yesterday on the affidavit of Logan M. Bullitt, chairman of the taxpayers' committee. The charges are conspiracy to defraud the city and are an outcome of the investigation conducted by the Catlin Senatorial Commission. The men will not be taken into custody but will accept service through their attorneys and appear for a hearing.

MANUEL STAYS AT RICHMOND

Reported Departure to Join Royalists Not Correct

Special to The Review

London, Oct. 7—Reports to the effect that ex-King Manuel had left England to lead the royalist uprising in Portugal are groundless, as Manuel is still at Richmond.

PROBABILITIES

Moderate to fresh northerly winds; fine and cool; frost to-night. Sunday fine.

Died of Injuries.

Toronto, Oct. 7—After lying in a semi-conscious condition in St. Joseph Hospital, Parry Sound, as the result of being struck by a falling log, Joseph Patnote, 22 Wellesley street, succumbed to concussion of the brain.

Mr. Patnote was directing the removal of a boom of logs when one struck his head. Another man was also injured, but will probably recover.

THEY TALKED ON FOREIGN MISSIONS

Methodists Discuss Work in the Heathen Fields

Toronto, Oct. 7.—Foreign missionary enterprise was the topic of the third day's sessions of the Ecumenical Methodist Conference. The responsibility of Methodism in world-wide evangelism, her mission to the non-Christian races, the backward races, and in particular to the Latin races, and to the countries of France and Korea, were the subjects of the addresses and essays, and the resources of the church in men and women and in means were passed in review. The high note of service to the less highly favored peoples was sounded with no hesitancy, and time and again through the day the call rang out in the earnest words of the speakers that Methodism should gird herself for the task of evangelization more determinedly and on a larger scale than ever she has done. This was necessary, it was declared, if she would save herself from stern condemnation. Spurgeon's declaration was quoted by one speaker, that it was "not so much a question whether the heathen could be saved if we did not send them the Gospel, but whether we ourselves could be saved if we did not give it to those who are without it." Methodists alone, he said, could, if they set themselves to the task, carry the Gospel in less than ten years to the thousand million inhabitants of the earth now crying for it. Antagonism to Roman Catholicism as a system was prominent in some of the addresses.

DUKE GIVEN BIG FAREWELL

London, Oct. 7.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught left Euston at 11.55 on a special train, attended by Lieut.-Col. H. C. Lowther, military secretary; Captain Walter Long, aide-de-camp; Lieut. Hon. A. Ramsay, of the navy, attending the duchess, with Miss Pelly and twenty servants. Their Highnesses occupied the semi-royal coaches, decorated with carnations, chrysanthemums and roses. Luncheon was served on the train.

The duke's special desire was that any unnecessary fuss attending the departure should be avoided, nevertheless the scene at Euston demonstrated the extreme popularity of Their Highnesses with the general public of London. There is a confident belief among Canadians on both sides of the water and dwellers in all parts of the Empire that the new Governor-General will have a brilliant period of office.

The platform was entirely reserved, but a large party of guests was present, and outside a large crowd witnessed the royal arrival.

Provincial Appointments.

Toronto, Oct. 7.—The following appointments by the Provincial Government were announced yesterday:

S. R. McCready is appointed director of elementary agricultural education.

Henri St. Jacques, B.A., has been appointed principal of Sturgeon Falls English-French model school, in succession to L. E. O. Payment, who has been transferred to the English-French model school at Ottawa.

James Henry Barritt, K.C., of the town of Pembroke, has been appointed crown attorney and clerk of the peace for Renfrew County in the room of J. P. Metcalf, resigned.

MANUEL IS TRYING TO WIN BACK THRONE

Exiled Portuguese Monarch Seeks to Re-establish Himself—Manuel Still in England—Reverses for Monarchists.

Vigo, Spain, Oct. 7.—The Journal says the Portuguese royalists concentrated at Puebla de Sanabria, Province of Zamora, Spain, about twenty miles northeast of Braganza, Portugal, have formed themselves into three columns under the command of Capt. Couciere, Senhor Camacho Canavarro and Homen Gristo.

Their first objectives are Chaves and Braganza, where the garrisons are reported to have pronounced themselves in favor of the monarchy and court-martialed and shot a few officers who held contrary opinions. The monarchists now declare that the entire population in North Portugal has made common cause with them.

The Journal further says that the monarchists have acquired two warships, one of them of 16,000 tons. It says that all the foregoing is confirmed officially by the monarchist leader.

Have Crossed Frontier.

Madrid, Oct. 7.—A press despatch received here from Badajoz says that Don Miguel of Braganza and his two sons are now with the monarchists in Portugal, they and other leaders in the revolutionary movement having crosed the Spanish frontier in twenty motor cars during the past few days.

Manuel Is In London.

London, Oct. 7.—The report from Paris that ex-King Manuel is in Spain, presumably on his way to Portugal, is without foundation. Manuel is at Richmond with the Queen Mother Amelia.

Despatches from Lisbon published here say that several warships have left the Tagus for Oporto.

Royalists Defeated.

Lisbon, Oct. 7.—A band of royalists has been defeated in a fight with the Republican troops near Braganza, in Tras-Ose-Montes, the northeasternmost province of Portugal. It is rumored that a royalist column at Vinhaca, 14 miles west of Braganza, is surrounded by Republicans.

A column of 700 monarchists commanded by Senor Camacho Canavarro, principal lieutenant of the royalist leader, Capt. Coucierre, entered Portugal Thursday morning from Zamora, Spain, and occupied Franca, Carregosa, Espinhozello, Paco, Soutello and Paraimo, all in the district around Braganza.

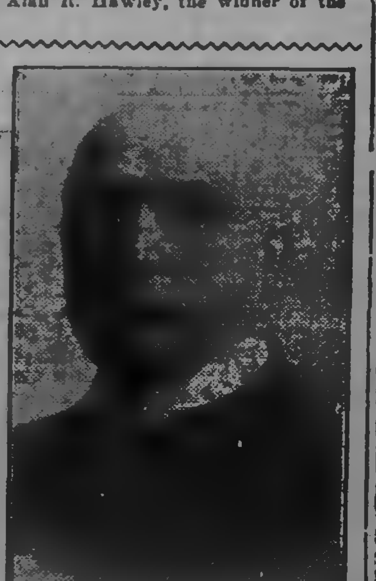
Two thousand royalists gathered from various places also have joined the column which is now at Venhoes.

Good Press Agents.

Badajos, Spain, on the Portuguese Frontier, Oct. 7.—The Portuguese Government admits that royalist disturbances are in progress in northern Portugal, near the Spanish frontier. Besides the interference of the censorship there is great difficulty in learning the exact situation where the monarchists are operating because of the distance of those points from the railways and telegraph stations.

Royalist agents and sympathizers are spreading the news of a triumphal march of the monarchist troops toward Oporto. Thursday the invaders were represented as numbering 4,000. Yesterday it was asserted that 6,000 men are following the white and blue flag of the deposed King Manuel.

It is also stated that the royalists engaged and defeated the Republican troops at Guimaraes, a fortified town, twelve miles southeast of Bragas, and that Capt. Couciere will have 30,000 men behind him when he is prepared to invest Oporto.



T. W. CROTHERS, K.C.

West Elgin, who is slated according to the latest rumor, for the speakership.

CONDUCTOR BURT SEVERELY BRUISED

Met With Mishap as His Train Neared Parkdale

Special to The Review

Toronto, Oct. 7—Conductor, Albert Burt, of the C.P.R., Ottawa to Toronto train, was jolted upon the car platform, when the train was pulling into Parkdale this morning, and he was seriously cut and bruised about his head and shoulders. Conductor Burt has charge of the 5.51 early morning train going west, and returns on the 12.10 midnight.

CALL TO BORDEN

Earl Grey Asks Him to Form Cabinet.

Historic Scenes at Ottawa Yesterday.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The Laurier Administration is no more, and Canada to-day is without a Government. At three o'clock yesterday afternoon Sir Wilfrid Laurier left his office in the east block, drove out to Government House ad formally tendered his resignation.

The next step was a message from His Excellency to Mr. Borden's secretary asking the leader of the Conservative party to come to see the Governor-General.

Mr. Borden drove out to Rideau Hall and from six to seven o'clock was closeted with the representative of the crown.

He was asked to form a Government and undertook the task.

There was little of the dramatic about the final scenes. The members of the Liberal Cabinet met at 10.30 yesterday morning and remained in session until 1.30.

It was the final meeting, and at its close Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues left the council chamber for the last time.

The outgoing Premier appeared to be in high spirits and was chatting gaily with Mr. Paterson and Mackenzie King.

To the newspaper men gathered outside the room, he cheerily announced his intention of visiting Earl Grey in the afternoon. He waved his hand and with a brief "good-bye boys," he entered his cab and drove home.

Shortly after three o'clock Sir Wilfrid Laurier drove up to Rideau Hall. He was immediately ushered into Lord Grey's presence, and the formality of tendering the resignations took but a brief space. Then the outgoing Premier chatted with the King's representative for some time, and took his farewell.

At 4.30 Arthur Sladen, Earl Grey's private secretary, called up Mr. Borden on the telephone, and asked if it would be convenient for him to wait upon the Governor-General at six o'clock. Then a more formal message was sent over by hand and all was ready for the final act in the drama.

Just before six o'clock Mr. Borden passed out of the door at his residence on Wurtemburg street and entered the waiting cab. Mrs. Borden smilingly watched him leave, and also Hon. Frank Cochrane, who happened to be with the new Premier when the vice-regal messenger came.

The old gardener stopped sweeping up the autumn leaves as the carriage went by and said, "Good luck, sir." "Thank you, John," was Mr. Borden's smiling reply as the cab whirled away to Rideau Hall.

He accepted the task of forming a Government and asked for a day or two's delay—the customary request. Within an hour he was back at his home.

Now Mr. Borden has formally undertaken the work matters will move swiftly. The official slate will be given out on Monday.

There is likely to be a shake-up in the distribution of portfolios. Thus Mr. Foster is generally slated for Secretary of State and Minister of External Affairs, while Marine may go to British Columbia. Mr. Doherty is conceded to have the right of way to the portfolio of Justice.

In a few days the ex-Ministers will have scattered to all points of the country. Sir Fred Borden has sold his fine residence. Mr. Fielding will continue to reside here for some time.

Monday will see the official list of the men who will assist Mr. Borden in the Government of Canada.

T. W. Crothers, of West Elgin, is now suggested as the probable speaker of the House

May Re-enter Politics.

Toronto, Oct. 7.—Hon. Geo. P. Graham will likely re-enter public life and go back to the House of Commons. The ex-Minister of Railways is in Toronto at present, attending the ecumenical conference.

Mr. Graham says his friends are very anxious to have him go back to the House, and already he has been offered two seats in Ontario and several in Quebec.

There are also some flattering offers in the business world waiting for him if he cares to abandon public life, but Mr. Graham will hardly persuade himself to leave his old love. He prefers to re-enter the fight, though he does have to sit in the cold shades of opposition. Hon. Mr. Graham says there is a possibility that he may spend the first short session in the press gallery. He thinks it would be an enjoyable occupation, for a little while at least.

Had Not Read Enoch Arden.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—Frank Calve, who came to this city from Ottawa a few months ago, looking for his wife and finding her living as the wife of another, struck her with a knife, cutting her across the face, was sentenced to six months in prison and a fine of $50 or three months additional, with two bondsmen of $500 each to keep the peace for one year, yesterday.

Doctors Condemn Oily Liniments

The Public are Warned to Be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, Etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of them white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white, ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica, and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache, and such minor ailments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal or external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

THE DUKE'S COMING

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught have sailed for Canada, and are now on the broad Atlantic ocean. The coming of royalty to be the nominal head of this great and free British nation is a most significant event. Possibly our American friends across the line will take notice, and judge that Canada is a mere dependency a mere colony, ruled by Britain's rod of iron, because a prince of the blood has come "to rule over us."

The Duke of Connaught will undoubtedly observe the strict lines of impartiality in handling political affairs of the Dominion. As the constitutional adviser of the crown, he will have a difficult part to play, especially at the beginning of a new regime. But the Duke is case-hardened to such work, and there is little or no danger but that his tenure of office will be highly satisfactory.

There will be one real danger, however, and that is that Canadians will not regard him so much as the governor-general, but as the uncle of the king, and a brother of King Edward. Ottawa society will be one mad whirl, and it is sincerely to be hoped that there will be no spirit of toadyism shown by the Canadian people generally. The Duke himself would like nothing better than to be treated just as Earl Grey was, as the governor general, though people possibly will not be able to associate him in their ideas except as a prominent representative of royalty.

The recent elections show what the Canadians are in the matter of British spirit and loyalty. Canadians do not need to protest their loyalty, or even go to extremes in their reception of Connaught to indicate it, for Canadian adherence to the British tie is deeper than many people have suspected. Let us give the Duke a hearty and warm welcome, make him feel right at home, but there should be at least some method in our madness.

MR. BORDEN'S ZENITH

The Laurier administration is a thing of the past. In the words of the Toronto World, the day after the election, but without the red ink and the war type; Glory Hallelujah!

Fifteen years of government for the benefit of Liberal contractors and Liberal workers has come to an end and again we say, Glory Hallelujah!

Sir Wilfrid gave his resignation to the governor-general yesterday. Mr. Borden was called on to form a ministry. Mr. Borden will submit the names of his cabinet on Monday or Tuesday, and then away on a long stretch of "deep bloom" government.

The incoming ministry will have a great chance to do things, to be known as the Government of Action. There are many great national problems to be faced, and some of great difficulty. In these will lie Mr. Borden's test, and the first two years of his premiership will stamp him as the great Canadian of his day, or indicate that he does not attain the highest rank. But those who know Mr. Borden best, feel every confidence that in power, his breadth, his keen insight and clearness and keenness of mind will serve him much more to the purpose than Sir Wilfrid's method of setting his sails to the popular breeze.

Mr. Borden is a deep thinker, and a great student. He does not go in for polished oratory. He is not a juggler of terminological exactitudes; he does not fit the phrase to sonorous euphonism. He speaks plainly, directly sincerely. And as a business man, serious and purposeful, Mr. Borden will make an impression on Canada in some degree like that Sir James Whitney has made on the people of Ontario. What the people want in an administrator, after all, is not the graces of polished speaking, the fine art of the manipulator of words—pleasant though these may be. The people like a plain spoken man, a man of serious endeavor, and one who is using his best efforts to conduct the affairs of the country as they should be conducted.

And now that he is fairly started on the long stretch of power, this is what Mr. Borden will endeavor to give to the people of Canada.

RACIAL PREJUDICE

The Hamilton Herald says: Probably it was in a fit of petulance brought on by disappointment that Mr. Berthiaume, proprietor of La Presse, said a day or two ago that Canada would never see another French-Canadian at the head of the Dominion government. Mr. Berthiaume's meaning was that the Laurier government was unpopular in the English-speaking provinces because there was a French-Canadian at the head of it, and that the political parties would in future, through motives of expediency, be careful not to choose as their leaders men of French extraction.

The remark is more worthy of a soured schoolboy than a veteran journalist and trained publicist like Mr. Berthiaume. The facts are against him. It was not because Sir Wilfrid is a French-Canadian that his French followers in Quebec turned against him in such large numbers. Nor did the fact of his French extraction prevent his elevation to the highest office in the gift of the Canadian people, and the triumphant return of his government in three subsequent general elections. The people of Canada expressed confidence in him until he introduced a policy in which a majority of them had no confidence. The result would not have been different if a man of British extraction had been at the head of the government.

No doubt there is in Ontario and other English-speaking provinces a certain undercurrent of prejudice against French Canadians just as there is in Quebec a certain amount of prejudice against the so-called "Orangemen" of Ontario. But whatever the effect of the latter prejudice may be, we doubt if the former is strong enough and general enough to have any appreciable effect in elections. But even if it were stronger and more general than it is, it would not be much more objectionable than the French racial prejudice which is both powerful and general in Quebec, and which has assured to the Laurier government for fifteen years the support of an almost solid Quebec representation mainly for the reason that the head of the government is a French-Canadian. Racial prejudice as a motive for political action is to be deplored whether it be hostile or friendly prejudice.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Sacred to the memory of the Laurier government. R. I. P.

Now that the Turks are put out of Tripoli, the price of macaroni and spaghetti has come down some.

The Duke of Connaught is bringing with him 221 pieces of baggage, 21 servants and two motor cars. How would you like to be a duke to have to be bothered with all this?

Mr. Borden was born in 1854, the year of the first reciprocity treaty. He left the Liberal party in 1891 over reciprocity; and he defeated the Liberals in 1911 on reciprocity. He seems to have been born under the reciprocity star.

A few days ago the attention of Mr. Stratton was called to the fact that the armory was being used as a depository for some of his horse-show vehicles. This use of a public building is in violation of established practice, and while Peterborough undoubtedly is willing that Mr. Stratton shall get as considerate treatment as possible, surely this is stretching privilege a little too far.

LACK OF EXERCISE

Brings on Troubles which are Best Corrected by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

Sedentary Habits Develop Constipation

Man was intended to live an active, outdoor life, and his digestive system was modelled accordingly. Indoor work with hands or head, long hours sitting or standing still, especially in air that's none too good, slow down the healthy activities of stomach, liver, kidneys and the millions of tiny skin glands.

Constipation, headaches, indigestion, biliousness, rheumatism and similar troubles follow.

Then the worth of that good old reliable family medicine, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, is appreciated. Though it has been in use for over half a century, modern science has not been able to devise a safer or better cleanser for the whole system.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are largely vegetable in composition, free from any harmful drug, and mild yet most effective in their action. They are "Mother's standby" in hundreds of homes because they nip in the bud so many of the common ailments.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

CHAPTER V.
A Studied Insult.

In a small house of the third municipality, in the street called Casa Calvo, dwelt Don Ignacio Valverde. It was a wooden structure—a frame dwelling—of French-Creole fashion, consisting of but a single story, with It was not an amiable mood for a veranda, in the southern states termicasement windows that opened on a ed piazza; this being but little elevated above the level of the outside street. Beside Don Ignacio and his daughter, but one other individual occupied the house—their only servant, a young girl of Mexican nativity and mixed blood, half white, half Indian —in short, a mestiza.

On that night, when the election of the filibustering officers was being held in Poydras-st, her father, alone with her in the same sitting room, asked her to play the harp to the accompaniment of a song. Seating herself to the instrument, she obeyed, singing one of those romanzas in which the language of Cervantes is so rich. It was, in fact, the old song "El Travador." But on this night the spirit of the Mexican senorita was not with her song. Soon as it was finished, and her father had become otherwise engaged, she stepped out of the room, and, standing in the piazza, glanced through the lattice-work that screened it from the street. She evidently expected some one to come that way. And as her father had invited Florence Kearney to supper, and she knew of it, it would look as if he were the expected one.

If so, she was disappointed for a time, though a visitor made his appearance. The door bell, pulled from the outside, soon after summoned Pepita, the Mexican servant, to the front, and presently a heavy footfall on the wooden steps of the porch told of a man stepping upon the piazza.

Meanwhile the young lady had returned within the room, but the night being warm, the hinged casement stood ajar, and she could see through it the man thus entering. An air of disappointment, almost chagrin, came over her countenance, as the moonlight disclosed to her view the dark visage of Carlos Santander.

"Come in, Senor Don Carlos," said her father, also recognizing their visitor through the casement, and in a moment after the Creole stepped into the room, Pepita placing a chair for him.

"Though," continued Don Ignacio, "we did not expect to have the honor of your company this evening, you are always welcome."

Notwithstanding this polite speech there was a certain constraint or hesitancy in the way it was spoken, that told of some insincerity. It was evident that on that night at least Don Carlos' host looked upon him in the light of an intruder. Evidence of the same was still more marked on the countenance and in the behavior of Don Ignacio's daughter.

In truth, both father and daughter seemed disturbed by Santander's presence, both expecting one whom, for different reasons, they did not desire him to meet. If the Creole noticed their repugnance, he betrayed no sign of it. Santander, though by birth an American and a native of New Orleans, was of Mexican parentage, and still regarded himself as a citizen of the country of his ancestors. Only to his very intimates was it known that he held a very high place in the confidence of Mexico's dictator. But Don Ignacio knew this and rested certain hopes upon it. More than once had Santander, for motives that will presently appear, hinted to him the possibility of a return to his own land, with restoration of the estates he had forfeited. And the exiled patriot, wearied with long waiting, was at length willing to lend an ear to conditions, which, in other days, he might have spurned as humiliating if not actually dishonorable.

It was to talk of those Santander had now presented himself, and his host suspecting it, gave the young lady a side look, as much as to say, "Leave the room, Luisita."

She was but too glad to obey. Just then she preferred a turn upon the piazza, and into this she silently glided, leaving her father alone with the guest who had so inopportunely intruded.

It is not necessary to repeat what passed between the two men. Their business was to bring to a conclusion a compact they had already talked of, though only in general terms. It had reference to the restitution of Don Ignacio's confiscated estates, with, of course, also the ban of exile being removed from him. The price of all this, the hand of his daughter given to Carlos Santander. It was the Creole who proposed these terms and insisted upon them, even to the humiliation of himself. Madly in love with Luisa Valverde, he suspected that on her side there was no reciprocity of the passion. But he would have her hand if not her heart.

On that night the bargain was not destined to reach a conclusion, their conference being interrupted by the tread of booted feet, just ascending the front steps and crossing the floor of the piazza. This folowed by an exchange of salutations, in which the vioce of Luisa Valverde was heard mingling with that of a man.

Don Ignacio looked more troubled than surprised. He knew who was here. But when the words spoken outside reached the ears of Carlos Santander, first, in openly exchanged salutations and then whispers seemingly secret and confidential, he could no longer keep his seat, but springing up, exclaimed:

"Carrai! It's that dog of an Irlandes!"

"Hish!" continued his host. "The Senor Florencio will hear you."

"I wish him to hear me. I repeat the expression and plainly in his own native tongue. I call him a cur of an Irishman."

Outside was heard a short, sharp ejaculation, as of a man startled by some sudden surprise. I twas followed by an appealing speech, this in the softer accents of a woman. Then the the casement was drawn abruptly open, showing two faces outside. One, that of Florence Kearney, set in an angry frown; the other, Luisa Valverde's, pale and appealing. An appeal idle and too late, as she herself saw. The air had become charged with the electricity of deadliest anger and between the two men a collision was inevitable.

Without waiting for a word of invitation, Kearney stepped over the casement sill and presented himself inside the room. Don Ignacio and the Creole were by this also on their feet, and for a second or so the three formed a strange triangular tableau—the Mexican with fear on his face, that of Santander still wearing the expression of insult, as when he had exclaimed, "Cur of an Irishman!" Kearney confronting him with a look of indignant defiance.

There was an interval of silence, as that of calm preceding storm. It was broken by the guest, latest arrived saying a few words to his host, but in a calm, dignified tone; an apology for having unceremoniously entered the room.

"No need to apologise," promptly rejoined Don Ignacio. "You are here by my invitation, Senor Don Florencio, and my humble home is honored by your presence."

The Hidalgo blood, pure in Valverde's veins, had boiled up at seeing a man insulted under his roof.

"Thanks," said the young Irishman "And now, sir," he continued turning to Santander and regarding him with a look of recovered coolness, "having made my apology, I require yours."

"For what?" asked Santander, counterfeiting ignorance.

"For using language that belongs to the chain gangs of New Orleans, where I doubt not you spend most of your time."

Then, suddenly changing tone and expression of face, he added:

"Cur of a Creole! you must take back your words!"

"Never! It's not by habit to take, but to give, and to you I give this!"

So saying, he stepped straight up to the Irishman and spat in his face.

Kearney's heart was on fire. His hand was already on the butt of his pistol, but, glancing behind, he saw that pale, appealing face, and with an effort restrained himself, calmly saying to Santander:

"Calling yourself a gentleman, you will no doubt have a card and address. May I ask you to favor me with it, as to-morrow I shall have occasion to write to you? If a scoundrel such as you can boast of having a friend, you may as well give him notice be will be needed. Your card, sir!"

"Take it!" hissed the Creole, flinging his card on the table. Then glaring around, as if his glance would annihilate all, he clutched hold of his hat, bowed haughtily to Don Ignacio, looked daggers at his daughter and strode out into the street.

Though to all appearance defeated and humbled, he had in truth succeeded in his design, one he had long planned and cherished to bring about—a duel with Kearney, in which his antagonist should be challenger. This would give him the choice of weapons, which, as he well knew, would insure to him both safety and success. Without the certainty of this, Carlos Santander would have been the last man to provoke such an encounter; for, with all his air of bravado he was the veriest of cowards.

THE STRENGTH OF A CHAIN

Is that of its Weakest Link. Father Morriscy's No. 10 Forges it Anew.

The chain of the physical system is only as strong as its weakest link. When that link breaks, the chain breaks, and serious illness followed by death often results. The weak link with many people is the throat and lungs. In fact, statistics show that over twenty-five per cent of all deaths can be directly traced to diseases of these most important respiratory organs. Weakness here is very dangerous.

During his long and successful practice, Father Morriscy, the learned priest-physician, was often called upon to treat bronchial and pulmonary affections. He soon found that it was not enough to make temporary repairs on the "link," but that it had to be forged anew, in order permanently to strengthen the chain.

After much study, he succeeded in devising a prescription that would secure this result, by not only giving prompt relief but also by rebuilding and strengthening the delicate cells and membranes of the throat and lungs.

This prescription, Father Morriscy's Lung Tonic, or No. 10, has cured thousands. It is absolutely free from any dangerous drug, being compounded from Nature's own roots, herbs and balsams.

No. 10 stops the cough, relieves the soreness and strengthens and fortifies the system against future attacks. Even in the early stages of consumption it has proved helpful, but the wise plan is to take it in time, and avoid serious disease.

In our climate it is well to have a reliable and tested remedy like No. 10 always on hand. Take it at the first appearance of a cold, and keep the chain of life strong and capable of resistance.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Constipation in children is the surest sign of danger—the most convincing signal that baby is going to be ill. Constipation leads to and actually causes more suffering to little ones than any other trouble. To keep baby well his little stomach must be kept sweet and his bowels regular—Baby's Own Tablets will do that—they will do it safely, surely and without pain or griping. Concerning them Mrs. S. O. Braaten, Bergland, Ont., says: "My baby was bothered almost continually with his stomach and bowels and was greatly constipated. Baby's Own Tablets quickly relieved him and I would not use any other medicine." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

About the Modern Girl

The woman of to-day differs from the woman of earlier times, for not only has she a clearer consciousness of her own intellectual possibilties, but she has broken down the barriers of custom, prejudice and tradition, which for long surrounded her, and has found scope for her talents in those wider fields hitherto reserved exclusively for men. In public works women are serving in the employ of the London County Council, Board of Education, Local Government Board, Home Office, and Board of Trade. In agriculture and gardening, hygiene and cookery, philanthropy and politics woman has justified the position accorded to her; and in the arts she is making her mark, and this with an intelligent development which has placed her on equality with man. In poetry, Elisabeth Barrett Browning, Christina Rossetti, and Alice Meynell are names in the first rank: whilst in painting in 1875, we have Ruskin's recantation of his opinion that no woman could paint publicly expressed, his "iniquitous prejudice" confessed, his frank acknowledgement that Lady Butler — Miss Elizabeth Thompson as she then was — was doing "Amazon's work." Since that time we have the work of Mrs. Stanhope Forbes, Mrs. Henrietta Rae, Mrs. Jopling, Mrs. Adrian Stokes, Miss Eleanor Fortescue Brickdale, Mrs. Swynnerton and Miss Lucy Kemp-Welch, as illustrative of the extraordinary development, the robust originality, the sound technical method to which, in this branch of art, woman's work has reached.

Mother (crossly)—"Freddie, haven't I told you that you must not talk when I am talking."

Freight Cars In Splinters.

The line was cleared about ten o'clock, but it will take many hours to clear up the wreckage.

A Discovery of Vast Importance

It Is Now Admitted That Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, and Colds Can Only Be Quickly Cured By Mixing a New Medicine With the Air You Breathe.

Scientists acknowledge that medicated air treatment is the only treatment that will cure these diseases, and that stomach medicines are worse than useless.

Catarrhozone air treatment has been found to be the most effective way to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs, and nasal passages. Its action is so prompt that in less than an hour an ordinary cold is cured, and after a more thorough use of Catarrhozone, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all diseases of the throat and lungs are completely cured.

Catarrhozone is a very simple and powerful method of treatment. You simply breathe it through the inhaler and it immediately passes over every air cell of the throat, lungs, and bronchial tubes, curing and healing as it goes.

Catarrhozone treatment affords little drops of healing for sore places in the lungs, throat, and nasal passages.

ELEPHANT PULLED MOLAR WITH TRUNK

Peculiar Operation at the Toronto Riverdale Zoo

Toronto, Oct. 6.—The Royal College of Dental Surgeons will have to prosecute the elephant at the Riverdale Zoo. It pulled a tooth yesterday, and has no college certificate in its trunk. The unusual act was witnessed by Mr. Anthony Oliver, of Sunderland, England, who has been visiting his brother, Mr. Matthew Oliver, on Shuter street, while en route home to England from the west.

Mr. Oliver was at the Zoo watching the animals when he noted that the elephant was in pain. Its agonies were such that those standing by supposed that someone had broken the law by feeding it something nauseous. It threw up its head and groaned, and inserted the tip of its trunk in its mouth, as though wishing to dislodge something which had stuck there. It worked the trunk frantically, until at last, with a snort of relief, it drew the obstruction out, and cast it outside the enclosure. What was Mr. Oliver's surprise to pick up a large molar which had been the cause of all the trouble.

The tooth which the elephant thus extracted for itself measured roughly about 2 1-2 x 2 1-2 inches. It was only a couple of inches deep, and had evidently been broken off in the gums. The crown was in good state of preservation, but decay was apparent lower down.

The influx of settlers in the Northern Peace River district is becoming too great for the food supply of the district and new arrivals are being warned.

IF YOU ARE SICK
YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST
WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

Which Do You Prefer?

Those who engage in the Optical business as a profession, who for years have made the eye a special study and are fully qualified and equipped to correct all errors of refraction?

Those who have a permanent place of business and an up-to-date Optical Parlor, with every modern convenience for accurate sight testing?

Those who guarantee their work and who are in the city 365 days in the year to back up that guarantee.

OR,

Those who are in it simply for the money they can get out of it. The travelling peddler, who makes it a practice of remaining a few days in a place and by all kinds of fake advertising tries to persuade you to buy glasses after a few apparent tests much in the same way as you would buy any other kind of merchandise. That is to say, he attempts to fit glasses with practically no knowledge as to how it should be done.

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman

London, Ont.—I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was so weak and tired that I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wish to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it.—Mrs. WM. A. BUFFY, 905 Dame St., London, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has surely cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN CASE IN COURT OF APPEAL

Bennet v. Havelock Electric Light and Power Company

The following, which is taken from the Toronto World, Osgoode Hall news column, will be interesting to many people in this district. The case is now in the Court of Appeal, the highest Ontario court, and is before Chief Justice of Ontario Moss, and associate Justices Garrow, Maclaren, Meredith and Magee.

Bennett vs. Havelock Electric Light and Power Co.—S. T. Medd and R. R. Hall (Peterborough) for defendants. D. O'Connell (Peterborough) for plaintiffs. An appeal by defendants from the judgment of a divisional court, whereby they allowed plaintiff's appeal from the judgment at trial of Britton, J., dismissing plaintiff's action with costs. This was an action by plaintiffs on behalf of themselves and other shareholders of the defendant company for the cancellation and annulment of the issue of 200 shares of the company alleged to have been issued by the directors to themselves, or in the alternative that defendants be ordered to pay $4,700, the amount said to be unpaid on said shares, or to set aside the agreement between William Mathieson and the other defendants. Appeal enlarged and judgment reserved.

PETERBORO HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Contributed by the Association

Now that our Health Association has begun this work, even though in a small way, we trust that the public will become interested in its endeavors and attend in goodly numbers the meetings to be held from time to time during the autumn and winter.

Our local press have very kindly consented to publish from time to time information bearing on health matters, and it shall be the endeavor of the Association to supply the press with whatever information it may have which we think will be of interest or benefit to our citizens.

As the subject, which will receive first notice will be "Tuberculosis" it may not be amiss to give a short history of the work which is being done all over the civilized world to-day to stamp out this universal plague. The real fight dates back to the early eighties, when that brilliant German Prof. Koch of Berlin succeeded in demonstrating that the trouble was caused by a small organism called a Bacillus. So small was this organism that only by the aid of a powerful microscope could it be seen. You may ask how he knew this was the real causitive agent. In answer let us say that certain laws are laid down in Bacteriology, and to establish the identity of an organism, you have to conform to the dictates of these laws.

One of the first of these laws is that (1) the Bacillus must be found in the person supposed to have the disease (2) Bacilli taken from the sputum say of the affected person, can be grown artificially in proper soil and thirdly some of these Bacilli injected into animals will produce the same lesions as found in the original subject. Prof. Koch succeeded many times in doing this and it has been done innumerable times since, thus placing beyond any doubt whatsoever, the cause of this scourge. The disease was not new.

It seems to be as old almost as the history of man.

Hippocrates the Dean of Greek medicine, describes the trouble almost as accurately as it can be described to-day, and all the way down through the ages it has occupied an important place in the medical literature of the day, but until the latter part of the last century, which saw the dawn of scientific medicine, was the real cause of the trouble found, and the first step made in the fight to rescue the race from its grip.

ONE POLE REMOVED FROM THE STREET

Top Portion Unable to Carry a Heavy Load

A drunk caused a little commotion for a few minutes last evening on Hunter street, until a constable came along and walked him to the police station. The gentleman in question was a Pole and was unable to speak the English language very fluently. He came up from the G.T.R. station last night in the Oriental hotel 'bus, and while still badly intoxicated, entered the hotel and wanted to register his name. Of course the clerk refused, and the noisy one was ejected. Out on the street he amused a bunch who quickly gathered, by his actions and speech. When the policeman asked him to come along he sat down on the muddy street. He was eventually persuaded to accompany the officer to the station, and this morning was up before Magistrate Dumble.

He gave his name as Tony Koinsht. His spree cost him $2.

The best Comedy Drama of the season, "With Edged Tools" at the Grand to night. Don't miss it.

Matinee This Afternoon

The matinee performance of "With Edged Tools" this afternoon, is a great success there being a very large attendance. This attraction is by long odds the best comedy drama that has been seen in Peterborough for a long time, and is worthy of patronage.

There is every indication of a bumper house to-night.

The very best attraction this season, "With Edged Tools" by fine English Company. A treat for all. See it at the Grand to night.

THEATRICAL

"THE EARL OF PAWTUCKET"

Lawrence D'Orsay is the king-pin of English comedians on the stage. As a portrayer of the "Bah Jove, but you are spoofing" type of Briton, thoroughly honest, chivalrous, and possessing many admirable traits. Lawrence D'Orsay is a law unto himself. The Earl of Pawtucket, written for him by Augustus Thomas, fits him like a glove. He is not an actor in it, Lawrence D'Orsay is himself all the time. The Earl of Pawtucket has been on the go for many years, but there is no end to its favor in the hands of the distinguished English comedian.

In a gently satirical manner, Mr. Thomas has typified the Englishman of the upper class, and the American of the upper class. It is at all times a distinctly aristocratic play, the only low-browed villain to appear on the scene being a New York detective, and perhaps the rich Chicago brewer, Hooper. It was a company of unusual excellence, Mr. D'Orsays' leading lady being an actress of exceptional winsomeness and attractiveness. The Earl of Pawtucket is a play which deals with the experiences of Lord Cardington, an English earl, who, in seeking an American divorcee with whom he is in love, innocently assumes the name of her divorced husband, while he knows her only by her maiden name. The complications that arise from this assumption of the name of Montgomery Putnam are very laughable, and the audience is kept in roars of laughter at the cool insouciance of the new Mr. Montgomery Putnam, a supposedly American man whose English origin sticks out all over him. Behind every move that Mr. D'Orsay makes there is studied significance, yet he takes the part so naturally that one sees him not as a stage character, but as himself personally.

In a curtain call at the end of the second act, the distinguished comedian reminded Peterborough people, that he himself was a native of Peterborough — England. He began by playing the part of a "silly awss" but getting tired of that, got something where he could be himself. His success in this play has been so great that there has been nothing produced yet which gives him nearly as much opportunity for the display of his really remarkable talent along this one line.

Those who braved the rain and wind last night to see Mr. D'Orsay were well rewarded. It was a splendid presentation of a delightfully high class play.

THE DUTY ON CLOTHES

One-Third as High in Canada as in the United States

A good suit of clothes by any London tailor of repute costs about seven guineas, which is $36.25 in Canadian money. The duty on such a suit would be $10.19 additional. Such a suit can be reproduced in Canada by the Semi-ready shop for $30 to $35.

There are suits of shoddy sold in England at as low as 20 shillings, and there are mills in England which can finish shoddy so that none but cloth experts can detect its weakness. Such suits can be imported at $1.50 extra for duty. In the United States the duty on shoddy cloth is prohibitive, but in Canada they make no difference in the duties on shoddy and real cloth, though they do protect the farmer by prohibiting the manufacture of oleomargarine, or imitation butter.

A good suit of clothes costs as much in England as it does in Canada, when one compares costs with the plain marked and fixed prices of the big wholesale tailoring houses like the Semi-ready Company. Real Tweeds, Vicunas Cheviots, Serges and Worsteds such as are sold in Canada at $15, $20 and $25, cost as much in London shops of equal reputation.

But in the United States, where a duty of 100 per cent prevails, the cost of clothes is about 25 per cent higher than in Canada or in England. Canada could export clothing to the United were it not for the fact that the high tariff has also to be paid on the labor cost. But England could not, because the English styles are different and are not acceptable in America without drastic alterations. The English tailor does not give the "finish" to a garment, with is demanded on this side.

There are some men who are willing to stand the "guying" which comes with a suit made in England, but the normal man believes that he should not only conform to the customs but to the style of the community in which he lives.

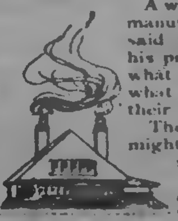
Peerless Peninsular

A CAST IRON RANGE WITH MODERN OVEN AND EQUIPMENT

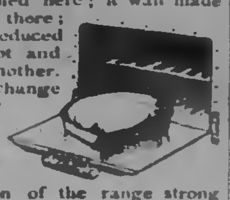


A wealthy mustard manufacturer once said that he made his profit not out of what people ate, but what they left on their plates.

The coal dealer might say about the same thing. It's not the coal you use that buys his six-cylinder car, but the coal that goes up the chimney.

You might as well save some of that coal.

Building ranges to cook well and to save coal has kept us thinking and working over in Preston for upwards of 50 years. Every year improvements in range construction have been made. The flues have been widened here; a wall made thicker there; weight reduced in one spot and added to another. But every change has made the oven heat with less fuel and the construction of the range strong and durable.

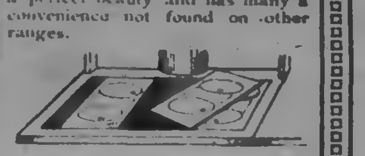


Nickel ornaments, special features or size do not affect the internal construction or honest materials and workmanship that go into the "Peninsular." So that when buying one, a housewife may feel free to consult her own tastes as regards finish and appearance. If the range is "Peninsular" she will know that it will give her good bakings for the least amount of coal.

The PEERLESS is a modern cast-iron range—it has a quick oven—an oven that heats evenly on every side, top and bottom—a square oven big enough to cook four pies at once; and it has a drop-oven door, which is not usual on a cast-iron range.

The PEERLESS Peninsular may be had with a steel warming closet and hot water reservoir and with a low closet under the oven for pots, pans and irons.

The PEERLESS Peninsular is a perfect beauty and has many a convenience not found on other ranges.



Take the top of the Peerless Peninsular.

It is made in three separate sections which slide along or lift out whenever you want to clean the flues.

In most ranges the oven is either "on" or "off." That is, it is getting full heat or none at all. The Peerless Peninsular oven is regulated by means of a sliding damper so as to get just as much heat as you need. This is another way you save fuel.

Get "The Cost"

"THE COST of a Range" tells more about these Peninsular Ranges—not a list of pictures and prices, but a book showing that the after-cost is the big cost and how the "Peninsular" cuts it down.

Yours, for the asking.

Private Car Bumped Into Train at Belleville

The all star company which presents the play "With Edged Tools," at the Grand Opera House, met with a rather serious accident Thursday night as they were travelling from Kingston to Lindsay, where an engagement was filled last-night. One lady sustained a broken nose and Manager Beck received a nasty scalp wound.

The company travels in its own private car, and it appears that a stop was made at Belleville, where there was a delay of some three hours While waiting on a siding, it is assumed that the brakes on the private car were not properly applied, and it started to move down a slight grade the result being that it bumped forcibly into the Toronto mixed, which very fortunately was standing at the station. The compact was felt throughout the car, and every window was shattered, while the seats, luggage and passengers were thrown in various directions.

Many of the company were making preparations to retire for the night when the accident occurred.

NEW OFFICERS FOR TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Addresses by Dr. Coleman of Toronto University

Good Display of Art From the County Schools

A joint meeting of the county and city teachers was held in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall yesterday morning. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Yenny, and after a few preliminary remarks he introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. H. T. J. Coleman, Ph. D. of Toronto University.

Dr. Coleman chose for his subject "Interest and Effort in Education" and after giving examples of extreme cases of each, he went on to say that they are complementary rather than antagonistic to each other and should go hand in hand in school work. In his second address he pointed out the different natures of interest and showed how each should be used in order to gain social efficiency.

A report of the summer session at the O.A.C. was then given by Miss Garbutt and Rainey. Miss Garbutt gave a concise paper on the practical work on the Institution, while Miss Rainey showed the social side of the college in an entertaining manner.

In the afternoon Dr. Coleman gave another interesting address, a continuation of his two previous ones and going further to show how environment had much to do in determining character, especially in children.

A vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Coleman for his address of the day.

The course in Public School geography was ably discussed by Miss D. Morley, and Mr. F. E. Kerr, and was of benefit to those present.

The report of the Nominating Committee was then given as follows—

President—Mr. Lees.

1st Vice-President— Mr. Pranouth.

Sec.-Treas.—Miss Kirkpatrick.

Executive—Miss Martin, Miss Duff and Mr. O'Neil.

Auditors—Miss Waters and Miss Thompson.

Delegates to O.E.A.A.— Miss Duff and Miss Rainey.

At the close of the convention Mr. Lees expressed the gratitude of the county teachers for the opportunity afforded them by the teachers in the city.

An interesting feature of the convention was the display of art from the county schools, some of the work being exceptionally well done.

PROFESSOR COLEMAN LECTURED ON METHODS OF EDUCATION

Direct and Indirect Methods of Instruction by the Teachers

At the evening session of the Teachers' Association, held in the Collegiate Assembly Hall, much profit was derived. Prof. Coleman spoke on "Interested Efforts in Education."

By way of introduction to this subject, Prof. Coleman of the Faculty of Edcation, connected with the Toronto University, stated that in the theory of education there was a fundamental line of cleavage. This, he illustrated by a comparison of the old so-called direct method in arithmetic and the new indirect method. In the former case the pupil was supposed to get the number concept by other repetition. In the case of the modern method this concept grows up in his consciousness from his experience with concrete things. Thus we have the theory of effort, which says, that no attempt should be made to make the learning process easy. Indeed the more of a bully or a drill-sergeant the teacher, the better he would suit the supporters of the theory of Effort. The extreme advocates of the theory of interest, on the other hand, are so afraid of "violating the self of the child," that they would develop all the child's native tendencies, would watch the struggle among these inherent interests for the survival of the fittest. A modified form of this theory is accepted and applied by most modern teachers. They recognize and appeal to the child's interest, whether mediate or immediate. This stimulates him to normal effort, and in such practice the natural resources of the child are developed with the least expenditure of energy. Thus pedagogical theory agrees with the modern commercial practice of conservation of resources. Nevertheless the school is frequently criticized for not articulating with life. This failure, if it exists, may as justly be attributed to the failure of society to utilize those resources which have been cultivated in school, to take up and encourage certain activities at the point where the school leaves them. But in so far as the school may eliminate this waste, it must follow the lines of interest, mediate or immediate, the latter way be either what the lecturer called primitive or civilized. He illustrated an appeal to primitive interest or animal curiosity by reference to the teacher who taught volcanoes by means of a sand mound, built over cotton saturated with alcohol. The fire which spurted from the ignited cotton was spectacular. It appealed to the interest of the children, but to a low abnormal, transient interest and created the demand that thereafter there must be "Something doing every minute in that school room." The higher form of immediate interest on the other hand, attends to the things connected with civilized life. The interest of the spirit, rather than the body, the interest that identifies ourself with the movements and ideals to be studied. Such attention may not be given willingly Some measure of constraint may be necessary and justifiable, even though it should be called by some extremists, "An unprovoked assault upon a timid child's soul."

In his next lecture on the "Training for Citizenship," Prof. Coleman took the Kingdom of God at the ideal of society. Such a society would be marked by righteousness, distinguished by the habit of right living, noted for peace and joy within its confines. The school must prepare for right living by training in obedience to law. The Public schools of Canada, filled as they are with children of all nation-abilities may be made a wonderful agency for the promotion of peace, and good will, for the extension of the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God, and thus bring joy to the nation. Thus may the school by developing righteousness, peace and joy, hasten the approach of the ideal society.

The subject of Prof. Coleman's last lecture was the fourth dimension, a study in the difference of behaviour arising from differences of environment. Thus the East differs from the West, the Japanese from the European, the Englishman from the Frenchman and one individual from another. The teacher must therefore recognize the fact that he is not dealing with men in the mass but with individuals.

LONGBOAT WON

Stratford, Oct. 6.—Tom Longboat retrieved the prestige he lost at Toronto when he was beaten in an eight-mile race by Ted Wood, the Englishman, and Billy Queal, the Yankee, by defeating Wood in an eight-mile run here at the roller rink last night. The time was 41.22 1-5. It was a clinking good race from the gun, and the crowd was delighted. The Indian led off at a rattling good pace, and got fifteen yards, but Wood caught him early, and they see-sawed for six miles, each man making alternate attempts to get away. Finally, at six miles Wood made a terrific spurt, and gained ten yards, and held it for half a mile. Then the Indian went at him like a wild man and caught him, and laid him behind for a while. The eighth mile was a series of sports, both men trying desperately to get away, but neither could gain anything. In the final dash the Indian got a three-yard lead on the last turn and stalled off Wood's rush. This was Wood's first indoor race, and his feet were blistered when he finished

Guard M.P.'s From Fires.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—It is likely that automatic fire protection equipment similar to that in use in the Legislative Buildings at Toronto will be installed in the Parliament Buildings here. Chief Graham thoroughly inspected this apparatus when at Toronto last week. Yesterday he said: "It is simply impossible for a fire to break out in any part of the Legislative buildings at Toronto without it being known."

Big Demand on Rain Fund.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—J. Lockie Wilson of Toronto, provincial superintendent of Fall Fairs, who is in Ottawa, said: "No fewer than forty fairs this year had to be postponed on account of the elections. This bunched a number of them at a season characterized by rains. As a result the ten thousand dollars voted for the first time this year to be used as insurance against bad weather came in very conveniently.

"Thirty fairs have applied for a share as a result of the drop in their gate receipts due to the wet weather."

YOUR SUNDAY WALK

If you are in the habit of taking a walk on Sunday afternoon (to-morrow) if the day is fine, take a stroll down along the water front and see what is taking place at the end of Sherbrooke street. Since the fire which destroyed the George street roller rink and other buildings, the city council has had Water street between Sherbrooke street and Dalhousie streets, opened, and in place of the old and dilapidated boat houses, which used to line the river banks as far south as the C.P.R. bridge, a new lot of boathouses, nicely painted, has been built. During the last few days three other boathouses, which stood on Sherbrooke street, have been torn down, and also the large old boathouse which formerly belonged to Mrs. English, and now the English homestead is being removed to make way for a new siding which the C.P.R. are building close to Water street and between Dalhousie and King streets. The ties and rails are now laid as far north as Mrs. English's house, and several train loads of gravel have been brought in for ballast. The house which Mrs. English lived in for so many years has been bought by Mr. Manson Comstock who will remove it to Aylmer street and make some modern improvements.

Why He Felt Bad

"Football," cried the old gentleman in the "Red Lion" smokeroom, "is a curse and a disgrace. Football," he continued, thumping the table with his fist, "is an abomination, and a blot on civilisation. The very name of football," he shouted, sweeping two glasses and a pint pot off the board in his excitement, "the very name of football is enough to make a decent, respectable man go and 'ang hisself out of pure disgust!"

"The gentleman seems to feel rather deeply on the subject," said a commercial traveller, who had been listening to his remarks.

"He do," assented one of the natives.

"Has he lost something at a match," inquired the commercial.

"He 'ave so. 'Ad a relative killed at one," replied the other, oracularly.

"What relative was it?" asked the querist.

"'Is wife's first husband!" was the response.

DUNCAN McMARTIN.

The story of the poor lad who leaves home to make his way in the world, and who returns to his native place as a self-made and honorable man of affairs can never lose its charm.

This is the lifestory of Duncan McMartin, the Conservative candidate for the county of Glengarry in the present federal fight.

Born thirty-seven years ago at St. Raphaels, on one of Glengarry's historic farmsteads. Duncan inherited from his father Alan McMartin, the priceless advantage of United Empire Loyalist blood in his veins, and pioneer stamina in his constitution. Glengarrians still cherish the memories of that party of seventy-five Loyalists, consisting mainly of McMartins and their kinsfolk, who forsook the United States in 1783, abandoning their homes and all the comforts of life rather than swerve in their devotion to the British throne.

Mr McMartin went West from the old farm while yet in his teens and after encountering all kinds of hard work success got him. Years of close application and tireless activity, combined with a phenomenal business acumen have brought their sure rewards, and Mr. McMartin now finds himself not only on Easy street, but a multi-millionaire.

Russell Case Closing.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—It became evident at yesterday's session of the long drawn out Russell conspiracy case, that the trial is drawing to a conclusion. As outlined to Judge Archer at the close of the afternoon hearing, the arrangement is now that the defense will close its case on Monday morning, when McNamara, Montreal manager of the Pinkertons, and one of the defendants, will be continued. Then the plaintiff's side will take up evidence in rebuttal, and it is likely that one of the witnesses will be Moses Cochenthaler, whose name has figured so prominently in the testimony of previous witnesses.

In all probability the hearing of evidence both main and in rebuttal will be concluded Monday, and Tuesday may see the end of the case.

The defendant McNamara was on the stand the greater part of yesterday afternoon. The greater part of his evidence consisted of details as to accounts, but some major issues were reached.

Factories To Be Established Here.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 7.—Irving Schaffer, secretary-treasurer of the Richelieu Securities Co., Buffalo, fiscal agents, yesterday about completed negotiations for the establishment here of a branch of the American company, manufacturing vacuum cleaners. He said that a plant would be in operation by the spring. He is also negotiating for the establishment here of a Canadian branch of the Stotts Railway Signal Co.

"I know at least a score of large American concerns that will establish branches in Canada. They did not finally decide to locate in Canada until the pact was turned down," said Mr. Schaffer.

Sweden Also Has New Cabinet.

Stockholm, Ot. 7.—K. Staaff, the Liberal leader, yesterday succeeded in forming a Cabinet to succeed the one of Premier Londamen, which resigned Sept. 30. In the new Cabinet M. Staaff will take the portfolio of Premier and Count Albert Abreanvard, Swedish Minister to the United States, that of Foreign Affairs. The Socialists declined to participate in the formation of the new Ministry.

The other members of the new Ministry are:

War, Dr. D. K. Bergstrom; justice, M. Landstrom; marine, Deputy Jacob Larseen; interior, Deputy P. A. V. Schotte; finance, Barton A. T. Adelswaerg; institution, Dr. Fridtjof Berg; agriculture, Deputy Alfred Petersson; ministers without portfolio, Senator Petren and Assistant Judge Stenstroam.

Perks Talks of Canal Plans.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Sir Robert Perks, British financier and head of the Georgian Bay Canal Co., announces that at an early date the canal scheme would be laid before the incoming Government, though it was not expected there would be any pronouncement from the Cabinet for some time.

While Sir Robert would not say that the passage of reciprocity would have obviated the necessity for the ship canal, as was alleged during the campaign, he stated that the result of the election was undoubtedly a declaration for east and west trade and the Georgian Bay Canal was the natural sequence.

Boy of 15 Weds Girl of 14.

New York, Oct. 7.—Homesickness temporarily checked the romantic plans of Arthur Edward James, aged fifteen, and Ruth Jane Day, fourteen years old, who eloped from South Orange, N.J., last Saturday. They returned to their homes Thursday night, having tried in vain to obtain a marriage license. Although footsore and dispirited, the children begged to be permitted to marry, and the wedding will now probably take place at once in the Episcopal Church at South Orange which both have attended since they were mere babies. The parents have consented to the union.

Every time you order an imported beer you must pay the duty imposed on its importation plus extra freight charges. This is one of the reasons why you should insist on and there are others. No beer brewed on this continent is quite so good as "Salvador." It has been the favorite drink of Germans for centuries. The Reinhardts' of Toronto have the sole right of brewing "Salvador"—they alone possess the formula.

"Salvador" (The Famous National Drink)

"Salvador" is rich in flavor, mellow and appetizing—a nerve and tissue builder par excellence. Always order "Salvador" and you drink the best beer brewed—the beer that is a food as well as drink.

DANGEROUS FAMILIARITY

Shooting Season Brings Much Enjoyment, But Drastic Measures are on Demand for the Careless Handlers of the Rifle.

The shooting season is upon us again. For a great many men and boys it is going to mean a few days at least of well-earned holiday and some genuine sport, carried on in a manner becoming to true sportsmen. It is going to mean welcome additions to the larder at a time when the range of meat foods has become narrow and monotonous. Roast wild duck is not to be despised at a king's table. But unless it is remarkably unlike previous seasons, this shooting season is going to mean more than sport and good eating. It will mean death to a number of people, sorrow in the homes they leave, and passionate regret never to die out in the heart of the man whose hand caused the "shooting accident" of which we read and hear so often that it scarcely causes a pang of pity or surprise. None of these deaths are ever caused by malice, but nearly all of them are avoidable if proper care is taken. Real familiarity with a gun breeds respect; it is your youthful, inexperienced sportsman with a desire not to appear like an amateur who treats his weapon with dangerous familiarity and adds the largest quota to the list of the slain. There are a group of men — middle-aged men now — who have gone deer hunting together every season since they were young fellows. There never was an accident in that camp in all the years because the infallible rule was that no man was to shoot till he was sure at what he was shooting, and no man was to bring a loaded gun into camp under any pretext whatever. Breaking the rule meant that the camp was closed forever to the guilty one. Making it compulsory to have a gun license is a good thing, but suggests a sporting authority one of the conditions should be that any man who caused an accident with a gun during the game season, should have both gun and license taken away from him for the rest of the year, and aggravated cases of heedlessness should be punished by fine or imprisonment.

WANT A FIXED CALENDAR

British Proposal to Even-up the Months Would Cut Apart as Specials New Years' Day and "Leap Day".

Some novel proposals are contained in the Fixed Calendar Bill presented by Sir Henry Dalziel, and supported by Mr. Wilkie, Mr. Pringle, and Mr Munro Ferguson in the British House of Parliament. The bill purposes to substitute for the present irregular calendar a fixed calendar having regular periods, of which the week is a common measure. An appended table shows that the months of January, February, April, May, July, August, October, and November would each consist of 28 days, whilst the remaining months of March, June Steptember and December would each have 35 days. "New Year Day" is set apart, thus bringing the total of days up to the requisite number of 365, whilst for leap years a special day is set apart as "Leap Day," which is to be intercalated between the last day of June and the first day of July, as reconstituted by the bill. A clause of the bill lays it down that the New Year Day and Leap Day shall neither of them be accounted days of the week, and shall not, except where specially mentioned or provided for, be held to be included in any computation of days, but shall otherwise be public Bank Holidays.

Electricity from the Star.

Experiments conducted in Ireland, if they are to be trusted, reveal a distinct electromotive force exercised by the stars. Using a reflecting telescope of two feet aperture to concentrate the star rays, and a sensitive electrometer to note their influence, the experimenters had reason to believe that they were able not only to detect, but to measure, the electromotive force of both stars and planets.

To Venus, for example, they ascribed a force of about seventeen one-hundredths of a volt, and to Jupiter a force of at least three one-hundredths of a volt. In the case of Jupiter only a part of the planet's light fell upon the electrometer, so that the experimenters inferred that his entire electric influence must be much greater than that stated. Sirius, which appears to us as the brightest of the fixed stars, showed a force amounting to two one-hundredths of a volt.

Read what a Toronto lady says;

TWINGING PAINS NEARLY TOOK BREATH AWAY.

Mrs. Robert Arnoth, of 125 McCaul street, Toronto, Ont., says:—"My back had been tender and painful for some time. A twinging pain would shoot through me in the region of the kidneys and take my breath away for many seconds. I was unable to stoop or do anything that required lifting. The urine plainly told the trouble arose from inactivity on the part of the kidneys, as it contained a quantity of sediment. The doctors who told me I had symptoms of Bright's disease failed to help me in any way. I procured Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement and had used them a very short time when I could notice a great change in my condition. The urine cleared, the secretions gradually became normal, and my appetite began to improve. My back is strong and the pain is gone."

HOME SWEET HOME!

Grand Old Hymn, Known the World Over, Was First Sung in Public When Its Author, Payne, Was Under Arrest.

When the boundary line between Georgia and Tennessee was being fixed, it crossed an Indian trail which became a place of some importance. There had sprung up between Georgia and Tennessee a spirit of rivalry, and the boundary line fixing the limits of the respective territories increased it. To try and harmonise the contending factions, the government established a trading post there. John Howard Payne appeared upon the scene, and was accused of inciting the Indians to insubordination. He was placed under arrest as an incendiary and carried to the council house. During Payne's incarceration a band of Indians arrived, among whom was one known as Oochee or Rattling Gourd. His wife and papoose were buried in the neighborhood, and he visited their graves, where he mourned. It was seen that he was a broken-hearted man. One morning he was missed, and the patrol in searching, found him weltering in his own blood between the graves of his loved dead, he having fallen on his bayonet, which pierced his heart. He was buried by the soldiers, and after the service was over, Payne, who had been a silent witness to the pathetic scene, began singing softly to himself that hymn, or song which since has been sung in every land. General Bishop, who had kept a close scrutiny on Payne, heard the song and called him to him. "Young man," said the stern old fighter, "where did you learn that song?" "I wrote it," said Payne. "Where did you get the tune?" "I composed it," said Payne. "Will you give me a copy?" "Certainly I will."

General Bishop surveyed him for a moment, then said: "Well, a man who can write and sing like that is no incendiary. Appearance may be against you, but I am going to write out your discharge and give you a pass through all the territory."

That was the first time "Home, Sweet Home" was ever sung in public.

WATCHES IN EARLY DAYS

For General Time-Keeping the Sand-Glass Was Discarded in Sixteenth Century, When Watches Were First Seen in England.

Sand-glasses were introduced about A. D. 330, and they still have their uses when boiling eggs or taking a division in the House of Lords, though these are only miniature reproductions of the early time-tellers that took just one hour for the sand in the upper bulb to pass into the lower.

Watches were supposed to have been introduced into Britain only in 1577, but though this may be correct if taken in a general sense, it is nevertheless certain that Henry VIII. had a watch; and in 1572 the Earl of Leicester presented Queen Elizabeth with an armlet with a watch hanging from it. When Malvolio speaks of his anticipated great fortune, he says: "I frown the while and perchance wind up my watch or play with some rich jewel."

It used to be the custom to lend watches to be worn on special occasions, and in the "Alchemist" Jonson says:—

And I lent my watch last night to one
That dines to-day at the Sheriff's.

In 1698 English watchmakers became so famous that an Act was passed to compel makers to affix their names upon the watches they made in order that discreditable ones might not be passed for English. The best-known makers of the time were Noble, Tosbroke, Nares, and Pepys. The first watches were supposed to have come from Nuremberg, in Germany, and they were known under the name of "Nuremberg Eggs," on account of their shape, which was egg-like. The works were enclosed in a circular metal case, and they were hung from the girdle. At first the movements were entirely of steel, then brass was adopted for the plates, and pillars, the wheels and pinions only being made of steel, and at last it was only the pinions that were of steel.

Blind but Brilliant

That two old men who are totally deprived of their sight should be able to build a comfortable seven-roomed dwelling without any assistance from anyone is certainly a very remarkable feat to accomplish. The house that they built was twenty feet square, and is quite handsome in design and finish. These sightless builders, named respectively Frank M. Steele and Joseph Martinez, live out in one of the little suburbs of Berkeley, California. The house is a box-frame cottage constructed of pine lumber, and the exterior walls are covered with plain redwood lumber. It is practically a two-storey building, the first storey being part basement. There are a number of doors, of course, and six windows in the building. There is a little porch at the front, and steps leading up from the sidewalk. Both exterior and interior have been very neatly painted. Remarkable as the statement may seem, all of this work was done by Steele and Martinez without the least assistance from anyone else. They planned the building themselves, and all of the work was done without any suggestions. These men are both past the half-century mark.

A Phonographic Lock

The latest in door locks is built on the phonographic principle, and can only be opened when talked to by its owner. It might be easier, of course, for some people to talk into the keyhole than to insert a key in it on occasion, but at such times the lock might have a difficulty in recognising its master's voice, and the last state of the man might be worse than the first.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor, and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular, and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night, and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system, and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor, and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone, Co., Kingston, Ont.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

The "Philosophers Stone"

The philosopher's stone was something which the chemists of long ago were looking for. In those days they were called alchemists, alchemy being the old name for chemistry. They are the same words, al simply meaning the.

The general name of philosopher was given by other people to all who studied Nature in any of her aspects. The object of the search was to find something that would turn base metals into gold. This was really not worth aiming at, but in the search, which never succeeded, the alchemists found out all manner of chemical facts, for which we must always be indebted to them. And we must do them the justice to suppose that many of them were deeply interested in what they found out, for its own sake. The philosopher's stone would not have been worth finding for the sake of the gold, for directly gold became common it would lose its costliness. It has no real value in itself beyond that of a great many other metals. We are learning now that one metal can be turned into another, especially through the action of radium.

It is not certain that we shall be able to make gold for a long time yet, but radium already goes a very long way towards being what our ancestors looked for in the "philosopher's stone."

A Timely Hint

One of the best known and ablest of English judges is not given to the use of superfluous words, and his fondness for brevity is such that he embraces every possible opportunity of leading others to seek it also. During the hearing of a certain case which came before this judge, a learned King's Counselor prosed away at what seemed likely to be an interminable length, until His Lordship, becoming utterly weary of the proceedings, suddenly looked towards the speaker, and gently enquired what day it was.

The question was so unexepected that the barrister looked a while, in sheer amazement, at the questioner. "Tuesday, me lud," he replied, when he had partly recovered from his surprise.

"Ah, yes, quite so," responded the judge, in his suavest tones. "You see, I only just wanted to mention that I shall not be sitting after next Saturday."

DID NOT HAVE TO CALL THE DOCTOR

Because She Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills First

One box of them cured Mrs. Mary A. Cook's Rheumatism from which she had suffered for fourteen years.

Mannheim, Ont., Oct. 6. (Special) —How quickly and easily Rheumatism can be cured when you use the right means is shown in the case of Mrs. Mary A. Cook, well known and highly respected here. In an interview regarding her cure, of which all the village knows, Mrs. Cook says:

"I had Rheumatism so bad that sometimes I would sit up nearly all night.

"I first thought I would try the doctors, but luckily I decided to first try Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"They cured me, and I didn't have to try the doctors. And just to think that after fourteen years of suffering one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills should cure! I will recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone who suffers from Rheumatism."

Yes it is easy to cure Rheumatism when you go the right way about it. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are working right they will strain all the uric acid out of the blood and there can be no Rheumatism. Dodd's Kidney Pills always make the Kidneys work right.

THE HIGHLANDERS TARTAN

Distinctive Coloring of the Cloth Identified with the Garbing of the Gael Had Early Eastern European Origin.

It will interest others besides those Canadians of Scots descent to learn that the term tartan is not Gaelic, nor is it claimed that it was first used in the Scottish Highlands, for it is a well authenticated fact that it was in use in Gaul, Wales, and Ireland before we have any reference to its use in Gaeldom. Tartan clothing, however, has been retained in Celtic Scotland long after it had been given up by all the other Celtic nationalities, and hence it has won for itself the term "Highland." The Gaelic term for tartan is "breacan," from breac, spotted, and in the old Gaelic tale of Curio, which Professor Mackinnon assigns to the fourteenth century, the word "brecan" occurs. In his "Remarks on British Antiquities" (1776), Borthwick prints the Accounts for 1474 of John, Bishop of Glasgow, Treasurer to James III., which contain a reference to "tartane" cloth. It has since been discovered that the term used is "tartar," which bespeaks an Eastern origin, and that, as Skene points out, the first indisputable reference to Highland tartan occurs in the "Accounts of the Lord High Treasurer of Scotland in August, 1538." It is generally admitted that district tartans are older than clan tartans, and it has been shown how certain tartans associated with particular districts have been annexed by the clans predominant in those areas. It is interesting to note that there is historic evidence to prove the existence of clan tartans as early as 1587. In a Charter of that year, granting Hector Maclean, heir of Duart, certain lands in Islay, the feu-duty is made payable in the form of sixty ells cloth of white, black and green colours, which correspond with the hunting tartan of the House of Stuart. The evolution of certain clan tartans is extremely interesting. For example, the Gordons, who for a time wore the Huntly district tartan, now wear the tartan invented for the "Gordon Highlanders" by introducing a yellow stripe into the "Black Watch" pattern. In like manner, the Clan Forbes evolved a tartan for themselves, by adding a white line to the "Black Watch," or 42nd tartan. Cadet families, ambitious to possess a tartan of their own, generally added a few lines to the tartan of the clan to make a distinction, but always left sufficient to the original set to show the relationship.

THE EARTH AND THE SEA

Facts and Figures of Interest With Regard to the Earth and Its Population, the Sea and Its Depths.

Sometimes this old world seems a rather large place, and occasionally one gets the idea that there are a great many people; but, after all, there are only fifty-six million square miles of land on which we may build houses and grow crops and walk about, and there are only fifteen hundred million persons to do these things. If the earth's population was evenly apportioned to the various continents and islands, there would be twenty-seven persons on each square mile; but, as it is, there are 101.2 persons to each square mile in Europe, 49.1 persons on a like area in Asia, 14.3 in North America, and only 1.5 in Australasia. The polar regions are the really lonely lands, however; for there the population is only six-hundredths of a person to the square mile. The total population of the earth at the time of the death of Emperor Augustus was not over fifty-four millions, about three-fifths the present population of the United States, and the total population of Europe did not exceed fifty millions before the fifteenth century.

The greatest depth of the Pacific Ocean is supposed to be nearly six miles, and that of the Atlantic four and one-half miles.

The peoples of the world, after much contention, have divided themselves into some fifty principal political divisions.

The average duration of a human life is about thirty-three years. One-quarter of the people on the earth die before reaching the age of six, one-half before sixteen, and only one person out of each hundred born lives to be sixty-five. It is calculated that every minute there are sixty-seven deaths, ninety-six thousand a day, or thirty-five million a year. Births take place at the rate of seventy a minute, one hundred thousand a day, or thirty-six million each year.

A Popular Godfather.

Few men are in greater demand to stand as godfather than Mr. J. M. Barrie, the well known author, who has just added another godchild to his long list in Miss Cissie Loftus's baby. As there is no man fonder of children, the duty of sponsor is very agreeable to Mr. Barrie, who takes his responsibilities very seriously. Mr. Barrie has admission to Kensington Gardens, London, any hour in the twenty-four. This privilege he owes to the fact that the late Duke of Cambridge was so charmed when he read "The Little White Bird" that he presented a key of the gardens to Mr. Barrie, with "The Park Ranger's compliments." Mr. Barrie appreciated the favour, for he delights to wander with "Peter Pan" in the leafy dells when the rest of the world is asleep.

An interesting feature of the Calcutta Durbar on December 30 will, it is stated, be the performance of the ancient Hindu ceremony of tulat — or weighing the King against masses of silver and gold, to be afterwards distributed among the poor.

MILLBROOK FAIR SPOILED BY RAIN AND SNOW YESTERDAY

The success of the Millbrook Exhibition yesterday was marred by the ill-will of Jupiter Pluvius. At noon the directors met and decided to call it off as the weather was not conducive to a large attendance and it was impossible to judge the live stock and outside exhibits. The number of entries was the best on record, and the prospects for the best exhibition in the history of the Association was spoiled by the disposition of the weather man. The horses especially were numerous and of a very high quality.

In one class, that of the gentleman's driver, there were no less than twenty-five contestants and though the number of entries in the other classes was not so great, all the prizes would have been keenly contested and it is a great pity that the judging had to be called off.

The judging of the exhibits in the main building took place on Thursday and the prize money will be paid, and the entrance fees will be returned to the exhibitors in classes not judged. The membership tickets will be good for next year.

Among the Peterboro people who had exhibits on the grounds, were Miss Geraldine King, Miss Ethel Wood, Mrs. E. Jamieson, Mrs. W. J. Tully, Mr. W. E. Wood and Mr. W. Grady.

The Misses King and Wood were heavy winners with their fancy work, etc., while Mrs. W. J. Tully won in the domestic manufacture class. The other Peterboro people were principally exhibitors of horses, fowl, etc., which were not judged.

The usual number of phenomenally large squash, pumpkins, turnips and mangolds, for which that vicinity is noted, were there in profusion and some of them were larger than anything shown in previous years.

The 57th Regimental Band was in attendance, having left here on the special train at noon, which carried about two hundred local people and the members returned on the 5.30 train at night without having played during the afternoon.

The concert which was to have taken place in the Town Hall at night was also cancelled. Several artists from the Peterboro Conservatory of Music were to assisted in the program with Mr. Harry M. Bennett, comic singer and character impersonator of Toronto, but they were communicated with before train time and they did not make the trip as scheduled.

The Association will likely receive a consideration from the Provincial Department of Agriculture to help bear the expenses accrued in connection with the Exhibition.

THOUGHT IT WAS CANCER

"Fruit-a-tives" completely restored me

SYDNEY MINES, N.S., Jan. 25th, 1910.

"For many years, I suffered tortures from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Two years ago, I was so bad that I vomited my food constantly. I also suffered with Constipation. I consulted physicians, as I was afraid the disease was cancer, but medicine gave only temporary relief.

I read in the 'Maritime Baptist' about 'Fruit-a-tives' and the cures this medicine was making and I decided to try it. After taking three boxes, I found a great change for the better and now I can say 'Fruit-a-tives' has entirely cured me when every other treatment failed, and I reverently say "Thank God for 'Fruit-a-tives'."

EDWIN ORAM, Sr.

"Fruit-a-tives" sweetens the stomach, increases the actual quantity of gastric juice in the stomach and ensures complete digestion of all sensible food. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices.

AFTER EFFECTS OF FEVER

How to Build up Health and Strength After Wasting Diseases

When the system is run down following attacks of fever, la grippe, or other wasting diseases, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are of special value. They make new, rich blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, and in this way restore the patient to active health and strength. In proof of this we give the case of Mrs. James Randall, Silverstream, Sask., who says: "I feel that if there is anyone who ought to testify to the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it is myself. About four years ago I was taken down with typhoid fever which left me in a very weak state and my stomach so impaired that even a drink of milk would cause me pain. To make matters worse the change of life followed, and although I was under the care of one of our best doctors, I was steadily growing worse. Before I was sick I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but thought no more about them. But now when I was sick and helpless, and almost hopeless, and with no benefit coming from medical treatment, I kept thinking of the Pills and finally decided to try them. I did so, and I am thankful to be able to say that they restored me to health and strength, and enabled me to pass through that trying period, from which so many poor women emerge with shattered health. I hope that many other poor sufferers may read this statement and take fresh courage from it, as I am sure that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, they will do for others. I may add that I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the home, and feel that they are better than a doctor."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GRAHAM MAY GO TO THE GALLERY

Talks of Joining the Newspaper Crowd at Ottawa

Toronto, Oct. 6.—"I think I shall re-enter public life and go back to the House," said the Hon. George P. Graham to a Star reporter to-day. "But remember, I am not saying positively that I shall, for as a matter of fact I have not fully made up my mind.

"The friends have been very kind, and apparently want me to go back. I have been offered three seats in the West, two in Ontario, and several in Quebec. On the other hand, I have received some flattering offers to go into business and leave politics alone. So far I have accepted none of these, and I hardly expect to take any of them. As I say, the situation is simply that I have not yet fully made up my mind, but I rather expect I shall decide to re-enter the fight.

IN THE PRESS GALLERY.

"Of course, if I had been elected in my own constituency, I should never have thought of retiring, because we happen to be in opposition now, but having been beaten it makes a difference.

"Perhaps I will compromise by spending the first short session in the press gallery. Don't be very much surprised if you find me there among the boys."

Mr. Graham is here attending the Ecumenical Conference.

PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

Are Ended by Zam-Buk

When you have any deep-seated pain in the joints, the back, the wrists or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand and rub it in. The penetrating power of this "embrocation-balm" is very great. It kills pain and removes stiffness.

Mrs. Frances Wyatt, of 25 Guy Avenue, Montreal says: "I have found Zam-Buk most soothing and valuable in a very bad case of rheumatism, and also for stiffness of joints and muscles. I suffered long and acutely from rheumatism and tried one liniment after another in vain. I also took medicines internally, but it remained for Zam-Buk to effect a cure. I began applying the balm when I felt the aches and pains of rheumatism coming on, or felt any of the stiffness. The result was truly wonderful. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very seat of the pains driving them completely out, and I am now quite cured."

If rubbed on to the chest and between the shoulders in cases of cold, Zam-Buk will give speedy relief.

Apart from its use as an embrocation, Zam-Buk is a cure for eczema, rashes, ringworm, cold sores ulcers, abscesses, chapped hands, piles, varicose veins, cuts, burns, bruises, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations.

CABINET TROUBLES

Mr. Borden Having a Few of Them.

Premier Borden's official statement as to his cabinet will be handed out this evening at Ottawa. All supposed slates published are guesses, and the nearest is said to be five wide of the proper mark.

Special To The Review.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—No announcement has yet been made as to the cabinet swearing in, which was to take place at noon on Tuesday. This is said to be due to the attitude of Mr. Monk against the cabinet having any representative of the English Protestants in Quebec. This would keep Geo. H. Perley out.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The Borden Cabinet will not be sworn in till noon on Tuesday, Earl Grey afterwards leaving by special train for Montreal to catch his boat.

The Ministry is yet uncompleted, but while this is so, there are a number of men who are regarded as certain selections. These include:

Nova Scotia: R. L. Borden.
New Brunswick: Hon. J. D. Hazen.
Quebec: Doherty, Perley, Pelletier, Monk.
Ontario: Cochrane, Foster, White, Broder, Hughes.
Manitoba: Rogers, Roche.
British Columbia: Goodeve.

Col. Sam Hughes will, it is expected take the militia portfolio, and W. T. White of Toronto seems a certainty as Minister of Finance. Mr. White is in Ottawa to-day.

There is still some doubt as to Quebec, though when the delegation from that province left Ottawa Saturday, it is said that Rodolphe Forget would go in without portfolio, instead of Wilfrid Nantel.

The portfolios have not been alloted.

Hazen For Railways?

St. John, N.B., Oct. 9—J. D. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick, left for Ottawa last night, to accept a seat in the Borden Cabinet. He said he was not sure what portfolio he would get. It is believed he will be the next Minister of Railways.

Will Not Sell to Canadian Road.

Minneapolis, Oct. 9.—Newman Erb, new director of the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway yesterday made the first authoritative statement regarding the plans of the company. He said:

"We will build to the Canadian line and we will rehabilitate the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad and Iowa Central. We will do our developing and do not contemplate selling out to any Canadian road."

COOK'S BOX DID NOT HAVE PAPERS

Famous Explorer Again Proved to be Liar.

Copenhagen, Oct. .—A message received here from Greenland says that Knud Rasmussen, the Danish explorer, failed to discover any traces of Captain Elmar Mikkelsen and his companions, who after having been rescued on the coast of East Greenland last year, left their party to search for traces of the lost explorer Ericssen. Rasmussen expreses the fear that Mikkelsen and his party have perished.

Fruehen, another Danish explorer who accompanied Rasmussen, obtained from Cook's Eskimo assistant Etukishuk, the box which Cook alleged contained the instruments and papers which would prove his polar discovery claims. The box contains only a broken sextant and other instruments, but no papers. According to Fruehen, Etukishuk said the story told by Dr. Cook was absolutely untrue.

SCENE OF THE DISPUTE BETWEEN ITALY AND TURKEY.

The naval demonstration off Tripoli directs attention to the relative sea power of Italy and Turkey and to the question of "the command of the sea," that must precede any attempt to land an army corps and that of possible blockades. The Italian navy is generally ranked fifth among the maritime nations, following in due order Great Britain, Germany, the United States and France. Turkey, on the other hand, is almost negligible as a sea power, though of late an effort has been exerted to strengthen her force by the purchase of two German battle ships and by placing orders for the construction of two battle ship cruisers, one to be built at Elswick and the other at Barrow.

Four of the Italian battle ships under construction are of the latest type, and, indeed, possess novelties in the way of armament that may change the present mounting of guns in all other navies. These vessels, the Dante Alighieri, the Conte di Cavour, the Guilio Cesare and the Leonardo da Vinci, are of the Dreadnought class; the Dante Alighieri is of less displacement than the others—18,300 tons—of slightly inferior battery power, but of greater speed.

Not many details of importance are available of the Ottoman navy, though it must be said that it has grown somewhat of late through the purchase in other countries of a few large vessels.

The present navy list shows that Turkey has five battle ships, two of them laid down years ago, but since modernized; two cruisers, very good vessels; four torpedo cruisers, one gunboat, ten destroyers and nineteen first class torpedo boats. About a year ago Turkey bought from Germany the sister battle ships Kurfürst Frederick Wilhelm and the Weissenberg, each of 9,900 tons seventeen knots speed and carrying a battery of six 11-inch guns and eight 4½-inch guns. These ships are now known respectively as the Kheyr-ed-Din Barbarossa, called after the celebrated Corsair king who was the antagonist of the great Italian Andrea Dona, and the Torghout Reiss, named for the most famous successor of Barbarossa in Turkish naval annals.

FATAL TRAIN WRECK.

Rochester, Mich., Oct. 9.—Two people were killed and eleven injured, one probably fatally early Saturday night, when a Detroit United Railway work car, attached to two cars loaded with cinders, crashed into the front end of the northbound Detroit United Railway Flint Limited, about a mile north of Rochester. The dead:

Daniel Fallon, aged 50, a Flint grocer.

R. E. Lee, 35, Oxford, Mich.

Eight of the injured were taken to Detroit and the others are being cared for here.

The limited was crowded with passengers, and almost without warning the work car plowed through the front vestibule nearly to the rear of the smoking compartments. How more people were not killed is a mystery.

Conflicting reports have been received regarding the speed of the cars and of who disobeyed orders.

REPORTS OF CASUALTIES AT TRIPOLI MUCH EXAGGERATED

Slavery Abolished by Order in Tripoli--Turkish Fleet is Safe in the Bosphorous---Moslems of India Ask Britain to Help Turkey.

Special to the Review.

London, Oct. 9.—The repairing of the cable from Tripoli to Malta has been completed, and the reports reaching Malta are that the stories of the fighting in Tripoli are greatly exaggerated. The fishermen arriving at Malta declare that only three people were killed by the bombardment and little damage was done. The Italian markmanship was wretched.

SLAVERY ABOLISHED

Tripoli, Oct. 9.—The proclamation abolishing slavery has been issued by the Italian governor, in accordance with instructions from Rome.

WON'T USE TURKISH FLEET

Rome, Oct. 9.—An official dispatch from Constantinople says that the entire Turkish fleet is in the Bosphorus with furnaces drawn. It is evidently the intention of the Porte not to use them.

Lucknow, British India, Oct. 9.—The Council of Moslems of all India has appealed for the intervention of the British Government in behalf of Turkey. It has advised also a boycott of Italian goods.

Outlined Italian Policy.

Rome, Oct. 9—Premier Gioletti, in a speech at Turin yesterday, outlined the policy of the Government with reference to Tripoli, which seems to have the support of most of the members of the Chamber of Deputies, and a great majority of the people. Signor Bisolati, leader of the Socialists in the chamber, however, writes to The Secolo, giving the view of a section of the Democrats and Socialists, differing from that of the nation at large. Signor Bisolati was the first of his party to be received by the King, when, during the last Ministerial crisis, the Premier offered him a portfolio.

In his letter to The Secolo he says:

"Now that the occupation it accomplished, it must be decided whether Tripoli will be considered conquered territory unconditionally, or whether Italy is ready to compromise—stopping the war, sparing Turkey excessive humiliations and offering her political and material satisfaction, and thus rendering the resumption of good relations between the two nations possible."

Signor Gioletti expresses the opinion that it will be necessary for Italy to adopt a "less brutal solution," so as to remove the impression that violence has been used against Turkey, and that Italy should show a spontaneous conciliatory disposition, thus avoiding such measures as may be "proposed, if not imposed by the powers."

Turkish Censorship.

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—The Government has decided to establish a censorship on all press telegrams, particularly dealing with military matters. Code messages will be prohibited.

The Turkish commander at Tripoli reports that the Italian bombardment destroyed numerous houses and killed many inhabitants, including several women and children.

Tripoli Now Tranquil.

Malta, Oct. 9.—Prof. Arthaeur, chief of the Austrian scientific mission, who has arrived here from Tripoli, says that the town is now tranquil. Europeans are not endangered, and only 1,000 Turkish soldiers remain in the hinterland, but the Arabs, he says, are already organizing guerilla bands and intend to put up a dogged resistance.

Prof. Arthaeur expresses the opinion that if Italy is content with the occupation of Tripoli her mission might be considered ended, but that if she intends to embark upon a campaign in the hinterland, it will take years to subdue the natives.

Closed Canal to Both.

Athens, Oct. 9.—The Corinth Canal Co. has decided to close the canal to both Turkish and Italian vessels during the continuance of the war. This canal connects the Gulf of Corinth with Aegean Sea.

Inviting Mediation.

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—The Chauvinist press still demands severe anti-Italian measures, but the moderate press and the general public realise that the only possible course is to end the war without delay. It is understood that the Grand Vizier and the Minister of War are inviting mediation by the Powers to secure the completion of peace, and that in the meantime the execution of the decree of expulsion relating to Italians will be postponed.

Grain Contraband.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 9.—Russia is negotiating with Turkey in connection with Turkey's intention to declare grain contraband of war. Such action on Turkey's part would paralyze the Russian export trade

DON'T PRACTICE GOLDEN RULE

Many Men Preach it, But Stop at That.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—The subject of religion in relation to industry and commerce was discussed by four speakers at yesterday afternoon's session of the Ecumenical Methodist Conference. Three of the speakers were politicians, and one was a clergyman.

From the popular point of view the address of the preacher was by far the most interesting to listen to. Rev. S. S. Henshaw of Leeds, England, Primitive Methodist, is a staunch Radical. Perhaps his religious friend, Sir Robert Perks, would call him a Socialist. Anyhow, Mr. Henshaw holds fast to his opinions, and is not afraid to express them in public, least of all at a Methodist Conference.

"Many men in business preach the golden rule," he said, "but not many practice it. Righteousness needs not only to be talked about, but written up in the offices, the market-places, and the stock exchanges.

"It is the business of religion to lessen the outrageous inequality that exists in industry and commerce. The churches should never be tired of preaching for the workers' proper environment, a living wage for all—including those of my class — decent dwellings, a little leisure for culture and spiritual aspirations.

"Old England is going ahead now with social reform. Lloyd-George has led the way. We got the famous Bugdet. We have old-age pensions. We have shifted the veto of the Lords. And in a few years England will be a new land."

These sentiments were vigorously applauded by a large section of the Metropolitan Church audience, and it evidently just as heartily agreed with Mr. Henshaw when he denied that the Sermon on the Mount was impossible to-day. "The whole New Testament can be applied if we will apply it. And it ought to be applied now, in the name of God," he said. It was the church's duty to banish from the sanctuary social distinctions. They have been with us far too long," he added.

Big Fire In New York.

New York, Oct. 9.—Fire, which threatened for a time to raze the entire block bounded by Wall, Front, Water and Pine streets yesterday morning wrecked the six-storey building at 127 Water street, doing damage estimated at $350,000. Three alarms were turned in, and the firemen, together with a fireboat and a motor water tower, had a stubborn fight for two hours before the fire was brought under control.

BATTLE IN PORTUGAL

Republicans Have a Clash With the Royalists.

Vigo, Spain, Oct. 9.—Train passengers from Portugal report an engagement between the Royalists and Republican troops near Sayo Thyrso, not far from Oporto. The Royalists, while numerous, they say, are badly armed.

All trains froms Oporto yesterday morning were crowded with troops on their way to fight the Monarchists. The Portuguese Government, however, is not sure of the loyalty of the regiments.

Relief Force Sent.

Chaves, Portugal, Oct. 9.—Republican troops have left for Vinhaes, 14 miles west of Braganza, to relieve other Republican troops, whose retreat is said to be cut off by the Monarchists. The roads to the frontier are now open and telegraphic communication has been restored.

Pretender With Royalists.

Vienna, Oct. 9.—Dom Miguel Braganza, pretender to the Portuguese throne, announces that he has agreed to accept the program laid out by Capt. Couciere, leader of the Royalists. Dom Miguel says that the cortes will have to decide between him and Manuel. He will not proceed to the Portuguese frontier, but will remain neutral to the last moment, although he has allowed sons to enter the Monarchist ranks under assumed names as volunteers.

"The Republic of Portugal," said Dom Miguel, "has, through its disregard for all traditions and religious convictions, made itself so hated, especially among the country people, that the prospects for the restoration of the monarchy are not unfavorable."

Contradictory Reports.

Lisbon, Oct. 9.—The most contradictory reports are being received here regarding the situation in the north. The Monarchists, however, do not appear to be making much headway against the republic. The people are not flocking to their side as they expected, and the Republican troops so far have remained loyal.

A semi-official note says that the Monarchist band at Vinhaes fled on the arrival of the Republican troops, who pursued them to the frontier. In the engagement several Monarchists were killed and two Republicans wounded.

News from Galicia says that the Monarchists there are in a state of demoralisation. They leaders are unable to persuade them to advance into Portugal.

Not Exercising Censorship.

Madrid, Oct. 9.—The Portuguese Prime Minister Joao Chapas, has notified the Portuguese legation here that the Government has taken all necessary steps to resist the Royalist rising, and that "tranquility reigns throughout the country." The Government has reinforced the Braganza garrison.

The Premier says that he wishes the press to be informed that the Portuguese Government is not exercising any censorship over telegrams, and is permitting even the most mendacious reports to be transmitted.

ROME IN ENGLAND

Rome, Oct. 9.—An important reorganisation of the Catholic Church in England has been decided on and a papal bull will shortly be issued dividing England into three ecclesiastical provinces, with arch-episcopal sees at Liverpool, Birmingham and Westminster. Two new dioceses will also be formed, one out of a portion of Liverpool and the other out of the actual diocese of Northampton, with its see in Cambridge. Thus the great See of Westminster will be considerably reduced in dignity, as, instead of having fourteen suffergan sees, as now, it will have only four.

MR. BORDEN'S MAJORITY IS REDUCED FROM 190 TO 100

Stupidity of Returning Officer Makes a Difference in the Official Count.

Halifax, Oct. 9.—The result of the recount in Halifax, which ended on Saturday night before Judge Wallace, is that R. L. Borden's majority in this riding is reduced from 190 to 100. Four depuy returning officers put the numbered counterfoil into the box with the ballots. Three of the rejected boxes gave Borden large majorities, and one was a Liberal majority. Herring Cove was the first box of this kind. It gave the Liberals about thirty majority. Then Sober Island East, Chezzetcook and Dover with Conservative majorities were rejected for a similar reason. The two last mentioned polls made a net loss to the Conservatives of 90. The result is that Mr. Borden's majority is reduced to 100 over Maclean and 166 over Blackader, while Blackader has 93 instead of the previous 23 over Crosby. The Conservatives gained 25, exclusive of the polls thrown out. The stupidity and ignorance of the deputy presiding officers is the cause of the trouble. With the counterfoil in the box attached to the ballots it was possible to tell how each elector voted Death-Dealing Storm.

Nogales, Ariz, Oct 9.—A railroad operator at Tores, Sonora, established communication with this town yesterday long enough to report that fifteen or twenty people had been killed or drowned in the storm which occurred on Tuesday and Thursday on the Mexican west coast. Most of the lost of life occured at Ortiz.

Detectives are Looking for "Unknown" Who Made Assault

Special to The Review

Toronto, Oct. 9.—J. Walter Dick died in St. Michael's hospital this morning from the effects of a blow dealt him by an unknown man on a downtown corner, Saturday night. Several detectives are working on the case, but have practically nothing to work on in an attempt to apprehend the unknown. Dick was 45 years of age and unmarried.

THE KING WAS MUCH PLEASED WITH THE CANADIAN TROOPS

Compliments Extended Over the Showing of Canucks at Coronation.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—Militia orders to date contain, among other things, a copy of the despatch from the Imperial authorities to His Excellency, requesting him to convey to his Ministers an expression of the gratitude of His Majesty's Government at receiving representatives of the military and naval forces of the overseas dominions for the purpose of taking part in the coronation festivities which have just terminated. The despatch also stated that the amassing of the contingents from all parts had a good effect in bringng together men from the widely separated portions of the Empire.

"A most favorable impression was created by the appearance of the troops on the coronation days, as well as at the parade at St. Paul's Cathedral, on June 18, and also at the parade on June 30, when His Majesty was pleased to present them with coronation medals," he states.

The detachment from the 79th Highlanders of Canada were inspected by H.R.H., the Duke of Connaught at Aldershot. This detachment was granted the coronation medal in the same proporton as was adopted in the case of the regular army. The despatch concluded:

"His Majesty's Government trusts that the troops will carry back with them a pleasing recollection of their visit."

FIRED HIM OUT OF HIS POSITION

Anti-Reciprocity Advocate Gets it in the Neck.

Providence, R.I., Oct. 9.—Alleging that he took the stump in Canada in opposition to reciprocity in the name of the company, unwarrantedly, the stockholders of the Credit Foncier Canadien, a French-Canadian lumber and real estate corporation, Saturday voted to oust Arthur Laberge of Montreal as their vice-president. Only twenty of the eighteen hundred stockholders voted in person, others being represented by proxies, voted by the secretary, Joseph W. Trinque.

Mr. Laberge attended the meeting and made an extended speech, claiming that his campaign work in Canada was done entirely as an individual and not in the name of the company.

Of the 1,800 stockholders, 1,600 are residents of New England, and the others of Canada. The company owns timber tracts in New Brunswick and Quebec.

The French battleship Courbet will cost $12,400,000.

SCIATICA

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored by "Nerviline."

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service, and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold, and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a complete cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended "Nerviline." I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day, and got relief. In order to build up my general health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone, one tablet with each meal. I continued this treatment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism, or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure them."

CURED SIX YEARS

There isn't a more highly-esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 50 cents per bottle, trial size, 25c; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

THE INTERESTS

The Conservatives of Toronto have protested against the appointment of W. T. White, a Liberal, to the portfolio of minister of finance, as a concession to the interests, and on the ground that as Mr. White has been a Liberal, he should not be considered. The Toronto Conservatives take the ground that those who have fought the party battles for years while in opposition should now get some of the rewards.

The question of rewarding the party workers may, we think, be left to Mr Borden's sense of duty to those who have supported him for years. The Conservatives, now that they are in power, will certainly not proceed to let abuse of patronage creep in the way the Liberals handled it, and become as moribund as the government that left office. As a matter of fact some of those good people who are the most clamorous for something with which to salve their feelings, are the very fellows of whom least was expected—and less secured—during the opposition period. The loudest shouters are by no means the hardest workers in any party.

As to Mr. White, if he is appointed to finance the affairs of the country, Mr. Borden may have sound reasons for making him the minister of finance. The Review would deprecate as much as anyone any attempt by the Borden government to let "the interests" get from the government more than strict justice. The trust abuse has come into being in the Laurier regime, and the Conservative party would be making a great mistake if it permitted the "interests" which have attached themselves to it, to guide the course of the party—to allow the tail to wag the dog.

The best guarantee we have that this will not happen, is Mr. Borden's specific utterance at Winnipeg on his western tour. We have referred to this before, and it is really important in indicating the trend of matters as regards the tariff. Mr. Borden in effect said that he favored such a scientific business tariff, that would, while permitting the business interests of the country to get fair play and enough protection to assure them the home market, yet not be so fixed that they would be able to by means of the tariff to unduly extort from or oppress the consumer. The welfare of the consumer must be looked after. Mr. Borden gave the westerners distinctly to understand that he would not let the interests run tariff matters to suit their own peculiar interests, and we believe that when these matters are dealt with, it will be found that Mr. Borden's strong and sane ideas in the matter of tariff have prevailed.

The day of higher tariff on this continent has gone, and while the Conservative party is strongly a protectionist party, let the protection be such that it will not encourage the breeding in this fair land of the opulent trusts and combinations which have the United States by the throat.

Far better be it that the Conservative party would never attain office, than foster the greatest of modern evils, the seed of which has already been too generously planted in the Dominion.

AN APPRECIATION

The Montreal Herald, one of the strongly anti-Conservative newspapers of Canada, in a short editorial appreciation of R.L. Borden, express great confidence in his personal power. What the Herald says is true for no man had had a harder task than has the new premier of Canada. The days of opposition leadership are days of thorns and penance, and the only encouragement in it, is the hope that some day Fate will be kind enough to reverse the wheel. The Herald says—

Careful as he may be about the news he has to tell, it is at least clear that R. L. Borden is to-day Prime Minister of Canada. He has come by it honestly. The task he took up in 1900 was about as ungracious a one as any man was ever asked to assume. For years he had hardly anybody at his side, who was any real help to him. After two defeats against almost hopeless odds he was brought back to a task which looked more hopeless each time. He didn't sour on his work. He didn't even complain of his assistants. He did his best and took the consequences. He has never succeeded in acquiring those attributes which men in his present situation seem to need, and which appear to make success easier to hold. He is not a good mixer; he doesn't look after his boys; he works when he ought to set others to work. But he has, as a result of years in their presence, filled the people of Canada, with a certain confidence in his character. That is the best asset he has. For our part we have every confidence that he will still have it when his time comes to lay down the burden he is now assuming. His government may be visited by the ills to which all governments are subject, but these cannot go very far wrong where there is real strong character and honest purpose in the quarter where they have to be reckoned with."

A Toronto grand jury has recommended spanking as a corrective for second and third offenders. Here is a chance to have a new government office—that of "spanker." The mother of about thirteen children ought to be able to fill the post satisfactorily.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Found Car But Not Man.

St. Catharines, Oct. 9.—Jas. Stewart, who was left in charge of Jones' garage on Mary street, while the proprietor went to New York, on his wedding trip, Friday took the car belonging to Jones, after collecting a sum of money owing the garage. When the return was made at night, the police were notified, and a search resulted in finding the car at Stamford, but Stewart has not since been seen or heard of.

IN LIFE-LONG DARKNESS

People Who for One Reason or Another Condemn Themselves to an Existence Where Light of Day Never Reaches.

It is a popular fallacy that light is as necessary to life as food. Yet in India, and also in Tibet, whole families have been found living in the bowels of the earth, to whom darkness is natural, and light unbearable. Numbers of Fakirs bury themselves in subterranean homes, and count it the noblest sacrifice to give up the good things of life, and shut themselves in caves of mother earth.

Earth dwellers are common in Tibet. Strangely clad men and women, who since childhood have rarely looked upon the sun, are found living in roomy clay apartments in a mode as stringent as any monastic order. They are supplied with food and other necessaries by their children, who alone leave the caverns; and much of their time is occupied in extending their curious residences.

Life at the bottom of a lake was the crazy idea of a Canadian settler who had amassed a fortune by ranching. He had arranged that his fiancee should come from Bradford to London where they were to be married. The young lady was drowned on the voyage, and the tragedy so affected the lover mentally that he determined on the mad motion of a house under water. He sold up everything, had a solid iron hut erected at the bottom of a small lake on his ranch, with unique ventilating and other apparatus.

A short tunnel was built connecting the abode with the land, and here he began to live. Unfortunately disaster soon followed, for during the terrific storms which swept across the colony a few year sago the tunnel collapsed, and the man was never seen again.

Underground-living is greatly favored by the illicit whisky-makers in Ireland. Secure in their peaty homes, they can carry on their trade with the minimum of risk, and the fewer opportunities they take of coming to light, the safer their position. Therefore a villager is won over to aid them, and acts as messenger and universal provider to the unknown inhabitants.

The bulk of the spirit manufactured is made by these distillers, whose names are in no directory, and whose house is not located. When they breathe the pure, fesh air it is at the dead of night, when the hills are deserted, and the officials are closely watching less wary dodgers.

In many mining districts in England there are scores of persons who can truly confess their ignorance of daylight. They literally live in the bowels of the earth, in charge of the horses, and even if for once they came out of their horrible prison, they would not be able to see and enjoy the summer sun.

Cotton Seed Talk

One of the most important industries in which wealth is now made from what many generations was regarded as waste is that of dealing with cotton seed. In the great plantations of the United States the seed for years and years and years was thrown away as useless. Then someone arose who made money by extracting the oil. To-day hundreds of factories turn out millions of pounds of cottonseed oil every year, that product having scores of uses in modern civilization — from the blending of lubricating oils to cooking and the feeding of cattle. Planters in the Southern States of America are now making some $70,000,000 a year out of a product which once caused them much worry regarding its disposal.

It was one of Britain's Peers who gave a gigantic Chicago beef firm an idea out of which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been made. He was being shown through one of the slaughter houses, and was vastly impressed by the stream of blood flowing out as refuse. He gave his cicerone a hint, telling him that in the hospitals the nurses squeezed the blood out of beef and gave it to some patients, who thus got the strength out of the meat, even though they were too weak, say, to digest a steak. That hint was enough. Experiments were made. What has been the result? "Beef extract" is known throughout the world. It is said that the young nobleman was rewarded in due course for his suggestion by a present of £20,000, but, whether this is so or not, it is certain that vast fortunes have been made from what was once looked upon as waste.

To show his gratitude for having lived under the protection of the British flag for 30 years a German trader in Basutoland hoisted on Coronation Day the Union Jack on the top of Thabanise Peak, at an altitude of 9600 ft.

Nothing like combining business with pleasure. While visiting Krupp's works recently, Sir T. B. Robinson, Agent-General for Queensland, pointed out that there was no potato-peeler in the workmen's restaurants, and succeeded in introducing one of Australian make. An enterprising insurance agent who sought to do business with the dusky inhabitants of the African village at the Scottish Exhibition the other day was scarcely so successful, however.

According to the latest census the population of South Africa of all races is 5,928,493, compared with 5,185,824 in 1904. Of this number 1,279,025 are Europeans and 4,061,082 are natives.

The people of Queensland are presenting the King with a horse. A careful selection has been made, and the animal will leave soon for Buckingham Palace in charge of a Queensland police officer. The horse selected is a bay gelding, with black points, and is five years old. It is intended to give it a suitable aboriginal name.

CHAPTER VI.
"To the Salute!"

The thick "swamp fog" still hovered above the Crescent city, when a carriage, drawn by two horses, rolled out through one of its suburbs, and on along the Shell road and in the direction of Lake Pontchartrian.

It was a close carriage—a hackney—with two men upon the driver's seat and three inside. Of these last, one was Capt. Florence Kearney and another Lieut. Francis Crittenden, both officers of the filibustering band, with titles not two days old. Now on the way neither to Texas nor Mexico, but to the shore of Lake Pontchartrian, where many an affair of honor has been settled by the spilling of blood. A stranger in New Orleans, and knowing scarce a soul, Kearney had bethought him of the young fellow who had been elected first lieutenant and asked him to act as his second. Crittenden, a Kentuckian, being one of those who could not only stand fire, but [illegible] it, if the occasion called, eagerly responded to the appeal, and they were now en route, along the Shell road to meet Carlos Santander and whoever he might have with him.

The third individual inside the carriage belonged to that profession, one of whose members usually makes the third in a duel the doctor. He was a young man who, in the capacity of a surgeon, had attached himself to the band of filibusters.

Besides the mahogany box balanced upon his thigh, there was another lying on the spare bit of cushion beside him, opposite to where Crittenden sat. It was of a somewhat different shape, and no one who had ever seen a case of dueling pistols could mistake it for aught else—for it was such.

As it had been arranged that swords were to be the weapons and a pair of these were seen in a corner of the carriage, what could they be wanting with pistols?

It was Kearney who put this question; now for the first time noticing what semed to him a superfluous armament. It was asked of Crittenden to whom the pistols belonged, as might have been learned by looking at his name engraved on the indented silver plate.

"Well," answered the Kentuckian, "I'm no great swordsman myself I usually prefer pistols, and thought it might be as well to bring a pair along. I didn't much like the look of your antagonist's friend, it's got into my head that before leaving the ground I may have something to say to him on my own account. So, if it comes to that, I shall take to the barkers.'

He might have felt further secure in another supporting party, who rode on the box beside the driver. This was a man carrying a long rifle that stood with the barrel two feet above his shoulders and the butt rested between his heavily booted feet.

It was Cris Rock, who had insisted on coming along, as he said, to see that the fight was all "fair and square." He, too, had conceived an unfavorable opinion of both the men to be met, from what he had seen of them at the rendezvous, for Santander's second had also been there With the usual caution of one accustomed to fighting Indians, he always went armed, usually with his long "pea" rifle.

On reaching a spot of open ground alongside the road and near the shore of the lake, the carriage stopped It was the place of the appointed meeting, as arranged by the seconds on the preceeding day.

Though their antagonists had not yet arrived, Kearney and Crittenden got out, leaving the young surgeon busied with his cutlery and bandage apparatus.

"I hope you won't have to use them, doctor," remarked Kearney with a light laugh, as he sprang out of the carriage. "I don't want you to practice upon me till we've made conquest of Mexico."

"And not then, I trust," soberly responded the surgeon.

Crittenden followed, carrying the swords, and the two, leaping across the drain which separated the road from the dueling ground, took stand under a tree.

Rock remained firm on the coachbox still seated and silent. As the field was full under his view and within range of his rifle, he knew that, like the doctor, he would be near enough if wanted.

At such times he who is not gifted with natural courage had needs have a good cause and confidence in the weapon to be used. Florence Kearney possessed all three, and though it was his first appearance in a duel, he had no fear for the result. Even the still, somber scene, with the long gray moss hanging down from the dark cypress trees, like the drapery of a hearse, failed to inspire him with dread. If, at times, a slight nervousness came over him, it was instantly driven off by the thought of the insult he had received—and, perhaps also, a little by the remembrance of those dark eyes he fancied would flash proudly if he triumphed or weep bitterly were he to suffer discomfiture. Very different were his feelings now from those he experienced less than 48 hours before, when he was on his way to the house of Don Ignacio Valverde. That night, before leaving it, he was almost sure he possessed the heart of Don Ignacio's daughter. Indeed, she had all but told him so, and was this not enough to nerve him for the encounter near at hand?

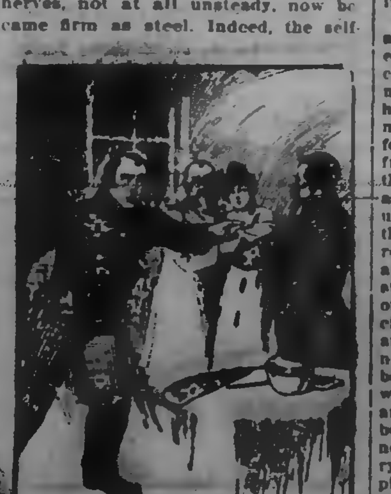
Very near now, the rumbling of wheels, heard through the drooping festoonery of the trees, proclaimed that a second carriage was approaching along the Shell road. It could only be that containing the antagonists. In less than 10 minutes it drew up on the causeway, about 20 paces to the rear of the one already arrived. Two men got out, who, although wrapped in cloaks and looking as large as giants through the thick mist, could be recognized as Carlos Santander and his second. There was a third individual, who, like the young surgeon, remained by the carriage—no doubt a doctor, too—making the dueling party symmetrical and complete.

Santander and his friend having pulled off their cloaks and tossed them back into the carriage, turned towards the wet ditch and also leaped over it.

The first performed the feat somewhat awhardly, dropping down upon the further bank with a ponderous thud. He was a large, heavily built man—altogether unlike one possessing the activity necessary for a good swordsman.

His antagonist might have argued well from his apparent clumsiness but for what he had heard of him For Carlos Santander, though having the repute of a swaggerer, with some suspicion of cowardice, had proved himself a dangerous adversary by twice killing his man. His second—a French Creole, called Duperon—enjoyed a similar reputation, he, too having been several times engaged in affairs that resulted fatally.

As already said, Florence Kearney knew the sort of man he had to meet Confiding in his skill, gained by many a set-to with buttoned foils, and supported, as he was, by the gallant young Kentuckian, he knew nothing that could be called fear. Instead, as his antagonist advanced towards the spot where he was standing, and he looked at the handsome, yet sinister face—his thoughts at the same time reverting to Luisa Valverde, and the insult upon him in her presence—his nerves, not at all unsteady, now became firm as steel. Indeed, the self-confident, almost jaunty air, with which his adversary came upon the ground ,so far from shaking them—the effect, no doubt, intended—but braced them the more.



"CUR OF A CREOLE! YOU MUST TAKE BACK YOUR WORDS!"

When the newcomers had advanced a certain distance into the meadow, Crittenden, forsaking his stand under the tree, stepped out to meet them, Kearney following a few paces behind.

A sort of quadruple bow was the exchanged salutation; then the principals remained apart, the seconds drawing nearer to one another and entering upon the required conference.

Only a few words passed between them, as but few were required, the weapons, distance and mode of giving the word, having all been prearranged.

There was no talk of apology—nor thought of it being either offered or accepted. By their attitude and in their looks, both the challenged and challenger showed a full, firm determination to fight.

A Real Lung Tonic

There are many preparations that will relieve a cough—few that will cure it. The first class, containing such drugs as Opium and Morphine, simply deaden the irritation and stop the cough, but do little or no permanent good.

Rev. Father Morrisey

"Father Morrisey's No. 10"

does not contain a trace of these dangerous drugs, but is an absolutely safe and scientific preparation of Nature's own remedies—Herbs, Roots and Balsams.

It entirely removes the irritation that caused the cough, by cleaning out the mucus, stopping the inflammation and healing the delicate membrane of throat and lungs.

Moreover, it tones up and strengthens the whole system, particularly the lungs, and protects against future coughs and colds.

BRITAIN'S POST OFFICE

This Department of the Nation's Administration, Dating Back to the Fifteenth Century, Is Acknowledged Best On Earth.

The post office system of the British Isles is widely praised for the "businesslike methods and the eagerness to serve" that characterized it as something desirable of imitation by every country. And in this connection there is recalled the remark of Gladstone in 1866,—"I am far from thinking very highly of our rank as a nation of administrators, but perhaps if we could be judged by the post office alone, we might claim the very first place in this respect."

The history of this branch of public service goes back a long way in Great Britain. In 1482 the first offices were established, though in the reigns of Henry III and Edward I, postmen in royal liveries carried royal despatches Under James the First, however, the organized postal system was established, and a regular weekly conveyance of letters in England, Scotland and Ireland was begun in 1636. The first British postmaster ever appointed was a man named Matthew Le Quester. The postage varied with the distance the letter had to be carried and ran anywhere from two pence to fourteen pence. These burdensome rates remained till about 1840, when Rowland Hill, after three years' steady work, brought about inland penny postage. The penny rate was for only a half-ounce. Franking privileges were abolished and mails were sent out much more frequently. As a consequence of better service and lower rates the revenue from the postal service was greatly increased. At the end of the 18th century the revenue from this source was only £720,000; at the end of the 19th century it was £3,710,000.

The first adhesive postage stamps made their appearance soon after penny post was established. The first British stamps had a profile of Queen Victoria engraved upon them with "postage" printed above the portrait and the value of the stamp below.

SWEAT NO MORE

Office Boys Excepted, Humanity Can Benefit From Recent Discovery Under Which the Perspiration Worry Will Be Effectually Barred.

Dr. Howard Pirrie, of the X-ray department of St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, Eng., has, it is said, discovered a method whereby excessive perspiration may be cured. His discovery, like all great discoveries, is simplicity itself. Interpreted from technical into every-day language, it merely means that a patient has to take a series of sittings under the X-rays. Dr. Pirrie found that those thus treated ceased to perspire in the part on which the magic light fell, his explanation being that the cells making up the hair glands, which produce the normal oil of the skin and the sweat glands, attain greater absorbitive power. Medical science has hitherto maintained that the exuding of sweat is a healthy cleansing of the pores of the skin; but if that is a mistaken view — and there is no evidence to show that it is — the new discovery may perhaps be regarded as a means of largely adding to human comfort. It may have wide-spread effects, which will modify one of the minor worries flesh is heir to. Perspiration will be abolished by X-ray baths.

The man of full habit, who, pushing a sluggish lawn mower, lards the lean earth with perspiration, will appreciate any treatment which promises to make his lot a little less moist The hardy iron worker, the strenuous moulder, who are wont to make up for the loss of sweat at their work by frequent libations of water or something alcoholic, will merely require to allow the miraculous rays to play upon their stalwart frames to ensure the epidermis even in the fiercest heat remaining as dry as the Sahara. Every athlete will require to have an installation of the X-rays for the use of their sweltering players. The dancing man, whose collars become limp and invertebrate, will rush to have his neck treated, so that the refined beauty of his immaculate appearance will not be ruined by linen depressed and flaccid. Even the eager office-boy, perspiring as he hurries — but, no! an office-boy, perspiring and hurrying, is so unique that it would be a pity to spoil the phenomenon. Office-boys who exude perspiration excepted, the discovery will be to the benefit of humanity.

Steam Before Watt

Hero, of Alexandria, who flourished some considerable time before the Christian era, has placed it on record that in his time there existed a little engine which went by steam. It was a curious little contrivance, this first known steam-engine. It consisted of a large ball; from which a spout projected: this ball was suspended by three upright rods, which rested upon a three-wheeled carriage. On the carriage, and under the ball, was a small lamp. The ball was filled with water, the steam from which, escaping from the spout, was able by the resistance of the air to force the little carriage forward. That is the first locomotive of which we have record.

Convicts on Strike

Almost anything seems a good enough excuse for a riot now-a-days. Convicts in the gaol at Castidias, Sardinia, have been in the habit of buying sweets and fruit with the few halfpennies allowed by the authorities. The vendors having put up the prices of these luxuries, the convicts rioted so effectually a week ago that a regiment of artillery had to be sent from Cagliari to soothe them.

The Japanese have learned to brew beer and are now introducing beer into China.

CAN BE NO MORE "DODO"

Now No Raw Material from Which Nature Can Produce Another Supply of What has been Termed "A Joke in Feathers."

One of Nature's worst mistakes was the dodo; but two others, equally bad, were a huge, nameless bird which once existed on the Island of Reunion, and the gigantic, flightless pigeon of the Island of Rodriguez, known as the "solitaire." All three are extinct, as was inevitable, because, in their evolution, Nature had had no forethought of the appearance of man upon the scene — a creature who can cross the sea without wings — with his weakness for killing everything which cannot escape from him.

And the dodo, it must be admitted, invited killing. It was the autocrat of the Island of Mauritius, rather larger than a swan, with remarkably plump and heavy body, wings which were of no more use than feathered epaulettes, a huge hooked beak, short thick legs, and an absurd tuft of curly feathers for a tail. To sailors from Northern lands, accustomed to such birds as sparrows and rooks, this preposterous, waddling monster seemed a practical joke dressed up in feathers.

The fare of sailors in those days was hard and stale and salt. So, though the dodo may not have been particularly good eating, who could help — in those days, two hundred years ago — walking after it and hitting it on the head with a stick?

Away up in the North, nature had produced, side by side, races of hungry, clever men, struggling against difficulties for bare existence, and races of swift and active birds, cunning to dodge a missile or avoid a trap. Away down in the soft and sunny South she had, at the same time, in the absence of man, allowed the birds to fall into easy habits. The dodo, with his huge, hooked beak, would have made short work of a wandering bird of prey. So he grew heavy and slow and fat. He never had occasion to fly, so his wings and tail dwindled to mere ornamental appendages.

There were doubtless many smaller, less conspicuous creatures, equally interesting in their way, which have totally disappeared, and left no trace of their existence behind

That is the worst of Nature's mistakes; they are irreparable. By degrees, so slow that within the period covered by human history no appreciable change has been recorded in any wild creature, she builds up her species to suit their surroundings until, after thousands of years, she produces, from the same stock which has provided our sparrows and crows, a huge, heavy-footed bird, that strolls about its island in the Pacific, monarch of all it surveys. Then, in a single day, as it were, another of Nature's creatures, developed on different lines elsewhere, appears upon the scene and wipes the dodo of a million years out of existence.

There is no hope whatever that Nature will ever be able to make another dodo, even if man could afford to leave Mauritius uninhabited for a million years in order to give her a free hand with the experiment The original pigeon-like bird, bigger than a swan, and smaller than a crow, from which the dodo was evolved, no longer exists; so Nature would not have the raw material to work upon.

IF YOU ARE SICK YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees ?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

Which Do You Prefer?

Those who engage in the Optical business as a profession, who for years have made the eye a special study and are fully qualified and equipped to correct all errors of refraction?

Those who have a permanent place of business and an up-to-date Optical Parlor, with every modern convenience for accurate sight testing?

Those who guarantee their work and who are in the city 365 days in the year to back up that guarantee.

OR,

Those who are in it simply for the money they can get out of it. The travelling pedler, who makes it a practice of remaining a few days in a place and by all kinds of fake advertising tries to persuade you to buy glasses (after a few apparent tests) much in the same way as you would buy any other kind of merchandise. That is to say, he attempts to fit glasses with practically no knowledge as to how it should be done.

THREE PIGEONS WERE LIBERATED

Aerialists Sent Here by G. Bottrell of Bowmanville

Yesterday afternoon at one o'clock three homing pigeons, the property of Mr. Geo. Bottrell, of Bowmanville, were liberated at the Carnado Avenue hill, in the presence of a number of interested members of the Peterboro Poultry Association, they having been sent to secretary, Joe Kelly.

The aerial travelers lost some time in securing their bearings, but after circling as far east as the lift-lock, started on their trip to the lofts in Bowmanville. Mr. Kelly will be advised as to the time made by the pigeons. One was a veteran at the game while the other two were amateurs. All three remained close together.

Some members of the Association would like to see a homing pigeon club started here.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION

To be Held at Hamilton November 8, 9 and 10th

Hamilton, October 9.—For a month past the Hamilton Laymen's Missionary committee has been in co-operation with the Laymen's Missionary Association of Canada, laying plans for a great convention of men to be held in this city the second week in November—the 8th, 9th and 10th.

Eleven of these conventions are being held throughout the Dominion. Hamilton district comprises Norfolk, Brant, Waterloo, Wellington, Grey, Dufferin, Peel, Halton, Wentworth, Haldimand, Weiland, Lincoln, York, Simcoe, Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland, Haliburton, Muskoka District, Parry Sound District and Algoma District. Already letters and cards asking for lists of possible delegates have been sent out to some four hundred Presbyterian, four hundred Anglican, four hundred Methodist, two hundred Baptist and twenty-five Congregational clergymen.

George C. Coppley is chairman of the Hamilton committee that is responsible for the success of this gigantic undertaking. It is not settled as yet where the convention will be held in this city, but it brings home to the people the necessity of a great convention building, as it is expected five thousand people will want to hear Sir Andrew Fraser and some of the other prominent speakers, whose names will be mentioned later.

Sir Andrew Fraser's father, Rev. A. J. Fraser, D.D., was an eminent minister of the Scottish Presbyterian church while his mother was the daughter of another clergyman of the same denomination—Rev. J. Shaw. Such being his parentage, it is easy enough to understand his taking an active and intelligent interest in church work. He was educated at the Edinburgh Academy and Edinburgh University, obtaining at the latter the degree of M.A. in course and that of LL.D. honorably. In his 23rd year, in 1871, he entered the Indian service, and remained actively engaged there until 1908, when he returned to Scotland, taking up his residence at Auchenleish, in Perthshire.

His activities in the Indian service covered a wide sphere. He was member of the historical Hemp Drugs Commission, which investigated the grave evils resulting from the general use of vile drugs, and whose report resulted in the enactment of drastic remedial laws of the greatest importance. For two years he was land revenue officer, an appointment which brought him directly in touch with all the lower governing bodies of the country, and also with those holding government concessions. The government revenues increased materially during his administration, and incidentally many injustices and petty hardships imposed on poorer classes of natives disappeared.

In recognition of these services he was created C.S.I. For sometime he held the important office of president of the police commission, using his influence to keep down the illicit sale and use of opium and other harmful drugs and making a determined effort to put a stop to child murder and kindred heathenish practices, which in a few remote places had contrived to survive in spite of the law. From 1903 till 1908 he had the honor of holding one of the most dignified and influential appointments under the government of India, that of Lieut-Governor of Bengal, and the year he received his commission to this office, he was created K.C.S.I.

Sir Andrew Fraser is the man that a fanatic in India tried to assassinate. One of the great Indian princes threw himself between the assassin's pistol and Sir Andrew. Fortunately the gun missed fire twice, and before he could pull the trigger the third time, one of the workers in connection with the Y.M.C.A. in India grabbed the fanatic and was able to wrest the pistol from his grasp.

Sir Andrew has a son who was a missionary in South Africa, and took the sleeping sickness, and was ordered to discontinue his work, but would not give it up, so was sent to Ceylon, where he is actively engaged at the present time.

SIXTY PRIZES AT THREE EXHIBITIONS

Mrs. R. T. Hounsell's Fine Showing With Her Exhibits

Sixty prizes at three exhibitions this fall, tells the splendid success of Mrs. R. T. Hounsell, Edinburgh street.

Mrs. Hounsell had exhibits at the Peterborough Industrial, Lindsay and Millbrook fairs of commercial and ornamental penmanship, black and colored crayon work, paintings in water colors and oil, fancy work and flowers. At the same number of shows last year she took forty-five prizes. An increase of fifteen for the year's fairs, bringing the total to sixty, is very flattering to Mrs. Hounsell.

CHOIR ENTERTAINED

At the close of the choir practice on Thursday evening last, the choir of St. James' church was entertained by the choir leader and organist, Mrs. M. Rehill. The members of the Trustee Board of the church were present, and short addresses were made by Messrs. J. J. Goodwin, D. W. Dumble and His Worship Mayor Morrow.

A very enjoyable evening was spent.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT TO MEMBER OF RABBIT HUNTING PARTY

Bruce Hampton Received Contents of Gun--His Boot Was Mistaken for Rabbit

A rabbit hunting trip to the woods back of Jackson Park, by three brothers named Hampton, Saturday afternoon, terminated rather unfortunately for one of the members of the party, Bruce Hampton, aged 22 years, and a toolmaker at the C.G.E. works.

Having become separated from his other brothers, one of his heavy boots was mistaken for a rabbit by his brother, L. S. Hampton, and as a result he received a large portion of the contents of a shot gun, loaded with number 6 shot.

Suffering great pain, he was carried through the woods to the farm of Mr. A. Mills in the second line of Smith, Belleghem's ambulance was telephoned for. He is now in the Nicholls Hospital, but his condition is not critical. The more serious wounds are in his back, hip and legs.

Mr. L. S. Hampton, who discharged the gun, told a Review reporter this morning that it had been understood that the three should remain together at all times. One rabbit had been bagged and the youngest brother went off by himself owing no doubt, to the excitement, with the probable intention of having a rabbit to his credit. The direction he took passed unnoticed by the other two, but it appears he found his way into a dense portion of the woods.

"I saw what I thought for sure to be a rabit and discharged the gun," said the Review's informant. The distance was about forty yards. The "rabbit," however, proved to be one of the heavy boots worn by the younger brother, other parts of his body and clothing being hidden from view.

The report from the hospital to-day was that the patient's condition was satisfactory and no serious complications were expected.

CHILD PLAYED WITH FIRE AND WAS SEVERELY BURNED

Painful Mishap to Son of Mr. Edward Elcombe — Father Burned Trying to Save Him.

Freddie, the three year old son of Mr. Edward Elcombe, 183 Edinburgh street, was severely burned about the face and hands last evening about 6.30 o'clock, when his clothing caught fire.

The little fellow had been watching the boys on the street burning leaves for the last few days, and, although carefully watched by his mother, he secured some paper, and in pushing it into the stove to see it burn his pinafore became ignited. His cries brought the parents, who succeeded in smothering the flames, but not before the child's face, hands and arms were painfully burned. Mr. Elcombe, too, sustained burns about the hands and arms while attempting to rescue the boy, he being the first to reach him. Medical aid was summoned and the young patient is doing nicely, although suffering great pain.

CASE WILL GO TO CIVIL COURT

Dispute Between Two Navigation Companies in Police Court

A case which will be heard before Judge Huycke shortly, to be threshed out in a civil court, was brought into police court this morning for settlement. It was shown to be a question to be dealt with by the civil courts exclusively. A criminal charge in connection with the case had been withdrawn.

The dispute is between what was formerly known as the Otonabee Navigation company, who took over the assets and liabilities of the first company. W. H. White, a master who was in the employ of the old Otonabee company, is said to have put in a claim for wages against the company, obtained judgment and had an execution issued. Two barges, the Otonabee and the Sultana, which were said to be under seizure at the time, and in the hands of the bailiff, are alleged to have been taken by White's orders.

J. E. L. Goodwill and G. N. Gordon are acting for the contending parties.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT S. A. TEMPLE

Fitting reference was made to the good work of the late Mrs. Henry Dickens at a memorial service at the Salvation Army last evening. Mrs. Dickens passed away last Wednesday in Hamilton, following an illness from pneumonia. Only a year ago the family moved to Hamilton after a four years' residence here, during which time many friends were made.

MR. ROBT. FAIR IS TO RETIRE FROM BUSINESS

Commenced Business in Peterboro Twenty-eight Years Ago To-day—Stock to be Disposed of.

The announcement that Robert Fair, one of the most prosperous business men of the city, whose mercantile career has been a part of the history of Peterborough, is about to retire, will come as a great surprise to his host of friends. Mr. Fair has reached an enviable position in the business world, with the highest credit, both at home and in the foreign markets, and is now about to relinquish his hold on the more stirring affairs of life, and indulge in a well-earned rest.

Mr. Fair has, for thirty-six years been in business for himself, first at Centreville, South Monaghan, where he succeeded the late Mr. Hugh Waddell, in the highly successful business which the latter had established there. Seven years later Mr. Fair entered the field in Peterborough, acquiring the business of the late Mr. Thomas Bradburn, in the same stand, now occupied by Robert Fair & Co., Limited. During the twenty-eight successful years that the business has enjoyed since that time, the exact date of commencement being October 9th, 1883, the store has had to be enlarged several times in order to accommodate the rapidly increasing trade in the added departments found necessary from time to time. One year after taking hold of the Peterborough store, a dressmaking department was added to the equipment of the establishment, Mr. Fair being the pioneer in this step, and running the idea for many years before it was adopted by other similar places of business. Later on, the house furnishing department was taken up more extensively and made a feature that marked a still further step on the road to progress. Four years ago the Robert Fair & Co., Limited, stock company, was formed, of which Mr. Fair is the largest owner, president and general manager.

Now, after twenty-eight years in Peterborough, of the most gratifying success, Mr. Fair can contemplate his retirement with complacency, looking back on a record that is certainly one to be proud of.

One of the prime reasons for the steady and substantial growth of the trade at this store, has been the unvarying policy that has been followed right from the start, of carrying strictly high-grade goods a fact that has given the Robert Fair store a reputation as the "Store of Quality." Dependable goods has so completely imbued customers with the standard aimed at, that the idea is fully established that "if you got it at Fair's, it's good."

Another line of goods, for which Fair's is a noted emporium, is linens—the best makers in Ireland and Scotland sending out semi-annual importations to this department. This continued catering to the highest class of trade in the community has created a stock that is a veritable mine of strictly first-class goods.

The stock has always been cleaned up every season, no old goods having ever been allowed to accumulate, so that the present assortment is all new and crisp. This was a policy adopted by Mr. Fair many years ago and strictly adhered to ever since.

Mr. Fair has reason to feel satisfied with his record and of what he has done to help elevate the tone of the drygoods business in Peterborough; and now, at his retirement, he is determined to give the people of the district something in the way of low price values during a mammoth "Retiring from Business" sale, such as will long be remembered by those who secure them.

The familiar Golden Lion trade mark, which has for years stood for high quality, still presides over the door—a guarantee of right goods, now reduced to little prices.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the store will be closed for the arranging and marking down of the goods and re-opened at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, ready for the big rush that is bound to come when the public know that the Robert Fair stock is to be cleared out in a few short weeks at greatly reduced values.

$65,000.00 worth of high-class goods will take some time to liquidate, but it will be hurried as much as possible, the extremely low prices that will be quoted being relied on to make the clearance so rapid that the end in view will be reached in a very short time. Of this mammoth stock $20,000.00 worth is the new importation and purchases of fall and winter goods, the greater part of which has arrived, and the balance is now on the ocean, coming as fast as steam can bring it, to complete Fair's always splendid assortment. For this great event the staff has been doubled with competent salespeople and the public can feel satisfied of efficient service.

During the sale the same privileges that those accustomed to having open accounts with the firm have enjoyed, will be continued, and all departments such as dressmaking, millinery, etc., will be carried on the same and customers are at liberty to make the fullest use of them, as usual, right up to the end of the sale, which will be found to be of great advantage, so that goods can be made up as at present. One price, and that the lowest, will be the rule of the sale, which Mr. Fair has determined to make a memorable event, and a striking finish to his business career.

The opening announcement will be found in to-morrow's paper.

ANNIVERSARY AT MARK ST. CHURCH

Interesting Services With R.J.M. Glassford Preaching

Services of a most interesting character were held in Mark street Methodist church yesterday to commemorate anniversary day. The special speaker for the occasion was Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, B.D., of Toronto, and the large congregations which heard him will remember his message for a long time to come.

Special music was given by the choir. At the morning service, besides the anthem, solos were given by Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Cunningham, while at the evening service Mr. Frank Pratt took the solo, and a trio was also given by Misses Howson and Mr. C. Howson, all the vocalists singing in splendid voice.

A big rally of the Sunday school was held in the afternoon in the church. Rev. Mr. Glassford addressed the meeting, which proved to be most enjoyable.

At the morning service Rev. Mr. Glassford took for his text part of verse 19, Kings 1, 22, "I saw the Lord." He told of how the great men of the Bible had been influenced by a vision of the Lord, and incidentally referred to the Ecumenical Conference in session in Toronto, being the result of the vision received by the great Wesley. The preacher urged that the people of Mark street church conduct their lives that they, too, would see the vision, the result of which would be that the church would grow and prosper.

The sermon at the evening service was especially for the young people.

GOES UP FOR TRIAL

Preliminary Hearing of Charge Against Edward Kane

Will Get His Trial at the Assizes This Week

After a long preliminary hearing at police court this morning Edward Kane, the nineteen-year-old youth accused of forgery, was committed for trial by Magistrate Dumble. His trial will take place at the autumn assizes at the end of October.

G. N. Gordon acted for Kane, and the Crown Attorney prosecuted. A large number of witnesses were called including George Jones, of the Ontario Treasury Department in Toronto, Geo. Clarke, accountant, and William Galaugher, teller of the local Bank of Commerce, Fishery and Game Inspector Watt and John Kane, special fishery and game inspector.

Jones' evidence was taken first. He told of his connection with the cheque which was recorded in their books as having been sent to John Kane as salary. They received the cheque back marked paid, by the local Bank of Commerce.

Overseer Watt told the court of Kane having asked him to write to Toronto to get his salary for him.

The cheque which was mailed to John Kane was the first that had been made out for him since his appointment as special patrol on May 1st.

Mr Clarke of the Bank of Commerce, told of young Kane, whom he knew personally, coming to him and telling him the cheque which he presented belonged to his brother. Mr. Clarke initialled it, as is customary, and asked him to write his own name. He did not see the prisoner do this, but he saw the teller paying out the cash, later.

Mr. Galaugher's evidence practically agreed with Mr. Clarke's, differing only that he did not get young Kane to endorse his name.

Euclid Picard, of the post office staff, Harry Kane, brother of the prisoner, and his father, were also called.

Magistrate Dumble, before committing the prisoner for trial, stated that the onus of guilt seemed to rest upon the prisoner, but that it had not been proved that he actually forged the name of the right John Kane. "It will be all threshed out at a higher court," he said.

G. Phillips, Y.M.C.A.

The above athletes are the champions of the city of Peterborough as returned at the "Howden" "Eastwood," "Huycke" and "Peck" sports at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon last.

The morning broke clear and fine and remained that way until evening. There was a warm sun in the afternoon, and just enough wind to tingle the blood of the athletes. Owing to the deluge of rain and snow on Friday the track was rather soggy and not at all conducive to fast time. The sward was also in a very uninviting condition, especially for the jumps. Several of the boys got nasty spills, but the only one injured during the meet was Roy Smith. He twisted his hip while running the hundred yards for the Eastwood trophy, and had to drop out of the running.

In spite of the condition of the track and green, there were two of last year's records in the Howden trophy contest broken, and one was equalled. For the Eastwood cup five of last year's marks went by the boards, and one was equalled. This was surely a good showing on such a track and field. Canniff, the winner of the senior championship, was responsible for the new marks in his class, while J. Mann, the Eastwood winner, gets the credit for four in his class, M. Huycke taking the running broad jump at 17 feet.

HOWDEN TROPHY.

S. Canniff and "Jimmy" McMartin were the rivals for the Howden trophy. The points won by each were: Canniff, 2993 1-4; McMartin, 2983 1-4. As the small difference between the points to the credit of each man will show, there was a close race, and not until everything had been finished was the issue decided.

Canniff won the high jump, the shot put, the running broad jump and the 120 yards hurdles, and McMartin, who was first in the 100 yards dash, and the half mile walk, was a close second in nearly all the other events.

Canniff, who won last year by a large margin, depends almost entirely upon his jumping abilities to win for him. In the high jump he went 5 feet 5 inches, at which he is especially clever. He is not a speedy runner, but he is in the pink of condition, and keeps at it for points. His staying powers won him the trophy against McMartin on Saturday.

McMartin, on the other hand, is a fairly good jumper and runner, but he could not touch Canniff in the jumps. There wasn't anything like two men working together, as is often the case in athletics, but every man got points according to what he did.

The following was the work of the competitors in the Howden contest:

100 yards dash—H. Smith and J. McMartin. Time, 11 1-5 seconds; S. Canniff, 11 2-5 seconds.

High jump—S. Canniff, 5 feet 5 inches; J. McMartin, 4 feet 9 inches.

Shot put—S. Canniff, 30 feet 7 inches; J. McMartin, 25 feet 6 1-2 inches; H. Smith, 24 feet 3 inches.

120 yards, hurdles—S. Canniff, 20 2-5 seconds; J. McMartin, 20 2-5 seconds; H. Smith, 22 seconds.

1-2 mile walk—J. McMartin, 4 minutes 10 seconds; S. Canniff, 4 minutes, 45 2-5 seconds.

Mile run—H. Smith, 5 minutes 10 seconds; J. McMartin, 5 minutes 8 2-5 seconds; S. Canniff, 6 minutes 14 4-5 seconds.

EASTWOOD CUP.

St. Peter's T.A.S. rooms will again be the holder of the Eastwood Trophy, which is for boys under eighteen years of age. Last year Nagle Phelan was the winner and on Saturday J. Mann captured it. Phelan was unable to defend it this season on account of an injury to his hip which he received some time ago and Harold Hill, who was hurt at the Collegiate Sports on Thursday last was also scratched. Had Hill, Phelan and Mann met there would surely have been something doing.

Meredith Huycke, was second with 1680 points, Mann winning by 2006.

Mann can run as well as jump and he made a sorry mess of last season's records, in spite of the sloppy going, setting up four new records in the eight events, while Huycke clipped the fifth and equalled the sixth. There was far more speed shown than last ear and had the track and field been drier, there would undoubtedly have even been better time in all the running events.

The following is the order in which the events were pulled off and a record of the manner in which the boys acquitted themselves:

100 yards dash—J. Mann, 11 sec., M. Huycke 11 1-5 sec.

High jump—M. Huycke 4 ft. 8 in., J. Mann 4 ft. 5 in.

Shot put.—J. Mann, 35 ft. 7 in., M. Huycke 29 ft. 9 1-2 in.

Broad jump—M. Huycke 17 ft., J. Mann 16 ft. 5 in.

120 yds. hurdles—J. Mann 21 sec., M. Huycke 22 sec.

Mile run—J. Mann 2 min. 28 sec., M. Huycke 2 min. 32 sec.

HUYCKE CUP.

The "Huycke Cup," which was presented this season by his Honor Judge Huycke, for boys under sixteen years of age, was won by Ormand Cavanagh. There were sixteen competitors, but Cavanagh won by 493 points over his nearest competitor, Kenneth Routley.

As Saturday was the first time this trophy had been competed for, the best marks made will stand as the records. Cavanagh will be credited with the 100 yards dash, (with O. Taylor, who also did it in 11 3-5 sec.); the high jump, shot put, broad jump and 120 yds. hurdles with N. Routley, while C. Taylor has the mark for the 1-4 mile which he made in 1 min.

The first three boys were credited as follows:

100 yards dash—O Cavanagh 11 3-5 sec., K. Routley 11 3-5 sec. C. Brown 11 4-5 sec.

High jump—O. Cavanagh 4 ft 8 in., C. Brown 4 ft. 5 in., K. Routley 4 ft. 4 in.

Shot put—O. Cavanagh 34 ft. 8 in., K. Routley 31 ft. 4 in., C. Brown 31 feet.

Broad jump—O. Cavanagh 15 ft. 7 in., K. Routley 13 ft. 5 in., C. Brown 14 ft.

Hurdles 120 yds.—O. Cavanagh and K. Routley 20 4-5 sec., D. Brown 23 2-5 sec.

1-4 mile—K. Routley 1 min. 2 sec., C. Brown 1 min. 2 2-5 sec., O. Cavanagh 1 min. 7 sec.

PECK CUP.

G. Phillips, by a majority of 61-2 points over P. Gray, who was second, was the first winner of the Peck trophy, presented by Mr. E. A. Peck for the boy's champion under 14 years of age. As for the Huycke trophy there was a large field of aspirants, no less than seven youngsters competing.

The best mark in each event will be put down as the record as in the Huycke competitions. G. Phillips lead for the broad jump and the 220 yards run and was tied in the 100 yeras dash, and D. Canniff, brother of the Howden Trophy winner, landed the high jump, while H Saunders was first in the 120 yds. Hurdles.

The boys did not make very good time in the running events, but the jumping was good. D. Canniff, brother of S. Canniff, promises to be as good a jumper as the Howden Trophy winner. He cleared 3 ft. 11 in. in the high jump.

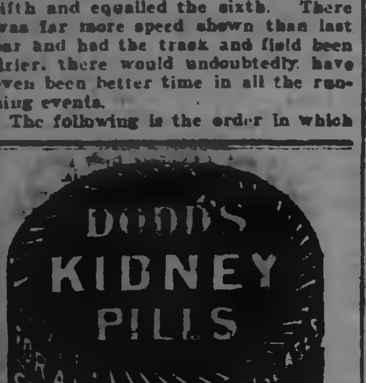
100 yds. dash—G. Phillips and P. Gray, 13 sec., D. Canniff 13 1-5 sec.

High jump—D. Canniff 3 ft. 11 in., P. Gray 3 ft 6 in., G. Phillips 3 ft. 4 in.

Broad jump—G. Phillips 13 ft. 4 in., D. Canniff 13 ft., G. Gray 12 ft, 8 1-2 in.

120 yds. hurdles—G. Phillips and P. Gray 23 1-5 sec., D. Canniff 23 3-5 sec.

220 yds run—G. Phillips 28 2-5 sec., P. Gray 29 2-5 sec., D. Canniff 30 sec.



DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

LOCAL FOURTEEN DOWNED BY THE PORT HOPE T. C. S.

Had Husky Proposition to Meet One Goal Was of Great Value.

The West End Rugby Club journeyed to Port Hope on Saturday afternoon and went down to defeat at the hands of the Trinity College School team in a practice game by 18 points to nil. The superb condition, splendid teamwork and generalship of the Little Big Four champions were too much for the half-in-shape Peterborough aggregation, but the game will be invaluable to the locals if only as an object lesson. It was the first time the entire team have ever been seen together and the match will be beneficial in demonstrating the weak spots and in showing where improvements can be made. Peterborough's lack of practice and absence of team play were painfully in evidence, but with another week's faithful training, and the development of a little system, the West End aggregation will be an entirely different team when they meet Central Y.M.C.A., in the first O.R.F.U. game on Saturday. The material is there, individually. The Peterborough team was as good, if not better, than their opponents, Saturday, but where they showed their weakness was in the absence of the machine-like play that distinguished their opponents. It was the Hamilton Tiger-Varsity game all over again with Peterborough in the Mountaineers' role.

Trinity College School have a splendid team. They are trained to the minute, know their plays perfectly, tackle low and hard, and the backs catch, kick and run like veterans. They demonstrated a Varsity-like system of play in the back-field, passing the ball from one to another in almost reckless fashion, and this passing gained much ground for them.

Peterborough had not so much the advantage of weight as might be expected. The Students trotted out a pretty husky-looking wing-line, and their backs had a shade on the Peterborough rear guard, in avoirdupois.

With Len Johnston, their only kicking back disabled with a broken bone in his ankle, and their end runs cut off by the perfect tackling, the West Ends were forced to fall back upon line-plunging and whatever chance they had of gaining by this method, was neutralized by the fact that they almost invariably lost possession of the ball for offside, or alleged offside interference. The officials, both T.C.S. men, were kept busy penalizing the Petes throughout the game, and these penalties, some of them deserved, and some of them not, were a very important factor in the play, losing many yards to the Petes. Early in the first half, they lost fifty yards in succession on five penalties, and as a result T.C.S. were enabled to score the only touch-down of the game, stealing the ball from Davidson as he was making a plunge at his own ten yard line.

Peterborough pressed for a short time, after the kick-off, but a series of penalties for off-sides carried the ball from centre well into Peterboro territory and Trinity kicked over for rouge. They followed this up by almost immediately stealing the ball during a line-plunge and going over for a try which they failed to convert. Splendid kicking by the T.C.S. halves and fast following up by their wings kept the play pretty well in West End territory, and although the Petes tried determinedly, the lack of team-play, coupled with the fact that the kicking, whether with or against the wind, was all in favor of T.C.S. made it a losing battle. When they did assume the aggressive, they lost the ball either through penalties or fumbles, and in spite of their efforts the college score mounted slowly up by single points. It was 11 to 0 at the half and in the last two periods T.C.S. annexed seven more points in rouges and kicks to the dead-line.

The Peterborough team, all through showed the lack of systematic practise, and the backs demonstrated the need of daylight workouts by their uncertainty in handling and running back punts. Corkery and Hayes saved nicely on several occasions by pretty dodging runs from behind the line but generally the T.C.S. wings were down under the ball so fast that the West End rear guard had little chance of working out.

Manager Oldham's team will work out every night this week and will be in the best of shape for next Saturday's game. The line-up at Port Hope was as follows—

Full Back—Hayes.
Halves—Corkery, Johnston, Hogan.
Quarter—Denison, captain.
Scrimmage — Ecclestone, Leahy, Bearss, Stewart, Thompson.
Inside Wings—Turner, Craig.
Middle wings—Davidson, Kirn.
Outside wings—Langley, Gilbert.

T. C. S.
Back—Pearce.
Halves—Perry, Caldwell, Savage.
Quarter, Simons, captain.
Scrimmage — Fitzgerald, Voght, Stone
Inside Wings—Bartlett, McKendrick
Middle Wings—Mathers, Skinner
Outside wings—Baker, Cochrane.

Manager McGraw put Charley Faust, the eccentric Kansan, in the box in the ninth inning. Batteries: Tyler and Mason; Marquard, Tyler, Drucke, Faust, Myers and Hawley.

At Chicago (Nat.)—Adams held Chicago to three hits and Pittsburg won by 3 to 0. Slapnicka, who succeeded Toney in the second innings, was hit safely only twice. Batteries: Toney, Slapnicka and Graham; Adams and Gibson.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE

The Man With a Shaky Memory Has Reason to be Grateful, For He Misses a Heap of Worries.

Almost any day of the week you can hear people remark:

"I wish I hadn't such a bad memory"; or, "Really, I must try to do something to improve my memory."

But why? If the man with a bad memory knew all he had to be grateful for he would probably begin to thank the Fates for the blessing thus bestowed upon him.

Just think of all the unpleasant things the man with the good memory remembers. How often he must wish he could forget only a few of them.

If the man with the good memory has cold mutton twice in a single week the chances are he remembers it and grumbles. You can give the man with a bad memory cold mutton every day for a fortnight, and he will be just as happy as if he had had a different joint every day.

As likely as not at the beginning of the third week he will turn blandly to his wife and say with, perhaps, just a touch of irritation:

"My dear, I'm rather fond of a cold joint sometimes in this hot weather; don't you think we could have it once in a way? Now, a cold leg of mutton is rather a nice thing——" And the wife, if she has any sense at all, will answer:

"Why, certainly, dear. I'll see that you get it to-morrow."

Then, many of us have acquaintances who say nasty things about us, and plenty of these nasty things are sure to be repeated to us by our friends who have good memories.

The man with a really bad memory can never remember these things and so he can't repeat them, and, therefore, he gets the credit for charitableness, and his friends tell one another he is "one of the few men — or it may be women — they know who hasn't got a spiteful tongue, and who doesn't repeat all the tittle-tattle he— or she — hears."

There, at once and without any trouble, the man with a bad memory gets an enormous pull over his companions who pride themselves on forgetting nothing.

In addition to this he can't remember what disagreeable things Jones told him Brown had said about him, so that when he meets Brown, to whom he had intended to give "a bit of his mind," he not for the life of him recollect what he wanted to give a "bit of his mind" about.

RIGHT ABOUT CUT!

When You Keep Mowing the Hirsute Appendages Around the Chin-Edges Think of the Cash-Waste.

What a lamentable sacrifice of time, money, energy, and temper is involved in the shaving of the chins of the British nation! In its monetary aspect alone last year it is estimated that £12,000,000 sterling was expended in daily recurrent efforts to efface the beard — "Nature's glorious insignia of manhood." A scientist has calculated that a man shaving until he is 80 has mowed down 27 ft. of hirsute stubble. Think of the waste!

"Why is it," inquired a distinguished foreign ambassador, "that you English generally shave your beards, when both your present monarch and his predecessor set an example by letting them grow?"

There was a time when the chins of the male portion of the nation assumed the appearance of that of the reigning king. As one historian remarks, "The royal portrait reflects a general fashion from which only the disloyal or the indifferent departed."

In the "sixties" and "seventies," and even the "eighties," every other gentleman you met wore a beard. Why did the fashion change? Why is everyone now clean-shaven as to the chin — all except a million or so, including His Majesty King George, several dukes, many members of Parliament, the leading financiers of the day, the leading artists, the leading merchants, Mr. G. Bernard Shaw, and Mr. A. B. Walkley and Sydney Fisher.

To Increase the Height.

It is pointed out that he who is short may, by judicious exercise, and by living as much in the open air as he can, become, at all events, taller. He cannot alter the course of Nature, but he can help Nature to complete her task. Following are some of the exercises suggested:—Stand upright, and bend the body as far forward and backward as possible. This will stimulate the growth of the cartilage of the spine, rendering it supple and healthy. Stand with body erect, bend sideways, first to the right, then to the left, right, left in quick succession. Stretch arms up above the head, lower them to the sides. Stretch, first, right arm up above the head, then the left, and so on. Stand erect, dip until you are sitting on the heels. Spring up, making a jumping movements in the air.

To take one's troubles home, to eat them at dinner, to brood over them during the evening and to let them ruin sleep at night, is the kind of "work" that kills. — "Golden Age."

WHERE BAGGAGE IS SAFE

Notwithstanding a Chaos-Like System Baggage Is Safer on British Railroads Than Anywhere on Earth.

Certain strangers in Britain have been wondering at their way of dealing with passengers baggage. How much better the system of other countries, where you get a receipt, and when the bag goes astray the official assures you it is impossible, because there is the receipt! So you go to bed and get up and dress in your bit of paper. British method is insular, and on the face of it chaotic. We throw our baggage to the mercy of some unknown porter. At the end of the journey we find a sort of lucky tub of portable property piled on the platform, and we plunge about and pick out what we want. A hundred people have only to say "That's mine" to a strange porter in order to get it. Thus baldly stated the system looks like chaos and the invitation to a general scramble for other men's goods. In practice it works out well. For every one, from porter to passenger, is on his honor, and, this is the point, baggage in England is safer than in any other civilized country.

A Lake with a Roof.

The great salt lake at Obdorsk in Europe is nine miles wide and seventeen miles long, yet, except in a few places, it is solidly roofed over with a deposit of salt, which is becoming thicker and thicker each year.

About the middle of the last century salt crystals first began to gather upon the surface of the water. Year by year, owing to the evaporation of the water, the crystals became more numerous, and then caked together until this great roof was formed. In 1878 the water beneath this salt-crystal roof found an underground outlet into the Obi river. This lowered the lake's surface about three feet, leaving that distance between the water and the roof, and each year this distance has been diminished by the constant addition of salt crystals to the roof. Many springs surround this lake. Their water flows over the roof and evaporates there, and thus continually adds to its thickness. After many years the springs will probably become choked with their own deposits, and then the whole will become covered with earth, so that a great salt mine will be formed — a treasure for the Siberians hundreds of years to come.

New Cure for Nosebleed.

When the nose starts to bleed, immediately persuade yourself to believe that you are running with all your might up the steepest flight of steps you can think of, or up a high hill; that is, just think of doing either of these things and doing it fast. Think at the same time that you are carrying a heavy piece of baggage with both hands, and add thoughts of any other bodily exertion. You will be surprised at the quickness with which your trouble ends. The explanation is that when we really start to run more blood is given to the arteries supplying the muscles of the legs than they were receiving while at rest. This has been proved. As the same thoughts in the mind produce approximately the same bodily effects, if one merely thinks to run, but does not run, the blood will go to the legs anyhow, and away from the head, as desired. There are many common experiences of secretions started by thoughts. If one looks at a lemon and thinks of sucking it, his mouth immediately waters, and no doubt many people who read this will make their mouths water from the simple reading.

DO YOU USE PILLS?

If In Doubt About the Right Pills to Use Read the Following Letter Carefully:

"I am one of those persons whose system requires aid," writes Mr. Young Glenhill, from Picton, "but it is so easily affected by reason of the great sensitiveness of the bowels that ordinary drastic pills inflict great injury to the delicate coating, and excite such persistent activity as to be with difficulty checked.

"I wish in the highest terms to express the great value of Dr. Hamilton's Pills in cases like mine, and I am sure also for elderly people and the very weak there is no pill like them.

"Speaking of my own experience with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I can say they have proved the most stimulating pills for the liver I have found. I have proved their tonic action upon digestion, and the same results have been secured by friends upon whom I have urged their use. The manufacturers are to be congratulated upon possessing so valuable a prescription, and the public should know that so valuable a remedy has been placed at their command."

No other pill for constipation, for liver, kidney, or stomach trouble, compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild and sure always to restore health. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all dealers, 25c per box, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston Ont.

Centenary Celebrated.

Brockville, Oct. 9.—The centenary celebartion of the First Presbyterian Church, one of the oldest places of worship in Eastern Ontario, opened yesterday and will be continued over the next three weeks, with special Sunday and week-day services. To mark the one hundredth anniversary about $15,000 was spent in church improvements, including the installation of a new organ.

The preachers at yesterday's services were Rev. Dr. Mackay, moderator of the General Assembly, and Rev. Dr. John Macdougall, moderator of the Montreal and Ottawa synod. Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston of Montreal takes the services on the 29th inst. The pastor of the church is Rev. Norman Macleod, formerly of Ottawa.

Fighting in Morocco.

Madrid, Oct. 9.—Operations by the Spanish forces against hostile tribes in Morocco have been resumed, according to official despatches from Melilla. Covered by the fire of warships, two columns Saturday advanced ten miles inland in the Kert River region, burning many houses and driving the tribesmen from their positions, in spite of determined resistance.

The engagement lasted ten hours and was directed by the Minister of War, Gen. de Luque, in person. Details of the Spanish losses have not yet been received, but they are believed to have been heavy, exceeding 100. Col. Primo de Rivera is among the wounded. The operations continue to-day.

Mistaken For Deer.

Bingham, Maine, Oct. 9.—Mistaken for a deer by the man whom he was guiding through the woods near the base of Mosquito Mountain Saturday Harold Hight, 26, of Bingham, was shot and killed. Hight and Dr. Brooks, a physician of New York City, started out from a sporting camp near Lake Moxie in search of deer with the understanding that if either saw an animal, he was to whistle to the other. Dr. Brooks thought he saw a deer and whistled. When he got no answer, he fired, he says. The bullet struck the guide in the back of the neck and he died shortly afterwards, although Dr. Brooks did everything possible for him.

Guilty of Horse Stealing.

Woodstock, Oct. 9.—Wm. Treuhen, the local man who bought a horse in this city and went to Guelph, where he was arrested after he had sold the horse and failed to settle in the Woodstock deal with the proceeds, was found guilty of stealing, by the magistrate. He was not sentenced and was sent back to jail, where he will conduct some correspondence with a view of getting the horse back to its original owner in Woodstock.

A $2,000,000 Offer.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—St. James' Methodist Church, the largest home of Methodism in the world, has not been sold as yet, despite reports to the contrary, but it is announced that Major John T. McBride has been authorized by parties in close touch with the Canadian Northern interests to offer the sum of $2,000,000 for the property. The church, including the site, cost $365,000.

To Represent Canada.

Brantford, Oct. 9.—T. H. Preston of The Expositor, confirmed the report here Saturday that he had been appointed to represent the Canadian Associated Press Association at the Royal Durbar at Delhi in December. The invitation came from the Indian Government. Mr. Preston stated, however, that circumstances rendered it impossible that he would go.

West Still Forges Ahead.

Calgary, Oct. 9.—In one day this week building permits amounting to $20,000 were issued in Calgary, nearly all for residences, ranging in values from $1,500 to $5,000. Bank clearings for Calgary, for week ending October 5, amounted to $4,166,006, an increase of 52.4 per cent. over the corresponding week of 1910.

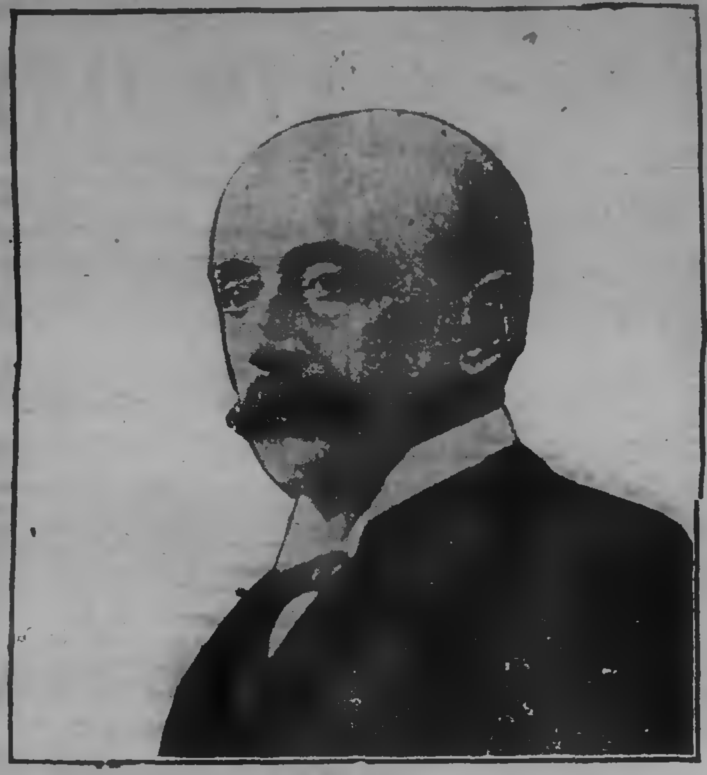
FAMOUS GOVERNORS OF CANADA

by G. W. Cook

(Copyright by Publishers Press Limited, Montreal.)

In view of the arrival of a Royal Governor-General it may be well to recall Canada's past famous governors.

We have been singularly fortunate in the long line of distinguished soldiers and statesmen who have served her in the capacity of governor, protecting her in the early and difficult years of a young colony, guiding her through many a political crisis, enlarging and safeguarding her interests, and gradually fitting her for the complete control of affairs purely Canadian which she enjoys today. The men who, as governors, have helped to make the history of Canada, are also the men who have made the history of the British Empire in other parts of the globe, and it is with a thrill of pride that we realize that the names of Durham and Dufferin, and Elgin, and Stanley, and Grey, which mean so much to Canadians, stand also for great achievments in India and Egypt and South Africa, and for high distinction in letters and diplomacy, and this seems to make the unity of Empire a very real thing.



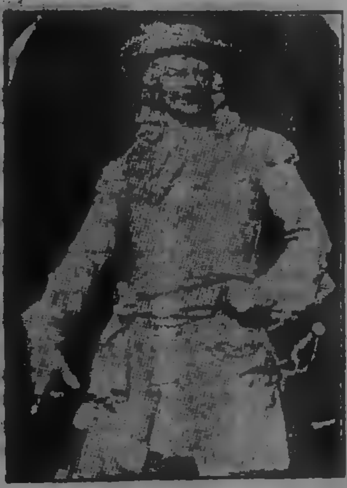
EARL GREY,

Whose popularity is such that that his term was extended.

In the early days the governor was the hardest-worked man in the country, and was usually chosen for his powers of active leadership in warfare, his capacity for organization and sustained toil, and the qualities of authority and inspiration so invaluable in a leader. His work was practically to do everything in particular, and to do it very well. Nowadays the office of Governor-General of Canada is a notable distinction in the gift of the Crown, second only to that of the Empire of India and though the position demands high qualities of tact and judgment the work is not so strenuous as in the old days. The position is chiefly a social one, and the rank of Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian militia is purely honorary.

Samuel de Champlain

Very different was the condition of affairs when in 1607 Samuel de Champlain became first governor of the infant colony. Born at St. Malo beside the sea, he spent most of his life upon it, and had all the sailor's daring and love of adventure. He was a sailor and a soldier too, for he had fought beside the King in the civil wars. His courage and resource, his refusal to consider defeat, eminently fitted him to be a leader of men, and for thirty years he lived for Canada, toiling with unfailing patience to establish the power of France in the wilderness, and to convert the Indian tribes to Christianity. In 1608 he founded Quebec, a city which has always held a unique regard in the minds of the Governors of Canada. Champlain's tact and firmness in dealing with the colonists, his wise policy with the Indians, his energy and strong enterprise made him greatly beloved. When the French were forced to surrender to the English in 1629, he was sent to France, but in 1633 he returned to Quebec, this time accompanied by his child-wife. He now represented the authority of the Hundred Associates, and at once resumed his work, but not for long, as in December 1635 he died.



FRONTENAC

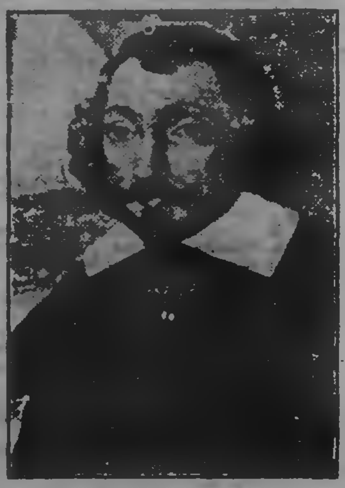
The famous French Governor

De Tracy

The name of the noble de Tracy who became Viceroy of the French possessions in 1665, will always be associated with the famous Carignan Regiment which he brought out from France and notable for the complete subjugation of the Mohawks which he effected.

Frontenac

In 1672 Count Frontenac, a tried and skilful soldier in the armies of France and one of the most remarkable governors Canada ever had, came to Quebec. He was extraordinarily proud and haughty and could bear no oppositon of any kind, but he gained immense influence over the Indians who held him in great awe. He built a strong fort at the outlet of Lake Ontario, where Kingston now stands, and gave it his own name. In 1682 Frontenac, and the Intendant Duchesnau with whom he quarrelled incessantly, were recalled to France. When Canada seemed on the brink of destruction owing to the folly of Denonville, Frontenac was again sent out to take matters into his own hands and he speedily made his power felt. When the English admiral Phips demanded his surrender, he made his famous reply, "I shall answer the English by the mouth of my cannon." The English retired, and as a lasting memorial of Frontenac's triumph the church of Notre-Dame des Victoires was erected in Quebec. The gallant old warrior died



SAMUEL DE CHAMPLAIN

Born at Brouage, France, in 1567; died at Quebec in 1635.

The English Governors.

After Canada surrendered to the English in 1760, General Murray was appointed first governor. He was so anxious to be just to the French, that he antagonised the English colonists. He was succeeded by Sir Guy Carleton, afterwards Lord Dorchester who was also in strong sympathy with the French-Canadians. It was by his efforts that in 1774 the Quebec Act was passed. The terms of this important act were. (1) That civil cases were to be tried by French law; Criminal cases by British law. (2) A Legislative Council was appointed to assist the Governor in law-making. (3) The Roman Catholic Church was to enjoy complete religious freedom, and Roman Catholics could hold public offices. (4) The boundaries of the province were extended on the west.

This act by removing all the disabilities of the Catholics, gave great satisfaction to the French.

Lord Dorchester was an extremely able man, both wise and just, but he lived in the troublous times of Canadian history. The unwise policy of Great Britain toward her colonies in maintaining the right of parliament to tax them, caused great irritation and ultimately led to the revolt and the American Revolution. When the Americans under Arnold and Montgomery invaded Canada, Carleton held out as well as he could with his few supporters but was forced to abandon Montreal. He expelled all whom he suspected of disloyalty, from Quebec, and prepared for siege. He repelled Montgomery and Arnold, and when British reinforcements arrived in May, he cleared Canada completely of the invaders.

The Americans made their headquarters in Montreal, in the Chateau de Ramesay, the residence of the French Governors. This interesting historic building is now a public museum, and contains most interesting relics of our early history, and of the heroes of Canada — priests, and soldiers, and statesmen.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Ottawa.

After an absence of eight years, Lord Dorchester in 1786 was again appointed to the Governorship of Quebec, the occupant of which was henceforth to act as Governor-General of all the British-American provinces. His great good sense and warm feeling, endeared him alike to the Loyalists and to the French. By his efforts the British Government prepared the Constitutional Act, the first step toward self-government, and passed it through parliament in 1791. Lord Dorchester's wise and temperate rule continued for five years more.

The Reformers and Their Demands.

About 1817 the harsh rule and mismanagement of the Family Compacts caused the growth of a political body who called themselves the Reformers, prominent among whom were Gourlay, Mackenzie and Baldwin. They bitterly resented the Family Compacts, and demanded that the executive council should be responsible to the assembly and that the assembly should control the supplies of public money, and receive accounts of its expenditure. In the election of 1874 they gained a majority in the assembly, but the proposals they made were all defeated in the legislative council, or vetoed by Sir John Colborne whose sympathy were with the ruling party. He was a man of strong character and great ability, and an excellent leader. When the Home Government determined to allow the Canadians a few reforms of minor importance, Sir John Colborne was recalled in order that these might be more easily carried out. He was succeeded by Sir Francis Bond Head. Later on he returned to suppress the rebellion of 1837

Educational Institutes.

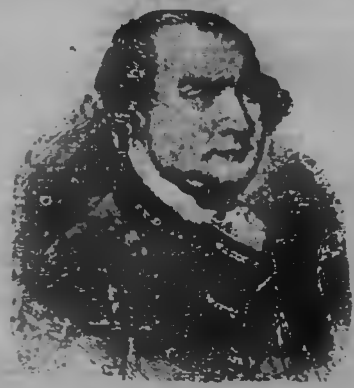
King's College in Windsor, Nova Scotia, was founded in 1788. Dalhousie College established by the Soldier-Governor of that name was opened at Halifax in 1820, and is now a University. The Seminary of Laval at Quebec dates of course from 1637. In 1830 the most important educational institution in the Upper province, Upper Canada College, was founded.

A Great Statesman.

John George Lambton, Lord Durham, was one of the greatest statesmen and most distinguished men who have ever held office in Canada. He was one of the four persons who drew up the Reform Bill in the administration of Lord Grey. From 1835 to 1837 he was ambassador to St. Petersburg. In 1838 he was sent out to Canada, where the Constitution was suspended owing to the revolt in the lower province. His measures were prompt and statesmanship, but very dictatorial, and the House of Lords voted disapproval of some of his acts. He returned to England within five months and issued his report on Canada which has become a classic, and which led to the union and to the establishment of responsible government. His personality was attractive, but he was very proud and very determined. His dying words were, "Canada will one day do justice to my memory."

The Reciprocity Treaty of 1854.

Lord Elgin who was appointed to Canada in 1846, was a man of great diplomatic gifts, and by repeated visits to New York, and a personal campaign, he himself negotiated the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. Lord Elgin came of a remarkable family and had a career of immense distinction. He was educated at Eton and Oxford. He was appointed Governor of Jamaica where he made a great success. He had serious difficulties to contend with in Canada, but he met them with unfailing tact, and carried on a most successful administration.



SIR GUY CARLETON

(Lord Dorchester)

The Governor who defended Quebec against the Americans during the siege of 1775-76.

A Brilliant Diplomat.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava G. C. B. etc., was probably the most brilliant of statesmen and Governors, and the most accomplished, witty and fascinating of personalities who have ever graced the Vice-regal position. No account of his life and work seems to be able to do justice to the extraordinary charm he exercised upon all who came in contact with him, or to the intense love and admiration he inspired. He was an extremely able writer, and had a diplomatic career in Syria, India, St. Petersburg, and Constantinople of more than ordinary brilliance. In India he strengthened the frontier and annexed Upper Burmah. In Canada his tenure of office was a triumphant one. He was immensely popular, the most delightful host and the most charming guest. The social functions given by him in Quebec and Montreal have never been surpassed in splendour, and he was greatly beloved.

H. R. H. THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

Governor General of Canada

A Royal Vice-reine.

The Marquess of Lorne, now Duke of Argyle, who became Governor in 1878 was married to the Princess Louise, Queen Victoria's daughter. They received a splendid ovation, and a most warm and enthusiastic welcome upon their arrival in Halifax in November. The Queen cabled, "Delighted at reception. Say so."

In March 1879 the Protectionist Budget was passed.

Governors Before Confederation

The names of Sherbrooke, Richmond, Lisgar, Sydenham, Sir Charles Bagot, Metcalfe and Cathcart, though not so prominent in Canadian history as some others, are still held in honourable esteem, and are perpetuated in various public buildings, or streets.

Charles Poulett Thomson, Lord Sydenham, indeed holds a place apart. He was an exceptionally faithful and devoted servant of the country, and took a special interest in municipal improvement, building excellent roads in Quebec and Montreal, etc. He made Kingston the capital of United Canada and carried on his own shoulders the main burden of Government. He died in 1841, and was by his own wish buried in Kingston.

Since Confederation 1867.

Men of such diverse character and gifts as Lords Monck, Lansdowne, Stanley, Aberdeen, Minto and Grey have all contributed to the service of Canada and the Empire. Lord Lansdowne has had a political career of more than common brilliance. Lord Aberdeen has twice held office in Ireland and Lord Minto went direct from here to India, where he filled his eminent post admirably.

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT

OUR NEW VICE-REINE

JOHN GRAVES SIMCOE

One of the early English Governors

The Vice-Reines.

The wives of the Governors — except the child-wife of Champlain who preferred the court of France to a wilderness full of Indians — have always evinced the greatest desire to take their part in the duties attached to the great position of vice-royalty, and are not only society leaders, but also take an active interest in charities, in promoting industries, and in hospital work. Lady Aberdeen founded the excellent institution of the Maycourt Club, in Ottawa, and the Lady Grey Cottage Hospital, is the direct outcome of Her Excellency's interest in the care and prevention of tuberculosis.

Our Retiring Governor-General.

His Excellency Earl Grey came to Canada in 1904, and his extended term of office expires in September upon the arrival of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught. Lord Grey will carry with him when he leaves, the sincere affection of all Canadians. His rule has been a most happy and prosperous one, and his tact, simple good-fellowship, and unusual ability have made him the friend of all classes. No Governor-General has been more sincerely respected, and he will be greatly missed. He has always shown a specially warm interest in things French-Canadian and has made many close friends in Canada. Lady Grey, too, has endeared herself to very many during her six years in Canada, and the departure of Their Excellencies is looked upon with genuine regret.

The Coming of a Royal Governor.

The first member of the Royal Family to came out to Canada as the representative of the King, is awaited with peculiar interest and enthusiasm. The feeling of patriotic devotion to King and Empire which has always been specially warm in Canadian hearts will be even stronger and deeper when the representative of His Majesty is so closely connected with him.

Loyal Canada is waiting to acclaim with profoundest enthusiasm the brother of our late beloved King Edward, and the uncle of our present Sovereign, and to once more, and more properly, express her recognition and appreciation of the signal honour done her.

ABOUT WOMEN SPIES

Japan is Said to Have the Business of Female Spies Arranged on Very Effective Lines.

In no part of the world has the woman spy been brought to the point so near perfection as in Europe, and it may be unhesitatingly said that in Russia, which fairly swarms with eyes and ears of the Czar, the dashing, beautiful woman, of high breeding and title, perhaps has become the most necessary arm of that underground system which appears to read thoughts as well as detect designs.

To meet the Russian spy on his or her own ground the Japanese have, it is said, secured the services of some of the cleverest women in Europe, many of them French women, and often their visible means of support is by acting.

The Japanese police and military system has, of course, its secret service; but it is not nearly so ubiquitous as is the so-called third section of the Russian police. Yet during the last few years little of importance has transpired in Europe affecting the situation in the Far East of which the Japanese Foreign Office has been ignorant.

Her agents, the best of them those so-called French actresses, found a way of being present wherever there was anything to be learned. Often these women encounter the women spies of the Russian Government, who are undoubtedly among the cleverest detectives in their line in the world.

Governments at war, or on the brink of hostilities, require the services of two distinct classes of spies. There must be many men connected with this dangerous service; but for the most part the work demands courage and skill rather than the delicate diplomacy which is required, too, but is generally, certainly so far as Russia is concerned, assigned to women of culture, education, beauty, and rare judgment. With the troops of the enemy are sent the men spies, and with the commanding officers, with the diplomats, with the brains which stay in St.Petersburg and move armies 5000 miles away as if they were pawns on a chessboard, the ingratiating, clever women spies are to be found.

While the Japanese have not been regarded as having an especially efficient secret service, the events of the late war showed that the persons who were watching day and night for them proved of the greatest value. It is known that just about the time the war broke out there were in Port-Arthur several French dancers, who had captured every Russian official heart.

They were not only attractive dancers, but beautiful women, who dressed well and had most engaging manners. The Russian officers were charmed with them. They soon became better acquainted and proved to be very agreeable companions. They took a great interest in things military, but always made amazing blunders in attempting to repeat what had been told them.

The womanly ignorance of such matters charmed the young officers all the more, and at the same time put them off their guard. But, as a matter of fact, they were very clever women, and their information was forwarded speedily to the Japanese Legation at Pekin, which, in turn, forwarded valuable reports to Tokio. By the time their true character was known the French actresses, who were spies for the Japanese, had left Port Arthur far behind.

Music Healing.

It is quite agreed by psycho-therapeutists to-day that music has power not only to "soothe the savage breast," but to heal many disorders. Hence the great interest of the following record raked up by an official of an English city. It dates from 1704, and runs:—"The physicians of Bath solicited Mr. Nash to let the band perform in the Pump Room (to which he acquiesced) for the following among other reasons:—'That the least stroke imaginable upon any musical instrument has such an effect on the human body as to move its component machinulae in all their parts, giving the fibres of the whole body more or less, according to their degree of tension, correspondent concussions; and consequently the spirits are not only raised, or made fine, but the other animal fluids are also briskly agitated, and their preternatural cohesions and viscidities destroyed.'"

China and Opium Trade

That China is doing her best to stamp out the opium trade in the Middle Kingdom is coming to be generally recognized, and a letter in The Rangoon Gazette from the pen of E. J. Dingle is a reminder of the fact. Mr. Dingle who in 1909 made a study on the spot of this question in China, now writes from Hankow as follows: "I unhesitatingly declare that in my experience I have never known or heard of a crusade against this national curse being carried on with greater vigor and at greater national expense, and China is unquestionably doing her part. So recently as the past three months I have travelled in parts of the interior provinces where two years ago I saw more than half the land given up to cultivation of the poppy. Now there is not a single poppy patch."

Israelites and Palestine

Authorities in Palestine report a steady stream of Jewish immigrants. Half a century ago it was calculated that there were about six thousand Jews in Jerusalem out of a population of 13,000. To-day Jerusalem has a population of about 84,000, of whom it is estimated that no fewer than 55,000 to 60,000 are Jews. In other parts also in Palestine the Jews have established themselves in recent years in considerable numbers. In Jaffa they have increased in ten years from 1000 to 15,000, the total population being now about 40,000. Most of these Jewish immigrants have come from Russia and Poland, and often they arrived in very distressed circumstances.

The smallest coin in the world having a genuine circulation is probably the Maltese "grain," a tiny fragment of bronze about as big round as the top of a slate pencil, and worth only one-twelfth of a penny.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. SIR MACKENZIE BOWELL

When nine years old, the boy whom fate had decreed as a man above the average amongst his fellows, voyaged across the Atlantic with his parents, having been born at Rickinghall, Suffolk, in 1823. Educated at Belville public school, young MacKenzie joined the staff of the Intelligencer at quite an early period of his life, and has been a busy man during all the intervening years, growing up with the paper in various capacities all the way from office lad to editor and proprietor, with many other duties parliamentary and otherwise worked in. His initial active participation in politics was at Confederation when he was elected for North Hastings, and during the years until he joined the Macdonald Cabinet he continued to occupy the editor's chair of the Intelligencer. Entering the Macdonald administration as Minister of Customs 19 October 1878, he was subsequently Minister of Militia in the Abbot Administration, of Trade and Commerce in the Thomson administration, and formed a ministry in December 1894, which he reconstructed in January 1896 from which he resigned three months later. Sir Mackenzie Bowell was leader of the Senate 1893-96, and leader of the opposition from that date until 27 April 1906 when he retired. Created K.C.M.G. on 1 January 1895, he in the year following had the further honor conferred by being appointed Chairman of the Colonial Conference, of which, it will be remembered, he was organizer. He is president of the Imperial Association of Canada and ex-President of the Belville Hardware Manufacturing Co. and Northumberland Power Co., is a Governor of Toronto University, member of the Senate of Albert College Belville, and for many years Grand Master of the Orange Association of America. In his earlier years Sir Mackenzie took active interest in things military, having been a member of the 15th Light Infantry and the 4th Rifles from which he retired with the rank of Lieut.-Colonel. He served on the frontier during the American war, and was also in the field at the time of the Fenian troubles in 1866.

REV. A. CARMAN, D.D., L.L.D.

If the G. O. M. of Methodism in Canada, Dr. Carman, could be induced to write his biography much of Canadian history would be told for the doctor in his many years of work has been a great factor in the moulding and raising not only of the spiritual but the social life, in its widest sense, of this Dominion.

REV. A. CARMAN
General Superintendent Methodist Church, Canada.

Dr. Carman was born in 1833 in Ontario, and after occupying a number of scholastic positions was elected in 1874 to be Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and in the joining of all the Free Churches in 1884 was elected General Superintendent, a position he has held since.

Her Own Fault

The wife of a pugilist was denied a divorce on the ground that her husband blackened her eyes. It was probably contented that the pugilist was only making a sparring partner out of his partner for life. This is only reasonable. A wife should be willing to help her husband in his profession and to take an active interest in it. If a lady is prejudiced against black eyes she should not marry a pugilist.

ST. JAMES' TRIM ALL SAINTS' TEAM

Good Football Put up by Winners —Score 3-0

St. James' returned to form on Saturday and gave a brilliant exhibition of football at Brinton Meadows. To the delight of their supporters, the team in no uncertain manner, proved their right to the title of the champions. Their opponents—All Saints looked upon the game more in the light of a practice match, just to put them in form for the Park street game. The contest had not been long in progress, before this idea disappeared, and they came to the conclusion that they would have to go all the way. Simmonite, who was playing a great game for the Jimmies was soon put out of action, but he managed to hop about on one leg, and made up for the deficiency. "Next Saturday St. James" are marked down for slaughter by Park Street, who have a team of "All Stars' Street who have a team of "All Stars" and they can do it.

Struck By Unknown Man.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—J. Walter Dick, 304 Huron street, is in St. Michael's Hospital in a very serious condition and may die as the result of being struck by an unknown man at the corner of Toronto and King streets Saturday evening at nine o'clock.

Dick was standing close to the Quebec Bank talking with a man in a blue suit, short and well built, when he said the man: "Don't go away like that."

"No, I am not going away; I'm right here," came the reply, and at the same moment the man struck Dick in the mouth, sending him to the pavement with great force, and the other made his escape along King street. Dick lost consciousness immediately, and was taken to the hospital, where Dr. Silverthorne performed an operation.

Earl Grey's Farewell.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—Earl Grey attended a farewell service at All Saints Church yesterday, at which the rector, Rural Dean A. W. McKay, officiated and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Borden were also in attendance. The sermon was one of farewell to His Excellency, and the service was unusual as a final send-off to His Majesty's representative. The Governor-General chose the hymns, which were Old Hundred and Kipling's Recessional.

A prayer was said at the close and the whole congregation sang the National Anthem, which had been ringing on the church bells as the vice-regal party first entered the church.

Earl and Countess Grey afterwards drove to the residence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on a farewell visit.
